By DIANA PIÑON STAFF WRITER

CHELAN – Lake Chelan School District (LCSD) parents, some with their student athletes stopped by Chelan High School’s Performing Arts Center on Monday, August 27 for the Chelan Athletics meeting conducted by Athletic Director Rob Rainville.

In this meeting Rainville went over some important expectations parents, coaches and student athletes must be responsible for in the upcoming sports season.

Rainville opened the meeting up by stating how important it is for the students to have a good experience with the sport they are involved in, he also stated that everyone at LCSD cares for the students and that student athletes are working hard regardless of the smoky air conditions.

For the 2018 – 2019 school year, many kids signed up to play sports and it has been fun getting them up to speed for the new year according to Rainville.

This year, all families who are involved in sports need to be familiar with Family ID. “Parents who still have not done that, you need to get signed up,” said Rainville.

There has been confusion with Family ID and because of this he clarified how families should be using the website. The main way families will use Family ID will be to pay for their ASB fee and also to upload their kid’s physical. Rainville stated that the staff is there to help families who are having trouble with the website.

Family ID also shares all Safety Guidelines, Concussion information sheet and the Honor Code. Now families are going to need to type

New Chelan Agriculture Education Teacher and FFA Advisor

By DIANA PIÑON STAFF WRITER

CHELAN – After teaching for seven years away from home in East Wenatchee and Oregon, Bailey Dezellem found her way closer to her family in Brewster, as the new CTE Agriculture Education teacher and FFA Advisor for Chelan High School.

“A couple of people in the community asked me to apply and kept asking me to apply. I met a lot of the kids, I’ve known them through fairs and it’s a smaller community which I really like. It’s a good fit from Brewster and East Wenatchee,” she said.

Growing up in farm and raising livestock, she learned a lot of from her mom and dad, who are agriculture teachers. “I was able to watch of them and learn from both of them and that has been a really cool opportunity.”

At WSU, Dezellem majored in Agricultural Education “it was a little of taking what I already knew and deepening that knowledge and trying to be better every day.”

Ag ed has a three component model in which students are provided with opportunities for leadership, personal growth and career success.

“Around here a lot of kids work in the orchards or show at fairs because of the resources that are available,” said Dezellem.

Bailey Dezellem, new Ag Ed, FFA at Chelan High School

The goal of Ag Ed is to produce the next leaders of tomorrow, “Ag is a little bit of everything and that is the beauty of it.”

Dezellem “likes being able to see the kids find something they get excited about ... opportunities for kids to take pride in something they have done is so cool to me.”

This year she is planning to make the classroom her own, “the FFA side of things to me is a student organization so what the students want to do with it is more up to them I am there to advise them and push them to be successful.”

As the FFA advisor she would love to see many more kids spark some interest in FFA, “let’s see where this takes us over the next couple of years,” said Dezellem.

Chelan Basin Conservancy joins Earthjustice on SEPA fight

By DIANA PIÑON STAFF WRITER

CHELAN – A little over two months ago, the City of Chelan proposed to raise applicability thresholds for project review under the State Environmental Policy Act (SEPA). With this change, certain proposed residential developments on contaminated old orchard lands could avoid SEPA review and avoid addressing potential lead and arsenic contamination in the soil.

In response, local residents contacted the Earthjustice office in Seattle to alert them on this issue, under the belief that this proposal violated SEPA regulations.

Earthjustice, the largest nonprofit environmental law organization in the country, agreed to submit public comments against the proposed increases in SEPA applicability thresholds by the City of Chelan.

Earthjustice is working on behalf of members of the Chelan Basin Conservancy, and in their August 14 comment letter they concluded that, “in sum, the City may not move forward with a categorical exemption for new development on former orchard land due to the likelihood of exposing residents, including children and pregnant women, to unsafe levels of lead and arsenic. A categorical exemption that includes such human health risks does not comply with state law and is inconsistent with the City’s obligation to protect some of its most vulnerable residents and visitors from a known severe public health hazard.”

As many locals know, the Chelan Valley has had a long history of the agricultural industry dealing with contaminated soil due to pesticide and herbicide application. Between about 1905 and 1948, the legal use of lead arsenate as a pesticide in orchards caused surface soils to become contaminated with lead and arsenic well above health-based thresholds established by the Washington Department of Ecology (DOE).

In 2003, a study was conducted by the Washington DOE, utilizing 815 surface soil samples within the greater Manson area. It was

Council signs off on some awaiting agreements

By DIANA PIÑON STAFF WRITER

CHELAN – The Chelan City Council covered several agenda items at the August 28 meeting.

It has been a few weeks since John Olson requested the city to help with the Chelan Senior Center improvements for more public parking at the east end of the ballfields by the river. In a previous meeting Public Works expressed their interest to assist with some relative minor improvements to the ballfields.

Olson listed unique considerations to transportations issues beyond parking. One of them being having two state highways meeting right in the middle of town, funneling all of the traffic in the downtown. The wide variation between summer and winter demands, is another issue Olson spoke about.

Reports state that Chelan has over two million visitors per year and those numbers will likely grow as time goes by. Olson’s “viable solution is to separate people from their parked cars with an efficient and effective summer bus system.” He encouraged the council “to think outside the box and to plan for the future.”

After following up with Chelan and Manson schools superintendents on sharing one school resource officer (Deputy Hunter) between both school districts and clearing up all concerns, the council agreed on moving forward with amending the agreement.

This change is not concrete and if any problems with the students tend to happen the agreement will resolve and go back to the old way.

The second floor of the Chelan Library will be leased to the Living Stone Church, after they formally submitted their request to the city. A three year agreement was agreed on with a monthly rent of $1,400 with a one additional renewal of the contract.

HDCA Woodin Avenue Landing Project will move forward after the council agreed on executing the agreement with them. HDCA agreed to sign a charitable donation agreement of $168,279.45 which will cover bonding costs and interests. The HDCA will make payments to the city twice per year for the next 15 years, HDCA will also donate other monetary amounts towards the design, construction and landscaping of the project.

Councilmember Wendy Isenhart claims to be excited for the project because it will be a “great water access.”

Mayor Mike Cooney emphasize the great partnership the city and the HDCA have. He believes this project would not have moved forward without Erin McCordle’s guidance.

On Tuesday, September 27 at 6 p.m. at the Chelan Senior Center a Town Hall Meeting will take place. The lead subject will be whether or not the community is interested in purchasing land on the Butte.

Nine hundred and forty acres of land are for sale and the Mayor wants the community’s input on the subject. This land could be put aside for future generations, however the city can’t do it by itself.

The whole county is invited to attend, “if it looks

Current housing developments in Manson on old orchard land.

found that almost 90 percent of surface soil samples collected from old orchard lands had arsenic concentrations exceeding the DOE threshold for residential land use.

Lead and arsenic can be extremely harmful to humans, especially children. In the long run, such exposure can lead to slowed childhood brain development and cancer.

Dr. Brian Patterson, a local resident and retired environmental scientist, has completed calculations comparing the potential lead exposure to children living in a home in the Chelan Valley located on old orchard land that has not been mitigated, to potential exposure to children drinking lead-contaminated drinking water in Flint, Michigan in 2015.

The calculations show that the potential lead exposure to a child in a house on old orchard land is higher than for a child drinking municipal water in Flint, Michigan.

Dr. Patterson’s calculations have been reviewed and validated by a toxicologist at the University of Washington School of Public Health.

SEPA regulations were first approved in 1971, with the goal of protecting the health and welfare of people within the state of Washington. Under these regulations, local government entities such as cities and counties, are required to ensure that projects subject to

SEPA review do not result in “probable significant adverse environmental impacts.”

SEPA review for residential subdivisions in Chelan is conducted by the City, while SEPA review for residential subdivisions in Manson is conducted by the County.

In the Chelan Valley many large residential developments partly located on old orchard land have undergone SEPA review over the last 20 years. Some of those developments include:

- The Lookout in Chelan
- Northlake Division II in Chelan
- The Village in Manson
- Summer Breeze in Manson
- Wapato Terrace II in Manson
- Manzanita Court in Manson
- Northshore Village in Manson

Although located on old orchard land, none of these developments were required to test for, or potentially mitigate, lead and/or arsenic in the soil.

In the last 10 months, various new proposed residential developments in the Valley on old orchard lands have come under SEPA review, which provides and opportunity for public comment. Local residents submitted their comments to the city or the county, pointing out that SEPA regulations require that these developers correctly address any potential lead and arsenic contamination, including mitigating potential exposure to future residents if lead and/or arsenic levels exceed thresholds.

Currently under SEPA review are Holiday Hills in Chelan, Marita’s Vineyard Village west of Chelan, and Blackcap Farm in Manson. Representatives of these developments are being pressured by community members to test the soil for lead and arsenic and come up with a mitigation plan. Soil testing at the Holiday Hills and Blackcap Farm locations has demonstrated that both have extensive lead and arsenic contamination, whereas the land at Marita’s Vineyard Village has yet to be tested.

The Chelan Planning Commission and the Chelan City Council held a joint workshop on Tuesday, September 4, to discuss developments of new city ordinances to address issues related to development on old orchard lands in Chelan. (See story on next week’s paper)

Information was provided to the Mirror for this story.

Dr. Brian Patterson conducted a study to show how dangerous contaminated soil can be to children who are exposed to it.

their name after reading the Honor Code just to ensure they are fully aware of it.

“It is very important that you cover this with your son or daughter and make sure they understand the Honor Code. It’s a privilege to be a Chelan Goat and a Chelan Pirate and we have expectations that represent our community,” said Rainville.

Some examples covered in the Honor Code are:

- Dishonorable Behavior
- Possession of drugs and/or alcohol

The District has high expectations for the athletes and they will be consequences if they go against the Honor Code.

Students who are also involved in other extracurricular activities need to pay double the attention to the Honor Code. To paint a clear picture Rainville played off this scenario for the students, “if I am an athlete, I play volleyball and I am an elected ASB officer, it doesn’t only ding my athletic club it also dings my club.”

The students Academic Success is another thing Rainville went over at the meeting. He reminded parents that every couple weeks grade checks are going to be happening and their students need to be responsible for getting those grades and signatures from their teachers.

Transportation from games is another major issue students and their parents must be aware of. Keep in mind that a parent must signed out their kid with their coach on paper before leaving the event. When riding with other parents there needs to be approval by all parties. Absolutely no student driving other students is allowed, “we want to make sure kids are safe, that they always make it home safe.”

Unexcused absences will not allow the student athlete to play or practice for that day. Rainville also requested all parties to be respectful of each other in social media platforms and mentioned instead to talk it out if there are any problems to be addressed.

Her goals this year include making sure she gets to know her students, let the community know she is there as a resource, have high standards in and outside the classroom and create high quality students.

Rainville encouraged parents to follow the Parent Involvement and Communication Plan. A copy of the plan was handed out at the beginning of the meeting. In it parents can find the following:

- Parent/Coach Relationship
- Communication you should expect from your child’s coach
- Communication coaches expect
- Appropriate concerns to discuss with coaches
- Example questions to ask a coach
- Issues not appropriate to discuss with Coaches
- Communication Protocol
- Key reminders
- Parents Code of Conduct

This plan will help increase the communication with parents in a correct manner, “we got a lot of great kids, a lot of great coaches and we got a lot of great parents.”

Recognition for Student Athlete of the Week will continue on for this year, one middle school athlete and one high school athlete will be picked every week, “they get a gift certificate, their picture and they get some sort of award.”

Parents were also notified that their help is needed. Helpers will be taking care of score clocks, lines for volleyball, chain crews, tickets and PA announcing. If parents volunteer for at least three games, Rainville will provide them a pass for all games.

Lastly, an Athletic Summit is in the works for September. The District wants people’s input in order for the Athletic department to come up with a philosophy to live by, this philosophy will make the programs work a lot better said Rainville.

The Mirror welcomes photos for home/away games. Email them to the Mirror’s reporter, Diana Piñon at lcmeditor@gmail.com.

Sen. Hawkins to conduct second 12th District ‘listening tour’ will be in Chelan Sept. 12

I learn by listening

BY SEN. BRAD HAWKINS

One thing that I have learned throughout my public service, both during my school board years and in the Legislature, is the importance of being a good listener. Unfortunately, I think we have all observed politicians who mistakenly think that "talking" is their most important skill. It's actually the "listening" that helps people become good policymakers.

That's why I am excited to share news about my second annual 12th District "listening tour" scheduled for Sept. 11 through Sept. 14, during which my staff and I travel throughout the district to hear directly from you. The listening tour idea was something I started last year to be creative, and people responded very positively.

The listening tour requires plenty of advance planning and coordination and is a busy time, but the feedback I receive and the things I learn help me to serve you better. It also provides my staff and me an opportunity to prepare legislative ideas and budget requests prior to the start of session.

Our tour schedule will take me to all four counties in our district, including a Sept. 12 visit to Chelan for meeting appointments at the City Hall from 8 to 9 a.m. Other communities I'm visiting are Leavenworth, Cashmere, Wenatchee, Coulee City, Soap Lake, Waterville, and Bridgeport, concluding in Twisp. The stops are not town halls, so please plan ahead with us to schedule your appointment.

Last year's tour wrapped up with a community hike up Saddle Rock, which proved to be a fun way to enjoy a great outdoor recreational opportunity and to connect with each other in a special and unique way. We'll conclude the tour this year on Sept. 14 at 10 a.m. with a similar idea involving a community hike up the Patterson Mountain trail near Winthrop.

If you want to experience breathtaking views of the Methow Valley, please join us. The trail is located near Sun Mountain Lodge. Easy access to the trailhead is provided via Patterson Lake Road or Twin Lakes Road. Discover Pass holders are encouraged to park in the trailhead parking lot; others may park on the road shoulder nearby.

Last year's tour provided me an opportunity to meet with many constituents (individuals, employers, local governments, and community groups) and some of those discussions led to successful passage of legislative and budget requests.

If you or your organization would like to meet with me and my staff at any of the community stops, please contact my office by e-mail at brad.hawkins@leg.wa.gov or by phone at 360-786-7622 to make an appointment.

There's no reason you need to drive all the way to Olympia in the middle of winter just to share your thoughts and ideas with me. I've made that drive several times and, unless you want to see and experience the Capitol, keeping things local is the better option.

I pride myself in being accessible to you - the people who elect me - and hearing your thoughts and ideas. Whether here in the district or in Olympia, please feel free to contact me anytime. Thank you for the opportunity to serve you as your 12th District state senator.

Classes are held on Fridays at the hospital from 10 a.m. - 12:30 p.m. Our last class was very successful, and we are even having reunions with our students to provide continued support.

Saturday, Sept. 15 is our annual free Max Family Fun Run held at Wapato Point. This is a special year because it's Max's 5th birthday next month. Max is the ambassador of the hospital's kids' wellness program. He and our wellness team promote fitness and nutrition to children with educational materials, activities and community partnerships. The fun run is in conjunction with Manson's cross country invitational. This year the run will also be a birthday party for Max. It's also the hospital's 70's birthday, we we'll throw that in as well.

How do I wear this?

The skies are blue again in the Lake Chelan Valley, but when the smoke was unhealthy in the valley even dogs were 'masking up'. Here Sullivan was confused how to wear it, but finally got the hang of it. Sullivan is owned by Catherine Morehead of Chelan.

Democrats are favoring socialism in 2018 elections

Is this year's crop of Democrat candidates for various local, district-wide and national offices marching under the banner of socialism? Life gives us clues, but one must take the time to see the forest and the trees to get a clear vision of this reality.

Bernie Sanders, with his promises of free education, free medicine and a chicken in every pot is back. He is actively supporting whoever calls themselves a socialist.

This campaign season is even more "tyranny by the mob" as many Democrats are calling for the abolition of ICE - U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement. These folks are leaping off the cliff like lemmings to the sea, but most Republicans and many independents aren't buying the bill of goods.

Is this the result of too many millennials still mooching* off their poor parents by living in the basement? Is this the result of too many teenagers being handed college tuition, a car and a credit card before they go to college to learn how

APPLES
APPLES
Gary Bégin

to ru(i)n our lives?

I thought Bernie was an abomination and just a footnote from the 2016 presidential primaries, but heeee's baaack!

Even Bernie didn't ask for disbanding ICE. What are these crazies trying to do to our society? Without ICE we have no border patrol and without a secure border we will soon have no country at all.

I am not in favor of wasting money on a wall to stop illegal immigration, but I would never allow just anyone to traipse across the Rio Grande or for that matter, Niagara Falls either.

There is no doubt in my mind that the extreme left has all but hijacked the Democrat Party. Many immigrants come from a life where socialism was the norm and now their American allies are eager to recreate that atmosphere in America.

Ask yourselves a simple question: Why would they want to come here if the socialism back home was all that great? This mob of political revolutionaries wants to destroy capitalism and literally give away the farm.

I wouldn't be surprised if the Russian and Chinese communists were donating to the cause of these so-called American trouble makers. Last year I exposed the fact that the "Anti-Fa" flag (Anti-Fascist) was eerily similar to the Communist Party flag of the 1930s. I can't take credit for that, it came to me from Matt Shea, Republican legislator from Spokane Valley. Shea was on a tour of Eastern Washington to try to convince folks to sign petitions to make Eastern Washington the "51st State."

I went to one of his meetings sponsored by the Douglas County Republican Party. Cary Condotta was there and so was Mike Steele among others.

Not everyone wanted to be in the photo I shot of Shea supporters. This movement, this idea of a new state it may never come to pass, but hear me out. I would rather we join that movement then to succumb to socialists and communists headquartered on the Western side of the hills. For the last many years, American blood and treasure has been lost to communists of varying stripes.

Now these loonies are inviting them to take over the country. I am not screaming that there's a commie behind every bush, but holy cripes, these kids have already forgotten the Cold War, Korean War, Vietnam War and the many skirmishes in between all over the world.

So the Westsiders are happy to give everyone outlandish gifts just for being alive. Free. Free. Free. They could care less who pays for it all.

I can see another bunch of unfunded mandates from Olympia headed to the ballot box. The goal will be to raise our taxes to pay for all this free stuff. A levy for this. A levy for that. The homeowners, farmers, orchardists and anyone who holds significant wealth, income or land will be levied to death.

To even the playing field and maybe change a few minds, I am in favor of at least two years of mandatory federal or state service performed by persons between the ages of 18-26. This would allow sufficient time for college or vocational school and also allow these young citizens to choose what type of service on behalf of the greater good they wish to do.

I would abolish the selective service system if the two-year idea above finds fruition.

At first I thought that those who don't want to donate two years of their lives will lose their voting privileges until they do, but many youngsters could care less about voting so that wouldn't be a punishment at all. Therefore a better penalty is to have a giant "M" tattooed or branded on their foreheads (their choice) signifying "Mooch."

The rest of our society will then see who really doesn't care about democracy. Let them be pariahs, they are already proven to be sponges, sucking the life's blood from the average working man who understands why taxes exist. Let them take their fantasies to Canada or Europe. They understand socialism over there.

Taxes, my friends, are all that separate America from anarchy. Remember that and pay your fair share, but vote your wallet and reject socialist candidates at every level in November.

We all work too hard to give in to the spend and tax crowd.

Can I have an amen.

*Mooch is slang for parasite. According to the Center for Disease Control, a parasite is an organism that lives on or in a host and gets its food from or at the expense of its host. Parasites can cause disease in humans.

Current Chelan PUD Commissioner Randy Smith wants to stay on board

By GARY BÉGIN

CASHMERE – Chelan Public Utility District Commissioner Randy Smith, who is a retired orchardist from here, has decided to run for reelection. NCW Media Managing Editor Gary Bégin was able to catch up with the super busy Smith and pose a few questions about his reasons for running for office again. His answers follow:

NCW Media: How long have you been on the Board and why do you want to remain?

Randy Smith: I've been on the board for 12 years and have found the position to be a tremendous opportunity to provide policy guidance for delivering the services to our county residents that we all take for granted, electricity, water, and for a limited group, waste water. Also to help lay out the roadmap for the next essential utility service, fiber optics, to reach the maximum number of people possible in Chelan County. All of these utility services are continually a work in progress, and I'd like to be there for the next six years to help ensure that we "stay the course" in how we are providing all of these for our customer/owners.

NCW Media: Why is bitcoin and block chain technology regulation so important to our electric grid?

Smith: While I do not pretend to understand how bitcoin really works, what I do know is that we have to get our policies regarding large installations right to protect our Chelan County residents. We understand that bitcoin can consume a HUGE amount of electricity, and could leave literally overnight leaving stranded infrastructure that costs millions of dollars to install. Those policies need to include the right price for the electricity and the right amount of upfront payment from the operators for infrastructure improvements, to ensure that we don't get stuck with those costs if they leave.

NCW Media: What projects have you completed and/or started as a PUD Commissioner that you are proud to point to?

Smith: Several years ago in 2013, the Commission and Senior Management embarked on a very large outreach during our Strategic Planning Process. We had several thousand Chelan County residents engaged in this process. What came out of that process is nothing short of astounding ... we would not have done many of these things without the public input: Free day use passes at our parks operated by the State Parks system; A slow sustainable buildout of our fiber optics network; The creation of a "Hydro Research Institute". One that we were in the process of doing, and was reaffirmed by the public was to pay down our debt. We have now paid down nearly 50% of our debt from over a billion dollars eight years ago, to a little over $500 million today ... and more reductions are planned. Lastly, and maybe most importantly, was how our customers were looking to the future and saying, "reinvest in our assets", meaning, make sure that our dams and other facilities were ready to go for another 50-100 years. We are in the beginning stages of a very large reinvestment in our dams and facilities.

NCW Media: What has been the best practice in keeping our power rates so low?

Smith: Making sure that we are operating efficiently and our outside power sales are key components of keeping our rates low. As long as we can continue to sell nearly 80% of the power we produce to others, we will continue to keep lower our rates here locally. Our customer/owners currently enjoy nearly 40% discount off their actual power costs because of these sales.

NCW Media: Are there plans for more power production in general and especially for those aforementioned new technologies?

Smith: With our current large production of electricity, there are no immediate plans for additional power production. However, if there was customer demand for the new technologies, we would always listen.

NCW Media: If you had one paragraph to educate the public about the purpose of the PUD, in your vision, what would you say?

Smith: PUD's are publicly owned not for profit utilities dedicated to the belief that local decision making can produce the best results and lowest costs possible that our customers want in their utility services. We are not driven to produce profits for shareholders, only the lowest cost, most reliable, most customer friendly utility possible. The decision makers (Commissioners) are locally elected and held accountable at the ballot box for those decisions.

NCW Media: Why are you a better choice than your opponent?

Smith: I always choose to talk about what I see as my strengths, and then let the voters make their decision about who is best qualified. I'm a good listener, team player, knowledgeable of the issues, highly experienced in financial affairs and always try to make decisions with my eyes on the future of our utility. Maybe most importantly is that my 12 years of experience gives me the insights to how to best move our utility forward in a rapidly changing world.

NCW Media: Is selling power to other areas of the state a profitable venture?

Smith: The very short answer is YES. With the addition of wind and solar power as a mandate for utilities at the state level, the profitability has been diminished, but we are working to get recognition of our "renewable" hydro in the near future which should enhance our prices.

NCW Media: Tell the readers about the PUD partial ownership of alternative power source such as the windfarm.

Smith: Chelan PUD owns 8 megawatts of phase 1 of the 9 Canyons Wind Farm near the Tri-Cities. That was purchased nearly 20 years ago when wind power was in its infancy. To put that in perspective, we use around 210 megawatts to serve Chelan County residents, so this represents about 4% of our usage. Our utility has always attempted to be supportive of the exploration of energy generation research, and this ownership is part of that seeing just how it would work in our regional energy supply.

NCW Media: What are your goals if elected to another term?

Smith: If reelected, this will be my last term. In looking at the next 6 years, we have many opportunities ahead of us. We are doing major rehabilitation of Rock Island Dam, which should be just about complete during that time. We are working to modernize the Columbia River Treaty (With Canada) which expires In 2024, and if negotiated well, could enhance our revenues for many years into the future. Maybe most importantly we are In the beginning stages of putting together our application to the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission for the relicensing of Rock Island Dam. Our current license expires in 2028. These licenses normally for 50 years in duration, so the requirements within them we have to live with for that time period. This will be an exciting time to utilize the experience I have gained over the past 12 years to provide input into all of the above items for the benefit of the people of Chelan County.

Fire behavior allows recreationists to access portions of the Entiat River Valley

SUBMITTED BY USFS

ENTIAT – Recreationists longing to visit their favorite campsite in the Entiat River Valley are able to do so as of August 31. The successful construction of fire containment lines and decreasing fire activity have allowed a partial reopening of the Entiat River Valley.

While some areas will remain closed for public safety, Fox Creek, Lake Creek, Silver Falls, and Cottonwood campgrounds will reopen Friday. Shady Pass Road #5900, North Fork Entiat Trailhead, and trails within the Glacier Peak Wilderness area on the Entiat Ranger District will also be open and accessible. In addition, the Chiwawa River Road, and campgrounds and trails off that road, will be open for use.

“Public and firefighter safety remain our number one priority, so we encourage people to use caution as fire fighters and fire vehicle traffic will be in the area,” Entiat District Ranger James Simino said.

To ensure public safety, road and trail closures remain in effect in the Tommy Creek, Mad River, Upper Mad River, Potato Creek, and Mud Creek areas. Ongoing suppression actions continue to occur in those areas.

Forest visitors are encouraged to view the interactive closure map, located on the Okangan-Wenatchee National Forest website, before traveling to the national forest. This map shows areas of the national forest that are closed to public use, it is available at <https://bit.ly/2vpoLOz> . There are many area closures in effect due to wildfires. Check to make sure the area you want to visit is open.

Please contact the Entiat Ranger District office at (509) 784-1511 for more information.
