Amanda Ballou, Heritage Heights Assisted Living

CHELAN - Right after Shoesmith, Amanda Ballou from Heritage Heights Assisted Living filled in the attendees on what has happened since 2015.

"Heritage Heights acted a sponsor for this group, the Senior Living Initiative, said Ballou. Then she went ahead and thanked other sponsors such as the Lake Chelan Community Services Council and the Lake Chelan Chamber of Commerce, "we would also like to thank the Chelan Senior Center for offering the Senior Center to us this evening."

In the first summit, the SLI team was able to collect data from the locals, Ballou refreshed attendee's minds by stating the vision and priorities of the community based on the first summit.

In summary the community wants "a campus that maintains connection ... in terms of setting priorities we had to number ones, memory care and independent living."

From that moment on Ballou stated, "Heritage Heights took on the responsibility for this campus and we went out to look for partnerships with organization that could help us and guide us along."

First off, Shoesmith was "hired the month after the first summit and we also received a very generous grant from the Community Foundation and extremely generous crowd funding that pay for John's time with us."

Shoesmith then help the Campus of Care set the criteria for a site, "we went out and looked at around 20 different sites close to town." From there "we began to look at the financial feasibility of the project," said Ballou.

Today, the Campus Task Force is still exploring different partnerships, "we have been

Author Dar Williams visits Chelan

By DIANA PIÑON STAFF WRITER

CHELAN - On Tuesday, Oct. 2, singer/songwriter and author Dar Williams visited Chelan. During her time in town she visited Chelan High School students, facilitated a leadership discussion at City Hall and addressed what she observed in the community.

Williams has written many books in which she "explores how communities thrive in the midst of significant change and challenge."

In her time spent at City Hall with members of the community, Williams touched on three specific subjects: the charm of a small town, cultural bridges and housing.

She suggested to let "outsiders" know how special this town is, as an example she said that business owners should share their story with the people who come into town. "I think that as an outsider, you might be more polite and more supportive, more part of their community," said Williams. A long those lines, she suggested to include welcome signs throughout town in businesses and in the municipals signage.

Williams also spoke about the Visitor/Resident Ratio (VR Ratio), she says that small tourist towns usually struggle with that. However, Williams said, "The kids really love it here. They generally sense that the business owners are nice, and that the business owners are nice to each other and that they work together."

With this information the high schoolers she met with employees. They do not get the idea that people who are working in this town and run the business are usually the owners and they have help."

"They need to understand the culture," responded Williams.

Continuing on with transmitting the towns story, Williams highlighted the importance of murals in every town, "it shows pride and history, they are beautiful."

HDCA Director Erin McCordle, explained that Chelan is community of workers and at times, it is very difficult for the community to stay connected, she mentioned that a lot of retired folks are moving here because they love. She asked Williams is any other towns experiencing this and what can Chelan do to bring all the community together.

"The best to do with retired citizens is to put them right to work ... when retired citizens volunteer hours and expertise it's turns everything to gold," said Williams.

For the worker community, Williams suggested to meet in a place and write down all the events hosted in town and look for three different

Powerhouse Park to reopen Oct. 26

By DIANA PIÑON STAFF WRITER

CHELAN FALLS - The Powerhouse Park in Chelan Falls will reopen on Oct. 26 after the riverbank and swim beach area get renovated.

The park closed on July 30 in order to start a two part project. Part one includes the riverbank which is being rebuilt back to it's natural stage. Part two consists of protecting the swim area from erosion.

"This project is to save the riverbank, it's eroding, it's steep and dangerous. So we are using bioengineering to keep it from getting any worse," said Vern Chamberlain PUD Project Management Department Manager. The intent is to stabilize the shoreline and restore the natural components of it.

"We will have what is called a soil wrap. We will put in top soil with coconut fiber over it and the lower edges of it will be planted live willow stakes and then some of the space that is left in the next four feet we're putting in some other native type of tree species ... the lower edge is more of near water habitat," said Tony Rapoza PUD Construction Manager.

A new fence will also be added, "We are trying to make it safer," said PUD Public Information Officer Kimberlee Craig. PUD doesn't want people to be jumping the fence and go fishing, that's why they will add two fishing access points and a small non-motorized boat launch.

munity since the 90s, "overall the PUD has 15 parks that go along with our hydro projects," said Craig.

The Chelan PUD is little by little restoring river banks in some of the parks they are responsible for. As Craig states, "The key thing for all of those is that bioengineering. We are really thinking about the fish and the other animals that use this riverbank and the ecosystem that was on a natural riverbank."

Since the PUD had to work along with other agencies, "There's a very specific time we can do in water work because of fish and we have to criteria.

- Do people like it?
- How does each event bridge?
- How does it bring other parts of the community?

Mayor Mike Cooney had the chance to pose a question, "You talked about it in your book and we are facing it in town, it is housing for the middle class ... home crisis has risen, wages has stayed the same, people are having to move and commute to our town ... and for the seniors as well."

Williams is not very familiar with affordable housing however, she mentioned that all communities are dealing with a home crisis. However, she mentioned the idea of the "granny flat," basically a part of a house for example a garage is converted for a person to live and then they would rent out their home.

"Once you put the concept out, people can get very creative about it and then perhaps a zoning board can be a little more looser in response to that," Williams said.

Lastly, Williams spoke about the "unforgotten Hispanic voice" in Chelan. "If there are projects that bring in the history of the migration, what has people staying here ... there's a way to pull in and harvest a cultural pride," said Williams.

Williams believes that by incorporating festivities such as Dia de los Muertos (Day of the Dead) different cultures are able bridge together.

HDCA is in fact launching the first Dia de los Muertos event on Nov. 3, "the reason why we decided to do it is to start to merge the gap between the Hispanic community and the Anglo community, it is such an important tradition and it has been really excited to see how many people want to be part of this," said McCardle.

Cooney ended the discussion by thanking HDCA for sponsoring and bringing Williams to town.

to $67,377, for 2019 there are no transfers out in the budget.

The total revenues budgeted also increased for 2019 by 11.56 percent to $417,715, part of the reason to it changing is due to sales tax and Planning and Building Department charges.

Many of the projects in the Capital Funds for this year will carry over into next year. However, there were some new project requests, including a new audio system for City Hall which will include a laser projector and will last for about 20 years.

The Finance Department's major ask is for a server replacement that goes along with the new software recently installed earlier this year.

work with fish agencies very closely to get that permit and this was the window."

The project is currently 70 percent done, "We finished with our in water work. We are on schedule. We will wrap up the restoration work in early November," said Rapozo.

In a few weeks landscaping will take place, a variety of trees and plants will be planted, including Ponderosa Pine, Willows and Snowberry. "These trees were picked by our Parks Department, they were approved by the agencies. We couldn't just pick what we wanted without their approval," said Rapozo.

A number locals have stopped by the park, Rapozo explained, "Everyone's been real receptive and no one is getting mad about it. They will get some benefit to the park, which will keep it open in the future."

"On October 26 the park in regards to the Sanders/Johnson intersection and the fact that there has been a lot of congestion lately. Due to this the city will look into the problem more and will find the best solution to solve it. In talks was the possibility of adding a roundabout.

Along with that intersection, there has been a lot of people reaching out to the city about the traffic being created in front of the high school. Chelan Schools' Superintendent Barry DePaoli is very concerned about the students safety while crossing the street.

The council spoke about an interim solution to the problem. They will look at installing a flashing beacon to ensure students can cross safely. This will cost around $15,000.

The Parks Department is looking at the possibility of adding two new sand volleyball courts which are highly used by the community and the K Beach Volleyball team.

Chelan Mayor Mike Cooney representing the Chelan Valley Housing Trust, also had an ask that evening. It involves the City's help "to get off the ground with a $100,000 startup grant to match private fundraising dollars."

The funds will be spend in order to help subsidize GFC fees, it was also asked for the city to "pledge $20,000 a year over the next five years to cover development sees, permit fees," and anything else that might come along the way. Cooney received the approval from the council, with nods all around.

The Chelan City Council will meet in special session starting at 5:30 p.m. on Thursday, Oct. 11 in preparation for the 2019 Budget.

Since July 16 the Surge Tank located in Chelan Falls has been shut down for renovation. The 145 foot tall surge tank that feeds the Powerhouse, is being cleaned up, sand blasted, and coated. A few years back studies found that the structure was deteriorating, paint was peeling off and it was rusting. Work is being done in both the inside and the outside. Years ago, when the surge tank was first built, the paint on the exterior contained lead. Due to this, the surge tank is wrapped. The wrap will trap 100 percent of the exterior paint that blasts off, the wrap also helps with the wind, temperatures and humidity.

will reopen because we continue to have this gorgeous fall weather people really enjoy this park, so we want to get it back open to them," said Craig.

Alfred Wendell Hays

Alfred Wendell Hays was born July 13, 1921 to Arthur and Ascenath Hays of Ohio, Missouri. He grew up and went to school at Upper Monogaw school, which was a one room schoolhouse. Al was the middle child with one older sister and one younger sister. As a young boy he worked in his father's coal mine and for the local farmers at harvest time.

Al was called to the service in 1942. Basic training was at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas. For maneuvers he was stationed in the desert near Yuma, Arizona. He became a U.S. Army Combat Engineer. Duty sent him over seas to Africa and Italy where he earned 3 Bronze Stars. Al was on a ship sailing to the Pacific Theater when Japan surrendered. The ship was immediately rerouted to Boston.

After the war, Al went home and began work in Rockville, Missouri in the grocery store and ice delivery business. While at home Al met a young woman by the name of Arleine Sullivan who talked him into traveling out west to Oregon to see what opportunities might be available. Al and Arleine were married in Baker, Oregon June 23, 1950. While in Oregon, Al worked in the lumber mill and also in the Assessors office. Al and Arleine moved to Washington in 1952. Al began working in lumber and ended up in the fruit drying business at Valley Evaporating Company for 31 years in Chelan Falls. For

When Al retired, the couple continued to be active and involved. Al worked in the orchards at harvest time, they square danced and were members of the Manson Farmers Market where they sold old linens, cast iron and produce.

Al and Arleine traveled every winter for 21 years.

Al grew a beautiful garden every summer and he and Arleine maintained a huge lovely lawn. He shared garden produce with friends, enjoyed his neighbors, and fed the birds and stray animals now and then. Al and Arleine were part of Chelan Seniors for many years. Most of all they enjoyed spending time with their grandchildren whom they loved very dearly.

Jeffrey Lloyd Polley

Jeffrey Lloyd Polley (Papa, Grandpa, Husband, Father and Friend) passed away unexpectedly on Thursday, October 4, 2018 at 70 years old.

He was born January 27, 1948 in Wenatchee, Wash. to Lloyd and Patricia Culver Polley of Chelan. As a child, Jeff and his brother, Scott, spent their days on the lake, in the hills and mountains of the valley. As boys and young men, they also devoted much time to exploring around their family cabin at Rex Creek.

An accomplished athlete, Jeff played football, basketball, baseball and ran track as a proud GOAT. He graduated from Chelan High School in 1966. He attended college at Eastern Washington University where he was a member of the swim team. He received his degree in 1970 in Business Administration and was always a proud EWU Savage!

Following college graduation, he married the love of his life, Barbara Ann Miller. They were married on June 14, 1970 in Wenatchee, Wash. One month after their wedding, they shipped off to Puerto Rico for training in the Peace Corps. They were stationed in Costa Rica for two years. The hardest job you'll ever love turned out to be an amazing and formative experience for Jeff and Barb. Jeff was recognized as a leader within the local Peace Corps community in Costa Rica. He helped in a small way to shape the future course of local commerce which in turn helped establish an environment where locals could create the Costa Rica of today.

After their Peace Corps service, Jeff and Barb returned to central Washington, first living in Stehekin, and then settling in Chelan. He joined one of the first helicopter repelling teams and enjoyed the challenge of fighting fires. He and Barb built their family home in Union Valley and planted an apple orchard, later growing pears as well. Jeff truly enjoyed being on the land. Their boys, Ryan and Coron, grew up in Chelan where Jeff was able to continue the tradition of exploring the hills and mountains around the Chelan Valley. Jeff taught his entire family about the flora and fauna, the geology, the wildlife, and more than anything how to safely enjoy adventures in the wilderness. He spent time teaching his boys to climb mountains, ski, catch trout, handle a firearm and navigate the local waterways.

Jeff spent time in his later years enjoying their cabin at Rex Creek, near the upper end of Lake Chelan. Jeff was active in his community as a member of the United Methodist Church, the Chelan Museum, and various other local organizations. He cared deeply about the valley and the community of Chelan.

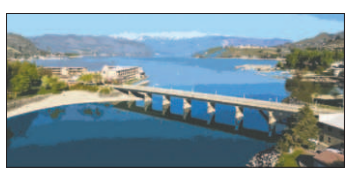

He always had a story to tell and a joke that could be told in any setting. Though Jeff was always a proud owner of guns, he was also an advocate for peace on the planet. He was an accomplished carpenter, fruit grower, and fisherman. As he aged, he took on many hobbies including building small boats, many of which he would row on Lake Chelan. He had an eclectic passion for all types of music and literature, was an avid reader and had a thirst for learning throughout his life. In June 2018, Jeff and Barb celebrated their 48th wedding anniversary.

Jeff is survived by his wife, Barbara Ann Polley of Chelan; son Ryan, his wife, Su and sons Declan and Kiran of San Carlos Calif.; son Coron, his wife, Jennifer and daughters Ella and Celia of Chelan; uncle and aunt, Duane and Lillian Polley of Chelan. He is also survived by his good friend and brother Scott Polley of Chelan. Also very important to him were many nieces, nephews, cousins, and friends.

A Celebration of Life will be held at the Lake Chelan United Methodist Church on Saturday October 13 at 11 a.m. In lieu of flowers please consider a donation in Jeff's name to the Lake Chelan Historical Society (PO Box 1948, Chelan, WA 98816) or the United Methodist Church (PO Box 1236, Chelan WA 98816).

Cashmere Bulldogs crush Chelan Goats to keep Bronze Shoe

By GARY BÉGIN, MANAGING EDITOR

CASHMERE - The Cashmere Bulldogs retained the coveted Bronze Shoe trophy by beating the Chelan Mountain Goats 30-7 on their home turf Friday, Oct. 5 marking four years in a row the 'Dawgs get to chew on the Shoe.

Despite the rain, Cashmere's passing game caused much chagrin in the Goats porous defense resulting in many big gains for the home team.

Although it is called a rivalry, the Bulldogs continued to dominate the 65-year tradition winning for the 52nd time out of 65 years.

The Bulldogs scored first after Chelan fumbled and junior Javi Renta kicked a 32-yard field goal giving them a 3-0 lead.

The Goats came back and went downfield 53 yards for a touchdown and their only lead of the game.

The Bulldogs came back immediately and went 71 yards and scored on a 20-yard pass play from quarterback Sam Phillips to Mason Landdeck.

After another field goal by Renya, the Bulldogs recovered another Goat fumble and scored another touchdown on a quarterback sneak as the first half ended with a score of 20-7

Cashmere sealed the Goats' fate by scoring again to start the second half after Phillips and Landdeck paired up again on a 47-yard touch down pass to give the Bulldogs a commanding 27-7 lead.

Renya added one more field goal to make it 30-7.

Bulldog Coach Brian Bremer said he was "proud" of his team. The win marked the first "Shoe" victory for Bremer, who is in his first year as Varsity head coach for the 'Dawgs.

Bremer said the trophy was to be shared by the whole community, not just the school or football team.

Manson loses to Lake Roosevelt in shootouts

The lady Trojans lost to Lake Roosevelt in a heart-breaker for the lady Trojans. At the end of regulation the score was tied 1-1. Both teams had their opportunities to score in the first half, the only difference was that Lake Roosevelt did capitalize and score to end the first half 1-0.

The lady Trojans came back in the second half to score and tie the game to end the game 1-1 on a breakaway goal from Nadia Verduzco. After two five minutes overtime periods the score remained 1-1 so the game went to penalty kicks. In penalty kicks lake Roosevelt beat Manson 3-0.

CHELAN AND MANSON SPORTS SHORTS

Another win for Chelan Volleyball

Only undefeated team in the Caribou Trail League

By JENIFER RAINVILLE CHELAN VOLLEYBALL HEAD COACH

Chelan hosted Cascade Kodiaks. We started out slow and ended up digging a hole 0-5 in the first set. I called a time out and talked to my team. The girls were excited and anxious but were playing tight and timid. I am proud of how we battled back and ended up taking the first set 25-23. We did the same thing in the beginning of set two but were able to bounce back and take set 2: 25-22. We started out strong and confident in set 3 and won 25-12. I am so proud of how we played and remained calm during this close match. The gym was full and energized, it was a great night to watch 2 amazing teams battle. The last time Chelan beat Cascade was during the post season of 2013.

Chelan County Hazard Mitigation planning process initiated and public open houses scheduled

IN CHELAN OCT. 11

SUBMITTED BY CHELAN COUNTY NATURAL RESOURCES DEPARTMENT

CHELAN - Local government stakeholders in the Chelan County planning area are in collaboration on the update of the Chelan County Multi-jurisdictional Hazard Mitigation Plan pursuant to state and federal requirements. Responding to federal mandates in the Disaster Mitigation Act of 2000 (Public Law 106-390), the planning partnership was formed to pool resources and create a uniform hazard mitigation strategy that can be consistently applied to the Chelan County planning area. The planning partnership is made up of Chelan County, the Cities of Wenatchee, Leavenworth, Cashmere, Entiat and Chelan, Cascadia Conservation District, and local Fire Districts.

A hazard mitigation plan describes an area's vulnerability to the various natural hazards present with the county, along with an array of actions and projects for reducing key risks. While natural disasters cannot be prevented from occurring, implementing mitigation strategies can make communities more sustainable and disaster-resilient, and protect people and property.

During this process, citizens will be asked to contribute by sharing local knowledge of an area's vulnerability to hazards based on past occurrences. Public involvement will be solicited via a multi-media campaign that will include public meetings, web-based information, questionnaires and updates on the plan's progress. This process will be overseen by a Steering Committee made up of stakeholders from within the planning area. This Steering Committee will meet as needed on the third Tuesday of every month throughout the planning process. These meetings will typically run from 10:00 a.m. to noon and are open to the public. All meeting will be held at the Confluence Technology Center in Wenatchee unless otherwise noted on the meeting agendas.

Three public open houses are scheduled in October. During these meetings, the results of the risk assessment will be presented along with display maps. An update of the County's Community Wildfire Protection Plan will also be presented. The meetings will be held in the evening, 6-8 p.m. in Wenatchee on October 9 at Wenatchee City Hall, in Leavenworth on October 10 at Leavenworth City Hall, and in Chelan on October 11 at Chelan County Fire District 7.

An informational website has been established at: <https://www.co.chelan.wa.us/natural-resources/pages/natural-> hazard-mitigation-plan This website will serve as the primary means for the public to gain information on the plan and ways that they can participate in the planning process. Information on the public meetings and the Steering Committee meetings is also available on this website. The public is encouraged to provide input on all phases of this plan's development.

Any questions or comments regarding this process are encouraged and should be directed to Hillary Heard at Chelan County Natural Resources Department - phone: (509) 667-6567 or (509) 630-5372 or via email: Hillary.Heard@CO.CHELAN.WA.US.
