CHELAN – Firefighters from Chelan Fire and Rescue Station 7 returned home, Tuesday, Oct. 24 after assisting on the Central Sonoma-Lake-Napa-Unit (LNU) complex which include the Nuns and Tubbs fires in Sonoma County, CA.

Lt. Dale Rodman and Firefighters Troy Keene and Adam Jones were part of a 20-person strike team from Washington State that assisted in California. The strike crew caravanned down with five other fire vehicles - a structure engine out of Chelan County Fire District 1, three type five brush trucks from the City of Spokane, and one type five brush truck from Spokane County Fire District 8. Seventeen hours after departure, Friday, Oct. 13, the Chelan crew arrived in Ukiah, Calif. only to be reassigned to Santa Rosa, Calif. shortly after according to Firefighter Jones. The crew's shift began Sunday, Oct. 15, with rotating 24-hour shifts. "It was devastating to see all the loss," said Jones, "all the homes that were destroyed." The California communities

PUD proposes underground lines for preferred Henderson site

Final two site selections dissected

BY ERIN ROSSELL, STAFF WRITER

CHELAN – Chelan County PUD commissioners and staff held a public information meeting, Tuesday, Oct. 24 at the Chelan Fire and Rescue 7 Fire Hall in Chelan. Chelan County PUD Commissioners Ann Congdon, Steve McKenna, Dennis Bolz, Randy Smith, and general manager Steve Wright were present for the meeting, with the intent of hearing staff and public opinion on site selections. The commissioners will make a site recommendation based off the staff and public's recommendations, and are anticipated to have a decision by their November board meeting.

General Manager and Steve Wright began the meeting with an overview of the last two years, "we've done a lot of work to engage people in terms of thinking through this whole question of a substation," began Wright, "we've had more than 20 public meetings, giving the public an opportunity to engage and to comment, we've had focus groups made up of people from here, and from the community, that have participated with us over the last couple years." The focus group gathered information to form selection criteria, aiding in the selection of various sites, and helping the PUD staff explore placement options for the substation. The original 18 perspective lots has now been eliminated down to just two, Henderson and Hellyer sites. "We learned a few things that are really important," he explained, "there is definitely a need for a substation, we've continued to see load growth here, the existing substations here are loaded very heavily to the point where action is needed in order to maintain reliability for this community." The last substation was built in 1981, and as technology has advanced and the population has grown, that substation has become overloaded with the demand for power. Wright explained further that there are a lot of challenges with views because of the beautiful area we live in, throughout Chelan County. Sixteen sites have already been eliminated, taking some criteria off the table, but despite the PUD staff and commissioners hopes, a site that satisfies everyone's needs has not been discovered.

"At the end of the day, the staff recommendation is what I take to the board ... it is not my decision to make," he told the public attendees, "the board will make that decision based on the staff's (my) decision as well as public comment considerations."

Chelan County PUD Civil Engineer and Project Manager Gary Rice led an updated informative segment, including updates from recommendations at the previous public meeting. "I became involved in this process initially to bring a consultant on board," Rice began, "to help us when evaluating site locations ... I'm also here to provide a staff recommendation for a substation site location that we believe most feasible, given all the criteria that we've evaluated." He continued, explaining the factors that come into play for the staff when forming their formal consideration for the commissioners. The first consideration was public input, followed by focus group input, and third being consultant analysis, "and then we ask our internal engineering and operation staff to dive back into what we developed as part of the focus group on the site criteria figure what what's most important to them, and rank the two sites against each other on those," he added. The team came up with site differentials as displayed in the following image.

In regard to the high concern for aesthetics and viewing corridors, the Hellyer site would require 6/10 mile for transmission lines, compared to 1/10 mile for Henderson site. At costs of $7-13 million per mile, economically the Henderson site was more reasonable than the Hellyer site explained Rice. Five out of six cost and aesthetic comparisons are in favor of the Hen-

Chelan hospital chooses Spokane general contractor, regional leader in healthcare construction, for new building project

SUBMITTED BY CELESTE THOMAS, LAKE CHELAN COMMUNITY HOSPITAL & CLINIC

CHELAN - Lake Chelan Community Hospital & Clinics (LCCHC) announces Bouten Construction Company as the general contractor for the new hospital facility at Chelan's Apple Blossom center near WalMart.

Bouten, based in Spokane, has been a regional leader in healthcare construction for more than 70 years, building some of the largest and most complex facilities from eastern Washington to western Montana, as well as critical access hospitals and clinics. The company has established strong ties with local trade partners and city and state governing authorities across the region.

Bouten's healthcare track record dates back to its founding in 1944, and 75 percent of its projects involve healthcare, including Spokane's Sacred Heart Medical Center and Holy Family Hospital and Richland's Kadlec Regional Medical Center. In Chelan, Bouten will work with the CollinsWoerman-led design team to develop creative and sustainable projects solutions for LCCHC.

The company's experience in Eastern Washington means they are used to building in harsh weather conditions. Seven years ago, they incorporated Lean principles into their processes; these focus on eliminating waste in both time and scope, enabling the company to deliver Chelan's new hospital building faster and more cost effectively.

Lake Chelan Hospital received nine general contractor proposals for the project after it was unanimously approved to use the General Contractor / Contractor Manager (GC/CM) building method, said Kevin Abel, LCCHC CEO. Those proposals were narrowed down to four excellent options, who were interviewed Sept. 27 in Chelan. After review, the final decision to hire Bouten was made Oct. 16.

"The point-scale process

we used to choose Bouten was very sound and systematic," said Mary Signorelli, LCCHC Board of Commissioners Chair. "We were determined to get the best general contractor for this project, and we feel confident in Bouten's ability to work with our architect and local project team to complete the job in a timely manner and stay within our budget boundaries. We look forward to working with them on this project that will carry us into the future."

erson site, with the single favorable category for Hellyer was in total view impact estimates. “We decided we needed to take a real close look at this and figure something out,” he said, “we went back to the Hellyer site and took a good hard look of the transmission line and the cost of it.” Rice also explained that a deeper look was taken around the aesthetics of the Henderson, and began brainstorming on how to change the aesthetic concerns at that site and make it visually better. “What we were going to do was go overhead to the Chelan Hills area,” he explained, “(but) what we’re proposing now is to go completely west to Henderson, and underground with all four circuits. What we get from this is some economies of scale, when you’re putting two or three circuits in the same trench, you get to save a little bit of money by doing that. What we also came up with was that this configuration can serve our immediate need that we have ... you wouldn’t see anything (new lines) above ground.”

This technique would bring the lake view impact estimate from nine to four, and total view impact estimate from 94 to 74, due to the transmission lines being underground. The substation and two transmission tap lines would still be visible, however all existing overhead lines would stay as-is, and any new lines will be underground. The cost of underground transmission was not the only factor, there’s also operational considerations with underground transmission. Rice stated and explained the costs associated between overhead and underground lines. Overhead transmission lines run about $1-2 million per mile, while underground transmission lines range almost seven times more, at $7-13 million per mile. For the 6/10 mile to place lines underground at the Hellyer site, the cost would be between $4.13-8 million. Initially when evaluating placement of underground distribution and transmission lines, the cost was an ultimate deterrent for the option. “The cost and reliability impacts of undergrounding transmission looked too daunting for us,” explained Wright, “so we said undergrounding of transmission is not likely to occur with respect to this project.” After reevaluating cost and placement, underground transmission lines were reapproached at the Henderson site, creating a new set of statistics for comparison as seen in the image below.

Commissioner action is expected to be taken at one of the November board meetings, Nov. 6 or Nov. 20 in Wenatchee. If site recommendation is approved, then the PUD will move forward with community outreach, working with neighboring property owners on design variables, and initial Conditional Use Permit and engineering design. end of 2018, the substation and transmission design expected to be completed. Construction anticipated to be completed by the year 2019-2020.

At the end of the presentation, public comments were received. A couple of the public comments included:

Robin Vogel: “We’re going to have a bird’s eye view ... the current Henderson site is the absolute worst of the worst as far as negative financial impact to our home and property, as well as huge downside to our enjoyment of our quiet hilltop ... we’ve heard a lot about mitigation, so far, but mitigation is not elimination.”

Gailanne Molver: “Everything that we have is on the 20 acres that would look directly down at the Hellyer site ... there are people that are not in favor of the Hellyer site, or any of the other less densely populated areas.”

NCRL bringing bestselling author Patricia McCormick to area NCW schools

Public event Nov. 13 in Wenatchee

SUBMITTED BY NORTH CENTRAL REGIONAL LIBRARY

WENATCHEE - North Central Regional Library is bringing bestselling author and two-time National Book Award finalist Patricia McCormick to North Central Washington this month.

McCormick is a journalist and writer of realistic fiction for young adults, and will be speaking about her book Sold, a moving account of sex trafficking in India.

During her four-day visit, McCormick will speak to hundreds of students at eight high schools and two juvenile detention facilities. She will also headline a community event in Wenatchee.

"She does excellent research to share stories and voices from around the world on some very important topics," said Luke Ellington, NCRL's teen services manager. "She's bringing teen readers into worlds they might otherwise never be aware of."

To prepare for her visit,

NCRL provided 1,300 copies of McCormick's book Sold to schools in Quincy, Ephrata, Chelan, Omak, Okanogan, Tonasket, Republic, Wenatchee, and East Wenatchee. The book tells the story of a 13-year-old Nepalese girl whose stepfather sells her into prostitution.

McCormick will visit those schools while she is here the week of Nov. 12. Neighboring schools and school districts have also been invited to attend those events, and several will be transporting students to see her. McCormick asked to speak with students in juvenile detention and will do that at the Okanogan County and Chelan County detention centers.

On Nov. 13, the public is invited to hear McCormick talk about Sold at the Wenatchee High School Auditorium, 1101 Millerdale Ave. The event is free and no tickets are required. At 5 p.m., a movie based on the book will be shown. McCormick will then speak from 6 to 7 p.m. People may attend either or both the movie and talk. A Book For All Seasons of Leavenworth will be selling copies of her books.

Airport Master Plan to be updated, two public forums will be held

SUBMITTED BY PERI GALLUCI, CITY OF CHELAN

CHELAN - The Airport Master Plan for the Lake Chelan Airport is going to be updated. The City of Chelan, Chelan County and the Port of Chelan is working together with J-U-B ENGINEERS to complete the update. It is expected to take approximately two years from start to finish. The project and its process will be shepherded through City Council.

An Airport Master Plan update is periodically recommended by the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) to consider potential future improvements to the airport. The planning process includes analyzing existing airport uses and facilities in order to provide short-, intermediate- and long-term development recommendations to the Chelan City Council.

Airport Master Plan Updates are done to identify future opportunities and challenges, gain concurrence for a selected course of action from the FAA and the Washington State Department of Transportation, aid with regional planning, and help connect with the community. The planning process includes aviation forecasts, facility requirements, alternative development, environmental considerations, an aeronautical survey, geographical information system mapping, updated airport layouts, facilities implementation plan and a financial feasibility analysis.

Project costs are paid ninety percent by an FAA grant, five percent by a state of Washington grant and five percent locally, by the City. The J-U-B project team includes engineers, planners, surveyors/GIS professionals, environmental specialists, and a public involvement specialist. The J-U-B team will work with a local citizens via a Technical Advisory Committee, consisting of airport users and community leaders, to work through the process and ultimately develop a 20-Year Capital Improvement Plan (CIP) to recommend to City Council.

Two public forums will be held to gather public feedback and share project updates: one after development of the alternatives, and another after development of the draft plan. The public may contact the project team with questions and feedback throughout the process by emailing or calling J-U-B representative Gemma Puddy, gpuddy@langdongroupinc.com or (208) 292-8515.

Bronze Shoe to remain with Cashmere Bulldogs

CASHMERE – The Chelan Goats met on Cashmere Bulldog turf for the annual Battle for the Shoe. Since the beginning of the battle in 1953, Chelan has taken the win 12 of the 63 games, with one tie.

During an interview with Lake Chelan Mirror staff, Goats Head Coach Travis Domser complimented the Bulldogs' players and coaching staff, stating "they are very well coached, their kids are discipline, they're tough, but we're always ready," however the Bulldogs were relentless out of the gate this year, denying even a brief moment for the Goats to gain any momentum. The Goats were unable to put any points on the board, leaving a final score of Bulldogs 49 to the Goats' 0.

Chelan - Soccer

Versus Omak,
Thursday, Oct. 26

SUBMITTED BY HEAD COACH MICHAEL TUCKER

Chelan traveled to Omak for our final regular season game. We came out and scored the first goal quickly. In spite of the goal we struggled to work together all night and Omak slowly came back. Omak tied the game 1-1 to go into half.

It didn't get much better for us in the second. Omak would find the netting two more times before the final whistle. It wasn't the way we wanted to finish the regular season, but we still are in the fourth seed and will head to Okanogan on Saturday for the first round of the playoffs.

Versus Cascade,
Tuesday, Oct. 24

SUBMITTED BY HEAD COACH MICHAEL TUCKER

Chelan hosted Cascade last night for our last home game and senior night. We honored captain Yasmin Granados and Esme Vera at half time for all they have given to Chelan Soccer.

Cascade game out strong and scored two goals with in the first ten minutes. Cascade would continue through out the first half to maintain possession but we were able to prevent any more goals until half time. Our movement and communication on the pitch continues to improve and on occasion we were able to get numbers up the field. Ashley Sams had 14 saves in the first half.

In the second half we moved Ashley up to forward and Yasmin Granados to keeper. The second half started similarly to the first as Cascade came out and scored two quick goals to go up 4-0. It would remain 4-0 much of the second half. Ashley gave us more speed up the field and it created a couple good looks. A couple late goals would give Cascade a final 6-0 win. Yasmin would finish with 10 saves in the second half. The girls played hard and have really started to show better team work the last three games.

We have a very important match in Omak tomorrow (Oct. 25) to conclude our league schedule.

Manson - Soccer

Versus Oroville
Monday, Oct. 24

SUBMITTED BY ATHLETIC DIRECTOR ERIC SVERTSON

The Manson Lady Trojans stretched their season as far as it could go on Tuesday night by taking the Hornets of Oroville to a penalty shootout after a hard fought 1-1 draw. Oroville prevailed in the shootout, winning 4-1, but the game will make the Manson girls soccer team proud. After an even back-and-forth in the first half, Nadia Verducco gave Manson the lead with a sharp finish into the bottom corner after a nice pass from Nadia Tejada. Only minutes later, however, at the stroke of halftime Oroville tied the game up with a long-range effort that goalkeeper Evelyn DeJesus got a palm to but was unable to keep it out. The second half saw a similarly evened match with both sides creating chances. Nadia Verducco came closest to scoring again when she hit the crossbar from about ten yards out. The overtime saw some more grit and fight out of the Lady Trojans but when the penalty shootout came it was the Hornets who prevailed. A proud yet difficult day for the Manson Lady Trojans to end their season on. A season where they can all hold their heads high.

Trojans take down Brewster Bears, take league championship

Senior Night Celebrated

By ERIN ROSSELL, STAFF WRITER

MANSON – The Trojans hosted the Brewster Bears Friday, Oct. 26 at the Manson Athletic Complex (MAC) field, in a rivalry showdown to make history. It's no secret that Manson and Brewster have been rivals for decades, and for decades Manson has fallen to the strong-armed Bears.

This year, however, with brothers Jake and Joey Johanson as Head Coaches for opposing sides, the story has changed. The Trojans, going into the game with a record of 6-1, were amped and ready when charging the field to take on the Bears in a fight for the title of league champs. Fighting for the honor and bragging rights of the team, and for Head Coach Joey Johanson, the team battled every minute of the four quarters, and were taking no prisoners.

The Bears, unprepared for the determination of the Trojans, were stopped midway in routes and allowed only six points to the Trojans' 28 by the end of the game.

The Trojans will be hosting the playoff game against Liberty Christian, Friday, Nov. 3 at MAC.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Not on my dime

The NFL players have every right to protest anything they want to. However when I have to pay $60 to $100 dollars to watch them play, When they are practicing and preparing to play their focus should be how to play to the best of their ability and not on a protest movement 10 minutes before they line up for the kickoff. Protest all you want to but on your time and not on mine or on my dollar.

OBITUARIES

Everette Francis Morrison

Everette Francis Morrison, 77, of Chelan, Wash. passed away on Oct. 12, 2017, surrounded by family, just weeks after being diagnosed with a brain tumor.

Everette leaves behind his loving wife, Dionne Simons Morrison and five children: Raymond Morrison, Seattle; Michael Morrison, Seattle; Tammy Morrison, Seattle; Colin Morrison, Chelan; and Bailey Morrison, Chelan; five grandchildren: Tim Morrison, Arlington; Candy Heslin, Chelan; Preston Morrison, Newport; Kaitlyn Morrison, Chelan; and Cami Mallory, Albuquerque; five great-grandchildren: Jaden; Lily; Faith; Colby; and Camille; and brother, David Morrison, Anacortes.

Everette's service will be 11 a.m., Nov. 4, 2017, Lake Chelan Lutheran Church, with a reception following.

Open letter to Craig Gildroy, Planning Director, City of Chelan

I cannot fathom how you can issue a determination of non-significance (DNS) for this project (Holiday Hills) when there are so many probable negative impacts to both the natural and human environments; to name just a few: Scale (at 85 acres this could be the largest development project in the valley's history); Size (between 420 and 1068 units are being proposed; this project at full size is nearly as large as the City of Chelan itself); Location (the project surrounds a neighborhood that has been in existence for nearly half a century; how will Holiday Hills mitigate the many negative impacts on the neighborhood?); Contaminated soil (located on a historic apple orchard location there must be arsenic, lead, and a variety of DDT and other pesticide residues in the soil; Brian Patterson has emailed a report to you regarding the same); With 2000 to 3000 people potentially onsite, how does this project affect the 27 essential public services that the city provides? (for example: since Chelan is a lake resort community, where will these additional people access the lake when the existing parks are already overwhelmed?); Run-off (with this level of additional hardened surfaces where will the storm water run-off go?) How can the site handle hundreds of additional cars? Construction disruptions?...and more!

In reviewing both the NEPA and SEPA environmental checklists there are dozens of additional questions that come up:

Social and economic impacts to the local community; Impacts on available housing stocks (already stressed);

Economic impacts to businesses; Property values; Aesthetics; Noise;...and more!

With these considerations and more, I would encourage you to require a full environmental impact statement covering these issues, and more. Under both the national and the state environmental laws, the public has a right to answers to these questions, and more. It is your obligation to ensure that the proponent provides this information to both the local decision-makers, and to the public.

Thank you in advance for your consideration,

For the Friends of Lake Chelan, John R. Olson, Steve Kline, Chelan

Must purchase public lake access

Expanding on Hans Hirschberger's Safety Valve letter of Oct. 20, "Big time growth is coming to Lake Chelan." Holidays Hills is the first up: 250 parcels, 1068 units. Next up are these and they are in the works waiting for zoning to be completed: Chelan Fruit 500 units; Tuscan Village 950 units; No-See-Um 765 units; the Look-out completion at 500 units.

All of these and some 40 others are in the works.

However, nowhere in these proposals or the City of Chelan long range planning is even 1 inch of new waterfront public lake access. The existing parks are already overwhelmed and the public is demanding additional access to accommodate this growth. It is imperative to purchase the 3 Fingers location; the only undeveloped site in Chelan, before it is lost forever.

Controlled Burn?

I just read where the young man responsible for the Eagle

Creek fire in Oregon was arrested and charged. I also read, and it was reported on the Seattle TV news, where the medical journal The Lancet reported environmental pollution contributed to the premature deaths of about 9 million people in 2015 and the problem was continuing.

The recent Van Creek/Eagle Creek fire in the Leavenworth area was caused by a Forest Service "controlled burn" that got out of control. Much of our area was blanketed for weeks with stiffling, hazardous smoke and ash. Eagle Creek was posted with a sign "Smoke Ahead."

I called Forrest Service about the fire and smoke and that we could not go outside without masks and then had trouble breathing. Workers were still in the orchards trying to harvest this years crop. Forest Service informed me they were going to let the fire burn until it was put out by rains or snow. We have endured multiple years of Forrest Service controlled fires getting out of control.

At what point can Forrest Service be held accountable the same as private individuals?
