The students have been working hard to prepare a variety of pieces, including some holiday tunes and a composition by Pateros music director, Jonathan McBride.

LCSd 2020 levy forum ranks priorities

CHELAN - Lake Chelan School District Superintendent Barry DePaoli explained the 2020 "Levy Priority Funding" budget suggestions placed at everyone's table Wednesday, Nov. 20 during a feedback forum attended predominantly by fellow educators and staff members from various schools within the district.

The choices were as follows, in the order as they were on the actual "voting" document: Student Support Services, Student Safety, Academic Programs, Classroom Supports, Enrichment Programs and Maintenance and Operations.

Each of the categories had subheaders beneath that further explained the meaning of the category.

Under Student Support Services were these choices: Nurses, Liaisons, counselor and Administrative Support Staff. Student Safety listed School Resource Officer as the only choice. Academic Programs had five choices: Early Learning, CSI, Career and technology Education/STEM Learning, Highly Capable Program and College in the High School.

The Classroom Supports category listed Professional Development for Teachers, Curriculum Adoption and Materials, Reduced Class Sizes and Library Resources.

'Chelan Fire' reveals 2020 budget plans

CHELAN -- Chelan Fire District 7 Fire Chief Mark Donnell briefed commissioners and the public in attendance about the proposed 2020 budget at the Chelan Fire and Rescue meeting November 20.

"The budget process is a 'best guess' because it is a 'moving target,'" said Donnell.

According to a budget fact sheet handed out to the audience, the expected revenues for 2020 are $2,351,336 with two million of that coming from tax revenues.

After all allocations have been satisfied, $64,134 remains, an improvement over last year's $23,766 deficit.

Most of the expenses go to "career firefighters" and "administration" amounting to $724,202 and $434,523 respectively.

Capital expenses are slightly higher than 2019 at $102,000. The volunteer firefighter program cost $250,050 with $208,274 associated with Fleet expenses.

Nearly $40,000 is earmarked for training, up from $28,500 last year.

Commissioner Russ Jones commented that the administrative expense expected for 2020 is down by $190,000 from 2019.

Donnell pointed out that no hydrant testing is in the budget because it is up to the county and city fire marshals to either test the hydrants themselves or pay the Fire District to do the testing.

"No entities have come

Chelan Fire Chief Mark Donnell explains the budget to those in attendance, Wednesday, Nov., 20.

Firefighter Rains promoted to lieutenant: Chelan Fire District 7 firefighter Taylor Rains gets his new rank as lieutenant pinned on by his wife Samantha, Wednesday, Nov. 20 during a fire department meeting.

Chelan Mayor Mike Cooney was on hand at the Wednesday, Nov., 20 Chelan Fire District 7 budget meeting, but he was wearing his hat as a member of the Chelan Valley Housing Trust (CVHT). He said he was there on behalf of the CVHT to thank local firefighters for their professional and efficient "house burning" of the house located at the future Emerson Village build site meant to benefit the need for more housing in the city.

No sitting down on the job for Chelan CountyPUD's most senior employee

SUBMITTED BY CHELAN COUNTY PUD

WENATCHEE – Materials
foreman Terry McFadden discovered the secret to his long Chelan PUD career years ago:
“I knew I needed to find a job that wasn't sitting down,” Mc-Fadden said.

That was in the late 1970s, and he still logs thousands of steps in the PUD's Wenatchee warehouse every day. On Monday, Chelan PUD commissioners recognized McFadden as the utility's longest-tenured, continuously-serving employee at 43.3 years.

On Oct. 25, he surpassed the mark set by an early PUD employee, a former Puget Sound Power and Light worker who was brought on when the District took over Puget's local system in 1948.

“I like working, I like people, I like staying engaged, and I don't like sitting down,” McFadden, 68, said last week. “In this job,
I'm standing all day, I get to see people, and I get to have some fun while I'm doing it.”

Commissioners applauded the milestone and presented McFadden a certificate marking the accomplishment.

McFadden and his supervisor, Randall Phillips, materials superintendent, started talking about the goal in 2015. The idea piqued McFadden's competitive streak, plus his District pride.
He wanted a public power employee's name in the top spot.

“I know someone will beat me in the future, but I'll always be the first,” he said.

There's no doubt in McFadden's mind that Chelan PUD is a great place to work. It took him three years to get hired on Aug. 2, 1976, when he left college to support his young family.
He started as one of two meter readers. After moving into the office, it wasn't long before he was looking to stretch his legs again.

As the PUD grew, he helped set up and then staffed warehouses across the county, including the one used for construction of the second powerhouse at Rock Island Dam.

By the mid-1990s he was back in Wenatchee, promoted to foreman and enjoying the challenge of learning new software and practices. Recovery after surgery to remove a benign brain tumor in 2013 has been the only thing to keep him away from work.

Retirement is on the horizon, but it will be a few years until he joins his wife, Ceceilia, in the leisure life. Right now he's focused on working hard and, on his off-hours, finishing his business degree at Central Washington University, with just 15 credits to go.

“I'm anxious to complete what I started so many years ago,” McFadden said. “I thank Chelan PUD often for supporting my adventure.” of 2.82 aver-

Donnell also said that Cali-

Chelan County Sheriff's Office Santa's Stars program seeking monetary donation

CHELAN - Once again, the Santa's Stars program will be looking to help less fortunate kids from the communities of Chelan, Entiat and Manson, by giving them the opportunity to shop for Christmas gifts for themselves and their families.

The event will start off with Chelan County Fire District 7 cooking up a pancake breakfast on Dec. 10. The kids will then be teamed up with a Law Enforcement, Firefighter or EMT and will embark on their shopping adventure.

Want to sponsor a child? Each child will be given a $100 gift card to spend on themselves and their family members. The Santa's Star program is currently accepting donations in the form of $100 Walmart Gift Cards. Other monetary gifts are also welcome.

They will also be looking to help each family with groceries, to ensure they have a warm Christmas dinner.

Donation drop-off locations are: Chelan: Sheriff's office at 207. N. Emerson Street. Entiat: Fire District #8, 2200 Entiat Way or in Wenatchee at the Sheriff's office, 401 Washington Street @#101. For more information contact: Sgt. Adam Musgrove at the Chelan County Sheriff's Office Santas.stars.ccsso@gmail.com or 509-630-7530.

Ladies Golf Club donates to Food Bank

SUBMITTED BY LAKE CHELAN LADIES GOLF CLUB

CHELAN - The Lake Chelan Ladies Golf Club has a fun little tradition of collecting quarters from our club members each week for any three-putts. We vote on a charity each year and it has been the Chelan Food Bank for the last several years. On Nov. 12, President Carol Ferguson presented a check for $225 to Jim Batdorf of the Food Bank, in support of the food bank.

Tsillan Cellars results at San Francisco International Wine competition

SUBMITTED BY TSILLAN CELLARS

CHELAN - Tsillan Cellars, the pioneering award-winning estate winery on the South Shore of Lake Chelan, again established its' reputation as one of Washington State's premier estate wineries. Tsillan Cellars wines were again awarded multiple Double Gold and Gold medals competing with thousands of wines from around the world. Results have just been received from the San Francisco International Wine Competition; one of the largest, oldest and most respected international wine competitions. In this demanding competition wines from around the world are judged by international standards. Tsillan Cellars 2017 Estate Reserve Malbec was awarded Double Gold and rated 94 points in the 2019 San Francisco judging. Tsillan Cellars 2010 Malbec also won Double Gold and Best Malbec in this same competition six years ago. Tsillan Cellars Estate Malbec has won 15 Best of Class, Double Gold and Gold medals in other major international competitions in recent years. Tsillan Cellar's south shore estate vineyards again established their reputation as one of the most outstanding and consistent producers of highly acclaimed Syrah. The 2017 Estate Syrah was awarded Gold and 92 points. The 2017 Estate Reserve Syrah was also awarded Gold and 91 points. Tsillan Cellars Estate Syrah wines have been awarded over 40 Gold medals, including many Best of Class, in international competitions in the past eight years.

The Italian designed Tsillan Cellars is also well known for the its' popular Sangiovese, the famous wine of the Italian Tuscany region. The 2017 Etate Sangiovese also garnered a Gold Medal and 90 point in the 2019 San Francisco International Competition.

Dr. Bob Jankelson, owner of Tsillan Cellars, credits the continuing success of Tsillan Cellars in International wine competitions to the unique growing conditions of the South Shore of Lake Chelan, the dedication of long-time vineyard foreman Bal Flores and the winemaking skills of veteran winemaker Ray Sandidge. The success at the San Francisco International Competition followed the unprecedented winning of nine Double Gold and four Gold Medals in the 2019 Seattle Wine Awards. Tsillan Cellars continues to showcase the Lake Chelan AVA in national and international wine competitions.

OBITUARIES

Paul G. Tift

Paul G. Tift, of Brewster, Wash., passed away November 18, 2019, at the age of 89 at his home after an extended illness.

He leaves his wife of 63 years, Pat (Pitcher) Tift; his daughter, Siri Tift; son-in-law, Kurt Wyant; brother, Orlo Tift; and sister, Ida McCoy; and his three grandchildren

Ian Wyant, Kyra Johnson, and Bridget Wyant.

Paul was preceded in death by his parents; his son, Tom Tift; a brother, David Tift; and his sisters, Avis Asdourian and Betty Easterly.

Born on November 12, 1930, in Beaver Crossing, Nebraska to Paul Tift Sr. and Mathilda (Wohlgemuth) Tift, Paul reluctantly left the family farm in Beaver Crossing and moved with his parents to Cashmere, Wash. He graduated from Cashmere High School in 1948.

Upon graduation, he worked as a mechanic for Chelan County. During this time he also competed as a stock car racer and saved money which he used to purchase farmland on Brewster Flat in Okanogan County. In June of 1956 he married Pat in Coeur d'Alene, Idaho. He planted his first orchard of golden delicious in 1959. Paul proved himself to be a successful farmer and orchardist, eventually owning apple, cherry and pear orchards in Okanogan, Douglas, and Chelan Counties. Always a mechanic at heart, he restored vintage automobiles, motorcycles, and even a Stearman Bi-Plane. He was an amateur beekeeper, gardener and avid reader with a special interest in Early American and Native American history.

Paul cared deeply for his family and was a loving husband, father and grandfather. He was a man of hard work, with many talents and strongly held beliefs, and he led by example in everything he did. Paul is dearly missed.

Graveside services will be held at Locust Grove Cemetery, Locust Way, Brewster at 12 noon, November 30, followed by a Celebration of Life at Lone Point Cellars, 6 Lakeview Way, Brewster, from 1-3:30 p.m.

Please leave any thoughts and memories for the family at www.barneschapel.com. Services are entrusted to Barnes Chspel of Brewster.

Richard Harris Thomason

Richard Harris Thomason
March 2, 1948—
November 18, 2019

It seems impossible that one man could have achieved so much in just one lifetime, but Richard Harris Thomason—husband, father, Papa Dad, friend—was that kind of man.

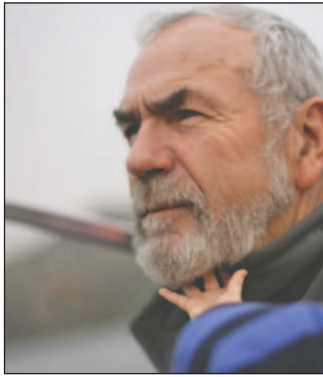

Richard often said, "Remember, there is no limit to what you can accomplish if you don't care who gets the credit." The proof for this statement is evidenced by his life. He never needed or wanted recognition, and he was uncomfortable when he got it. He was asked to serve on dozens of boards and organizations in his lifetime, and it would seem hyperbolic to say that he was elected president or chairman of every single one, and yet he was. Richard did not applaud himself in life. He was humble and unassuming. He didn't talk about who he was and what he did, and so we, his family, will celebrate him.

Consistent, steady, patient, intentional, witty, and brilliant—Richard led others through a quiet and gentle spirit. He would say, "There are two ways to raise kids: They can obey you because they fear you, or they can obey you because they respect you and want to follow your lead." That's the heart of who Richard was. He waited to be chosen; he waited to be asked; he waited to be recognized. This demeanor sometimes resulted in him being passed over, but he never minded. He simply waited longer. He cared about the results and the experience, not whether he got the glory.

Richard's faith in Jesus was much like him—steady, sure and consistent, strong but gentle. It shone through his kindness and loyalty, and in his desire to serve others. His baritone voice will be deeply missed at family gatherings as we sing the doxology.

It would seem incongruous that such a gentle man could have such a love of risk and danger, yet Richard was fearless when it came to speed and ingenuity. He was sometimes asked why he drove so slowly around town, to which he always answered, "I ain't got nothin' to prove. If I wanna go fast, everyone will know it." And they did.

From dragsters to streamliners, waterskis to snow skis, dirt bikes to boats—the man loved speed. When he set out for victory, he pursued it relentlessly, totally undeterred by failure. He taught his lifelong companion and beloved wife, Linda, and their four children to ski. We clearly remember his admonition, "If ya ain't fallin', ya ain't learnin'." Richard showed us that a fall or a failure was just another milestone on the road to triumph.

Richard, along with his friends Ed Tradup, Brian Westerdahl and Jim Socci, set more than a dozen national and international land speed records with the Danny Boy Streamliner, one of which still stands. They designed, built and raced the fastest front-wheel drive car ever made that's been timed and recorded by the Federation International De L'Automobile. "We made every rookie mistake in the book," Richard said about those early years. He even called a relative who worked for Boeing, asking for help. He told Richard, "You're crazy. You're going to kill yourself." Then he gave them the only piece of advice he would offer: "He said, 'Make sure the center of gravity is ahead of the center of pressure.' That's all the help we got from Boeing," Richard said.

The Danny Boy broke down many times on the road to speed. But Richard would always say, "O ye of little faith," and then he would try again, even after a horrific crash at 285 MPH.

In 1991, the Washington State House of Representatives adopted Resolution No. 91-4667, honoring their record-shattering accomplishments as the world's fastest gasoline-powered car and for epitomizing "the spirit of resilience and perseverance by totally rebuilding the Danny Boy Streamliner after the car was destroyed in a 1989 crash."

Richard was a lifetime member of the 200 MPH club, and the 300 MPH club chapter. He said of his racing, "It's been quite a ride for us, the crew, our families and friends. We have been truly blessed, not only in our successes and failures, but by the people and the relationships we have made."

In their time at the Bonneville Salt Flats, Richard and Ed helped bring Racers for Christ to the salt—a group that proclaims the power and message of the gospel to people participating in the world of motorsports. The team could often be seen praying together before a run and on Sunday mornings.

The Danny Boy was retired in 2009, the year after being inducted into the Dry Lakes Racing Hall of Fame, when Richard drove it across the salt at 348 MPH for the last time. But for Richard and Ed, this was just the next step toward building a bigger, faster streamliner—one that they planned to drive over 400 MPH. Richard won't get to drive that car, but it is a testament to the kind of person he was that he did not consider age to be a deal-breaker on the road to achievement. He never considered "retirement" to be an acceptable choice, and how could it be, for such a man? On the contrary, with years of victories and failures under his belt, he had much wisdom to give to others.

Richard broke more than 45 bones in his body at one point or another in his life—racing motorcross, cars, skiing, or just generally living on the edge, as he loved to do. His pain tolerance was like none other, but you wouldn't catch him complaining. "Die quietly," wasn't just something he said to his kids.

Richard was born on March 2, 1948 in Wenatchee, WA. He was raised in a small logging community 10 miles up the Entiat River Valley. After he graduated Chelan High school, he spent his summers in Southeast Alaska working in the king crab industry. He attended the University of Washington and graduated with a degree in mining engineering. There Richard met the love of his life and wife of 50 years, Linda McCroskey. They were married in 1969. His engineering, mining, and blasting jobs carried them to Wyoming, Colorado, Montana, Washington and Alaska. Richard's father, Harris Thomason, had been in the apple farming business since the 1960s. He asked Richard if he wanted to try his hand at the family business for a year. He agreed and the rest is history.

Richard was a pioneer and leader in the apple industry. For nearly 50 years, Richard grew apples on the family farm started by his dad, Maverick Orchards. He loved the risk of adopting new varieties. In 1999, Richard was interviewed by the Los Angeles Times after he was one of the first growers in the nation to pull 70 acres of Red Delicious trees and replant 30 of them with Honeycrisp. At the time, this was such a risk that he was unsure he would be able to get financing to replant the rest. Richard was also one of the first growers in the Country to plant Fuji apples, so he might as well be one of the first to plant Honeycrisp apples. He knew that he might lose his shirt on that gamble. But as he would say, go big or go home.

If you asked how the year was going, he would say, "Well, this is my [45th, 46th, etc.] abnormal year! Meaning that every single year is abnormal. No two growing seasons are the same."

Richard had a long history with the Washington fruit industry. He was a board member and Chairman of the Washington Apple Commission for many years, and of the Northwest Horticultural Council, which focuses on national and international policy issues affecting growers and shippers in Idaho, Oregon and Washington, from 2014-2017. Richard also served as president and board member of the Washington Growers Clearing House Association and of the Okanogan Horticultural Association. He traveled to Washington D.C. countless times to meet with lawmakers and industry leaders, work with the Secretary of Agriculture, and to testify before Congress.

Richard traveled to many countries to learn about international farming practices, and to help farmers around the world adopt better farming, packing, and storage practices. His work and love of travel took him to Belgium, Hungary, Russia, Poland, USSR, Mexico, France, China, India, Thailand, Vietnam, England, Afghanistan, Czechoslovakia, and all over the Caribbean.

Richard was a brilliant engineer. He designed and built his own automatic irrigation system for his orchard in the early 1980's, before such practices became widespread. It was because of this love of engineering that Richard hung up his active farming hat and put on his active engineering hat. He became head of refrigeration and plant engineer at Gebbers Farms, where he designed and fabricated new and innovative refrigeration protocols for CA storage using ozone to increase longevity for apples and cherries.

Growing up, Richard helped his father establish, build and run the Entiat Valley Ski Area and the Echo Valley Ski Area near Chelan. From watching his father's commitment, Richard learned that it takes people who are willing to work very hard in order to start something special. He carried this lesson throughout his life. Richard was instrumental in converting the Loup Loup Ski Bowl from a struggling and nearly bankrupt commercial ski area into a successful non-profit organization.

Richard could take a room full of fractious, disagreeable, and headstrong people and quietly lead them to a solution and a compromise that would win the day. Where most people saw futility, Richard saw opportunity. It was this calm power of persuasion that was instrumental in the formation of the Loup Loup Ski Education Foundation and its eventual purchase of the assets and Conditional Use Permit from the US Forest Service. Richard was essential in winning community support for the 100 local business and individual guarantors that were needed to secure financing and construction of the quad chairlift at the Loup, which has been used and enjoyed by thousands of visitors. He served as the LLSEF board president for some 15 years and was, in many ways, the single person most responsible for what the Loup is today.

Richard had four children with Linda, the love of his life. If you want to know what it takes to be married for 50 years—just look at the photos of how they looked at one another on their 50th Wedding Anniversary. As for their children Adam, Alex, Amber, and Audrey, he would say, "Notice all the names begin with an A and the second letter is in alphabetical order. It was just a coincidence, not planned." But he was methodical enough that we were never quite sure. He loved his sons-in-law, Cody (husband to Amber) and Matt (husband to Audrey), and his daughter-in-law Katy (wife to Alex) as his own.

Richard spent his life coaching his kids—from baseball and softball, to motor cross and of course, downhill ski racing. He mentored his first-born, Adam, in their project to plant and manage three acres of Fuji apples for Adam's FFA Project. These were some of the first Fujis planted in the whole country, and Richard's guidance ultimately spurred Adam on to become state FFA President and to receive his national FFA Degree. He coached his son, Alex, to become 2nd in the US and top 25 in the world for 18-year-olds for alpine racing. He was a mentor and stand-in father to many kids during the skiing years. His math and engineering skills were legendary among his kids. He often helped them solve college-level calculus problems. He told his kids that he would never be surprised at anything they did or accomplished. That was how he told them he was proud. His quiet faith planted a seed in each of his children that has grown into a garden of mighty trees, weathering formidable storms.

Richard became Papa Dad for the first time in 2010 and was thrilled to hold 13 precious grand babies—beginning with Maverick (9), then Ihly (8), Harris (7), Xavier (7), Georgiana (5), Gus (5), Ophelia (5), Solon (4), Danica (3), Maxwell (2), Zandros (2), Hawkins (1) and Gabriella (5 months). His phone was full of photos of his grandkids. He was the mountain every child wanted to climb, literally. Each one of his kids and grandkids were familiar with bouncing on his knee and his "hurly burly trumpet twirly" jingle. He was soft-spoken and you sometimes had to lean in to hear his wit or one of his "Richard-isms," of which there were many.

Richard passed away unexpectedly, but peacefully, in his sleep on the evening of November 18, 2019. He was a good man—a strong man who never gave up, and who changed the landscape in Okanogan County. A man beloved by his wife, who together raised strong, courageous sons and daughters. Richard is also survived by his niece, Angie (Steve) Zehnder, and their two children, Riley and Melanie.

Dear Richard, you are deeply missed. A life well-lived and a man well-loved. Services for Richard Thomason were held Sunday, November 24 at 1 p.m. at the Brewster Seventh Day Adventist Church. Burial was Monday, November 25 at 11 a.m. at the Entiat City Cemetery. Please feel free to leave any thoughts and memories for the family at www.barneschapel.com. Services are entrusted to Barnes Chapel of Brewster.

POLICIES

NCW MEDIA, INC.

An obituary is a way for family member(s) to commemorate a loved one's life and to notify the larger community of the deceased. Obituaries are also used for historical and ancestral data.

Memorials are another way of letting the community know about the life and memories of the person who has died. A Memorial is different from an obituary. An obituary is usually current while a memorial can be written later.

Obituaries and memorials need to be typed and emailed no later than Friday by 4:00 p.m. to be placed in the next available issue(s). Please call for cost of an obituary and which NCW paper(s) that it will be placed in to.

Cost of the obituary/ memorial is due at the time of placement. Funeral homes and chapels can submit obituaries by Noon on Monday, unless a holiday.

Obituaries are priced per word while Memorial ads are per column-inch.

Applicant: Eric Campbell, Campbell's Lodge, PO BOX 278, Chelan, WA, 98816

Environmental Review: The City of Chelan is reviewing the proposed project for probable adverse environmental impacts and expects to issue either a determination of non-significance (DNS) or mitigated determination of non-significance (MDNS).

The optional DNS process in WAC 197-11-355 is being used. This may be your only opportunity to comment on the environmental impacts of the proposed project. Agencies and the public are encouraged to review and comment on the proposed project and its probable environmental impacts. The applicant has provided a SEPA checklist and support documents. Environmental mitigation will be regulated by our Shoreline Master Program, and all proposed infrastructure improvements will need to be approved by the City of Chelan Development Standards.
Comment Period: Your written comments are encouraged. The public comment period on this application will remain open until 5:00 p.m. on December 21st, 2019. Any person has the right to comment on this application, receive notice of and participate in any hearings, and request a copy of any decision once made. Appeal procedures can vary according to the type of decision being appealed. Please contact the Chelan Department of Planning & Community Development with questions about appeals. The application and any related studies may be reviewed at City Hall, Department of Planning & Community Development, 135 E. Johnson Avenue, Chelan, WA, during regular business hours. No public hearing date for this proposal has been set. A public hearing notice will be sent in the future.
Comments must be submitted to: City of Chelan Department of Planning & Community Development, Box 1669 Chelan, WA 98816

Historic Downtown Chelan's Small Town Christmas begins Nov. 20

Enjoy the magic of the holidays Nov. 29- Dec. 24

BY HISTORIC DOWNTOWN CHELAN ASSOCIATION

LAKE CHELAN - The Historic Downtown Chelan Association will again host Small Town Christmas, kicking off Nov. 29 and running through Dec. 24, 2019. Small Town Christmas is a month long holiday celebration taking place in the quaint downtown of Chelan, Wash.

Set among the twinkling lights of downtown and the snow-capped buttes of Lake Chelan, Small Town Christmas is reminiscent of a Norman Rockwell postcard scene. The charming downtown will host an incredible line up of family friendly events, unique shopping experiences, and an auction gala that gives back to the youth in our community. The month-long lineup includes:

•Kick off the holiday season in Historic Downtown Chelan for Hot Friday, Nov. 29th. Stroll through town to the sounds of holiday music as you take in the stunning window displays, find that unique treasure in one of our charming boutiques, grab an early mimosa, and save with some incredible deals.

•Meet Santa Claus on the Old Bridge, Nov. 29 and escort him to the town Christmas tree during the Parade of Lights. Santa will lead the crowd in a few Christmas carols and count down the lighting of the tree.

•After the town Christmas tree has been lit, make your way to Riverwalk Park for the Fireworks Finale, roast marshmallows, grab a cup of cider and take in the stunning lake setting!

•Don't miss the opportunity to get fancy and bid on beautifully decorated Christmas trees and wreaths at The Festival of Trees Auction & Dinner Gala on Dec. 7, 2019. Proceeds benefit the Historic Downtown Chelan Association and Thrive Lake Chelan, an organization supporting and empowering the youth in the Lake Chelan Valley.
