Candidate Q&A – Fire Commissioner & Hospital Board

By ERIN ROSSELL, STAFF WRITER

CHELAN – Lake Chelan Mirror (LCM) staff contacted candidates for seating in various offices, for a deeper look into each competitor. This edition's questions were concentrated on those running for a spot for Chelan Fire and Rescue Commissioner and Lake Chelan Community Hospital Boards.

Chelan Fire and Rescue Commissioner #1 Challenger Butch Sims

Bio: My family has been here for over a hundred years now. As such, I feel that it is my duty to take a stand for what is right. I have over 25 years of Emergency Response and Crisis Management around the Globe. I am a Marine Combat Veteran and hold a Masters Degree in Diplomacy, National Security and Strategic Studies. It is My mission to ensure that Chelan and its People come first. I am determined to execute the people's will and guarantee that their voices will never be ignored. God Bless America!!

LCM: Do you support buying a boat and how will you staff it?

Sims: I gotta tell ya, I would love to see a Chelan Fire Rescue Boat serving as a force multiplier for our Rescue Swimmers. I would like to see it staffed by full time Firefighters during the Summer months. However, there is a considerable cost associated with such operations. Further, we as a community must decide whether our on water calls justify this brand of apparatus. As your Commissioner all decisions will be made with the community's approval. Last I checked, this is still the United States of America. The taxpayer's voices must be heard. Every issue will be put to our residents. Any official making arbitrary decisions without consulting the people should be taken out and SHOT!

LCM: Why are our firefighters responding to all medical calls? All of these extra calls cost money, as we pay River-Com on a per call basis. $50-60 each call.

Sims: Our Firefighters respond to each call because if a critical EMS event is in action, the additional manpower is a necessity. As a firefighter I have responded to calls where the firefighters were absolutely necessary, more times than I can count. Again, there is a cost associated with this. It is incumbent upon our leadership to determine a means by which to curb unnecessary expenditures. We must develop a program that guarantees mission readiness, while respecting the taxpayers burden. Further, there are other means which are capable of mitigating these costs. We just have to exercise the courage to admit it.

Challenger Phil Moller Chelan Fire and Rescue Commissioner #1

Phil Moller did not respond as of press time, but Moller stated his responses will be available for next week's edition.

Lake Chelan Community Hospital District 2 Position 1 Incumbent Mary Signorelli

Bio: I have lived and worked in the Chelan Valley for the last 31 years, for the last six years I have worked as one of the LCCHC Commissioners. For the last two years I have served as the Chair of the Commission. What I bring to this position is Local Experience as a business person, volunteer, community member. I bring Leadership, Continuity, Consistency and the Proven Ability to do this job of commissioner. I respectfully ask the voters of Hospital District #2 to once again put their trust in me with their vote.

LCM: What new services would you like to see the new hospital provide that it currently does not?

Signorelli: At this time, we are looking to keep and grow the services we now offer. We are not looking to add new provider services: We have over the last four years added Orthopedic services: This service will expand due to the fact that we have one of the best Ortho Surgeons in the state who will, with the new facility be able to perform knee and hip replacements. Our current OR does not allow for these two surgeries to happen because of the size of the OR (operating room). Our Physical Therapy department is relatively new, it too will have more space to provide for more care and providers to meet the growing need of care in this area. These are two of the area that will grow with the move to a new and larger facility.

LCM: Do you feel that the new location and construction of the hospital will attract specialists or make specialty services possible?

Signorelli: As a current Commissioner, I am sure that the new facility will make it easier for us to fill position when we have vacancies both primary care providers and nurses on all levels. I am also very convinced that this move will assist us in retaining the excellent care givers and providers we have. It will also be very instrumental in working with Columbia Valley Clinic in securing a Residency Program from UW that we have been working on for the last year.

Challenger Jeremy Jaech

Bio: Jaech has previously served as CEO for several private companies as well as publicly-traded Visio Corporation. He has served on eight private company boards, three public company boards, and five non-profit and governmental boards in addition to his service on the UW Board of Regents. During his career, he co-founded four technology startup companies. Jaech brings two things to the race: relevant experience, and proven leadership.

The 10 governor-appointed regents, including Jaech, have

Chelan Council hears community members on substation

Comprehensive Plan proposal approved

By ERIN ROSSELL, STAFF WRITER

CHELAN – City Council members gathered Tuesday, Oct. 10 for a regularly scheduled meeting. Commencing the meeting was a citizen comment portion in which community member Robin Vogel took the opportunity to voice her opinion on the proposed Chelan County PUD substation location on the Northshore. “The search for a new substation site for the Northshore has come full circle,” explained Vogel, “straight back to our front door. Almost literally. The proposed Henderson Site will be visible to us 24 hours a day, seven days a week, 365 days a year ... the transmission poles, lines, and distribution lines that would be going to and coming out will be taller, fatter, and more numerous than what we’ve had in front of us for the past 27 years that we’ve had the property ... these are front door lake views.” She then presented three images of the view and what the proposed substation would do to their current view of the lake. Another member of the community, Carl Glossinger, took the podium and voiced his support for the placement of the new substation at the Hellyer site, “provided that the lines are underground,” said Glossinger, “so that we’re not further draping lines barring the beautiful view along Boyd Road.” Kathy Branch, a citizen of Chelan, followed Glossinger’s speech, providing her input on the placement of a substation at the Henderson site and the affect that it’s placement would have on the value of their property. The lines from the new substation would run directly through the entrance of the Branch property, driving down the

Chelan Fire swears in Focus Group members, sends firefighters to California

By ERIN ROSSELL, STAFF WRITER

CHELAN – Chelan Fire and Rescue District 7 Commissioners met Wednesday, Oct. 11 at Station 7. Items on the agenda included:

- Overview of Safer Grant – money will be used to hire a full-time volunteer recruiter, uniforms, other fees
- Approved sponsorship donation to Lake Chelan Swim in the amount of $1,000, helping improve safety and education of swimmers, reducing the need to dispatch rescue swimmers
- Proposed new ordinance charging for false alarm calls
- Emergency Coordination Program, how to better promote and increase responsibility of the program

One item of interest on the agenda was the induction and swearing in of an advisory group, whose intent is to educate people about the fire district and its operations and needs, as well as provide input on the community’s needs, finding a satisfactory median for the needs of both the department and the community.

“This is a big deal, we are kind of at a crossroads,” started Commissioner Tom Peters, “we’re looking forward to the next 10 years and what our fire services are going to look like, what our

CVCH to celebrate new clinic with grand opening Friday, Oct. 20

By ERIN ROSSELL, STAFF WRITER

CHELAN – After a long-awaited year of construction, Columbia Valley Community Health (CVCH) will be celebrating with a Grand Opening Friday, Oct. 20, from 12 p.m. until 2 p.m., with a ribbon cutting at 1:30 p.m. Guest speakers will include Congressman Dave Reichart, State Representative Mike Steele and City of Chelan Mayor Mike Cooney, according to CVCH CEO David Olson.

The new facility had an anticipated completion time of July, but was delayed due to a cold, wet winter. Regardless of any setbacks, the clinic offers a number of improved facilities that the previous office spaces did not. The new space offers 12 exam rooms, which offer more space to prevent crowding for patients. One particularly notable feature of the new patient exam rooms is two out of three rooms do not include exam tables, instead they offer a reclining chair for the patient. These rooms are dedicated as talking/listening rooms, “it’s more comfortable for the patient, and they feel more like a partner in discussing the care that they need,” explained Olson.

Other upgrades offered in the new facility include two additional dental chairs, for a total of eight dental chairs, dedicated space for behavior health counselors, and an outdoor landscaped walking track which is available to the public.

The new facility boasts increased space as it is now two and a half times as big as the previous 10,000 sq. ft.

oversight responsibility for the university, just as the hospital commission has oversight responsibility for the hospital and clinic.

Half of the University of Washington's $6 billion annual budget is UW Medicine. The regents spend a lot of time focusing on UW Medicine. Jaech has inside knowledge about where healthcare is going and access to world-class experts, including experts on rural healthcare. Jaech is experienced at building new facilities. The UW uses the same methodology that the hospital is using to build its new building—it's called GCCM, and none of the current commissioners have any experience with this approach. Jaech understands the strengths and weaknesses of this contracting method.

Jaech knows what management is supposed to do too, and how a board can help management. He will ask management of the hospital the right questions to ensure that we build the best community hospital, and that we build it on budget.

LCM: What new services would you like to see the new hospital provide that it currently does not?

Jaech: The new hospital must provide services for which it will be reimbursed by Medicare, Medicaid, and private insurers in the future as those payers move ever more strongly to pay for results rather than pay for services rendered. The new hospital needs to focus on ambulatory, primary and secondary care, and on rehabilitation services for patients who have already been treated for their acute conditions. Severely ill patients need to be transferred to Wenatchee, Seattle, or Spokane and returned for rehabilitation when able. New services at the hospital should focus on providing space for traveling specialists and rehabilitation care for returning patients.

Jaech: Not by itself. The new hospital design must include space for traveling specialists and the hospital administration must build alliances with other care providers. Although some traveling specialists may seek to do work at the new hospital on their own volition, the only way to guarantee local access to a variety of specialists is to form alliances at the administration level that include access to traveling specialists from the other medical systems. Creating alliances is not just a good idea for attracting traveling specialists; it will become a requirement as medical systems build their networks. If we don't create alliances with larger medical systems, we will be denied access to telemedicine and traveling specialists over time.

After college I made the move back home to be with my friends, family and the community that raised me. I knew that rents were high and jobs in my field were low but I wanted to make a difference at home. Since returning I've volunteered with Chelan Earth Day Fair, HDCA, and served as Vice Chair on the Chelan Parks and Recreation Advisory Board and Chair of the Citizen Task Force for Chelan Fire and Rescue. I also regularly attend council, planning commission, and budget meetings at the city.

On council I will be a driver for year round housing for residents such as educators, seniors, service professionals, healthcare professionals and volunteers that make up our community. I will also push for more lake access and maintaining our lake quality and natural LCM: Given a scenario where, as a councilmember, you are faced with a controversial decision between the long-term good for the city or the immediate desires of the people, what action would you take and how would you handle any dissatisfaction from the people?

Goldie: Long term good and planning is always in the best interest of the city and future operations. I would describe to the best of my ability the long term benefits and outline the costs of not planning toward the future. It's likely that I would equally like the immediate solution and would sympathize with the pains of not getting it. I would remind myself and residents that we are here to support Chelan in an organized and strategic fashion that plans for future rather than immediate purposes.

Goldie: I believe that I offer three perspectives that are underrepresented on council and are crucial to our current situation. I'm a Chelan native that has seen this valley change from apples to grapes and watched communities, industries and landscapes change around me. I am also a middle class earner who works multiple jobs in order to make ends meet and knows the struggle to keep a permanent home here like so many other residents. I also offer the tools and ideas of a new generation not currently represented on council.

In addition, my degree in Development, Human Rights and Policy makes me highly qualified to think across multiple disciplines and look through many lenses to find solutions critically and creatively. I have worked for many downtown businesses and organizations and therefore have a good pulse on what citizens value here in Chelan. Major progress made at old Lakeside school

By GARY BÉGIN
MANAGING EDITOR

CHELAN -- In an exclusive interview with the Wenatchee Business Journal, Lakeside school building owner Brian Winn said, "It's so rewarding to see how enthusiastic the community and the city is about the Schoolhouse repurposing. As such, our plan to save the 1920s Lakeside School and create a multidimensional community space hasn't changed."

He continued, "What has changed, is that this project is bigger than we realized, and the costs to move progress in the direction we envisioned has taken some creative thought and one more Chelan-homeowning family joining our adventure. The Moayeri's, Yuchasz's and Winn's may be coasties currently, but plans of year-round fun in the sun on the East side of the mountains are always top of mind!"

Chelan citizens are only seven months away from realizing Winn's dream of the multi-purpose project coming to fruition.

"Picture high ceilings, big windows, with French and rollup doors to the open air. Under the current plan, the Schoolhouse will include a restaurant in the old gym and lunchroom, a small batchone-off brewery in one of the classrooms, a bar, a live music stage, a playground for the kiddos, event space with daily wine tastings, and even a rooftop deck," he said.

"For us, it's all about family and community. By bringing fresh designs forward while honoring the past, we hope to create a place where entire families feel welcome," Winn concluded.

"It's our plan with the Lakeside Schoolhouse to add to the memorable experiences shared by families in Chelan. We will keep the existing Schoolhouse brick building and footprint intact, yet will explore a combination of restoring and renovating the interior to give way to an inviting space for families and friends to be social, listen to music, play games and, of course, partake in a cold beer or glass of wine. An onsite restaurant is planned for dining and a rentable venue for parties, groups and local events will be available. It's an exciting process and we can't wait to be one more great resource for the Chelan community," said Winn after buying the old school on nearly one acre from Chelan businessman John Anderson for $1.2 million in 2016.

Originally Winn was aiming for a summer 2017 opening for the expected multi-purpose building built in 1922, but for whatever reason the renovation efforts stalled until last month when construction equipment and tons of building materials appeared at the site.

Winn said "The Lakeside Schoolhouse is a multi-family project. Our goal is to set roots in the Chelan community and one day retire there with passive income generated from our investment in both the building and the community. The fact that this will be generational for my family was the positive turning point in the friendly purchase negotiation with Mr. John Anderson," Winn said.

Zipfizz (Winn) sponsored the Chelan Rotary's Century Challenge/Cycle De Vine last year with a $10,000 donation, the standard requested amount for underwriting the event. Regarding the schoolhouse, Winn said, "the renovation/restoration and repurposing of the Schoolhouse is a personal endeavor."

Winn is director and co-founder of Zipfizz Corporation, makers of an energy drink in Mill Creek, Washington. He also owns a home in The Lookout, a Lake Chelan subdivision just north of the city.

He intends for Zipfizz to "support the community in select 'Healthy Lifestyle' events that have ties to mind and/or body."

Winn Co-Founded Zipfizz Corporation in 2003 and serves as president and CEO of Innovation.com.

The opening of the renovated schoolhouse is planned for Memorial Day weekend 2018.

we really want to support on a long-term basis? How much do we really need to have in terms of equipment ... the thing that I would ask you is that each of you hold true to your own convictions ... and work together to come to some kind of a recommendation that will work for the community as a whole."

Another topic of interest was the addition of California's request for fire mobilization. The request came in earlier that morn one structural engine team with three to four people. The request was approved, and a team will be assembled to assist other teams in the California wildfires.

You can't buy peace from barbarians

For decades our foreign policy has been built on the concept of buying peace. Years of negotiations with terrorists like Yasser Arafat, Saddam Hussein, Kim Jong Il and his marvelous son Kim Jong Un has produced nothing but increasingly greater threats.

The message should be clear to anyone who is paying attention. There are evil people in the world that cannot be trusted. These evil leaders will use any ruse to advance their own evil purpose.

President Trump is right. The Iran deal is the worst "treaty" we have ever been a party to. Ultimately it will lead to a nuclear conflict and once the first strike is launched it will be nearly impossible to keep it from spinning out of control.

It would be one thing if these evil dictators were simply trying to insure that they could

IN MY OPINION
Bill Forhan
Publisher

defend themselves against a more powerful opponent. But a critical look at their history shows they want to change the face of the world.

They routinely cry death to Israel and death to America. More importantly, they mean it. Iran is the leading state sponsor of terrorism. And the dictator of North Korea is maniacal.

These so called leaders have no respect for human life including the lives of their own citizens. They use their own children as weapons and give financial rewards to the families of suicide bombers.

Whether their motivation is religious or just a quest for power is unimportant. These leaders will stop at nothing to force their view on the rest of the world.

The United Nations is also ineffective. Trump was right in speaking about North Korea when he said, "It is an outrage that some nations would not only trade with such a nation but would arm, supply and financially support a country that imperils the world."

Trump was also right in his assessment of the Iranian regime when he said, "It has turned a wealthy country with a rich history and culture into an economically depleted rogue state whose chief exports are violence, bloodshed and chaos."

The reality is diplomacy has already failed. These "rogue regimes" are simply using the treaties and negotiations to buy time while they build up their arsenal of weapons. Their intent is clear and we can no longer sit by while they build up their nuclear arsenal so they can take out Tel Aviv or Washington, D.C.

It is unclear to me if President Trump was playing "good cop/bad cop" when he told his Secretary of State that he is wasting his time trying to negotiate with Korea. What is clear is that former American Presidents have encouraged these evil dictators by acquiescing to their demands.

The only successful peaceful tactic that has worked in the past is economic sanctions. We must isolate these countries by cutting off all trade. Enforcing sanctions against North Korea will mean enforcing trade restrictions on China for continuing to support North Korea. And enforcing sanctions on Iran will require enforcing trade restrictions on European and Asian businesses that have been allowed to do business in Iran under the Iranian Nuclear Deal. In other words, enforcing economic sanctions on North Korea and Iran is likely to start a trade war, but that is much preferable to a nuclear war.

The economies of much of the world will suffer greatly if they are not allowed to sell their goods in the US. And yes, here at home the cost of goods and services will likely escalate. But higher prices are much preferable to a nuclear holocaust.

President Obama promised we could get these evil regimes to love and accept us. We just had to treat them with respect. He was clearly wrong. Now his kinder and gentler America is faced with two evil regimes that would gladly eliminate us from the face of the planet.

Do you want to continue to allow these neighborhood bullies to be able to punch us in the nose for lunch money or is it time to force them to join the civilized world? The stronger they become the more dangerous this game becomes.

Contact your congressional representatives today and tell them that they need to support President Trump by imposing sanctions on North Korea and Iran

CHELAN – The Goats hosted the Omak Pioneers Friday, Oct. 13 for trying game resulting in a loss for the Goats. The Pioneers brought a tough offense and defense, but Chelan was relentless in their efforts to catch up. Omak attempted and recovered several onside kicks and managed to barrel through the tough Goat defense. The game ended with a final score of Goats 22 to Omak's 55 points. "I am proud of our no quit attitude," said Goats Coach Travis Domser, "We need to find ways to be more physical on both sides of the ball. Defensively we have to find ways to stop the run and get off the field on 3rd and long and on 4th down." The Goats will be preparing for the Battle of the Shoe Friday, Oct. 20 at Cashmere, "nothing can turn a season around like playing cashmere tough and getting the shoe back," concluded Domser.

Quincy Thursday, Oct. 12

Last night Chelan Girls soccer took on the Quincy Jack Rabbits at Quincy. It was a hard fought battle. Neither team dominated the field. Quincy did create a few opportunities that forced Ashley Sams to come off her line to make really great saves. The first half was back and forth and a little sloppy on both sides as both teams adjusted to the rain soaked field.

The first half would come to a close ties at 0-0.

The second half brought about better results for us and we were able to generate better ball movement and support our attack. None of shots would find the netting but we gave ourselves the opportunities to score which had not happened in the first half. We played more aggressively as a team the second half. Leslie Garcia-Ortiz did a fantastic job at right back all night. The game would finish 0-0.

We our headed into our final stretch of league play, traveling to Cashmere on Tuesday for a night game at 6:30 PM.

Liberty Bell

Thursday, Oct. 12

The Manson Lady Trojans finished strongly against the might Liberty Bell Mountain Lions at the Manson Athletic Complex (MAC) as they held their opponents scoreless in the second half. However, a strong first half for Liberty Bell means they walked away the winners by a score of 4-0. Manson started strongly and intensely as they put pressure on a very talented Liberty Bell team. Jasmine Valdovinos, the lone Manson forward on the day, pressed hard up the field and made things a little uncomfortable for the opponents defense. The momentum quickly changed at about 20 minutes when two mistakes by the Lady Trojans meant they were down 2-0 which took much of their energy out of the game. A couple more goals before halftime meant the game was all but sealed up for Liberty Bell. The Lady Trojans can be proud of the way that they finished the game but in the end take only a 4-0 loss away. The next game will be at Bridgeport on Tuesday October 17th at 4:30.

Brewster Tuesday, Oct. 10

Manson girls soccer fell to a powerful Brewster team 7-0 on Tuesday night at Singleton Park. Manson, continuing to struggle with a light squad, had only one sub on hand as the athletic and skillful Brewster bears came to town. Although the Lady Trojans allowed 3 first half goals, they placed with intensity and organization and they stifled wave after wave of Brewster attack. Jasmine Valdovinos provided some relief as the ball made it up her way as the lone center forward for the Lady Trojans. In the second half Manson took more chances to try and grab a goal only for Brewster to score two more off counter attacks and eventually finish the game with 7. In the end, the Manson girls continued to fight until the end but walked away with the loss. The next game is home at the Manson Athletic Complex (MAC) on Thursday at 4:30pm versus Liberty Bell.

Battle of the Shoe rushes into 64th year

By ERIN ROSSELL, STAFF WRITER

CHELAN – Time has come for one of the most anticipated matchups in the Chelan Valley. The annual battle for the Bronze Shoe will take place Friday, October 20, hosted by the Cashmere Bulldogs.

Goats Head Coach Travis Domser, now in his fourth year coaching the team, is looking to even the odds of the outcome between the decades old rivalry match. The previous three years, the Goats have won once to the Bulldogs' three victories, "we've been in every single one of the last four Shoe games," said Domser, "we've been right there at the cusp. Our kids know how to compete, we just have to get over the edge."

The Goats are bringing six experienced seniors to this year's Battle of the Shoe. Although sitting at one win and six losses, Domser is optimistic going up against the Bulldogs' record of 4-3. "They are very well coached, their kids are disciplined, they're tough, but we're always ready, we're always prepared and we're in the fight every single time," he said regarding the anticipation level of the two teams. "You have to be very disciplined on defense and you have to execute on offense – those are the two big things against Cashmere that you have to do or they'll just control the game, they'll control the clock ... you can't give them the lead. Last year they were pretty diverse, they threw the ball and got some passes on us where we didn't make plays and they did ... you can't play catchup. If you want to beat Cashmere you have to get up, have to sustain it, and you have to continue to try and have more possessions than them."

The last four years the Bulldogs' have scored 93 points on Chelan, to the Goats' 92 points earned against Cashmere, Domser explained, "that's how competitive it's been ... so we're excited about this year and getting healthy and getting back and getting in the fight."

Bill Lippincott's Bronze Shoe began over 60 years ago, in 1953, when playoff's and leagues were not yet established as they are present day. The Battle of the Shoe involves not just the battle of Bulldogs and Goats, but the entire community as well. "It's a fun game to be a part of, it's big for both communities," added Domser, "we're going to be ready."

"A lot of respect for Coach Zukowski," concluded Domser, "he's a great coach, a hall of famer, and he deserves a lot of credit in his program and what he's done ... I'm excited

CASHMERE BULLDOGS

The 'Battle for the Shoe' now in its 64th year

Past players recall Bronze Shoe games

By MIKAILA WILKERSON
STAFF WRITER

Bill Lippincott, a former Cashmere High School football coach, was the one who originally started up the hype about the coveted Bronze Shoe trophy.

Lippincott coached Cashmere into a winning team beginning in 1949. The Bronze Shoe trophy was molded from Lippincott's old football shoe.

Then, Lippincott moved to Chelan in 1953 and began coaching the Chelan Goats into a winning team. That is when the rivalry between the two teams officially began.

Now, the two teams compete each year to see who will be the champions and take home the ultimate prize of the Bronze Shoe.

Former Cashmere football players reflect on their time competing for the Bronze Shoe and had quite a bit to share.

- Derek Todd -

Derek Todd, now a counselor at Chelan High School, was the starting quarterback for the Bulldogs for three seasons.

Todd led the Bulldogs to the 2008 1A State Championship title during his senior year.

Todd and his teammates won the Bronze Shoe games all throughout Todd's time on the team.

"It was always a game that we (really) had to get up for," Todd stated. "We knew that Chelan would bring their best, and we did the same. It was about eliminating their best players and they were doing the same to us."

According to Todd, Cashmere almost played Chelan in the playoffs during his senior year, the same year that they had won the State Championships.

"It's always a good time playing Chelan," Todd said.

Todd recalls the bleachers being packed the night of the big game and how intense everything became for the teams.

"I remember there was a lot of people there," Todd said. "It was a different type of game and it was loud and emotional. It was definitely more intense."

According to Todd, Cashmere was second or third in state during his senior year and both Cashmere's team and Chelan's team were undefeated in the state.

The toughest part about that evening, to Todd, was looking up at the scoreboard and seeing how far behind Chelan they had gotten.

By halftime they were losing 21-9 and the Bulldog boys were feeling a bit discouraged. They had never come back from being down by that many points before.

But, Todd added, Coach Dale Jones had spoken with them at half time and got the teammates refocused. They rose from the 21-9 slump they were in against Chelan and won the game 38-28.

It had been the only game during that season that Chelan scored as many points as they did playing against Cashmere.

Todd's father, Rob, was also a former Cashmere Bulldog player who experienced playing for this exciting event himself.

"The best part was raising the shoe with my teammates and keeping it in Cashmere," Derek Todd said.

Another great part of the night was celebrating the fact that the game had been Coach Phil Zukowski's 100th win as a Cashmere coach.

Todd is currently the offensive coordinator for the Chelan Goats and will be calling the offensive plays for Chelan in this year's Bronze Shoe game.

Todd said, "I mean, they're good. But we're going to go and we're going to give it our best shot. I'm up for it, I'm excited. We're coming in prepared and ready to go."

- Scott Chipman -

Scott Chipman was the starting running back on Cashmere's 1984 State Championship team. His son, Tyler, is currently playing on the team and is a senior this year.

"It always feels great," Chip-

The coveted Bronze Shoe trophy, which Cashmere and Chelan have been fighting over for many years in their long-time rivalry.

man said of the Pear Bowl.

The best part about the 1984 game, to Chipman, was when Cashmere was beating Chelan 12-6. Cashmere had been undefeated all season and had just come back from the State Championships. They had not expected Chelan to be as much competition for them as they turned out to be.

"It was very intense," Chipman said. "I mostly felt relieved when we won."

The closeness of the scores in the game was the hardest part of the evening to Chipman.

"I think the toughest part was that we were still working on two undefeated seasons in a row," Chipman said. "Everybody was trying to beat us because we won the State title."

There was a ton of pressure on the players that evening but everyone, including Chipman, played very well.

Chipman even shared that, at the time, he had cousins who were in Chelan. So that added some good old family feud to the mix of things.

Chipman hopes for a good Bronze Shoe game for this year's Cashmere players, including his son, Tyler.

"I hope the best for them because A) it'll be homecoming and there's pressure, and B) to win will make homecoming a more upbeat time for everyone," Chipman said.

- Rick Dueman -

Rick Dueman was a Cashmere football player in the early 1990s who did not get to play the Bronze Shoe game during his senior year but played in years prior.

"Unfortunately for me and the people in my class - class of 1990 - Chelan dropped their football team (our) senior year," Dueman said.

According to Dueman, Chelan's best player had moved to Cashmere during his senior year because his father had gotten a job here in town. He then began to play for Cashmere and Chelan was left without a good, quality team.

"He became our running back our senior year," Dueman said of the Chelan kid. "There would've been a Chelan team that year if he would've stayed."

Although they did not have a Bronze Shoe game Dueman's senior year, he did get to play, and win, during his junior year in 1989. Cashmere won the 1989 Bronze Shoe game 34-0.

"I remember having buddies on the Chelan team who I still see occasionally in Chelan," Dueman said.

Although he did get to play during his junior year, Dueman stated that it is not nearly as memorable as if he would've played it during his senior year.

"If you hadn't been playing before, your senior year you hope to get out on the field," Dueman said.

According to Dueman, both the Pear Bowl and the Bronze Shoe games are the most memorable of games because of the fact that, win or lose, you always know that you're going to see the people you play against on almost a daily basis. It is entirely different when playing a team from further away such as Tonasket or Okanogan because you don't know if you'd ever see those players again any time in the future.

Dueman's son, Austin, is currently a sophomore starter for this year's team.

- Mason Elliott -

Mason Elliott, among those of the graduating class of 2015, was an All-State quarterback for the Bulldogs during his time at Cashmere High School.

From Elliott's experience with the Bronze Shoe game, the best part about it was the week that led up to the game.

"The week leading up to it is when practices are at a higher level than usual," Elliott said. "The preparation for it is the best part."

Elliott recalled what the atmosphere of the game was like for his teammates and himself.

"It is very intense," Elliott stated. "The crowd is bigger than normal and everyone's focused."

For the year of 2015, Cashmere won the Bronze Shoe game 14-10.

The most memorable part about the experience, for Elliott, is when the team gets together and celebrates after the big win.

"It's just a great time," Elliott said.

The hardest part about the evening, according to Elliott, was the lead up to the game on the day they were to play. Waiting for the clock to start so that they could get started was one of the toughest things.

Currently, Elliott has finished up two years at the Tacoma Community College and is now pursuing a Communications Major at Central Washington University.

High hopes for this year's Bronze Shoe game

BY MIKAILA WILKERSON
STAFF WRITER

After a victorious win of 29-6 against the Cascade Kodiaks on Friday, October 13 in the annual Pear Bowl, the next big game for the boys to gear up for is the anxiously awaited Bronze Shoe game against the Chelan Goats.

The 'Shoe' game will be held on Friday, October 20, which also happens to be the high school's Homecoming week.

Cashmere High School Football Coach Phil Zukowski has seen many Bronze Shoe games during his time at the school.

The upcoming game on October 20 will be the 22nd 'Shoe' game that Zukowski has been a part of.

After having seen so many of these games played, Zukowski will be retiring from his head coaching position after this season is over.

Zukowski happily rejoiced along with his team for their epic win against Cascade during the Pear Bowl on October 13.

"It's a big win," Coach Zukowski said. "It's a big rivalry and a hard hitting game with two good football teams playing each other. It was fun."

Zukowski stated that the whole offensive line was crucial to their incredible Pear Bowl win.

"I don't want to name them all, they play as a unit," Zu-kowski said of the offensive line. "They did a great job, and our defensive ends were incredible."

Shane McCormick was selected as this year's 'Pear of the Game' at the end of the night.

"He (McCormick) was doing the things that I had him do at the right times," Zukowski said.

A big obstacle to tackle for the upcoming Bronze Shoe game, according to Zukowski, is how many distractions there will be for the players as the game is taking place on Homecoming week.

"There's lots of distractions for the boys," Zukowski said. "We'll have to emphasize on Monday (October 16): 'Yes, be involved. Yes, have fun. Do all those fun things that kids get to do in high school for Homecoming. But as soon as we get in the locker room, we've got to focus on football'. We have to make sure that carries over to Friday night."

Another big thing that Zukowski wants to prepare for in anticipation of Friday's game is figuring out a way to counter Chelan's offensive line's size.

"They are gigantic," Zukowski said of Chelan. "Every year they're big."

Coming off the field and seeing the looks and smiles on the boys' faces after their wins is the best part about these games to

Zukowski. "That's where you see all the hard work and all the preparation that they did (pay off)," Zukowski said. "Inside, they're saying to themselves, 'Yeah, it was worth it!'"

Zukowski is awaiting this, his final Bronze Shoe game before retirement, excitedly. "Rivalry games are just amazing," Zukowski said. "They make it so much fun. That's probably another one of the reasons that I kept coaching so long because I love the big games. I love the rivalry games. You can see the difference in intensity everywhere."

Another exciting thing about the rivalry games such as the Pear Bowl and the Bronze Shoe game is seeing how many people show up and get amped up for the teams.

"We've had games in the past-big rivalry games, of course, and we have to bring in portable bleachers for the visitors side," Zukowski said. "Yet people were still standing. That's why I love rivalry games."

The Cashmere boys have a big game to look forward to on Friday and hopes are high that the team will fight hard and come out on top to earn that Bronze Shoe trophy.
