

Fourth of July week keeps CFR busy, Lt. Woods retires

BY DIANA PIÑON STAFF WRITER

CHELAN - After 10 years of service in Chelan, Lieutenant Evan Woods retired from Chelan Fire and Rescue (CFR) on July 6. Deputy Fire Chief Mark Donnell mentioned during the July 17 commissioner meeting, that seven candidates put in their applications to replace Lt. Woods. However, only six moved on to the panel interviews, due to one not passing the written test.

"After the panel interviews we were able to rank those folks from one to six," said Donnell. Beginning the first week of August, CFR Fire Chief Tim Lemon, Deputy Chief Donnell and Assistant Fire Chief Brandon Asher, will be interviewing the candidates and will be making a decision. "We are trying to have someone on board by September 1," Donnell stated. That evening after the meeting, a retirement barbecue was held at Station 71 to honor Lt. Woods.

Donnell added that CFR has six new rescue swimmers, after they completed the course last July 14. Under the guidance of Lt. Shawn Sherman, rescue swimmer program manager, and another three participants were able to learn different rescue techniques. CFR's rescue boat, Marine 71, was also on water during the training.

"I have to say that it is pretty impressive the endurance the swimmers need to have, they spend a lot of time in the water," said Fire Commissioner Russ Jones.

At the moment, CFR is looking for people who are capable of operating the rescue boat. Jones mentioned that other than that everything is set and ready to go. Commissioner Phil Moller brought up the idea of adding lights to the rescue boat. Jones added that perhaps a siren could also be installed. Fleet manager John Goynes said he will look into it and install lights and a siren that follow the code.

Chief Lemon gave a quick summary of Fourth of July week activities. In total CFR responded to 46 calls that week. Out of those calls 31 were for medical aid, one water rescue and three vehicle accidents. "On the fire side of things, we actually did fairly well. Only one brush fire and five others outside of fire events," reported Lemon to the commissioners.

Six CFR volunteers complete rescue swimmer course

BY DIANA PIÑON STAFF WRITER

CHELAN - Seventeen hours in water, plus a couple more in the classroom - that's all it took six Chelan Fire and Rescue (CFR) firefighters to complete the extensive rapid rescue swimmer course.

The program which was implemented in 2011 by CFR was adapted from the Professional Association of Diving Instructors (PADI) program, which focuses on scuba diving and is recognized worldwide.

Lt. Shawn Sherman, rescue swimmer program manager, explained that at CFR they use West Pierce's Rapid Entry Rescue Swimmer Program model.

The risks in Chelan are high since the town is surrounding a lake. "There are no life guards, the Sheriffs can't go in the water and they do not always have their boat in the water. There is no protection for swimmers, boaters, skiers in the water anywhere and we recognize that risk," said Lt. Sherman,

It is a requirement that

all career staff at CFR goes through the rescue swimmer training. Right now there are seven. From there any volunteer that wants to do it can try the training, however not many succeed.

This year, 11 were registered and only six were able to complete the course due to the high intensity of it. The six participants were able to learn different swimmer rescue techniques from Lt. Sherman and assistant instructors Firefighter Taylor Rains, Firefighter Troy Keene and Firefighter Adam Jones. "The most important thing we do in training is called drownproofing," said Lt. Sherman. Drownproofing is method for surviving in water disaster scenarios without sinking or drowning.

Lt. Sherman described that, "essentially we stress out the student to the point they are either getting close to panicking or wanting to get out of the water. We keep at that for as long as possible while being safe," he said. With majority of drownings happening close the shoreline within 30 feet, rescue swimmers must be able to be confident and competent.

Masks, snorkel and fins are the majority of equipment used by the swimmers. "We do not use air for this, it is all free diving," said Lt. Sherman. Instructors were able to teach the students to free dive not past the 30 foot mark. The course also consisted in taking night dives, Lt. Sherman mentioned that the last one took place on July 19. The night dives are needed to train them with no visibility.

CFR's rescue boat, Marine 71 was also on water, it was operated by Fire Commissioner Russ Jones and Firefighter James Belch. Swimmers learned how to enter the Parks board hears pros, cons on pickleball courts

BY DIANA PIÑON STAFF WRITER

CHELAN - After constantly attending the Chelan Parks and Recreation board meetings, the Chelan Valley Pickleball Club will see action be taken in terms of converting the tennis courts at Don Morse Park into dual purpose to accommodate the club's needs.

Recreation and facilities supervisor James Hayter opened the discussion by providing a little history on the tennis courts during the July 18 meeting. Hayter mentioned that in one of the court's corners a Lions Club memorial plaque lays in honor of Paul Harper. (see The 'memorial plaque' for more) Hayter then began giving a general overview of the courts. He said that the dimensions of the courts are 3 feet short and there is not enough room to place four pickleball courts per court side. However, Hayter explained that two pickleball courts on each court side could be easily done. This dual purpose option will give the public an opportunity to use the tennis court plus have two extra pickleball courts open for use. To make this happen, portable pickleball nets and a storage unit will be necessary. Hayter reported that the nets average $240, with the lowest cost one being $109 and the priciest one $350.

If the tennis courts were to be converted into all pickleball courts up to eight of them could fit into the current space - if the tennis nets were to be removed.

A member of the Pickleball club mentioned the club's proposal to the board. "What we are proposing here is that you convert the Don Morse tennis courts into six very nice, roomy pickleball courts that will accommodate 24 players," he said.

CHELAN - On May 14, 1953 the Chelan Valley Mirror, now the Lake Chelan Mirror, published a story by Dr. L. V. Woods titled "Local Community Tennis Courts Nearly Finished." In it Woods tells the story of Paul Harper and his dream of building a community tennis court that could be used for ice skating in the winter.

In order to raise funds for the community tennis court, Harper enlisted the aid of the Chelan Junior Chamber of Commerce. However, while working for his dream Harper was taken fatally with a heart seizure.

The Lions Club then took over with the thought of making the courts into a Memorial to Paul Harper. It took nearly five years for the Lions to obtain the money necessary to build the courts in what is now Don Morse Park. The local VFW and the Soroptomists helped the Lions achieve their goal - a tennis court measuring 105 by 120 feet.

Ever since the courts were inaugurated the plaque in honor of Harper has remained intact. Chelan recreation and facilities supervisor James Hayter said he first discovered the plaque 10 years ago and it is located in south east corner of the tennis courts.

Chelan Reruns working on expansion

3,700 sq. ft. room will be added

By DIANA PIÑON STAFF WRITER

CHELAN - The high number of donations, plus current merchandise at the Chelan Station Reruns store, gives no other option but to expand their display room by 3,700 square feet.

Store manager Debbie Reed explained that for one there was no room to display every category of goods they have in stock. The additional space will be added towards the back of what is now the furniture warehouse. In it, electrical, lighting and geriatric sections plus remodel items and exercise equipment will be displayed.

In order to clear out the space needed, Reruns stopped taking donations for nearly two months. "We just had to, there was no way the guys had time to do anything else but do donations," said Reed.

Reruns volunteer John Olson is taking the lead on the project and little by little is organizing the room. With all the renovations happening at the Reruns, Olson's workshop will be moved to different space away from the shopping area.

In addition, the Reruns store has added parking signs that direct customers to additional parking adjacent to the store. Reed also emphasized that they are no longer "holding" items for customers. "Now people have to take the items when they are sold," she said.

Last June, the store had a free parking lot event and Reed mentioned that they are planning another by the end of the summer. "We will probably be doing that twice a year from now on, just to get rid of stuff," Reed stated.

Reruns is back to accepting donations, however if you are dropping items off, Reed reminds all to do so before 4 p.m. so that it gives the work-

CORRECTION/CLARIFICATION

Heritage Heights' board signed the agreement with the Office of Rural Farmworker Housing (not SLI), and Heritage Heights received the $52,000 grant from the State Legislature (not the SLI Task Force), as was written in the July 17 story of the Senior Living Senior Living Initiative meeting.

The Senior Living Initiative (SLI) is a community action group. It has no legal standing and no board of directors. At the present time, SLI is comprised of representatives from Tender Loving Care for Seniors, the Lake Chelan Community Nurse Program, Heritage Heights, and the Death Cafe, all of whom share a vision to build a pathway of senior living and care in the Chelan Valley. Open meetings are held quarterly to exchange information on programs offered by the representatives of different organizations.

To make the distinction: As a legally incorporated non-profit organization with a 20-year operating history and local board of directors, Heritage Heights is pursuing the expansion of its campus to add independent living and memory care services to the existing assisted living service Heritage Heights currently offers, as licensed by the State of Washington. They are moving this development forward as part of their business.

water from a boat. Mariner 71 is huge asset to the swimmers since now they have a way to access the water and get there faster. “We are really lucky to have that boat, it is an excellent boat,” said Lt. Sherman.

Firefighter Rains, who helped instruct the course this year, recalled his rescue swimmer training. “There’s a big difference between recreational swimming and having to swim to exhaustion,” Rains said. Over the last two years, he has seen big improvements when being in water, “before I was not comfortable in the water at all, now I am,” he explained. In September, Rains will be taking a 40 hour PADI course.

With these additional six rescue swimmers, CFR has doubled their rescue swimmer numbers. Each year, CFR responds to two to three emergencies in the water.

As a reminder Lt. Sherman wants to remind parents to keep an eye on their kids when they are in the water. “Be as careful as you can, pay attention and have somebody that can call 911 at the very least and we have a program to get there as well,” he said.

dent and Councilwoman Kelly Allen stated that other projects are also taking place and the demand at Don Morse Park is high. Allen expressed that there are alternative locations in town that would require working with other interest groups such as Chelan County PUD to add the courts.

The club also presented the option to build six pickleball courts by the ball fields behind the Chelan Senior Center. Parking and restroom facilities make this property attractive to the club. Allen made sure to let the club know that Rotary could lend them a hand with the project. “We are wanting to serve a need in our community,” said Allen.

The Pickleball club assured the board that as a club they are willing to contribute to the project with money from fundraisers. “We will throw some money to it because it is worth to us,” said a club member.

After hearing from the club members, the board agreed to move forward with the conversion of the courts to dual purpose, if there’s room in the budget to do so.

Another year of Lake Chelan Bach Fest in the books

BY DIANA PIÑON
STAFF WRITER

CHELAN - Conductor Dan Baldwin and the Festival Orchestra were in charge of closing the 38th annual Lake Chelan Bach Fest at Riverwalk Park Pavillion on Saturday, July 20. The free Pops in the Parks concert began shortly after co-president of Lake Chelan Bach Fest Kerry Travers gave a quick update on behalf of the officers and the board members. Travers mentioned that they have raised the sufficient money to replace the current acoustic panels at Riverwalk Pavilion. The new panels will have plaque honoring those who contributed money to the project. "We are still taking donations because we want to have a fund to replace and to repair," added Travers. Retiring board members were also honored during that evening. Afterwards, the blissful orchestra melodies commenced with the Hungarian March from Damnation of Faust. The officers and board will begin planning for the 39th Lake Chelan Bach Fest in August and it will be celebrated July 9-18, 2020. If interested in volunteering at next year's event visit <http://www.bachfest.org/volunteer> to complete the volunteer form.

Kerry Travers, co-president of Lake Chelan Bach Fest

CLOCKWISE FROM ABOVE: The Festival Orchestra played a total of five songs during the free Pops in the Park concert on July 20. Who said you had to be sitting down at Riverwalk to relax and enjoy the concert? A massive amount of people gathered with their lawn chairs and blankets for the annual Pops in the Park concert part of Lake Chelan Bach Fest. It sure was the perfect time to jump in the water to fetch.

Lake Chelan project: The Little Hydro that can

SUBMITTED BY CHELAN COUNTY PUD

WENATCHEE - Once again the Lake Chelan Hydro Project has earned recognition for sustainable operations from the Low Impact Hydropower Institute.

The designation takes into account all of the environmental work done at the 59-megawatt project at the base of Lake Chelan. That includes restoring year-round flow in the Chelan River after 80 years and creating an award-winning habitat that attracts healthy numbers of salmon and steelhead, and offers paddling and fishing for people.

"All of our environmental work at the Chelan project contributed to our successful application," Suzanne Grassell, government affairs program manager, told Chelan PUD commissioners Monday.

The Lake Chelan project first earned Low Impact Certification in 2007. Grassell said the recertification, good through September 2022, was "a much more rigorous application process." The institute upgraded its criteria in 2014.

There was more good news. The state now recognizes efficiency gains from turbine upgrades as renewable energy under state I-937 requirements.

A key factor in earning Low Impact Certification was the increasing numbers of steelhead and spring Chinook returning to spawn and rear in the habitat near where the Chelan River joins the Columbia. So was restoring year-round water flow in the Chelan River as part of the project's new federal license in 2006, she said.

The National Hydropower Association honored the habitat with an Outstanding Stewards of American Waters award in 2010.

"This certification from a respected third party highlights how we can generate carbon-free power and protect fish at the same time," Grassell said.

Commissioners were delighted with the news. "The Chelan River Project is a real showcase," added Commission President Garry Arseneault.

In other business, commissioners:

Approved purchase of 2.12 acres of property next to the site of the PUD's new Service and Operations Center in Olds Station. The Nevio and Elizabeth Tontini Living Trust agreed to sell the land for $854,211. Shared Services Director Dan Frazier said potential uses for the property include access to the Wenatchee River and Apple Capital Loop Trail.

Upcoming events:

- Aug. 5 - Commission meeting, 10 a.m. PUD boardroom, at 327 N. Wenatchee Ave.

- Aug. 6 - National Night Out, 6 p.m., Eastmont Community Park

- Aug. 19 - Commission meeting, 10 a.m. PUD boardroom

CHELAN - The Senior Men's Golf Club on Wednesday, July 17 welcomed new Members, Larry Jacobson and Ron Cook.

Approximately, 32 Golfers started play at 8 a.m. from tee boxes ranging from hole #15 through hole #1. There was heavy rain to greet the golfers but the clouds gave way to sun within a short time.

Prior to play, Dr. Darrell Richards distributed club roster lists to enable members to update their personal contact information. He reported when the changes are completed an updated list would be emailed to all the members. And, members were informed comprehensive instructions would be posted on the Club's Bulletin Board to provide guidance on how to accurately post their scores for handicap purposes and to access their handicap information on the Lake Chelan Golf Course computer.

The results from the July 17 weekly game competitions are as follows:

The "Even Holes Less Half Your Handicap" game was won by Gary Searle (Score

29), Darrell Simpson was second (Score 32), Dan Dedo was third (Score 33) and Bob Carleton was fourth (Score 33.5). Tony Montoya, Scott Patrick and Mark Babcock all tied for first place in the "Low Net Score on All Par 3's" game (Score 10). John (Mr. VP) Hancock took honors on the "Long Drive Contest on Hole #5" and Dave Jansen recorded the winning shot on the "Closest to the Pin Contest on Hole #11".

The group was reminded free lunches would be provided to members that attend the Men's Club monthly meeting on July 28 and to those golfers participating in the Apple Cup Open Tournament on July 20.

After play, Matt Froman the 2019 Men's Club president announced several enhancements to the 2019 Apple Cup Open Tournament scheduled for July 20 and 21 at the Lake Chelan Golf Course. The Tournament Committee decided to add a "Hole-in-One" prize contest and Award, to add additional prize awards for the "Horse Race" competition, to add a "Honey Bucket" game with Awards, and additional money has been allocated to the overall tournament prize Awards for the three separate player divisions.

Bar X Rodeo Company providing some exciting stock for the Lake Chelan Rodeo

Courtesy Bar X Rodeo Company

With stock from Bar X Rodeo Company this year's rodeo will have bull riding, saddle bronc riding, tie down roping, barrel racing, breakaway roping, steer wrestling and team roping.

CHELAN - Chelan High School graduate Tucker Cool and his wife Haley are the owners of the Bar X Rodeo Company. Now residing in Davenport, Wash. they raise kids, bucking bulls, bucking horses, and roping cattle. They provide rodeo production for rodeos all over Oregon, Idaho and Washington. Tucker and Haley are excited to be putting on the Lake Chelan Rodeo. It's special for Tucker as he grew up in Lake Chelan area going to the rodeo every year and those memories are some of the fondest from his childhood.

Rodeo fans should be excited to watch the exciting western action from events like Ranch Bronc Riding, where cowboys use a saddle just like the one you have at home. They hold on to a lari-at rope and a bronc reign and try to stay in the middle for eight seconds. Or the fan favorite, bull riding. Oh boy, is there a ton of bull riders this year. You'll want to watch for bulls like White Lightning who has been unriden this year, or Comanche who has only been ridden once all year and it was for 90 points. In addition to those events, the rodeo will be hosting saddle bronc riding, tie down roping, barrel racing, breakaway roping, steer wrestling and team roping.

Other exciting notes about the rodeo include specialty acts like Ike Pryor and the Tillicum Riders. Let's not forget about Chelan's "world famous chicken" race for the kids either. Bar X Rodeo wants to invite you out to the rodeo Friday, July 26 and Saturday, July 27, it's going to be fun for the whole family.

A COWBOY'S PRAYER

Dear Our Heavenly Father,

We pause mindful of the many blessings you have bestowed upon us. We ask that you will be with us at this rodeo and thank you for living in a country where we are free to gather as we are today. We thank you for guiding us in the arena of life. We don't ask for any special favors Lord. We don't ask for all daylight runs, to draw around a chute fightin' horse or a steer that won't lay. Just help us Lord, to live our lives in a way that when make our final run in the country up there, where the grass grows lush, green, and stirrup high and the water runs cool, clear, and deep, that you, as our final judge, will tells us, "All our entry fees are paid."

Ike Pryor is putting his funny on for your entertainment pleasure

CHELAN - When you come to the 2019 Lake Chelan Rodeo, you will be entertained by one of the best.

Ike Pryor is returning to the Rustler's Arena to put his funny on. He'll make you laugh till your belly hurts. Ike has simply been there and done that in the rodeo business.

He started out fighting bulls in 1982. He became the "man in the can" in 1990 when he switched to being rodeo clown/barrel man. He quickly became the sweetheart of the rodeo with his quick wit and animal acts that have included roosters, skunks, Dexter cattle, feinting goats, border collies, and donkeys. His creativity and sense of humor led to acts with clown cars, magic tricks, and pyrotechnics.

He has been a pathfinder and trendsetter in the clown business for the past 29 years. His career has taken him more than 3 million miles down the rodeo trail from the Canadian Border to the Mexican Border and most points in between in the Western United States. His trophy case holds 10 Clown

He is an all-around good guy who thinks he's pretty good-looking cowboy, as well. But

Tucker Cool, returns to his hometown as rodeo announcer, stock contractor

CHELAN - Tucker Cool grew up going to two things, auctions and rodeos. However, it wasn't until eight years ago that he took to doing so from the microphone. He started out in the arena competing and selling the livestock that he raised. Enamored by the western lifestyle he grew up in, he involved himself in activities such as 4-H, FFA, Jr. and Highschool rodeo.

He moved on to competing in the Pro-West and serving a year as the Washington State FFA President. But, as his year ended as a state officer so did his rodeo career with a shoulder injury. That's where Tucker took to the microphone to stay involved. From there it was apparent that God gave him a lot more talent talking than he ever did competing. He went on to college to study Ag Education and Marketing and is also a graduate of the Western College of Auctioneering.

Over the last nine years he has worked Junior, Collegiate, Open, and Association rodeos, in addition to raising millions of dollars at the auction stand. He sells annually for dozens of non-profits as well as in the commercial industry.

In addition to being the featured keynote speaker at many events. He is excited to be a part of the rodeo in Chelan, where he grew up.

After starting his career here in the Lake Chelan Valley, Tucker Cool is one of the most sought-after voices in the Northwest rodeo industry.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dr. Jobe stresses the importance of RiverCom

RiverCom is a critical part of the infrastructure of our communities, and I am asking that you join me in renewing the RiverCom 911 Emergency Communication Systems and Facilities Tax. No matter the emergency, the staff at RiverCom quickly determine the nature of the call and then rapidly dispatch the appreciate resources. As the medical director for EMS in Chelan and Douglas Counties, I am intimately familiar with the key role that RiverCom plays in taking care of people with medical emergencies.

Nearly 10 years ago, we began a systematic effort throughout our emergency medical service partners to make improvements in each of the links of the "chain of survival" to save more lives from sudden cardiac death. RiverCom has played a key role in that effort. We instituted a process change that focuses on early initiation of CPR anytime the call-takers determine the victim is not conscious and not breathing normally.

Ten years ago, this was a controversial practice, but one back by peer reviewed, scientific studies. Now, it has become the standard that dispatch centers are striving to achieve. In cardiac arrest, seconds make the difference between life and death. These process improvements are an integral part of why, in Chelan and Douglas Counties, we have one of the highest survival rates from cardiac arrest in the country.

This tax was initially approved in 2009 and we must renew it before it expires at the end of the year. This is not a new tax or a tax increase, but a vital tax required for RiverCom to continue to provide quality service. This is a sales tax of 1/10 of 1%, or one dime for every $100 spent, paid for by the citizens as well as visitors who might experience some type of emergency. So please join me in voting top support the RiverCom 911 Tax when your ballot arrives.

Self-Immolation of the Left

Martyrdom is often a desirable state of consciousness in the eyes of the True Believers of Karl & Vladimir. One who aspires and then attains this essence of victimhood, meant as one's public façade, can be said to have reached the Ganges of the Faithful --- and that's where they burn bodies.

Let us have Bernie in Wonderland and Kamela Braveheart Harris show America how to bankrupt itself while simultaneously becoming the world's largest and greatest newly formed Communist nation.

APPLES TO APPLES
Gary Bégin

Isn't it ironic that the Left wing and many in the middle, have hated, pilloried and investigated Donald Trump for years now because he was friendly towards another Vladimir -

Putin. Yet our incredible experiment in democracy is about to become a much deadlier experiment in revolutionary politics pitting the extreme left against those with enough guts to fight them back.

Whether it's gun rights, abortion, free health care, free education, LBTGQ issues or the environment, the Democrat Party has taken a sharp left into Commie Territory while the rest of us "cling to guns or religion or antipathy to people who aren't like them" (Barack Obama).

Perhaps the "anti-fa's" (anti-fascists) of the world don't truly understand that the country will rebel and there will be blood in the streets if this moral minority attempts to co-opt the nation's legislation towards the "all things free to everyone" mentality.

Please America, don't hand your credit cards to these drunken sailors, with apologies to both sailors and drunks. One day Little Johnny was handed a huge bag of candy. By the end of the day he was so full he couldn't even move and just moaned as he sat on the couch watching TV.

Eventually Little Johnny became addicted to this free candy and did nothing much but eat and lie around. America has become full of Little Johnnies ... and now the wolves are at the door.

Alas, porky and atrophied, LJ couldn't even run from the menace and was devoured as were his porky and atrophied neighbors.

Finally one day, after all the fat was cleared from the land, a man with a rifle appeared from the mountains and shot all the wolves and the country eventually regained normalcy. To be continued ...

Lessons from Life

I just read the last two chapters of the book of Revelation where in John describes the vision he received of the Holy City, inside and out.

"The city does not need the sun or the moon to shine on it, for the glory of God gives it light and the Lamb is its lamp." Revelation 21:23

What an incredible image of this eternal city made of gold and pearls, and we will dwell there in the presence of The Most High God. (Revelation 21:3)

Out of all these astonishing passages the one that touched me today was chapter 22 verse

Tim Lamb

9. After seeing all this the author, John, is so moved he falls down to worship the angel who showed him these things and the angel says "...Do not do it! I am a fellow servant with you...and of all who keep the words of this book. Worship God!" Even the highest most trusted angels in heaven will not be above us when we are made eternal; they will not accept worship. Even a lowliest sinner who enters heaven by the thread of grace will stand with the angels of heaven and worship God face to face. This humbles me to see the depth of His grace and mercy at work; even the angels anticipate our arrival and are in awe!

Revelation 21: "...glory and honor of the nations will be brought into it. 27Nothing impure will ever enter it, nor will anyone who does what is shameful or deceitful, but only those whose names are written in the Lamb's book of life."

"Those whose names are written in the Lamb's book of life" They/we are destined for glory! This could not be made up! Honor is reserved for mighty men and Kings, not the weak and foolish that men despise. If anyone wanted to 'make up' a religion for people to follow they wouldn't go this route. "God in His wisdom saw to it that the world would never know Him through human wisdom." 1 Corinthians 1:18-31 teaches us that God has all the strength and wisdom He needs. He did not chose people based on any criteria.

He could choose us before the creation of the world because we have nothing He needs.

God will prove by His grace that He could take ANYBODY and remove the impure and make them holy. He could remove their own silly thoughts and give them wisdom. He could remove their unbelief and give them faith. He can remove their hatred and give them love.

God can take a proud man and when He is done that proud man will fall on his face before the messenger of God in awe and fear.

How do you know you are chosen? You desire God... it is that simple. Not that you desire what God can do for you but that you simply desire Him. That's it in a nut shell. Face it, when you get to heaven who will be the most obvious person there? GOD!! If He is not your reason for seeking eternal life, you would be disappointed when you get to heaven because it really is all about Him.

Does it really matter that there are streets of gold and gates of pearl? "Seek first the Kingdom of God and His righteousness..." Jesus is enough!

How to take iron supplements

After a short hospital stay for a bleeding ulcer, 78 year-old Mabel was discharged home on pills to heal her ulcer and an iron supplement to correct her blood loss. Despite taking iron for 3 months, Mabel's blood tests showed she was still low in iron. When I asked her which iron supplement she was taking, she proudly showed me a bottle of ferrous gluconate 300mg sustained release capsules. "The ferrous sulfate tablets they gave me tore up my stomach, so the pharmacist recommended this one. I can take one every day without a problem."

Iron supplements have been used in medicine since ancient times. Greek physicians treated people who were pale and tired with drinking water enriched with iron, either created by leaving swords in water to rust or by saving the water blacksmiths used to cool hot iron in.

Iron is a critical part of hemoglobin, a protein responsible for carrying oxygen throughout the body, with four atoms of iron in each molecule giving blood its distinctive red color. Without enough iron to make hemoglobin, your body can't supply enough oxygen and you'll become pale and tired.

The most common cause of iron deficiency is blood loss, from stomach bleeding like Mabel experienced, heavy menstrual periods, or chronic blood loss from the intestines such as hemorrhoids. Less common causes of iron deficiency are poor diet, poor absorption due to gastric bypass surgery or kidney disease, or an increased need for iron during pregnancy or breast-feeding.

We treat iron deficiency anemia by giving iron supplements to replace both iron in your blood and replenish iron stores in your bone marrow, usually by giving 100mg to 200mg of elemental iron daily over several months. The most common side effects of iron involve stomach or intestinal irritation: stomach pain, constipation, nausea, vomiting, and even diarrhea. Iron can also make your stools dark and cause a metallic taste.

The 3 most common forms of oral iron supplements are ferrous sulfate, ferrous gluconate, and ferrous fumarate.

Ferrous fumarate contains 33% elemental iron, ferrous sulfate has 20% elemental iron, and ferrous gluconate has only 12% elemental iron.

Iron is poorly absorbed and needs an acidic environment to assist its absorption. Vitamin C (ascorbic acid) improves the absorption of iron by converting some of it from the less soluble ferric form to the more soluble ferrous form. A six-ounce glass of orange juice can improve iron absorption by 10%. Although they cause less stomach distress, enteric coated and sustained release forms of iron are not as well absorbed as rapid-release forms because they bypass the stomach to dissolve further down through the intestine where it is less acidic, so less of the iron is in the more absorbable ferrous form.

Taking iron supplements on an empty stomach either 30 minutes before or 2-3 hours after eating also increases iron absorption, although it causes more stomach irritation when taken without food.

Despite taking supplemental iron for 3 months, Mabel's blood tests still showed iron deficiency anemia. I asked her which iron supplement she was taking, and she showed me a bottle of ferrous gluconate 300mg sustained release capsules instead of the ferrous sulfate 300mg tablets that she was originally prescribed. "The tablets they gave me tore up my stomach, so I'm taking these instead." Each 300mg ferrous gluconate tablet only contained 36mg elemental iron instead of the 65mg in each 300mg ferrous sulfate tablet she was originally prescribed.

Here are 6 Tips for Taking Iron Supplements Successfully:

1. The dose of elemental iron is the most important.
2. The effectiveness and side effects are similar at equal doses of elemental iron. 300mg of ferrous gluconate has 36mg of elemental iron compared with 65mg in 300mg of ferrous sulfate.
3. For best absorption, take iron on an empty stomach.
4. If taking your iron supplement on an empty stomach causes stomach irritation, try taking them with food instead of skipping doses.
5. Avoid sustained release or enteric coated iron supplements.
6. Sustained release, delayed release and enteric coated iron may cause less stomach upset but are less well absorbed.

Sustained release, delayed release and enteric coated iron may cause less stomach upset but are less well absorbed.

4. Start by taking one ferrous sulfate tablet daily, increasing the dose if tolerated.

Higher doses of iron are not absorbed as well and cause more stomach upset and constipation.

5. Consider cooking with cast iron skillets and pans. Cooking with cast iron increases iron content of your food and can treat mild iron deficiency.

6. Keep iron tablets out of the reach of children.

Both ferrous gluconate and ferrous sulfate tablets look like chocolate M&M candies.
