Memorial Day: Valley remembers those who gave their lives

RuthEdna Keys/LCM

Memorial Day is a holiday for honoring and mourning military personnel who died while serving in the United States Armed Forces and due to COVID-19, some events normally held over the holiday weekend honoring them were canceled, others went on. VFW Post #6853, American Legion Post #108 and community members, decorated over 200 graves of veterans buried in Fraternal and Riverview cemeteries. LEFT: Chelan Mayor Bob Goedde, a Vietnam vet, places a flag on a verteran's grave at Riverview Cemetery on Saturday, May 23. The VFW and American Legion normally hold services on Monday morning. While that did not happen a short ceremony at the beginning North Shore Bible Church drive-in church service on Sunday, May 24 did. Norm Manly of the American Legion came up with the idea and together they made it happen. Jeff Conwell gave a short speech on the importance of Memorial Day, the American Legion posted the flags, taps was played, and a moment of silence, held in remembrance of those who died while serving our country. Union Valley Brush Fire burns 30 acres

SUBMITTED BY CHELAN FIRE & RESCUE

CHELAN - On Saturday at 2:18 p.m., Chelan Fire & Rescue crews were dispatched to brush fire at 644 Union Valley Road. Units enroute reported large smoke column and immediately called for second alarm resources. On scene fire crews reported an approximately 1-acre fire rapidly moving uphill in medium fuels of brush and grass.

Due to topography and lack of access, fire crews were unable to access the fire with apparatus and attempted to control with hand teams. Third alarm resources were dispatched which brought mutual aid units from Manson (CCFD #5), Orondo (DCFD #4), Pateros (OKDFD #15), and DNR as well as helicopter resources.

A total of 60 firefighting personnel were able to contain the fire at 6:59 p.m., and scene was turned over to Entiat Hotshots and DNR for mop up.

Final estimate on size of fire was approximately 30 acres, no personnel injured, and no structures loss. Cause of this fire was determined to be from controlled burning that had jumped the burn due to wind.

How much calcium do you need?

Q: Should I be taking calcium pills for my bones?

Last fall, my 75-year-old next-door neighbor fell down 3 steps, shattering her left ankle into tiny pieces that were painstakingly put back together during a 5-hour surgery. She has osteoporosis, or thin bones due to years of taking daily prednisone for an inflammatory condition called lupus. Now her doctor has her taking a bone-building medicine, and she was told to take a calcium supplement every day.

Calcium helps keep our bones healthy, but it has other critical jobs as well: your muscles, nerves, and blood vessels depend on calcium to work properly. Every time your heart beats and you take a breath, the muscles of your heart and chest work to keep you alive and well. However, if you don't have enough calcium available, your body will take some out of your bones, like an ATM (automated teller machine) for calcium instead of $20 bills.

If you run low on calcium occasionally, this only happens once in a while, and it's no big deal. Still, if your body pulls calcium out of your bones regularly, those withdrawals eventually weaken your bones, increasing your risk of a hip fracture, or worse.

How much calcium do you need?

The Institute of Medicine recommends 1000mg daily of calcium for men and women up to age 50, and 1200mg for adults older than 50 years of age. Most postmenopausal women get 600-900mg of calcium daily through their food, falling short of that goal unless they make up the difference with a calcium supplement.

Calcium supplements were recommended as a way to ensure women and men at risk for osteoporosis get their full recommended daily dose of calcium, but recent studies have shown that you can actually get TOO MUCH calcium, which increases your risk of having a heart attack or stroke. It's suspected that the spike in blood levels of calcium you get by taking a concentrated calcium supplement may actually damage blood vessels.

Taking large doses of calcium supplements also encourages the formation of painful kidney stones, so for bone health, getting ALL of your recommended daily calcium from taking a calcium supplement is no longer recommended.

Calcium carbonate is the most concentrated form of calcium supplement available but can cause constipation. Calcium citrate is absorbed better and a better choice if you also take an acid-blocking medicine like Prilosec for heartburn.

Weight-bearing exercises like walking and eating prunes have also been shown to improve bone strength.

Here are 5 Tips on Getting Enough Calcium:

1. Get as much calcium from your diet as you can. Most people get 300mg of calcium daily from non-dairy sources. You can also get 300mg per serving of dairy products like milk, yogurt, and cheese. Green vegetables, oranges, and figs also contain calcium. You also can use the Calcium Calculator available both as a phone app for iPhone and Android phones and online at The International Osteoporosis Foundation website www.iofbonehealth.org at their Quick Links.

2. If you take a bone-building medicine like Fosamax (alendronate), Actonel (risedronate), or Boniva, make sure you get enough calcium.

These medicines work by encouraging calcium back into your bones, but if you don't have enough extra calcium available in your diet or by taking a supplement, they can't help you.

3. Avoid taking more than 500mg of a calcium supplement at one time.

Your body absorbs calcium better, and keeping your blood levels of calcium from spiking will help avoid increasing your risk of heart attack and stroke.

4. Get 400 IU of Vitamin D every day.

Vitamin D is necessary to help your body absorb calcium, and can help prevent falls in the elderly. You can get vitamin D from the sun, but salmon (800 IU per 3 ounces), canned tuna (150 IU per 3 ounces), fortified milk (about 120 IU per 4 ounces), and fortified orange juice (80 IU per 4 ounces) are also good sources.

5. Eat dried plums or prunes to build bone.

In one study, women who ate 100 grams of dried plums daily for a year had measurably stronger bones. Despite the extra calories, none of the women in the year-long study gained weight, possibly because of the very high fiber content of the plums. 100 grams of dried plums are about 9 of those plump plums sold in big bags at places like Costco. Watch out, though; plums (also known as prunes) have a natural laxative effect, so go slowly at first to avoid embarrassing side effects.

THE WASHINGTON OUTDOOR REPORT

Fish and Wildlife enforcement during the pandemic

By JOHN KRUSE, THE WASHINGTON OUTDOORS REPORT

On May 13 a regional news outlet reported the Washington Department of Fish and Wildlife issued 17 fishing violations and three land use (trespassing) violations in Chelan, Douglas and Grant counties during the month of April when fishing and access to state public lands were closed.

I spoke with Captain Mike Jewell with WDFW about this. I learned enforcement officers were busy but issued verbal warnings in all except the most egregious situations during the six-week closure period. CPT Jewell said a total of 732 individuals were contacted on closed state lands from late March through early May. Of that group, 129 individuals were fishing during the fishing closure that also occurred during this time period.

The few individuals cited were generally ones previously warned but choosing to trespass or fish anyway. Some examples of individuals cited included two who were fishing during the closure period and bragging about it on social media. One of these anglers, when contacted, was also found to have an illegal sized bass in his possession. Others cited were not only fishing during the closure but also had no fishing license. Still another was fishing a lake that wouldn't have been open for fishing even if the closure wasn't in effect. Others were not only fishing but doing so illegally trying to snag spawning walleye. The most interesting violation? That belonged to a person in a canoe shooting walleye with a crossbow under the cover of darkness.

Despite some of these serious violations, enforcement officers only cited these people with civil infractions instead of the criminal misdemeanor charges many of them deserved. In short, WDFW enforcement officers were vigilant but took a soft enforcement approach during the fishing and state lands closure.

Central/Eastern Washington Fishing Reports Lake Chelan and Jameson Lake

Lance Effrig, the owner of Washington Guide Services says kokanee averaging 11 to 12-inches are spread out throughout the lake. Effrig is catching them by trolling Rocky Mountain Tackle dodgers and plankton squid lures in pink or orange colors at a depth of 30 to 50 feet.

If you don't have a boat you can cast for trout from public docks and parks. Try using a black Warden's Rooster Tail for success. A better bet for trout though might be a trip to Jameson Lake in Douglas County where Effrig says anglers are catching trout up to two-pounds from the bank. www.washingtonguideservices.com

Potholes Reservoir and The Seep Lakes

Pete Fischer at MarDon Resort reports good fishing for walleye, bass and trout at Potholes Reservoir. Wall-eye anglers have been having good success trolling nightcrawlers on Mack's Lure Slow Death Hook rigs or #5 and #7 Berkley Flicker Shad crankbaits in perch colors. Lots of largemouth bass in the 1 to 3-pound range have been caught deep in the sand dunes while the smallmouth bass are being caught in the main reservoir. Finally, rainbow trout are not only being caught in the main lake, but also in the nearby Seep Lakes. The hot lakes over the past few days have been the Hamptons, Corral and Warden Lake. Drop by the store at the resort to find out more and if you want to go camping MarDon resort is fully open again. www.mardonresort.com

Lake Roosevelt

Kevin Witte with B&K Fishing Adventures says low water this year on Lake Roosevelt has the northern pike spread out near Kettle Falls though they are being caught by boaters trolling small crankbaits. Walleye fishing has been good and Witte has been limiting by noon. Troll bottom walkers and Mack's Slow Death rigs at a depth of 20 to 50 feet for success. As for trout, bank anglers are doing well in the Colville Flats area still fishing with bait. Other anglers are casting lures at the mouth of the Kettle River for pike and Daredevil spoons are working well for that. Look for B&K Fishing Adventures on Facebook or call 509-398-7995 if you want to book a trip.
