CHELAN - The Association of Washington Cities (AWC) awarded Rep. Mike Steele a City Champion Award in an evening reception on July 30 at Chelan City Hall Council Chambers.

Chelan Mayor Mike Cooney said a few words before presenting Steele with the award.

"I know where Mike Steele started, Manson, and the small town attributes have served him well advocating for the cities ... you're a very strong voice for the cities in the state legislature. We are very proud of you, we are very proud that you represent the 12th District," said Cooney.

Steele started off as a council member and Cooney recalls him being "the voice of reason, always asking the best questions."

lieved on how far Steele has come along. He thanked Steele for serving all cities in the 12th District, in particular Chelan. "You make your rounds, you're an honest guy and I can't thank you enough for being so non-partisan," Cooney added.

Chelan councilmember Wendy Isenhart also had something to say about Steele. "I have seen Mike bring order out of chaos ... that's what I appreciate about Mike, we have been on opposite sides of a lot of things and we finally came around to do what's best for Chelan. I know he's doing that in the legislature," said

CHELAN - To serve, empower and advocate for Lake Chelan Valley youth, that is the mission Thrive Chelan Valley is little by little accomplishing.

The 501 (c) (3) non-profit organization started back in 2013 after Refuge, Bridges and the Teen Center all joined forces to help the youth.

From there Thrive Chelan Valley was born.

Fast forward to today, Thrive runs three different programs that help students reach their full potential.

- Thrive Cares: Funds are allocated to support basic needs of kids allowing him/her to have the same opportunities as their peers.
- Thrive Mentoring: One-on-one mentoring connects youth with an adult or peer mentor and provides opportunities for the mentee to form positive, caring relationships, set goals, experience personal growth and access community resources which support their goals.

- Thrive Teen Center: This program provides safe and relaxing environment for teens in the greater Chelan Valley to have a warm meal, socialize, listen to music play games and more.

Three part-time staff members help run and organize Thrive.

New Executive Director Amy Davis, just joined Thrive. She will most likely be in charge of fundraising, write up a newsletter and will take on the different tasks the organization needs to get done.

Running the Teen Center every Friday and Saturday of the year is Travis Farrar. He cooks the meals, hangs out with the kids and is in charge of opening the space in the Lake Chelan United Methodist Church for the kids to enjoy.

Mentor Program Coordinator Tori Carpenter is in charge of recruiting mentors and getting to know students in both Manson and Chelan schools. Carpenter also works with school counselors and plans events for the kids.

Thrive Mentoring has only been around for a year and so has Carpenter. The idea of the mentoring program has been around for years, but it wasn't until Carpenter came on board that it actually became a reality.

"I got hired and I got the real honor to work with the same group of people, to create, build and implement the program ... so it has been a year and it has been a really great year," said Carpenter.

The main way mentors are recruited is from word-of-mouth. For the most part community members are mentors. To become a mentor Carpenter said that, "there's a process they have to go through before I match them with a student."

The process involves filling out an application, proving a proof of driving insurance, interviewing with leadership team members, completing an online training course and passing a thorough background check.

Commitment is the only requirement Carpenter needs from a mentor. Thrive expects the mentors to spend hour or more hours a month with their student, complete initial and additional online training, attend monthly mentor gatherings and communicate.

Mentoring Program Director Tori Carpenter celebrated her one year anniversary in this position this month.

"I look for someone who is positive and encouraging. Somebody who has been through rough times in life but has overcome them. Someone thriving and successful," added Carpenter.

Carpenter said that the end goal of this program, "is about establishing trust, being there and building a relationship."

Different activities are planned by Carpenter to help the mentor and mentee gain that first initial trust. At the moment the program has 16 Chelan students and 14 Manson students, along with 32 mentors.

This upcoming school year, Carpenter will match a student to a mentor at the beginning of the year and she will also incorporate eighth and ninth grades into the program more.

Even though this first year there was a lot of changes being done to the program, Carpenter has seen how much the students have grown. "We saw grades got better, school attended got better, students also got involved with extracurricular activities."

Carpenter sees this program helping even more students. "I would love for every single freshman in the Valley to have a loving-caring mentor that stays with them through senior year," she said.

Lake Chelan Valley Scholarships announced, $45,000 to be awarded

Scholarships to be awarded August 11

SUBMITTED BY
LAKE CHELAN VALLEY
SCHOLARSHIP FOUNDATION

CHELAN - The Lake Chelan Valley Scholarship Foundation (LCVSF) will award 18 scholarships in the amount of $2,500 each. The recipients include three members of Chelan's Class of 2018: Ahimelec Diaz, Gage Martin and Madeline Peebles; six members of Manson's Class of 2018: Alyssa La Mar, Veronica Lulo, Jessica Medina, Joe Strecker, Adeleine Torgesen and Magali Vargas; and nine renewals by previous recipients: Neil Carleton, Henry Elsner, Melena Evig, Delacy Machus, Anabeth Morales, Jessica Oules, Abbigail Phelps, Zachary Phelps and Bethany Trusel.

"The nine successful renewals show that most of our previous recipients are doing well in college, and we're certainly glad to see that" noted LCVSF board member Barry Wise. "This year's batch of new awards included several students with quite compelling stories of overcoming hardships to get through high school and successfully apply for college. It is always humbling to read these. We're happy to help make it just a bit easier for these kids to continue in school."

The awards will be presented at Riverwalk Park on Saturday, August 11 at 10 a.m. Please join us to celebrate the achievements of these young scholars.

The LCVSF was made possible by Doug and Eva Dewar, who wished that their estates be used to help the children of the Chelan Valley. LCVSF was founded in 1991, and in that year five scholarships in the amount of $1,000 each were awarded. The fund has grown substantially over the years from contributions from many people, but especially significant contributions from John Gladney, Ray Bumgardner, Don and Betty Schmitt, Marian McFadden, Virginia Husted, the Dick Slaughaupt Memorial and Irma Keeney. This year's scholarships total $45,000.

LCVSF accepts applications from residents of the Chelan valley for undergraduate education. The awards are renewable for up to four years. LCVSF welcomes applications from graduating high school seniors as well as current college students and adults returning to school.

The LCVSF board includes Betsy Kronschnabel (President), Arthur Campbell, III, Linda Mayer (Secretary), Sue Clouse, Barry M. Wise, Ph.D. and John Pleyte, M.D. (Treasurer).

True dangers of inhaling smoky air

BY DIANA PIÑON STAFF WRITER

CHELAN - With the different fires surrounding our area here in Chelan and around North Central Washington, over the past few weeks we have been exposed to poor air quality.

On August 1, Washington Smoke Information website posted that the air quality in Chelan was "unhealthy."

What does "unhealthy" mean?

According to a news release from Chelan-Douglas Health District, unhealthy air increases aggravation of preexisting heart and lung diseases and premature mortality among sensitive populations. It also increases adverse respiratory effects in general population.

Some general precautions for everyone to take include limiting prolonged exertion.

However, those who suffer from asthma, respiratory infections, diabetes, lung or heart disease or have had a stroke should limit time spent outdoors and avoid prolonged exertion.

Infants, children, pregnant women and adults over 65 should also follow the same safety measures.

Exposure to wildfire smoke can cause short-term health symptoms including:

- Burning eyes
- Sore throat
- Headache
- Coughing
- Wheezing
- Shortness of breath
- Nausea
- Dizziness

Chelan-Douglas Health District advises to:

- Check local air quality reports and listen to news or health warnings

- Stay indoors and keep indoor air as clean as possible

- Consider wearing a N-95 respirator mask, if you must be outdoors when it is smoky

Leianne Trefry wins Stehekin vacation package

SUBMITTED VICKI OLSON CARR, CHELAN BASIN CONSERVANCY

CHELAN - Chelan Basin Conservancy announced the winners of their Stehekin vacation package on July 24.

Leianne Trefry of Wenatchee won the Stehekin vacation package which includes two nights at North Cascades Lodge, transportation on the Lady Express, and two $100 meal vouchers at Courtney's ranch up the Stehekin Valley and the North Cascades Café at the landing.

Karen Kelly of Ardenvoir won a $50 gift card at Bear Foods in Chelan. Joanne Faught of Manson won a $75 gift card at Bear's. Jan Ellis of Purttremman Gulch near Chelan won a box of organic peaches from Brownfield orchards.

Chelan Basin Conservancy members and friends sold 1,436 raffle tickets at the Manson Farmers Market, the Chelan Evening Farmers Market, Pybus Market in Wenatchee and the Leavenworth Farmers Market, with some sales made several days at a sidewalk table in downtown Chelan. The raffle and the Conservancy received welcomed public support. Funds raised will be used to support CBC which will continue efforts to protect Lake Chelan and public access to it.

Trefry smiled from ear to ear as she received the travel vouchers from CBC raffle coordinators Robyn Casal and Tammy Lee Hauge. "I just feel blessed that I can spend this prize in nature," she exclaimed. "I've never been to Stehekin—and it's been on my bucket list for years."

Congratulations, Leianne Trefry.

Wildfire Update

COMPILED BY LAKE CHELAN MIRROR STAFF

CHELAN - Five days later, on Thursday, August 2 approximately at 12:00 a.m. Chelan Hills Fire was 100 percent contained by the Northwest Interagency Incident Management Team 11 (NWT11).

Chelan Hills Fire originated Friday July 27 approximately 1:15 p.m., two miles East of Chelan Highway 97, across from the Chelan Butte, south of the Beebe Bridge.

The fire burned 1,842 acres of grass, short brush and wheat fields combined.

Several properties within the burn area were saved by the efforts of fire crews. Two primary residents, one seasonal home and several outbuildings were damaged by the fire.

Damaged were 80 acres of wheat fields and some corn.

Participating agencies in fighting this wildfire include the Bureau of Land Management, Douglas County Fire Districts 1, 4, and 5, and Washington State Department of Natural Resources.

Navarre Fire

On Navarre Coulee Road between U.S. Highway 97A and County Road 2 (WA 971), the Navarre Fire lit up on July 31 at 8:45 p.m.

As of August 4 at Navarre Fire was fully contained, the size of the fire is 151 acres.

The cause of this fire has not yet been determined, authorities are investigating. So far, no structures have been lost.

At 4:00 p.m. on August 1, NW Team 11 took command of the Navarre Fire. Crews assisted local agencies on initial attack and built containment lines effectively.

On Friday, August 3, the management for this fire

As of Monday, August 6, the Cougar Creek Fire is at 4,154 acres and is active in thick dead and down timber.

was transferred to the local Washington DNR district.

Couglar Creek Fire

Couglar Creek Fire is now 4,154 acres and it was determined that the cause of this fire was lighting.

On Monday August 6, In-ciWeb posted the following statement:

A community meeting was held last night at the Entiat fire station. Approximately 100 people were in attendance with another 108 streaming live on Facebook.

Personnel from California Interagency Incident Management Team 5, the local fire department, and the U.S. Forest Service reported on the fire's progress and answered questions.

The Cougar Creek fire is active in thick dead and down timber. It is creeping and backing down steep rugged terrain. Although there was very little fire growth yesterday, the vegetation in the fire's interior continues to burn. The north and west sides of the fire are relatively stable. The east side is holding west of Tye Ridge. The spot fires on the east and south side are being worked so that existing roads and trails can be used to establish a continuous perimeter around the fire.

Firefighters yesterday were able to take advantage of the calmer weather to attack the fire more directly, resulting in a number of accomplishments. These included:

- Installing sprinklers and portable pumps in the Entiat Valley to protect residences.

- Reducing the fuel load by removing brush and dead timber using hand crews and heavy equipment, such as masticators, near residences in the Entiat Valley and Plain.

- Connecting containment lines using hand crews and dozers and old forest roads, keeping spot fires on the east and southeast section of the fire in check, (including putting a line around one).

- Using fire to burn vegetation along the south and southeast sections of the fire perimeter. Firing operations are an important tool in fire suppression because the main fire burns into the black, reducing its intensity. Although firing operations can generate additional smoke, on the plus side smoke can limit fire growth.

A new fire—called the Lost Fire—was reported yesterday afternoon four miles northwest of Maverick Peak and nine miles north of Plain. It is less than 50 acres and most likely started from lightening several days ago. Yesterday, firefighters from this team conducted initial attack and air tankers dropped retardant around it. Today, 16 smokejumpers will assess the fire, take suppression action if safe to do so, and provide intelligence to fire managers to develop a strategy.

Firefighters and air operations will again take advantage of today's weather to continue the progress made yesterday through a more aggressive attack on the fire. This is important because hot, dry and possible windy conditions are expected by the end of the week. Fire operations will continue if conditions allow.

Yesterday evacuation levels went from a Level 3 to Level 2, according to Chelan County Sheriff's Office. The immediate threat to residents in the area has decreased, but there is enough of a fire presence to maintain Level 2. Be aware that fire conditions can change quickly and necessitate Level 3 restrictions being reinstated. North of the Level 2 evacuations (mile post 24.5) Forest Service campgrounds remain closed and the Forest closure order remains in effect. Visit <https://bit.ly/2Mkk21X> for more information.

Cooney went ahead and presented Steele with the City Champion Award "for his advocacy when it comes to local control of the public rights of way."

As the attendees applauded Steele, he thanked them for being there for him that evening. Steele felt humble and honored in receiving the award.

"I loved serving our city council here in Chelan, one of my most favorite experiences for sure. It has been a huge resource to draw upon that experience when you come to the legislature and to know what small cities are going through in different parts of our state, I really try to bring that voice to the legislature," said Steele.

Steele also had special recognitions for Victoria Lincoln and Briana for all their work, "they are incredible advocates for small cities ... I have been very fortunate to be able to work with both of them."

OBITUARY & MEMORIAL POLICIES

NCW MEDIA, INC.

An obituary is a way for family member(s) to commemorate a loved one's life and to notify the larger community of the deceased. Obituaries are also used for historical and ancestral data.

Memorials are another way of letting the community know about the life and memories of the person who has died. A Memorial is different from an obituary. An obituary is usually current while a memorial can be written later.

Obituaries and memorials need to be typed and emailed no later than Friday by 4:00 p.m. to be placed in the next available issue(s). Please call for cost of an obituary and which NCW paper(s) that it will be placed in to.

Cost of the obituary/ memorial is due at the time of placement. Funeral homes and chapels can submit obituaries by Noon on Monday, unless a holiday.

Obituaries are priced per word while Memorial ads are per column-inch.

Lake Chelan Rodeo - entertainment for the whole family

Clockwise from top left: When it comes down to catching a chicken the kids are ready! The face you make when they tell you to put on six pairs of socks. A cowboy living the most dangerous eight-seconds of his life. Bronc riding was extremely competitive this year, almost all cowboys were able to ride the horse just fine. Rodeo clown Kyle Bode, invited attendees from the stands to participate on the sock game. Can you guess who was ready to win? Not even a broken arm stopped Tucker Cool returning to his hometown as rodeo announcer. Watson's Resorts Shadow Bay Belgians are always a crowd pleaser. Rodeo Royalty from all over North Central Washington.

Lake Chelan Rodeo Parade

The Lake Chelan Rodeo Parade on Thursday evening, August 2 had a little bit of everything for parade attendees. They included the VFW and American Legion Color Guard, riders on horseback, big trucks, politicians, Chelan FFA members and Lake Chelan Community Hospital EMS.

Free trade just another absurd political theory

Free trade promised that we could buy goods for less. Programs like Nafta promised to bring us cheaper products from our neighbors while opening the world to quality goods from America. It was the classic win-win. The problem is it doesn't work.

Sure we've been able to buy cheaper cars, cell phones and TV's but the problem is the best paying jobs moved from America to Bangladesh, China, Mexico and a hundred third world countries where wages were more like slave labor. All while American politicians argued for higher and higher minimum wages to help restore the middle class. The problem is that even with lower prices if wages don't keep place with inflation then purchasing power declines.

Trump has it right. A little trade war may be exactly what is needed to balance the scales again.

In the third world wealth moves to the powerful not to the masses. So who do we think is getting enriched by "free" trade with America?

IN MY OPINION
Bill Forhan
Publisher

China is a classic case. They steal our intellectual property. Then recreate our products with cheap labor. Americans then get to buy our American designed products for less while American workers struggle to find work that pays a "living" wage.

Let's examine the basic premise. The assumption is the "free market" should be unfettered in order to insure the lowest priced goods to the market. But when the markets are not competitively equal, there is no balance in the market place. The result is that the products are not competitively priced. One "provider" gets a competitive advantage over the other.

The question is who ultimately benefits from this competitive imbalance? It's not the workers of the world!

As always it is the politicians and bureaucrats who produce nothing and do not create jobs.

Well, we have had nearly 30 years of the global economy. The "free" market that will make all of our lives better with cheaper products.

The problem is if you don't have the money to buy the products because wages aren't keeping pace with inflation then the entire dream starts to unravel.

That is when the theory and the practice start to collide.

In a world where capitalism is a foreign concept; in a world where workers rights, child labor laws and minimum wages are not on the official government agenda, there is no level playing field.

Unless the masses in the third world have purchasing power that begins to approach American standards they do not have the resources to buy superior, and more expensive, American products. The myth of fair trade unravels.

The result is growing trade imbalances. Wealth transfers from America to other countries and societies whose values we do not always respect.

More importantly, who in those other countries actually benefits from trade with America?

There are so many ways we can help countries around the world improve their standard of living and the quality of the global environment. But pretending that "free trade" programs are working is delusional.

Like too many political solutions they fail the test of practicability. The problem is we are too reluctant to throw them overboard when they prove unworkable.

I for one am willing to consider ways that we can make free trade fair. But when the world is a jumble of competing political systems with unequal beneficiaries I am doubtful that it can ever be totally fair.

In that world it is the primary responsibility of our leaders to make sure they are looking out for American citizens first.

I for one am willing to pay a little more for American made products where higher wages to American workers can flow through the American economy.

The death of man's brain and spirit

The next generation of tyrants will be the corporations that run the computers and all the gizmos and control all the money while also giving the masses a new religion of self satisfaction and complete addiction ala interactive games of life posing as life itself.

Their hands are on the controls and they no longer fear God. That necessary dread died in the 1960's and our ideas have become muddled into disbelief ever since.

The Corporate MindBenders will control about 75% of all of us. Think how this is coming about ... capitalism, overt racism and targeted demographics.

That's right, effeminate men have become the darlings of aggressive women. It has always been thus. There is one major exception: Donald Trump. Teresa May can kick your butt and so can Angela, but you just don't have any shame and so you speak your mind like most men wish they had the nerve to when they talk to their wives.

APPLES TO APPLES

It throws the world into a tizzy, but since when has passive-aggressive behavior naive become treasonous?

"The Donald" ate the Office of the President and then puked it back into the face of the status quo?

I might like this performance art masquerading as a Broadway Play.

This out of the box President who woke up in a different age and decided to make the best of it by faking it until making it. Then he made it.

This manic depressive, obsessive-compulsive beast let loose from the streets of Queens, Brooklyn and Manhattan, he, is now ours, but what are we going to do with him?

Reward his brilliance and put him back on television ... after he serves some time in the slammer?

Well, that's what some people think. I would rather let him explode naturally after another seven years in the Oval Office and 20 more years on earth as a retired entrepreneur. Our "Donald" will live to see his son Baron become a U.S. Senator.

Baron will eventually become the second of the Trumps to become president.

Only Baron will be a Gay Vegetarian who adores Melania and makes her the Ambassador to Slovenia.

The he dies in a fiery car crash while racing in the Grand Prix of Monaco.

It is ok when this happens, because Melania is then elected President as the Third Trump to hold the office.

She, in fact, becomes the first woman president.

By this time the Koreans are unified, Putin has been murdered by his own people and Cuba becomes the 52nd state after Puerto Rico finally becomes the 51st. Guam, Jamaica, the Bahamas and even Bermuda all become American states as our great nation takes full control of the Caribbean.

Bitcoin is fabulously corrupted by even more advanced cyber-mining techniques and the world returns to its true love of gold, silver, platinum and diamonds, pearls and other gems.

Bartering becomes incredibly popular and the Postal Service finally gets privatized by greedy anti-government forces who declare FedEx and UPS as the two winners of the postal service wars. Now a letter to Grandma in Alaska costs $7.95 and a box of cookies to the kid in the army in Germany is a $50 fee.

All babies born after 2040 will have their "social security" credentials implanted into their brains right after birth while the skull is still soft.

Modern music will consist of sharp bleats and flat drones aimed at the inner ear and undetectable otherwise.

Cars will also be obsolete because no one will ever travel anywhere anymore except by brain patterns set up and instigated by your local AAA. They can send you anywhere without you actually ever having to leave your couch.

Thank God I will be taking a dirt nap soon after all of this happens.

I will pass while living high in the hills, while in my sleep after a hard day's work on the homestead.

A smile on my face. No more games of the occult. When I'm gone the world will once again be sane, but only to the insane observers. Amen.

PUBLIC NOTICE TO WAVE TV CUSTOMERS

Due to content cost increases from TV networks owned by A&E Networks, AMC Networks, CBS Corporation, Discovery Communications, Disney/ESPN, FOX Networks, NBCUniversal, Scripps Networks Interactive, Turner Networks, Viacom, regional sports programmers, independent channel providers, and your local broadcast channel providers, Wave's Cable TV rates will be adjusted in September.

The monthly rates for the following TV services will be adjusted: Local TV Stations' Fee will increase by $1.74; Expanded Content will increase by $5.00; Premium channel tiers (HBO, Cinemax, Showtime, STARZ) will increase by $1.00 each; Universal Converter set-top boxes will increase by $0.95 each.

While Wave strives to keep prices as low as possible, we – and our entire industry – continue to face dramatic increases in the costs large corporate broadcasters and cable networks charge for their content. These networks are charging increasingly higher fees to make up for lost advertising revenue due to fewer consumers watching their programming. When network owners increase their monthly fees, we pass through the increase to customers subscribing to that tier of service. For more information on the costs associated with TV programming, please visit wavehome.com/content.

Further details on all rate changes will be included in your September bill statement. Thank you for choosing Wave.
