Safeguarding the student body

Part one of "School Safety" series

By ERIN ROSSELL, STAFF WRITER

As parents, one of the most frightening days is the day your child leaves your side for the first time to brave a whole new world, a world filled with learning, sharing and trusting others. That same day, parents too learn to entrust another with the safety and well-being of the embodiment of their world, their child.

Schools across the nation take measures to ensure the safety of the student body from all forms of threats, whether it be a natural disaster or an out-of-place individual within the walls of a school. Drill after drill has been conducted to prepare the students for these scenarios. Manson and Chelan schools have been equipped with automatic or key fob door-locking systems, locked side entrances, video surveillance and more, in an effort to provide the utmost protection and safety for the students.

But, what do you do when the threat to a student body is a member of the student body? Manson School District Superintendent Matt Charlton and Chelan School District Superintendent Barry DePaoli explained what steps are being taken for prevention and preparedness of the students in an exclusive interview with Lake Chelan Mirror (LCM) staff.

 Manson Superintendent Charlton explained drills conducted in preparation for disasters or a crisis. Along with the monthly disaster drills, the district does a district-wide emergency drill at least once a year, he explained, "we coordinate that with our emergency services partners, fire, EMS and the Sheriff's department, and we do a pretty extensive drill," he continued, "the staff doesn't know what's coming, they know something is happening, we do plan that, but they react to whatever the scenario is ... we try to test our system and see how would we react? We're not looking for 100 percent," he emphasized, "we're looking for where we can improve."

Last fall, the district conducted a weapon on campus scenario, Charlton stated, then explained the situation, "we fired some blanks in a classroom, and looked to see how people would respond to that and looked to see how kids would respond to that. Based on how we did with that, afterward, the staff started asking about how we can improve and what can we do better?" Details of the drills and preparedness methods are not all divulged, as the safety of the students remains the primary focus and details of the school's safety provisions are only effective when they can be used without expectation from the threat.

The school district also uses an incident command system, Charlton revealed,

Chelan Fire receives breakdown on protection rating

Lack of staffing and apparatus age hit hard for the department

By ERIN ROSSELL, STAFF WRITER

CHELAN – In what was originally intended as a workshop for staff, Chelan Fire and Rescue (CFR) staff and commissioners received an explanatory presentation on the district's rating provided by Washington Surveying and Rating Bureau (WSRB), and any rippling effects the rating could create on insurance rates for our homeowners.

WSRB is a private, non-profit insurance rating bureau, explained Vice President of Public Protection Robert Ferrell. "We get our license and regulation from the OIC," he continued, "that's the Office of the Insurance Commissioner, they regulate everything having to do with insurance in the state."

Effective April 1, the district's Protection Classification (PC) will be a class seven, which is an improvement from the previous class eight. The PC scale, which ranges from one (being the most protected/prepared for fires) through 10 (being the least protected or prepared), is based on various factors inspected by WSRB and is calculated using a deficiency point system. The four categories evaluated in a district and city are fire safety control, water supply, fire department and emergency communications.

The over-all classification rating provided by WSRB will be utilized by insurance groups to determine appropriate rates, based on the risk-level of fire protection services within a district. The higher the fire-loss risk, the higher insurance premiums for homeowners.

Water supply, which is evaluate by the capacity, distribution and maintenance of water systems and fire hydrants, is 35 percent of the total points allowed. The district earned 804 of the 1,450 points possible in this area. The category focuses on "the water supplies in the community that provide fire hydrants," as explained in the PC Report provided. Chelan PUD freezes applications for cryptocurrency

Immediate moratorium in place

By ERIN ROSSELL, STAFF WRITER

CHELAN COUNTY –PUD Commissioners unanimously voted to cease all application acceptance and processing for electric service requests with the intent of mining cryptocurrency, Monday, March 19. "The moratorium is effective immediately to reduce operating and financial risks," explained Public Information Officer Kimberlee Craig in a press release.

Cryptocurrency, or Bitcoin, is a digital currency used in web-based financial transactions. What's the big deal about that, right? Well, if you're a resident in Chelan County, the harvesting of the digital currency can have near-devastating consequences on your community, due to unauthorized and improperly equipped harvesting operations, as well as pulling the utility district's attention away from planned work, explained General Manager Steve Wright. Chelan County offers one of the lowest en-

Manson Fire emphasizes out-of-district protection services

Discusses possibility of acquiring pictometry services

By ERIN ROSSELL, STAFF WRITER

MANSON – Ever wonder how residents out of district boundaries receive fire protection? That topic was one of several topics discussed during the scheduled monthly commissioner's meeting, Tuesday, March 13 at Station 51.

In the recent past, firefighters responded to a structure fire, out of district, that resulted in the dispatch of six apparatus and an ambulance, explained Fire Chief Arnold Baker. "We had less than $2,000, at state chief's rate, for all the personnel and equipment that went up there," he clarified for the commissioners, "when you're inside the fire district, there are taxes, which means there is no bill," he continued explaining, "this was out of district." Chief Baker proceeded by explaining his intent for the topic, the request for a discussion amongst commissioners on what billing action should be taken in out-of-district response situations.

"You go to another fire district as mutual aide to that agency because they help you, so everything is kosher," Chief Baker stated, "this one was not (in any district). This one was no-mans-land ... so, we've got time up there, as well as personnel and I think we need to address it." The difference, if it were a wildland fire, is that a wildland fire could be a risk to the town, he emphasized to the commissioners, "a structure fire is a contain to itself point, not really a risk to you (the town)." In response to Baker's discussion proposal, Commissioner John Spencer stated, "you have tax payers and non-tax payers," he began, "there is an avenue for people out of the district to pay for coverage if they want it. It's their call,"

he emphasized on the coverage option, then continued explaining that, if desired, an out-of-district resident could pay a yearly fee for services and coverage. "A lot of people don't even know it exists," he expressed, "(but) we'd charge them a rate and they write a check every year, and are covered every year, if they want to do that."

"Here's the thing," stressed Baker, "state mobilization is exclusively only for fire districts, (so) those people out in no-mans-land are their own entity, they don't have state mobilization." The optional yearly protection and services fee ensures a response in an emergency situation, even though the residence may lie outside of the district.

Looking ahead into the spring of 2019, Chief Baker discussed the possibility of acquiring imaging services through Eagle View, who would composite a topical, five-angled photograph, referred to as pictometry. "Ev-

Abel honored for many years of service to the valley

Photos by RuthEdna Keys

Kevin Abel, CEO of Lake Chelan Community Hospital & Clinics, was honored for his many years of service to the hospital and the valley on March 24 at Sorrento's at Tsillan Cellars with a farewell reception sponsored by the Lake Chelan Health & Wellness Foundation, Hospital Guilds B, Y and E, LCCHC employees and Lake Chelan Rotary. The groups presented Abel with an Rob Blackaby painting of Lake Chelan. He was also presented with Certificate of Recognition and patch from Chelan Fire & Rescue, an award from Manson Fire #5, both for his service to the Lake Chelan Valley, and his Lake Chelan Rotary badge was 'retired'. the biggest hits in this area was in the distribution of hydrants section, more specifically in regard to residential districts. "Residential structures in the community will be evaluated to determine if a fire hydrant is available within 600 feet," as explained in the report. However, due to the location of a majority of residences within the district, and the absence of fire hydrants, especially within 600 feet, is not uncommon. What the district was lacking in distribution, they more than made up for in inspections and conditions, earning 97 percent of total points possible. This particular section commonly receives lower scores with other districts, with confusion as to responsibility, explained Ferrell.

Moving into scoring on the fire department, which evaluates the total service area for the fire department, both incorporated and unincorporated areas, and worth 40 percent of the over-all score. This section took into consideration 17 different areas, including pumpers, ladder trucks/ladder service, distribution of companies, pumper capacity, maintenance and condition of apparatus, number of officers, department staffing, engine and ladder company unit staffing, stream devices, equipment for pumpers and ladder trucks, hose, condition of hose, training, response to alarms, fire operations, special protection and miscellaneous factors and conditions. With an abundance of categories, there are only with notable scoring, as the remaining scores were all above average. Scoring on the number of company officers indicated a shortage of on-duty officers. There must be one on duty at all times, stated the report, or two active volunteers which may be equivalent to one full on-duty officer, up to half the number of officers required. Department staffing, the next of the categories, earned the department only 13 percent for day-shift and night shifts, as the requirement is for six firefighters to be on duty at each of the engine and ladder companies, with three volunteer firefighters being considered as equivalent to one on-duty firefighter. Volunteers, as explained, can be considered equivalent to on-duty firefighters in a one-to-one ratio if the volun-in this department, with low scoring in the public fire education sub-category.

What does all of this mean in a nutshell? Individual residence insurance premiums are calculated based on the district's rating, as well as the proximity of the property to the nearest station and distance from fire extinguisher to residence, and other factors. However, as the district's PC improves or degrades, the community's premiums will be reflective of that change. The residences within city limits are currently at a class six, with the district and residences within five-miles of Station 71 at a class seven, and Stations 72 and 74 "are not adequately staffed with firefighters," as explained in the report cover, resulting in a PC 9. "Dwelling properties within five road miles on only Station 72 or 74 will have their rating changed to PC 9A," continued the explanation.

While the fire district has improved its score from a class eight to a class seven, the elimination of six of the paid firefighters would drastically affect the scoring, explained Ferrell, which would in turn effect homeowner insurance rates as well. He could not give specifics on how much rates, premiums or scores would be affected, but with already low scoring in the staffing department, a hit like losing half of the paid staff present would be reflected.

Lastly, fire safety control was reviewed. This portion evaluates the fire code enforcement and fire safety education activities in the community and is worth 16 percent of the overall score. The department earned only 28 percent of the possible points the PUD's press release, "we do need time to take a deep breath and work through the issues and this may be the best approach," suggested Commissioner Randy Smith at the PUD commissioner's meeting.

An audio link from the meeting is available on the PUD's website, chelanpud.org, and a public hearing on the moratorium is scheduled for Monday, May 14 beginning at 1 p.m.

Chelan Fire looks ahead to upcoming events

Volunteer staffing supersedes target

By ERIN ROSSELL, STAFF WRITER

CHELAN – Fire and Rescue 7 chiefs and the two remaining commissioners convened for their regular monthly commissioner's meeting, Wednesday, March 21 at Station 71.

Public commentary at the district's monthly meeting of the commissioners is few and far between. On this night, however, Chelan resident Dr. Gordon Tagge took a moment to voice a concern that has been weighing heavily on his mind, he said. "I know that there's a plan in the hike of the levy," he began, "I'm not for it or against it. I just wanted to say that ... it doesn't seem like a lot, but then you add them all up and it's a lot of money. I'm not yet collecting Social Security," he continued into his intended message, "but I'm getting to the point where I'm thinking about what it's going to be." He proceeded by explaining that, after reviewing what he will be receiving in Social Security income, if that were his sole income after retirement nearly a quarter of that income would be going toward local and state taxes. "I just want to know what people who rely solely on their Social Security for income are supposed to do," he expressed, "before they pay their mortgage and before they buy food, 25 percent is going to local taxes."

Moving into regular agenda items, Chief Tim Lemon announced that a letter was received from students at a California middle school and was directed to strike team firefighters Hepper, Cox and Aurilio who mobilized to assist in the devastating fires back in December. "They were very appreciative of all the help they received from us," he expressed.

Lemon went on through items within the chief's report, including the revelation of Firefighter Adam Jones' nomination and selection for Washington State's Firefighter of the Year by the Veterans of Foreign Wars (VFW). The recognition will take place June 22 in Bremerton.

Deputy Chief Mark Donnell began updating commissioners on operations, fire prevention and public education events. The tactical response plans are right on target, he explained, and the safety fair conducted through the school district was successful. Looking ahead, the department is preparing for their open house, which will take place April 21 in conjunction with Earth Day. The B-shift crew is responsible for the event, he explained, "but they've already got a really good start on it, and it sounds like it's going to be a much bigger program than last year." The next public event for the department, after the open house, will be the annual firefighter's pancake breakfast, scheduled for June 2.

Breaking into the volunteer and recruit aspect of the agenda, Assistant Chief Brandon Asher led by explaining the "ever-fluctuating number of volunteers is at 28 right now." With 20 volunteers in the Chelan stations, four each for Entiat and Orondo Fire Departments. "We're three classes into the academy," he continued, explaining the first of the classes was orientation and a history on fire services, and the last two were focused on CPR and first aid. All 28 of the recruits have passed their fit tests and are in the process of being issued the essential gear, however, he explained, more gear will need to be ordered. The most recent SAFER grant provided funding for new gear for 20 volunteers, every year, for four years.

There are an additional eight volunteers currently that will need gear, he explained, but after talking with a representative on the SAFER grant, he was informed that the gear funding is a set amount and may be distributed however is needed throughout the four years, as long as it does not go over the allotted amount provided within the grant agreement. "It's a great first-recruit class," he expressed in conclusion, "and some really good people too. They're motivated and it's off to a really great start."

Following his recruitment and volunteer update, Commissioner Russ Jones asked Asher how many hours are required for a volunteer to become combat qualified. A qualification which is not only required for a volunteer to enter a burning building to "combat fire", but also for a firefighter to count as part of the two in two out rule. "It's close to 150 hours, just for the initial basic firefighter (training)," Donnell responded to Jones, "then there's Firefighter 1, which is the certification that we'd like them to get to, but there's a process ... if they want to continue to move forward ... so, for Firefighter 1, Firefighter 2 and hazmat, you need about 13 weeks (total), of 40-hour weeks." In response to Donnell's information, Jones supplied, "I can guarantee the general public isn't aware of the investment and commitment that it takes (to become combat certified)."

Concluding the night's agenda was the topic of the now vacate commissioner's position. With Tom Peter's resignation taking effect at the time of submission, the immediate vacancy will need to be filled by way of an application, cover letter and references. The position will be publicized through local media in upcoming publications. For more information on the available Chelan Fire and Rescue (CFR) commissioner's seat, contact the department at (509) 682-4476.

CFR meets every second Wednesday of the month at Station 71, beginning at 4 p.m. The next scheduled meeting will take place Wednesday, April 11.

SCHOOL SAFETY

"where during a crisis or emergency, there's a clear chain of command, but there's also a clear way of dealing with things," he stated, adding, "we have staff that are already on teams ... there's a first aid team, there's a recovery team, there's a reunification with parent team, so depending on what the incident is, we'll activate those teams."

"On the proactive side (of preparing for an active shooting scenario)," Charlton expressed, "we do put a lot of our energy and resources to that. One of the best ways to prevent a school shooting is to have really good relationships with your students," he voiced, emphasizing, "with all students ... making them feel supported, that they are connected and that they have people they can talk to if they need help, but also with other students who might report or might share 'I'm worried about my friend,' or 'my friend said this,'" he expressed.

The district is using an ACE system in the social/emotional aspect of prevention. "We've done a lot of work, on trying to help children learn those skills that they need to deal with conflict and if I'm hurting how do I get help," Charlton stated, "and how to be advocate for themselves. So, trying to teach our staff how to teach students that, but also staff how to work with kids that have come from where they've had serious incidents in their life. We're doing a lot of work in that realm, and I think as a school, systems statewide, but also right here in Manson, I think we're doing a lot better there. It's never perfect," he conveyed, "every community has kids or people in their community that you could go 'gosh, those people need more help,' you know."

Looking at the possibility of such a tragedy happening here, in Chelan Valley, Charlton stated "we're proactive, we try to never let it happen. We prepare for if it does happen, what are we going to do in the moment. But, we also have to think about afterwards, recovery," he explained, then continued clarifying steps taken, such as the combat training received by many staff, allowing the on-site staff to handle a traumatic injury until emergency services arrive, if needed.

"If you see something, say something," Charlton challenged the students. The district strives for each student having at least one adult at the school they feel comfortable talking to. "We really do encourage students to take care of one another and if you see something, share it with an adult you trust. We try to have every student in the school have at least one adult they trust in the school, it could be a cook, it could be a coach, it could be a teacher ... at least one adult that the student knows they really care about them and there's a relationship there. We really work to make that happen."

Lake Chelan School District

Looking into the Lake Chelan School District (LCSD), Superintendent DePaoli began with a summary of the physical security measures being taken to ensure safety of the student body.

"The way I look at school safety is there's really two areas of safety," he began, "there's the building safety, then the second piece is the psychology safety, which is the social/emotional wellbeing, which is the prevention part for our students."

Starting with physical safety, in regard to the building, the LCSD board has been really proactive, expressed DePaoli. "We've upgraded our security (in recent years)," he explained, "all of our schools have automated door locking systems on all the exterior doors ... our entrances, at both the elementary and junior/senior high schools have the buzz-in system, which is the current state of the art standard." The system requires an office staff to buzz in any visitor, he explained, as the doors to access the students are locked. "We also have a school resource officer that is employed on campus, and he advises both students and staff regarding personal safety, drills, prevention, all that stuff. We have some really strong community partnerships, one with local law enforcements and one with our fire district, so that we're prepared for all emergency situations. And, like all schools, we have a crisis response plan, and that would address a full range of emergency situations, including a lock down."

From a psychological standpoint, the district has recently hired a district counselor, explained DePaoli, "we're just training our district counselor in a course, so that she can train all of our front-line staff, bus drivers, secretaries and eventually teaching staff, on any signs of kind of a mental wellness piece where kids aren't feeling well, or may be feeling uneasy, so we're doing that training as part of a preventative process in the psychological area."

After the most recent school shooting, the district had created a safety summit, DePaoli explained, "I got all our nurses, counselors, teachers, liasens, and some administrators on that group and we just took a look at what we need to look at going forward." The active shooter drill was the primary focus of the summit safety, and the group evaluated and discussed how well the district is prepared in the event of a school shooting ... "we'll reconvene in early April and really put together a strategic plan to really focus on this active shooter issue." School shooters, DePaoli explained, "(are) not just the school's issue, it's about the community. How do we keep our community safe? So, everyone has a responsibility for keeping our kids safe at school," he emphasized, "the parents do, they have a responsibility to report anything they see as awkward or unfamiliar with their own students, or friends of their students, and our teachers have that responsibility. I really believe our students do as well, so we're going to educate our student on the idea of 'if you see something, you need to say something.' It's about everybody working together," he expressed, "we can't just rely on the school. We've learned that in some of these shootings too."

ery department within the county would have access to the same cloud-based imagery," he explained, "it could be used by everybody from the assessor's office, water district, fire service and law enforcement." Currently, the quote for the imagery came in higher than what would be comfortable, he stated, however there are several options available for funding, including some of the department's funding which currently resides with Rivercom, or partnering up with Douglas County, who will be having their fly-over for the images completed next spring.

Manson Council explains 'special meeting' agendas

By KRISTIE McCLANAHAN,
STAFF WRITER

MANSON - During the Manson's Community council meeting on Tuesday, March 6, a question was raised by council member Jorge Valencia as to why the special meetings were being scheduled between the regular council meetings. Council member Kathy Miller and Chairman Kim Unstanik explained the reasoning behind the special meeting and that they may not always occur.

The council has set the first Tuesday of each month for their special meeting times. Yet Miller said, "that it may not always be the first Tuesday, it just so happen to be today because of the bylaws that they had to go over in order to get a copy out."

Unstanik added another reason for special meeting was in case that something came into the council from Chelan County and needed discussion prior to their normal meeting then it could be discussed.

Voting could not take place, yet they could discuss the matter prior to their regular meetings held every third Tuesday of the month.

Prior to continuing work on the bylaws, Unstanik stated she wanted to go over a few items. The first, being a clarification of her conversation with Hank Luis concerning vacation rentals. A questionnaire concerning vacation rentals was sent out, yet their seemed to be some confusion. The confusion was on whether to answer the questionnaire or to grade how the questions were put together. The whole point on the questionnaire was to gain insight on how other communities handled vacation rentals prior to making rules and regulations for these rentals in the Manson area.

Other items on the agenda were Shotlz dock/buoy, Bitcoin mining, Facebook and utilizing it as another form of getting information out to community. Email procedures and whether or not to assign individual position email addresses, fundraising and Manson Parks letter.

There was a small discussion on Bitcoin mining in the valley. It was stated by Unstanik that Jeremy Jaech, secretary-treasurer, had met with Chelan County Public Utility District Commissioner Ann Congdon. PUD is concerned with this issue as our area uses 200mw and that there are 75 requests for mining, at 100mw each, which would bring the community load to 7500 mw. After further discussion on the topic, it was voted among the council members to have the PUD to come in and speak at their meeting on April 17.

Utilizing Facebook as another form of communication to the community was discussed and decided against. There were concerns that posting on Facebook would open up the forum to angry and nasty comments. Not using Facebook would then be added into the bylaws for future council members to see that this was discussed and voted against.

The Community Council's website was another form of media, along with an email list to use in order to get information out to the community, which seemed to be a favorite.

It was bought up concerning email addresses for each council member. It was discussed on whether to use positions instead of names for the address. And that the procedure for utilizing emails, i.e. when and what to send via email would be put into the bylaws.

Unstanik stated that in the original bylaws, that there were provisions to be able to do fundraising. The issue was that the council does not have a non-profit license. It was agreed to have Unstanik check into having Kathy Blum, vice-chair, apply for the license on behalf of the council.

The council moved into working on updating the remaining bylaws and adding in the additional items to gain clarity for those members that would be added to the council in the future.

Many activists ready to surf the Big Blue Wave

Now, after we have witnessed one of the largest mass coordinated marches in American history last weekend, it is time to say Democrats are suddenly the recipients of several million new voters and future activists vis-a-vis gun issues.

I couldn't be happier and prouder of the students exercising their rights of free speech. Whether I agree with all of their ideas is another matter. I do agree that we, the so-called adults, have failed to keep them safe in schools.

That is why I believe the 18-45 age group will make the difference as to if this Democratic Blue Wave actually does take the nation by storm surge this November.

I picked that age bracket because it would include all 18-year-olds and most of their parents and teachers that are involved in the anti-NRA, anti-assault weapon picketing.

For perhaps the first time in American history, the youngest voters, that would be

APPLES TO APPLES

high school kids and their big brothers and sisters, the Millennials and their supporters, can actually vote in a larger block than Baby Boomers.

How can anyone blame them for wanting to end their own slaughter?

Even a cop that was supposed to protect them in Florida ran for cover. I am 100% pro-police, but it seems to me he should be stripped of his pension and criminally charged with dereliction of duty.

What's the point of hiring school safety officers unless they take their jobs seriously and get in there and stalk and kill those who are killing our kids?

I am not a macho maniac, but that's the job bud, you enlisted for it so then do it. I want an officer at every school from K-12 and every college too. I want a metal detector and limited access to guns on the inside for certain qualified staff members.

Unfortunately what I want doesn't mean squat.

On the other hand, what these new, young activists want really does matter because they are our nation's future. Us older geezers better get out of their way. That demographic, if disciplined enough, can take over the political landscape for the next several decades.

For years we have not allowed kids to drink until 21, but we are quick to send them to war. I heard something on TV last weekend that made a lot of sense. One Muslim wannabe terrorist had a bomb in his shoe and ever since then millions of us have had to remove our shoes at airports. Yet we have had many school shootings and almost nothing has changed.

Chances are the "kids" mean exactly what they say and sing and chant and scream: Never again. They intend to push every candidate for every office to swear a solemn oath to put more and more restrictions on assault weapons and to not take money from the National Rifle Association.

Even here, in little Wenatchee, there was a private party at the Eagles Club last Saturday for Friends of the NRA, but are the local kids willing to cross mom and dad and vote "blue." Will the Democratic candidates have enough guts to state they are against assault weapons even in gun counties and states? They might. Will any Republicans do the same? I seriously doubt it.

Will the young stay home like most of us come voting day? That would be a shame. The real test is if they can maintain this fervor of theirs until November. It is a known fact that a flash in the pan is exactly that. As is a shooting star as is the phrase "that was yesterday's news."

The litmus test has been set for November. It used to be abortion or jobs or exotic thoughts about war and peace, but in the mind of every parent nationwide will be the idea that little Johnny isn't coming home anymore because of some moron with an assault rifle.

Meanwhile the kids in those same schools will be wondering if it could be their school next.

Remember Mothers Against Drunk Driving and how they single-handedly changed DUI laws across the nation? Today's mothers will be an even greater force to be reckoned with. It is quite possible that 10 months from now the Congress will turn blue whether us "adults" like it or not.

Trump getting impeached will be just the beginning of what promises to be a massive turnover of political power. The GOP is bent on destroying itself for a fistful of blood-stained dollars.

Building a wall on the southern border for billions of dollars will not yield as much safety for the average American as figuring out how to protect our flesh and blood as they pursue state-obligated education.

When I was a kid in the 1960s there were race riots in the schools, but the only weapons anyone had were knives and razor blades, chains, sticks and lots of friends. Today, it just takes one mental case to destroy the world as we know it. BTW - the geniuses out there who fancy themselves constitutional experts on gun rights ought to remember they only had swords, knives and muskets back when the founding fathers talked about a "well regulated militia" and a right to bear arms.

They also owned other human beings and didn't allow women voting rights either. Times have changed and these youngsters are ready to take over. Candidates mock this youthful movement at their own peril.

The Swamp wins again

President Trump disappointed most of the people that voted for him last week when he failed to veto the Omnibus Spending Bill brought to him courtesy of our spend-thrift Congress.

It seems the Republicans are bent on self-destruction to the delight of the Democrats who are willing to bankrupt the country for an opportunity to impeach Donald Trump.

At this point it appears that both parties are willing to sacrifice anything to protect their power and influence.

The bill was discussed by "party leadership." Who then dumped a 2,200 page bill on the Congress overnight. It seems old tricks diehard. Don't give them a chance to read it just demand they approve it to avoid a government shut down.

IN MY OPINION
Bill Forhan
Publisher

Well the Republicans, and especially the Republican leadership, continue to show they are tone deaf to the voice of the people.

Trump was right. This is a horrible bill. The only good thing is the increased funding for the military but the cost of getting that increased funding is too high.

Trump has failed at his first confrontation with brinkmanship legislation. He should have vetoed the bill. Shut down the government and forced the Congress to override his veto or amend the bill. He didn't.

The result was the talk shows were overrun by angry voters who swore they would never vote for Trump again.

I understand their anger but turning against Trump is a victory for the establishment. The politicians that need to be defeated are the party leadership - Paul Ryan, Kevin McCarthy, Steve Scalise and our own Cathy McMorris-Rodgers. It is no surprise that our two liberal Senators, Cantwell and Murray voted to load more debt onto our grandchildren, but McMorris-Rodgers vote in support was.

Trump needs to hear from all of his supporters that he made a major mistake by not vetoing this bill. But hoping to drain the swamp by voting in more alligators is not the way to solve the problem.

Quite frankly listening to the angry "conservatives" calling in to tell everyone they were done supporting Trump, sounded more than a little disingenuous. I am sure many of those encouraging Republicans to stay home during the next election were not really Trump supporters. They were simply doing what the left does best. They were trying to utilize conservative anger to steal the next election. Do not be fooled by these activist manipulators who will use any dirty trick to advance their agenda.

Winning the war to take back America will require more than one election, more than one President. We must work hard to root out the Republicans who have proven they are not conservative and we must campaign hard against any liberal replacements.

Expect the politics of personal destruction to heat up as the left and the media digs up any dirt they can find on a conservative candidate while ignoring the dirty laundry in their own basket.

We need to be clear headed and single focused if we are going to look past the skirmishes we lost and energize the American people to stay the course we have begun by electing an outsider to be President.

So let us start by putting together a list of Republican representatives who did not vote to repeal Obamacare; Republicans who voted to fund Planned Parenthood; Republicans who voted in favor of the Omnibus spending bill. These must be our targets for replacement.

Many of these individuals are not in our home state but we must find ways to actively support their replacement with more conservative representation not with another spend thrift liberal Democrat.

Finally, we must bury the Whitehouse and our own Congressional representatives with letters of protest over this latest travesty. What is done can always be undone. Let us call for a repeal of this travesty and demand that they cut the pork out of this bill and that all members of the Congress be required to read it before it is signed into law.

Entiat Tree Board sponsors Arbor Day Tree Distribution April 14

SUBMITTED BY JOE & JUDY BELL OF THE ENTIAT TREE BOARD

ENTIAT - Tree board members will distribute tree seedlings in the City Hall parking lot on Saturday, April 14, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. (or as long as our tree supply lasts!)

A $2 donation is requested to help with the purchase of next year's Arbor Day distribution.

The Greater Wenatchee Arbor Day Committee has chosen trees and shrubs that are popular with birds and offer pleasing shapes, flowering and unique leaf color or winter interest. Approximately 2,600 plants will be offered.

They are: Western Larch, Red Flowering Currant, Austrian Pine, Serviceberry, Western Paper Birch, Purple

Lilac and Sugar Maple.

The first Arbor Day was held in nearly treeless Nebraska in 1872. More than 1 million trees were planted that first day thanks to a campaign by J. Sterling Morton, editor of Nebraska's first newspaper.

LCCHC board introduces interim CEO, discusses building project at board meeting

SUBMITTED BY CELESTE THOMAS, LCCHC

CHELAN - Lake Chelan Hospital Board Chair Mary Signorelli introduced interim CEO Steven Patonai at March's regular board meeting Tuesday, March 20. Patonai, who has more than 25 years of senior healthcare executive experience, will serve as CEO while the Board searches for a permanent replacement for CEO Kevin Abel, who leaves for a new CEO position in Montana April 1.

During March's meeting, board members heard presentations regarding bond rates, the USDA loan process and project draft budget. State representatives from the USDA visited last week, said Abel, and the application will soon move to the federal level. Bond rates continue to look encouraging, and the board voted to update dates in the bond resolution they voted on last year, as well as approve the current space program for the replacement hospital, which moves the business office and other administrative offices to the Johnson Avenue building to make room for clinic services within the new hospital building.

In response to a request by local physicians, represented by Chief Medical Officer Ty Witt, the hospital board also considered Initiative 1000, the "Washington State Death with Dignity Act."

"After careful, thoughtful conversations with our medical staff and the board of commissioners, we have decided that whether a physician will participate in the 'Washington State Death with Dignity Act' should be the provider's own choice. As hospital administrators, we do not wish to interfere in the relationship between the provider and the patient," said Abel.

Lake Chelan Community Hospital & Clinics (LCCHC) will, however, ensure all the laws and safeguards of the "Washington State Death with Dignity Act" are followed if a provider and patient choose to participate.

Lake Chelan Community Hospital & Clinics does not mandate that any provider participate in the "Washington State Death with Dignity Act," nor encourage any provider to do so. Only those providers and patients who are willing and desire to participate should do so.

"All providers at LCCHC are expected to respond to any patient's query about life-ending medication with openness and compassion.

We believe our providers have an obligation to openly discuss the patient's concerns, unmet needs, feelings, and desires about the dying process. Providers should seek to learn the meaning behind the patient's questions and help the patient understand the range of available options, including but not limited to comfort care, hospice care, and pain control. Ultimately, LCCHC's goal is to help patients make informed decisions about end-of-life care," said Abel.

While LCCHC allows its providers to participate, it will prohibit patients from taking any life-ending medication at the hospital or clinic. It also will not stock the medication, and patients must fill their prescription elsewhere.

Trojans trample Liberty Bell Mountain Lions

BY ERIN ROSSELL,
STAFF WRITER

MANSON - In a hosted matchup with Liberty Bell Mountain Lions, the Trojans forced a heavy defensive strategy against the Mountain Lions, leaving the visitors virtually powerless in the resulting outcome with the Trojans' first win of the season, ending the game with a score of 3-0.

"A first half strike from Heriberto Sarmiento followed by two second half goals from Manson defender Eduardo Escalera ensured the victory," explained Head Coach Jared Mumley, "Liberty Bell came out with their usual physicality and team organization and Manson had trouble finding good spells of possession in the midfield." He continued by explaining that Manson's defense showed tremendous accuracy and intensity and denied the Mountain Lions a score. Goalkeeper Arturo Valdovinos was vital to the success of the game as well, with a total of five saves throughout the game. "The breakthrough came with Sarmiento, who received the ball near the top of the box and slapped the ball straight to the bottom right-hand corner of the goal giving the Trojans the 1-0 lead," expressed Mumley. After halftime, Manson increased the intensity on the field, "however, it was the two special plays by senior captain Escalera which settled the game with long runs from deep within the Manson half," he stated, "using his speed, Escalera raced passed the entire Liberty Bell defense and dispatched two well-placed goals to give the Trojans the victory."

The 1-1 Trojans will be on the road next, taking on the Brewster Bears for their first league game of the season, Thursday, March 22.

BREWSTER - The Manson Trojans boys' soccer team played in a tight and intense contest at Brewster on Thursday night, March 22 but fell narrowly by a score of 2-1. The game began with a nervous Manson team who were playing the defending league champs and the perennial powers of the CTL. Brewster dominated possession early and Manson rarely got the ball out of their own half. However, after a strong forward run by defender Marco Mendoza, Heriberto Sarmiento received the ball at the top of the box and unleashed a swerving rocket into the top right corner for the game's first goal. Manson began playing with more confidence after the goal but were still struggling to get good spells of possession and Brewster pressed for the equalizer.

With 12 minutes left in the first half Brewster finally made a breakthrough with an incredible 40-yard strike that sailed over a helpless Arturo Valdovinos. Manson nearly took the lead on

Manson 15 Waterville 7

After opening up the season splitting a double header with Lake Roosevelt on Saturday, the Trojans traveled to Waterville to take on the Shockers. The team was confident and hungry for a win.

Manson again sent their senior ace Zach Serafini to the hill. Junior Jose Pascasio was the starting catcher. Serafini pitched well and threw 4 innings, giving up 6 runs on 7 hits, using 83 pitches, striking out 8 and walking 3. Pitching in relief was Jose Pascasio who threw 3 innings, using 35 pitches, striking out 5, with 0 walks and gave up 0 runs.

Offensively the Trojans exploded for 15 runs on 8 hits and were in control the entire game. Avery Thompson hit his first home run of the season which hit off of the rooftop of the Waterville school. Trojans with hits were Avery Thompson (2, HR), Marcus Bernardo, Parker Schoenwald (2), Zach Serafini, Bryce La Mar, Caden Beasley. Defensively the Trojans played tough and recorded only 1 error. The game's web gem came in the bottom of the 7th when Avery Thompson turned in a nice 6-3 double play on a hard-hit ball up the middle to end the Shockers' chances and the game.

Pitch Counts:
Zach Serafini: 83
Jose Pascasio: 35

Track & Field
at Oroville - Saturday, March 17

Manson's debut meet was Saturday, March 17 at Oroville. The Trojans were one of 13 schools attending with boys placing 5th and girls 10th. The weather was cool but the Trojans had fire in their eyes scoring numerous personal records. On the boys' side, personal records included Joe Strecker, JoJo Morales, Alex Zaragosa in the 100 meters, Joe Strecker in the 200 meters, Titus Petersen and Christian Montes in the 400, Titus Petersen, Grant Torgesen and Blake Cochran in the 800. In the field events, JoJo Morales achieved a personal record in the shot as well as Alex Zaragosa. Cody Amsden threw a personal best in the javelin of 112-10. Other PR's were awarded to Christian Montes and Henry Armstrong. Eduardo Escalera jumped 5-8 in the high jump for a personal best, as well as anchoring in both relays placing 2nd in the 4x100 and winning the 4x400 relay. Escalera was also voted the Gatorade Guy for meet... a Trojan tradition.

On the girl's side Kendall Petre ran a personal best in the 100 and 200, 14.51 and 30.70 respectively. She also anchored the 4x100 and 4x200 relays. Other personal best in the 100 meters were Zoe Thomas, Nadia Verdusco, and Magali Leyva. Sarah Simmons and Cassie Macias ran their PR's on the 200 meters as well.

Grace Cullison threw the shot for the first time throwing a distance of nearly 20 feet, followed by Kassie Macias. Evelyn DeJesus threw her personal best in the discus with a distance of 71-1. For the first meet of the season, the coaches were extremely pleased with the performances of all of the athletes. The energy and motivation to get faster, jump higher and throw farther is ramping up as the Manson Trojans look forward to their next meet in Chelan, Thursday, March 29th.

Soccer
at Okanogan -
Thursday, March 15

The Manson Trojans boys soccer team began their 2018 spring season with a tough non-league battle against a physical Okanogan team and came up just short as they fell 2-0 on the road. An incredible first half free kick by Okanogan's Josue Ramos put the Trojans down 20 minutes into the first half. Although successfully keeping possession in the midfield, Manson struggled to get a shot off in the first half to test the Okanogan goalkeeper. By halftime the possession time was nearly equal but the clinical finishing by Manson's opponents was the only difference in the sides. The second half began with more intensity, direction and vision by the Trojans. Jose Vasquez moved from his starting midfield position up to forward and nearly scored off of a cross, only to be denied by a diving stop from the goalkeeper. Manson continued to press forward but failed to get the goal they needed before a defensive mishap presented the Bulldogs with another scoring chance which they calmly finished. Manson nearly scored seconds later from the opening kickoff but Esteban Escoto's effort bounced agonizingly wide of the goal. In the end Manson fell short on the score sheet but can be assured that they are on track to perform well this season.

vs. Bridgeport -
Saturday, March 24
In a game that started in winter and ended in spring the Manson Trojans beat league rivals Bridgeport in a non-league contest Saturday afternoon. The game began in two inches of fresh snow but the hot play of the Trojans, and the sun, melted it all off by the time Manson defeated the Stallions 5-1. Manson dominated the game, particularly in the midfield, and created chances early and often. First half goals from Gustavo Villasenor, Jose Vasquez and Eberardo Aguilar put the Trojans in prime position for victory at the break. Manson continued to push forward in the second half when senior Marco Mendoza galloped up the field with the ball and unleashed a vicious strike the beat the goalkeeper high up in the goal. The Trojan victory was capped off by a goal from forward Tucker Flowers who was fastest to respond to the Bridgeport goalkeeper save and smacked the ball into the net.

CHELAN

Track & Field
at Bridgeport -
Tuesday, March 13

We had a successful day as a coaching staff, team and community. We had over 50 kids compete in two events, as in Jamborees, they limit you too only two events. We even were able to avoid the rain. We had a number of different victories. No one got hurt, everyone walked away with marks or times, and we beat the rain. A coach couldn't have asked for more than that.

Some stats - Bert Mendivil 12.53 100 meters, 19 ft 1 inch in Long Jump
Christain Torres - 12.53 100 meters, 18 Feet 2 inches in Long Jump
Kyle Jackson - 58.94 400 Meters
Christopher Knight - 2:21.65 800 Meters
Matt Smith - 35 ft 9 inches in Shot Put, 10
Alex Neri - 34 ft 11 inches in Shot Put Kevin Cazarez - 107 ft in Discus
Alex Neri - 100 ft 5 inches in Discus
Girls as follows:
Ava Dickes - 100 meters 13.18, 200 meters 27.40
Molly Oswald - 100 meters 13.66, 200 meters 28.32
Mierya Garibay - 1600 meters 6:13.56
Ella Polley - 1600 meters 6:22.24
Lucy Bordner - Long Jump 14 ft 6 inches

There was a number of different athletes that threw and jumped well. But with only the opportunity to have two events made it hard to get some more stats and details. Also with on relays, pole vaulting, or hurdles made for a quick meet with not as much to cover. We look forward to this coming Saturday, March 24, for the Ray Cross Invitational at Ephrata High School. There will be schools of all sizes and great early competition. Our coaching staff is looking forward to a day of competition and kids being able to get four events under their belts. Please come and support our student athletes as we start our regular season and start the journey to State.

at Ephrata -
Saturday, March 24

With that being said, we had a lot of kids compete and perform well understanding the weather and the size of the meet. Chelan was one of 30 schools that competed and as a coaching staff we were happy with the way kids performed. Teams ranged from all classifications; from 1B to big 4A schools from Spokane and Tri Cities Area.

Yes, it would be awesome to have kids PR every single time. Which could happen, but with a young team you want to be smart with kids and make sure they don't get hurt and also want to remind them that we are on a gradual journey to our League, District and possibly our State Track Meet toward the end of May. "Trust the Process, don't Rush the Process"

On our boys side, we saw some success early from our two jumpers. Junior Bert Mendivil and Sophomore Christian Torres made the Finals in the Long Jump. Even in non ideal conditions, both jumped well and were able to get 6th and 9th overall. With Bert jumping 18 ft 9 inches and Torres 18 ft 8 inches.

Christopher Knight finished 10th overall in a field of 40 in the 1600 meter run. His time was 4:55.60.

Matt Smith and Skyler Gordon threw the Javelin for us. They both did well when throwing over 100 feet. Gordon 102 feet and Matt Smith beating his previous season best by 11 feet. Throwing 117 ft 9 inches. Kevin Cazares threw discus for us and finished 18th with a throw of 103 ft 8 inches.

Javier Pastor had an interesting day. He not only was able to clear 10 feet in the Pole Vault, he also ran the 3200. Very rarely do you hear about something like this happening. He is a senior and he is trying to accomplish that hasn't happened for a very long time for Chelan Track. We call it, "The Quest". This is where one athlete attempts to compete and receive a time or mark for ALL 17 events that Track has to offer. We will be keeping track of the events that he needs in order to meet "The Quest"

On our girls side, we had a lot going on. We were led by Molly Oswald and Ava Dickes in our Sprints. They both competed in the 100 and 200 meters. Ava got 4th in the 100 and Molly was 8th. Ava's time was 13.45 after two gun malfunctions and some chills caused for some slow times, but it didn't stop us from having a good day. Molly's time was 13.91. They came back later to compete in the 200, their times were as follow... Ava 27.85 finishing 3rd and Molly 27.84 placing 7th. They were also part of a two relay teams... 4x100 and 4x200. The first was Ava, Matea Ivory, Lucy Bordner and Molly. They placed 6th out of 21 teams. With ONLY one day of handoff practice... the girls team got a time of 53.45. Girls 4x200 was Matea, Molly Oswald, Emilie Barnes and Ava. With less than a day of practice this team got 8th out of 19 teams. Their time was 1:54.76... Lucy Bordner was our long jumper and she able to finish 13th out of 34th in the Triple Jump. She battled through some shin splits but was able to jump a distance of 29 ft 1 inch.

Overall we had a good day of getting kids to compete, get better in our field events and were able to have kids see some and face some big schools. Coaches were happy with what we saw and look forward to our Home Meet Next Thursday, March 29th at Sargent Field. Thank you for your help and support and we look forward seeing next week with some better weather.

at Selah - Viking Invite -
Saturday, March 24

Chelan traveled to Selah for the Viking Invite to face 2A Selah, 4A Moses Lake and 4A Eisenhower (Yakima). Our goal: to find tough competition against larger schools and see what we're made, so we know what we need to work on. Adversity exposes weaknesses, and informs our next steps. Mission accomplished: every Chelan player had at least one tough match, which will lead to valuable growth. When the dust settled, the Chelan boys finished 2nd in the tournament, and so did the Chelan girls. This was an especially impressive outcome for the Chelan girls, who were missing two of the top four players on our ladder.

In girls #1 singles, senior Sydney Hawkins won her opener over Eisenhower in dramatic fashion 6-4, 5-7, (12-10), but lost the championship match to Selah 6-2, 6-1.

In girls #2 singles, junior Katelyn Deal won her opener 6-4, 6-1 over Selah, but was defeated in the championship match to finish 2nd.
In girls #1 doubles, Sierra Rothlisberger and Madeline Peebles won their opener over Moses Lake 6-2, 6-0, but fell to a talented Selah duo in the championship 6-3, 6-4.

In girls #2 doubles, frosh tandem Elle Rothlisberger and Bella Gatzemeier lost a close opener to Selah 6-2, 7-6, but won their consolation match vs Moses Lake 6-1, 6-2 to finish 3rd.

In girls #3 doubles, Cailee Parham and Nadia VanWechel lost their opener to Selah, but finished strong with a 6-2, 6-3 win over Moses Lake to take 3rd.
In boys #1 singles, senior Micah Larson won his opener over Eisenhower 6-2, 6-1. In the championship, Larson played well, but was defeated by D1 prospect Jared Kieser of Selah.
In boys #2 singles, junior Wyatt Habich lost his opener vs Selah, but dominated his consolation match vs Moses Lake 6-1, 6-1.

In boys #1 doubles, Tobin Wier and Alex Gavin lost a close opener to Selah, but rebounded with a win over Moses Lake 6-1, 6-3.
In boys #2 doubles, Tyler Higgins and Eli Phelps won their opener over Moses Lake 6-1, 7-5, but lost the championship match to Selah to place 2nd.

In boys #3 doubles, Steven Williams and Scott Abel lost a heartbreaker to Eisenhower 7-6, 7-6 to start off the day, but finished with a win over Moses Lake.
I was pleased that half of our entries played for the tournament championship. We possess the skill and talent needed to play with the big boys, and our court coverage and shot selection is improving with each match. Our next hurdle: playing our best when in counts the most, by winning the pivotal points against difficult opponents.

The Manson Trojans boys soccer team began their 2018 spring season with a tough non-league battle against a physical Okanogan team and came up just short as they fell 2-0 on the road. An incredible first half free kick by Okanogan's Josue Ramos put the Trojans down 20 minutes into the first

vs. Wenatchee JV -
Thursday, March 22

The Chelan team was finally able to get onto the golf course and off the field at the back of the school. They hosted the Wenatchee JV boys and girls for a 9-hole match, which started out in rain but soon cleared for a nice afternoon on the links.

Taking honors for the boys was Chelan freshman Miles Grossberg, coming in with a 46, followed closely by Wenatchee's Colin Snyder with a 47. The Wenatchee JV posted a team score of 193 to Chelan's 229.

For the girls, honors went to Wenatchee's Ashley Turner who turned in a 59. All the girls from both teams were fairly closely matched; though the scores weren't great. I expect some great improvements for Chelan as we are able to get onto the greens and fairways and get some better practices in. Wenatchee also took the team honors with a 242 to Chelan's 255.

For the boys, I was very happy to see Miles and Seth Hannu (Chelan soph.) turn in decent scores, but we have a lot of work after that to fill a decent team score.

The top 5 boys will be traveling to the Jack Barnes Invitational this Saturday for a tournament match at Three Lakes GC in Malaga, and the whole team will be competing again next Tuesday for a home match against league rival Omak, and then traveling Thursday to Quincy (Colockum Ridge GC) for a nonleague match.

At Malaga - Three Lakes Golf Course - Saturday, March 24

Chelan boys golf left the wintery wonderland of Chelan this morning to find very fine playing conditions in Wenatchee (Malaga—Three Lakes GC). Though a bit rusty with only 3 days on golf courses so far this season, the fourth time out (today) we're starting to see some more consistent hitting, though the short game is still needing more consistency. Chelan freshman Miles Grossberg continues to lead the team, shooting two more 46s today for a team-best 92. Sophomore Seth Hannu had the best 9-hole round today with a 40 for his first 9 but struggling on his final 9 with a 53 for a 93 total. Senior Corbin Morley, our #1 golfer last season and two-time state qualifier, played his first round today and shot a 49-46 for a 94 total.

I expect to see lots of improvement from these three leaders on our team as we put more swings and putts under our belts. We host Omak on Tuesday 3-27 for our first league match and follow that with a non-league match at Quincy on Thursday 3-29. After Easter/spring break the following week, we'll be in the thick of things when we get back at it the week of April 9-13.

the following kickoff when Gustavo Villasenor was played through and shot just over the bar. As the half was winding down, however, a mental lapse by the Manson defense allowed the Bears to get a ball over the top which they scored on Valdivinos. A tough way to end a heroic first half. The second half showed incredible improvement by the Trojans. The midfield began passing the ball better and the forwards became more energetic and intelligent about their runs. Manson created a number of chances and limited Brewster to almost none. With 10 minutes to go Eduardo Escalera, a senior captain defender, was thrown up front in an effort to get the equalizer. Manson pressed on, creating chance after chance but by the time the final whistle blew it was not enough.

The first league game ended in a loss but if there is one thing that can be learned from the start of the season it's that there is parody in this league and it could be anybody's championship.

Ella England earns second place in Regional Spelling Bee

SUBMITTED BY CINDY BERTOMEU

EAST WENATCHEE - On the evening of March 14, four students from the Lake Chelan Valley competed against top spellers in the 2018 NCW Regional Spelling Bee. Forty champion spellers from Chelan, Manson, Tonasket, Mansfield, Ephrata, Omak, Wenatchee, East Wenatchee, Moses Lake, Royal City, Cashmere, and Leavenworth competed for the opportunity to represent our region at the national Scripps Spelling Bee in Washington, D.C., later this spring. Our local spellers included two sixth-grade spellers from the Chelan Middle School, Cray Silva and Charlie Morgan, and two sixth-grade spellers from Manson Middle School, Ella England and Ben Cullison.

Our local champions spoke with confidence and composure, despite the varied complexity of words in each round. The first two rounds were brutal. Among the 15 spellers eliminated in the first round, Cray misspelled hyphen by only one letter. Ben and Charlie were among the next 15 eliminated in the second round, with quesadilla being one of the multitude of misspelled food-related words that round. By the end of the third round, only the top three, including Ella England of Manson, remained. In round five, Kalea Macon (Foothills Middle School) misspelled boudoir, placing third in the region. The officials then moved from the first 300 words to the next, even more complicated collection.

In the sixth round, Ella struggled with the silent H in apartheid, writing the word out on her arm as she had in each round. Ella asked for the definition and to have the word used in a sentence, applying all of her academic skill and etymological tools available, but to no avail. Ella earned second place as Kara Willson, of Tonasket Middle School, correctly spelled her round-six-word, peccadillo, and the championship word, recidivist, to earn first place. As an eighth-grade student, this was Kara's fourth and final opportunity to compete in the NCW Regional Spelling Bee, and her victory and trip to the national competition were well-earned. Congratulations to all of our local spelling champions for their composure and sportsmanship among fierce academic competitors.

Chelan Fire and Rescue seeks applications for Board of Fire Commissioner Vacancy

The recent resignation of a Board member from Position 2 on the Board of Fire Commissioners has created a vacancy on the three-member Board. To fill the vacancy, the Board of Fire Commissioners is soliciting applications from individuals who would be interested in being appointed to fill the vacancy.

When a vacancy occurs on a Board of Fire Commissioners, State law provides that it can be filled by appointment of the Board. The chosen appointee then serves for the rest of the vacated Board members term. In this case, the term of the vacant seat lasts until November 26, 2019. The chosen appointee would be eligible to stand for election in November 2019.

The Board of Fire Commissioners is a non-partisan, part-time legislative body. Chelan Fire and Rescue was formed in 1926. Board meetings are held at 4:00 p.m. on the second Wednesday of each month with some exceptions. There may be special meetings occasionally to attend during the month as well.

By State Law, the chosen candidate must be a citizen of the United States, a registered Washington State voter, and have resided within the fire district limits of Chelan Fire and Rescue for at least one year. The appointee also must be at least 18 years of age.

The appointed Commissioner would have the same level of duty and privilege as all other Commissioners. Chelan Fire and Rescue Commissioners are compensated $114.00 a meeting during the length of their service.

To be considered, applicants are asked to submit an application and a Declaration of Eligibility. A resume and a cover letter detailing the applicant's previous and current involvement in the Chelan community. The application can be found at Chelan7.com website or stop by the administrative office at 232 E Wapato Ave, Chelan, WA.

Application materials must be submitted by 5:00 p.m. on Friday April 6, 2018 to the Administrative Office Manager at 232 E Wapato Avenue, Chelan, Washington 98816. Applicant's information will be forwarded to the Chelan County Elections Department for verification of eligibility before an application will be forwarded to the Board of Fire Commissioners. The Board of Commissioners will review all qualified applicants and an appointment will be made at the May 9, 2018 regular meeting of the Board of Fire Commissioners. The selected appointee is anticipated to begin his/her term in May 9, 2018.
