City of Chelan, Chelan County sign orders concerning Short Term, Vacation Rentals

CHELAN - Last week on April 16, City of Chelan Mayor Bob Goedde signed Emergency Executive Order 20-01 concerning short-term rentals within the city limits, in response to the COVID-19 Emergency. Short Term or Vacation Rentals, are not deemed as 'essential services' and shall cease renting accommodations and shall close. The only exemption is if they are providing accommodations or facilities to persons who are conducting or participating in essential activities, employment in essential business services or otherwise permitted by the Governor's Stay Home Proclamations. If you are already in a Short Term rental you can stay. Those willfully violating the Governor's Stay Home Proclamation may be found guilty of a Gross Misdemeanor. Short Term Rentals found to voilate this order or the Governor's order could lose their Annual Short-Term Rental Operating License.

Chelan County Commissioners have also signed an order concerning Short Term and Vacations Rentals in the unincorporated areas of Chelan County. This includes campground and camping facilities. Violators, if found guilty of a gross misdemeanor, are subject to a fine of not more than $5,000 and or imprisonment in the county jail, not to exceed 364. Any person violating health department orders if found guilty of a misdemeanor is subject to a fine of not less than $25 and or up to 90 days in jail.

All orders are in effect until May 4.

Coping with loneliness and boredom: Heritage Heights style

SUBMTTED BY AMANDA BAL-LOU, CEO, HERITAGE HEIGHTS Assisted Living

CHELAN - As soon as Heritage Heights received the health department order last week that residents would be restricted in their movement throughout the building and from contact with other residents, we put a communication plan into action. With the first tray service in their individual apartments that replaced meals in the dining room with friends, staff included a find-your-way-through-the maze puzzle as a message of acknowledgement to let them know we want to help get through this.

Talking with each family, we let them know that we would work with them to facilitate a communications plan and support personalized activities that would best appeal to each individual's interests. Our nurse began meeting with residents daily to listen to their fears and frustrations, and to watch for any signs of depression.

For one resident, the most critical thing was getting her hair done when the beautician could no longer come. For another, accessing the church website. For several, it was how to overcome feelings of claustrophobia. Some families or friends call twice a day. Other residents initiate calls—a goal to reach out to four people a day, or fellowship with a sister-in-law who just lost her husbandcreating a sense of purpose. The technically savvy residents FaceTime family on their iPads or play games on

PUD commissioners postpone rate increases

SUBMITTED BY KIMBERLEE CRAIG, CHELAN COUNTY PUD

WENATCHEE - Chelan County PUD commissioners on Monday, April 13 unanimously voted to delay for six months the adopted rate increase that was scheduled to go into effect on June 1.

The action means residential electric, water and wastewater rates stay the same until Dec. 1, 2020. The wholesale fiber rate increase also is postponed for six months.

The PUD also extended no shutoffs of utility service and waiving late fees through the end of July 2020.

Customers facing financial setbacks are encouraged to call the PUD to make payment arrangements. Residential customers also can apply with Community Action for help from federal aid. PUD Helping Hand funds from customer donations also can help individuals, said John Stoll, Customer Utilities managing director.

Staff members reported that a large number of individuals and small businesses are suffering economic harm as a result of COVID-19. State and federal aid is on the way, but response may take time due to high demand, said Andrew Grassell, energy development and conservation manager.

The PUD's policy of no cutoffs or late fees should help people who are waiting for the federal assistance to arrive.

The PUD is considering whether to expand assistance for individuals. The Helping Hand account for residential customers is well-funded, but more funds may be needed, or the PUD may need to set up an alternative account using District funds. The PUD also is considering whether to initiate a financial assistance program for commercial businesses.

"We have a long road ahead of us and talking about what we can do as a utility in Chelan County to work with customer-owners in the best way we can,"

said Commissioner Randy

Board members agreed that potential actions should focus on making an impactful and meaningful difference to community members in need while ensuring fair access across the county. New programs must be within the PUD's legal authority, maintain a commitment to the adopted financial metrics and be implemented at a time that makes a difference they

Commissioners encouraged further exploration of: • A program to support small business impacted by

• Increasing the Helping Hand program scope, or developing a new program to help more individuals facing hardships from COVID-19

"I think we're moving in the right direction," said Commissioner Dennis Bolz. "Ultimately, we want to identify the nexus of what we're allowed to do with what we need to do."

Senior managers also reported on key projects that may not get done due to the COVID-19 response. Among those are developing technology roadmaps called for in the strategic plan and increasing hydro system reliability by returning more units to service.

Work in dam powerhouses is four to six weeks behind schedule, said Kirk Hudson, Generation and Transmission managing director. The technology roadmap project is delayed because it involves staff across the District, who are now responding to pandemic issues, said Kelly Boyd, chief financial/risk officer.

Senior managers noted that with many PUD employees working at home or on staggered shifts there is an impact on productivity even as employees keep essential utility services available and reliable.

In a related report, commissioners heard that power use in the county has declined up to 12 percent since early March when the governor put the "stay home/stay healthy" order in place.

Local internet service providers setting up community 'hotspots'

offering free access
Chelan County PUD is partnering with local internet service providers (ISPs) to create WiFi access points known as "hotspots across the county to offer free internet access. This is to help people who are coping with the impacts of the coronavirus crisis and the need for students to continue learning while schools are physically closured. service providers have confirmed participation, and the plan is to have the first active hotspots in place soon. Details will be posted at www.chelanpud.org/hotspots.

Mike Coleman, Fiber and Telecom managing director, said there is bandwidth available for 50+ sites in communities from Malaga up the Wenatchee Valley to ake Wenatchee/Plain and from Entiat to Chelan and Manson. The goal is to extend broadband access to students and community members without internet at home as classes move online. people need to file applications or are depending on websites and social media for vital information during the COVID-19 public health closures. Since schools have the staff and technology to offer hotspots, this effort wi focus on community locations close to fiber equipment and with room for parking and social distancing. The WiFi hotspots should offer a service radius of 200-300 feet with speeds of up to 100 megabytes per second.

Talking to kids about school staying closed

SUBMITTED BY WASHINGTON STATE DEPT. OF HEALTH

OLYMPIA - Gov. Jay Inslee and Superintendent of Public Instruction Chris Reykdal announced recenlty that public and private K-12 schools will stay closed through the end of the 2019-2020 school year. Although schools are closed from providing traditional in-person instruction, education will continue. The school districts are working to maintain connections with students and families and provide learning materials and supports over the phone, though email, through printed learning materials, and by using online platforms.

This is a big disruption for our kids! It's totally normal for kids to have multiple and mixed emotions right now. They may miss their friends. They may be sad to miss anticipated milestones, field trips, or projects. They may worry about how this time will affect their future education. They may revel in the release from the structure of the school day or they may struggle to adjust to this new routine. And different kids will need differing types of support to best take advantage of the learning opportunities offered by their school.

Here are some tips that may help you and your child navigate this stressful time:

• Help your kids find positive ways to express their feelings. Sometimes engaging in a creative activity, such as playing or drawing, can help them. Maybe extra physical activity will help them manage their emo-

· As much as you can, maintain a sense of the familiar and a routine for your child's daily life.

• Encourage your kids to stay connected with their friends. Can they text or call their friends? Can they Skype with a younger friend or cousin and read them a book? Reading to a younger child is great learning for both the reader and child being read to.

· During times of stress, some children may need more attention and emotional connection from their parents. Be prepared to give lots of extra hugs, stories, and time.

· Talk to your kids about COVID-19 in an honest and age-appropriate way. Sometimes a little bit of information and a lot of imagination can make life scarier than it needs to be. Help your children understand that we are all staying home to protect ourselves and our communities. Listening to them and addressing their concerns may help ease their anxiety.

 Don't know where to start? Try this comic created by NPR just for kids explaining novel coronavirus.

Practice compassion Remember that our kids are watching us to understand their own reactions. Take this opportunity to teach them about empathy and compassion. Remind them of a time they felt sick. What was that like? What helped them feel better? What can they do to help someone who is sick?

England, announces decision to run for Chelan County Commissioner District 3

SUBMITTED BY LAUNIE BUCK

MANSON - Local resident Dale England, is formally announcing his decision to run for Chelan County Commissioner District 3.

Dale is a 4th generation Lake Chelan Valley native who grew up working on the apple orchard where his mother was born. Dale's father was seriously injured while fighting a fire outside of Wenatchee. This resulted in Dale and his siblings working all aspects of the orchard. Dale continues to work in the orchards today.

Dale England

Dale had a 25-plus year career with Chelan County Sheriff's Office. Dale was honored by his peers by being selected Deputy of the Year 3 times during his distinguished career.

Dale has successfully launched two businesses, Custom Orchard Fumigation and Lake Chelan Helicopters. As the owner of Lake Chelan Helicopters Dale has served both the farming and tourist industries throughout North Central Washington.

Dale's service and volunteerism has spanned over 35 years. He has been awarded several Kiwanis awards including Citizen of the Year and Kiwanian of the Year. His dedication to the community is demonstrated by his involvement with Kiwanis and other local organizations.

Just ask local community members about Dale. They'll tell you he is always one of the first to help and is always a very active part of our community. From our schools, churches, civic organizations and the community, Dale gives of his time and talents at every opportunity.

Dale has a unique background that allows him to balance the differing needs of Chelan County. His involvement in agriculture, tourism, and public service has taught him how to balance these key components in our community. Dale has a common sense approach to the issues important to Chelan County residents.

A breath of fresh air is essential, and walks are popular, both inside the building in hallways and outside the building in the parking lot and on the pathways. Nevertheless, walks are still solitary pursuits, because face-to-face contact risks spreading the virus. Masks are required when residents venture outside their apartments, even with social distancing.

Residents are resilient and their creativity encouraged: sharing favorite recipes, recalling memories, telling jokes, and making bets. Having a sense of humor uplifts our perspective. #### Alice Lorene Soma

Alice Lorene Smith (Egbert) Soma (Allie to her closest friends), aged 75, passed into the loving arms of her Lord on Friday, April 10, 2020. She passed after a battle with cancer. She was a resident of El Mirage, Arizona for the past 7 months and previously resided in Chelan, Washington for 20 years, where she retired in 1999 with her husband, Lyle. She formerly lived in Mukilteo, Lynnwood, and Mountlake Terrace.

Alice was born in Billings, Montana on October 10, 1944. Her parents were Ruby Burns Smith and Charles Madison Smith. After early years in Montana and Oregon, she and her mother moved to Yakima, Washington, where Alice attended school, graduating from Davis High School in 1962. She was active in high school as a song leader, band member, honor society member, and in debate and drama. She also was an active member of Englewood Christian Church, Youth for Christ, and a state officer of her church's youth organization. Alice won a scholarship to Seattle Pacific University where she earned her bachelor's degree in education. She was active at SPU as a Falconette, in music and drama, and other service organizations. She was head proctor of her dorm for two years. She completed her Master of Education at the University of Washington, specializing in vocational special needs. She taught for 30 years in the Edmonds School District, first teaching English, French, debate, history and reading, and then moving on to coordinate the national award-winning vocational evaluation center for 24 years. She had a gift for bringing out the best of special needs students. She found the positive in all her students as well as those she worked with. Alice was also active in the Washington Association of Vocational Special Needs Personnel, being an officer and conference chair.

Alice married Larry John Egbert of Kiona, Washington in 1965, having her first-born, Janet Renee. Larry passed away soon after Janet's birth. Lyle Soma entered her life and they were married in 1972. Alice always jokingly said that Lyle "wouldn't go home" so she had to marry him and he adopted Janet. They welcomed Julie Leann into the world and shared in the raising of his children, Pamela Kay and Chadwick Lyle.

Lyle and Alice spent 46 years happily married and they always owned an RV and spent their vacations traveling or camping, later enjoying many sunny winters in Arizona. Some of her happiest days were spent at Happy Trails in Surprise, Arizona. Alice did not consider herself artistic, but she was usually found with a crochet or knitting project in process. She enjoyed her handiwork, donating afghans and hats to Guild B and Manger Mall. She also kept busy working in her yard, arranging flowers, and keeping a 'sort of' clean house. She was also a reader, active on her computer, always doing something with pictures. She learned to play Mah Jong. Alice was a good cook, doing lots of canning, freezing and baking. She learned to play golf after moving to Chelan where she participated in the ladies' group since 2002. She referred to herself as a "hacker and whacker". Alice joined the Lake Chelan Hospital Guild B in 2004 and served as president, secretary, and hostess chair. She enjoyed her years in the guild. She was a member of Lake Chelan Lutheran Church, serving on the alter guild for years. She also enjoyed writing the "Tee Time" for the ladies' golf.

Alice is also survived by four grandchildren: Coby Joseph and Jonah Carlton Weston in North Carolina. Kaley Christina Soma in Oregon and Blake Robert Barnard in Arizona.

In lieu of flowers, memorial donations may be given to Guild B Lights of Love, P.O. Box 2177, Chelan, WA 98816 or Manger Mall, P.O. Box 477, Chelan, WA 98816.

Alice's memorial service will be scheduled in Chelan, Washington later this year, date/time TBD.

Francis Allen Boyd

Francis Allen Boyd passed away peacefully April 11, 2020 at Harmony House in Brewster, Washington. He was born July 26, 1932, to Francis and Viola Boyd and was raised on the family homestead near Pat and Mike's Grocery on Chelan's south shore, next to what is now Sorrento's Restaurant. Al was the second of four children raised by Francis and Vi.

After graduating from Chelan high school in 1950, Al went to work with his hands and learned the carpenter craft from Chuck Dolfay in Chelan, and became a skilled builder, well known and loved in the Chelan Manson valley.

Al learned all aspects of the building construction trade and was a complete craftsman from start to finish. He poured the concrete, framed, plumbed and wired, roofed, and all the finish work including the cabinets and countertops. Al started in the building trade in 1953 and never completely retired. He built actively for over 50 years. A few of the more notable projects were Spader Bay Condominiums, Pleasant Beach Condominiums, Slidewaters water Park and custom homes throughout the Chelan - Manson valley. His greatest accomplishments, his family would say, are the homes he designed and built for his daughters-in-Law and grandchildren. Later in his busi-

Al married his high school sweetheart, Patricia Carroll on St. Patrick's Day1951. They had two sons, Skip and Mike. Both boys also graduated from Chelan High School, and their activities were ardently "followed" by their dad, Al. He loved any and all sports, and was a very active fan of Chelan sports his entire life. Whenever a Boyd child or grandchild was involved, Pat and Al were there rooting them on. Actually, Pat was rooting us on, and trying to keep Al out of trouble. Anyone who witnessed him at a ball game went away knowing that "Al knew much more than the coaches ever did!"

Al had a gambler's heart. He loved the casino, stock and commodities markets, a good card game, horse races, or any game of chance. He would never be accused of standing in the background of life while it passed him by. He was involved.

Allen also was a member of the Chelan Rod and Gun Club and the Lake Chelan Eagles.

Allen was preceded in death by his loving wife Patricia, parents Francis and Viola, brother Stan and sister Roxie.

He leaves family members Skip and wife Mary and their sons Nathan (Courtney), Eric (Kim), and Greg (Danielle), Mike and wife Carla and their daughters Libby (Danny) Bennett and Kelsey (Mike) Ward, nephew Jack and niece Jean Ashby, and 11 great-grandchildren, as well as a sister, Lorrie Boyd Scharp of Duluth, Minnesota.

There are people too numerous to count, and forgive us if we missed you, but Skip and Mike want to especially thank all the healthcare workers at Lake Chelan Hospital, Heritage Heights, Three Rivers Hospital, and Regency Harmony House for their outstanding care of dad! Although he was a very independent person, he finally accepted all your care, and came to really appreciate and love you all. Also, Rob Dainard for allowing dad to continue assisting with all of your projects and feel needed. Doris Bryant and nephew Jack Ashby were also wonderful help to us getting dad to where he needed to be medically on numerous occasions. Your help was invaluable to us.

Services for Allen will be Wednesday, June 24 at 1 p.m. at Riverview Cemetery, followed by a Celebration of Life at Chelan Senior Center following the graveside about 2-4 p.m. These plans will be changed if we are still under the coronavirus restrictions. Please check the Precht Rose Chapel website before the date of services.

Please feel free to leave any thoughts and memories for the family at www.prechtrose.com. Services are entrusted to Precht Rose Chapel of Chelan.

Republicans introduce plan for 'safe' restart of economy

SUBMITTED BY
WASHINGTON STATE GOP

OLYMPIA - Republicans in the state Senate and House of Representatives today shared the first plan for safely restarting Washington's economy while state government's response to the COVID-19 emergency continues.

"Employers across our state are looking to government for a strategy that starts to take the brake off the economy. Republicans have come through with a safe and reasonable approach for beginning the recovery," said Senate Republican Leader Mark Schoesler.

"We believe many sectors of our economy can operate safely, and employers have every incentive to take the precautions needed to guard the health of their workers and their customers. We trust that if they have an opportunity to open their doors, they'll make it work."

"Our state needs a comprehensive plan to restart its economy in ways that continue to emphasize the health of Washingtonians. No one has produced a plan until now," said House Republican Leader J.T. Wilcox.

"Republicans have been working over the last few weeks to come up with solutions. We know employers and workers need reassurance in these uncertain times. They need to know there's a plan for them to come back."

The Republican legislators' Safe Economic Restart Plan recommends three tiers of actions, starting with steps that may be authorized immediately by Governor Jay Inslee. They include:

• Convene a Restart Task Force comprising legislative leaders, relevant executive-branch directors and representatives of the business and organized-labor communities. This group will chart a course toward allowing all Washington businesses to reopen, on a phased or limited basis as necessary, with COVID-19 protections for workers and customers in place.

• Allow operations to resume in economic sectors that fit one or more of these criteria: low-risk; personal health; environmental protection; aid to people who are elderly, physically challenged, or both; alternate quarantine locations; assisting businesses with tax-related requirements; and property protection. Examples are auto dealers, solo landscape services, car washes, remodeling companies and contractors, residential construction, hairdressers and barbers, flower shops, RV parks, dentists, installers of home and commercial security systems, and accountants and tax preparers.

• Fully disclose the "metrics" that must be met before the governor's March 23 stay-at-home proclamation, which closed more than 230,000 businesses abruptly, can be lifted or amended. Knowing the standards will allow the people of Washington to act accordingly.

• Deliver on the massive testing capabilities promised by state health officials ahead of the business-closure order. Direct the appropriate state agencies to acquire antibody tests and work with employers to screen workers. Workers found to have the antibodies resulting from the COVID-19 infection will be immediately eligible for employment.

• Interface with the governor's Business Recovery Legislative Task Force and be prepared to support recommendations that are achievable, measurable and complementary.

• A moratorium on all state-agency rule-making not related to the current crisis. Rules are important, but at a time when many businesses are simply trying to survive, the making of new rules seems less than essential. Relief from rule-making goes hand-in-hand with relief from taxes.

• Exempt small businesses from paying sales and business-and-occupation (B&O) taxes for one year.

• Offer state-government assistance to the many small businesses in Washington that do not qualify for federal emergency-assistance programs.

"We are looking forward to working with the governor and majority party to produce the best possible results for both our public health and our economic crisis," said Wilcox, R-Yelm.

"Republicans work for all of Washington, and we recognize how a strong economy makes for strong families and strong communities. Our state's economy was particularly strong before things caved in, and we believe it can get there again – and sooner if the governor and Legislature will support these very reasonable ideas," said Schoesler, R-Ritzville.

THE OUTDOOR REPORT

Boating, fishing and birdwatching

Boating? Sure! Fishing? Don't even think about it!

By John Kruse, The Outdoor Report

Washington is the first and only state to outlaw recreational fishing and spring hunting in an effort to combat the coronavirus pandemic. This was done to comply with Governor Inslee's "Stay Home, Stay Healthy" mandate emphasizing social distancing and discouraging travel away from home to limit the spread of COVID-19. With the arrival of mild spring weather though, boats of all types (motor powered, human powered and sailboats) have all been operating on waterways from area lakes to the Columbia River to Puget Sound.

I contacted the Washington Department of Fish and Wildlife about the illogical stance of allowing recreational boating on our waterways but not fishing from those same boats. Carrie Mc-Causland, the Public Affairs Director for WDFW, repeated the agency's stated reasons for the closure of fishing. As for boating, McCausland said, "Some decisions are within WDFW's authority, and some are not", indicating WDFW does not have the regulatory ability to open or close recreational boating.

The Governor's Office, however, certainly does. On April 6th Governor Inslee sent a letter to several Republican state representatives denying their request on behalf of anglers to reopen fishing. I contacted Jon Snyder, Governor Inslee's policy advisor on outdoor recreation, and asked him the same question about why recreational boating is allowed but fishing from boats is not. Snyder declined to answer my question about allowing one activity but not the other where the risk of spreading the coronavirus is exactly the same. Instead, he sent me the same letter Governor Inslee sent to the concerned State Representatives two weeks ago outlining his reasons for keeping fishing closed.

As of mid-April, boating from open county and private access sites and launches remains permissible, but fishing is not. This is one of the reasons anglers planned protests for Saturday the 18th against Washington's "No Fishing" rule at several locations to include Columbia Point in Richland. An online petition by this same group, "Let us Fish" is also circulating on social media and increasing numbers of people are reaching out to their state representatives and senators as well as to WDFW and the Governor's Office asking them to open angling opportunities again.

We'll get an idea how successful these efforts are as we approach the end of WDFW's stated closure date of May 4th, at which point they promise to reassess this situation. It's also worth noting WDFW has convened meetings with select stakeholders trying to figure out how to open up fishing and hunting seasons again. It is possible everything will simply open up at once, the thinking being this will spread pressure evenly across the state. On the other hand, this action could result in a stampede to popular boat ramps, lakes, rivers and hunting areas which could trigger an immediate closure again. Other thoughts include a general opening but limitations on where you can fish or hunt, the thought being you would initially only do these activities in the county or region you live in to limit overcrowding.

At least there's backyard birding

Until we can go fishing and hunting again, or access our state lands and developed federal recreation sites to hike and camp, there's always backyard birding. It does provide some enjoyment and it's also a good way to sharpen your bird identification skills and maybe even your photographic prowess. If you so desire you can do what I did last week. I set up a bird feeder, filled it with wild bird seed, set up a bird bath and for good measure, a bird house too!

So far, the bird house is not occupied but the bird feeder sure has been busy. The first birds to visit were chickadees, followed by white crowned sparrows and house finches. Oregon juncos put in a daily appearance and on several occasions, I've seen nuthatches too. On top of this we've had some California valley quail in the cypress trees above the feeder and a pair of Eurasian collared doves that paid a visit on a recent morning to feed on the bird-seed spilled onto the ground below the feeder.

Also seen in the backyard...Several neighborhood cats attracted to all the new bird activity. Fortunately, my springer spaniel Georgia loves to chase cats and has kept them from staying too close to the bird feeder.
