Two educators with ties to Chelan Chelan City Council has charged with sexual crimes

WATERVILLE - 26-year-old Roy Figueroa was charged in Douglas County, Wednesday, August 2, with the felony charge of sexual misconduct with a minor. If convicted, Figueroa can be sentenced to a six to 12-month sentence, if not criminal record is in place for his alleged interactions with a 16-year-old student in Douglas County.

Figueroa was on staff with Chelan School District as a high school para-educator and

According to various sources, search warrants of Figueroa's and the victim's homes and cell phones resulted in the discovery of over 200 images and approximately two dozen videos which were sent before April 18 and May 4, as well as having each other listed in Snapchat accounts.

MANSON - Chelan County PUD and North Central Regional Library (NCRL) sponsored a hands-on, educational experience for children in the Manson community on Aug. 9. The Manson Public Library provided the space for Bob Bauer, with Chelan County PUD, to demonstrate electrons, how energy is transferred, and the three requirements to be able to transfer that energy: giver, object and receiver.

With the use of several educational tools, including tops, magnetics, and metallic bolts, Bauer captured the attention of the children, and provided a fun learning experience. By the end of the activities, the eager minded audience was answering questions and displayed a basic understanding of science.

Presentations on advanced meters, comprehensive plan amendments

BY ERIN ROSSELL, STAFF WRITER

CHELAN – The agenda for city council's meeting, Tuesday, August 8, covered some general subjects including requests for consideration on electrical upgrades for the golf course sheds and tree removal service at the city's maintenance shop. However, the meeting also covered a couple hot topics within the community, including Chelan County PUD's proposal for implementation of advanced meters and the Planning Commission's 2017 Comprehension Plan Amendment recommendations

Prior to the detailed slideshow presentation provided by Suzanne Hartman with Chelan County PUD, Mayor Mike Cooney addressed the board room filled with members of the community. Cooney explained the reasoning for the PUD's presentation as strictly informational "for the viewpoint of people opposing it, to fill the council in and for the PUD to start us off with the purpose." He went on to state that although hearing both sides, there would not be a debate at that time and requested that all sides remained respectful for the presentation.

Hartman began her presentation by explaining "where we are with the meters and where we have been with them in general." In 2005 and 2006 one-way analog meters were put in place on each residence, and those meters work with the water system. The analog meters, which are in place now, emit signals and require the use of "meter readers" to be able to analyze power usage levels, and are unable to communicate if

Manson Parks and Recreation discusses waterfront project

BY ERIN ROSSELL, STAFF WRITER

MANSON - Manson Parks and Recreation District gathered Thursday, August 10, for their regularly scheduled board meeting. Agenda for the monthly meeting covered financial overview and an update on the recently completed restrooms placed at Willow Point Park. A couple noteworthy topics were also discussed, including Manson Bay waterfront revitalization project and the repaying of Old Mill Park and Marina.

missioners were provided a presentational proposal from Pacific Engineering representative Kara Zupke. Included in the proposal were several options available to get the revitalization project in motion. One funding option proposed was a grant through RCO (Recreation and Conservation Office) which assists in funding for communities looking to build or improve parks, trails, boating facilities, and water access. Chelan Fire and Rescue discusses Explorer Post program, marine vessel

BY ERIN ROSSELL, STAFF WRITER

CHELAN – Chelan Fire and Rescue held their regularly scheduled monthly commissioners meeting, Wednesday, August 9, at District 7 Fire Station. General agenda covered in this month's meeting included:

• 2017 Goal and Objectives • Facilities/Apparatus and Equipment

• Emergency Response Report

• Training

Other topics covered in the meeting included Career and Volunteer Personnel, Fire Prevention, Marine Fire Response Update, and the Achilles Boat listed as a surplus item.

Assistant Fire Chief Mark Donnell spoke to personnel status, mentioned reinstatement requests from previous employees, and an "Explorer Post" volunteer program. The "mini recruit academy," Said Donnell, will be included in the school districts club program, "we're committed to making it work." The ages for eligibility for the explorer post range from 14-21 years old, however, Donnell stated that the goal is to move the explorer's in to more of a resident program once they reach 18 years old.

The Explorers will be part of the fire district, although there will be restrictions to what they can and cannot partake in. They will not be involved in any ideal aide or fire situations; however, they will be able to perform other actions including putting on bunker gear, taking hoses, and flowing water. The "mini recruits" will also be able to participate in District 7's Tuesday night drills, with some limitations in accordance with minor laws.

Fire Hazard Level

Fire Chief Tim Lemon provided an update on the fire hazard level for Chelan County, stated that the hazard level as moved to extreme, meaning absolutely no flames throughout Chelan County. While compressed gas, bar-digital meters, not only can they talk to us, but we can also talk to them." This advantage provides immediate response time to power outages, even if no one is at the residence to report it, "we don't have to wait for you to call us when there's a problem," she added.

"Chelan PUD did not jump into this," said Hartman. Between April and May, PUD representatives attended around 18 different events and meetings, and spoke to approximately 450 members of the community during those times. After revisiting community input and comments in June, PUD commissioners agreed that it was time to move forward with the project and prepare a Request For Proposal (RFP). "A RFP," explained Hartman, "helps us identify potential vendors to develop the advanced meters." With member benefits including the elimination of meter readers on property, monitoring and reduction of energy use, accuracy of readings resulting in lower costs and remote connect/disconnect, service calls, there are high selling points on the advanced meters; however, there is also a high amount of concern among community members with the increase of Radio Frequency (RF) waves that will be transmitted with the new "smart" meters. Council member Wendy Isenhart addressed this concern by asking how frequently the smart meter will be transmitting signals, "it adds up to about two minutes a day," Hartman replied. RF signals are transmitted through a majority of electronic devices already used in households today. One of the most commonly used devices that use RF signals is the cell phone, which produces somewhere around 100,000 times more RF waves than the advanced "smart" meter. As one member of the community pointed out during public comment though, these RF amounts are in addition to the frequencies we are already surrounded in, not in replacement of. Another common concern at last week's meeting was on electronic or digital privacy issues, how will the information that is being sent out be protected from "hackers"? Community member Suzanne Keller addressed her concern with the privacy issues during public comment, "Just how secure is this network going to be and what's going to happen to the data collected?" Keller asked, then added "what are they going to do with our data? PUD said it's not going to be sold or shared. That's today, what's going to happen in two (or more) years?" Hartman explained this concern on privacy and security simply stating, "It's really no different than what you have now in terms of your meter, it will not see behind your wall," then continued by describing what information is sent out from the meters, "it's sending out ones and zeroes, it's not tied to you, it's sending out data, the only time it gets tied to the customer account is once it gets behind the PUD's firewall, it will then be applied to a customer's account." There's plenty of benefits in regard to the smart meters, but with information and studies on RF effects on the

Chelan County Sheriffs Law Enforcement Agreement

The City of Chelan did not sign a new Law Enforcement Agreement with the Chelan County Sheriffs office as stated in the August 9 issue of the Lake Chelan Mirror. It was only a discussion of the terms of the agreement at their August 1 Council Workshop. The current agreement expires at the end of 2017. The City has until the end of the year to sign the new agreement.

Corrected quote from Mary Signorelli

"I really didn't know what to expect. I am very grateful for the strong show of support from our Community. Thank you!

I'm sure your question has to do with how am I feeling as a Candidate for Commissioner as I head toward the General Election. But my feelings at this time are more centered around my job currently as Chair of the Commission. I am excited about being on the hiring committee for the General Contractor, I am looking forward to our annual Strategic Retreat on August 9. Lots of duties and responsibilities to address between now and November. Having said that, as far as my campaign is concerned, I am delighted to have the opportunity to show the voters of our Hospital District-2 why they should re-elect me Commissioner, Position # 1. I am ready to put the time and energy it will take to accomplish this. I look forward to hearing from and talking with environment and health, the new technology can seem somewhat intimidating. For members of the community who are not interested in the placement of a smart meter on their residence, however, the PUD is offering an "opt out," although Hartman clarified that the opt out cannot be promised indefinitely, "it is speculative (at this point)," she said.

Concluding the advanced meter segment, Mayor Cooney offered an explanatory statement as to the objective of the presentation "this is an educational process for the council, for the staff ... I don't see this being the end road of this discussion, it will be carried on ... at a later date, if we do want to continue this conversation I'm sure the PUD will host just as they have with everything we've ever worked with them on. This is not the end of the public comment."

Comprehensive Plan

After a short break allowing the community members that attended for solely for the meter presentation to exit, Cooney commenced the next item on the agenda, 2017 comprehensive plan Airport Highway Service Commercial amendments, Waterfront Commercial Downtown Mixed Residential presented by Lisa Grueter Downtown Mixed Use owntown Public of Burk Con-Downtown Single Family Public Lands and Facilities Single Family Residential sulting. Some amendments Multi-Family Residential Special Use District made to the Tourist Accommodation existing com-Tourist Mixed Use Warehouse and Industrial prehensive plan included correct zoning abbreviations for Downtown Mixed Use (DMU) and Downtown Mixed Residential (DMR), urban growth area reductions, and housing cluster changes in the Tourist Accommodation (T-A) overlay. Planning Director Craig Gildroy introduced the presentation and summary of items to be presented. "Planning commission did walk through each of the proposals over about six plus meetings, so they really looked in depth into these and that was after receiving public comments, a lot of written comments, and the public hearing." The last opportunity for public comment will be at the next city council meeting, Tuesday, August 22, and the last day for submitting written comments, will be Wednesday, August 16, Gildroy added, then went on to address the council members, "the statutory requirement to have the comprehensive plan had proposed changes in the Future Land Use and Zoning Map provided by the planning commission, including the addition of more Multi-Family Residential (R-M) and T-A areas, expansion of DMR area downtown next to Highway Service Commercial (C-HS) area, and overlay additions to T-A on the Butte and a Live-Work zone in the area of Apple Blossom Center.

The land just north of the Apple Blossom Center had originally been zoned for Warehouse and Industrial (W-I), however the revised plan proposed this be changed to R-M, which "allows for a mix of housing and job," Grueter. Other major zoning change proposals included updating the Northshore shoreline and golf course areas from Single Family Residential (R-L) to T-A, which the exception of a small golf course area to be changed to R-M. In regard to the T-A overlay, cluster development changes were proposed to aide in the preservation of natural landscapes. tial character." Grueter then provided more input on the needs within the T-A and R-L zones stating they are "trying to figure out an appropriate balance between the flexibility and seasonal uses in the T-A, as well as the year-round need for residential housing types."

Comprehensive Plan Vision The next hot topic covered in the presentation was one included in the comprehensive plan vision- 2037, keeping Chelan's small-town charm. Building heights can be tremendously impactful on the enjoyment of the area. Grueter addressed this with proposals on minimizing that impact. Building height adjustments in the amendment provided to council included height reductions in DMU and Tourist Mixed Use (TMU) zones from 50 to 45 feet, and 10-foot height reductions in R-M, T-A, C-HS, and Waterfront Commercial (C-W) zones, limiting these zones to a maximum height of 40 feet, with the exception of C-W which proposed a maximum height of 25 feet. Another proposed change was regarding the density needs and requirements in each zone. Not all zones were specified for density in previous draft. The updated plan identifies gross density the proposed zones. per acre for each zone and includes a density for every land use destination and matched that in the zoning code. The existing Slope Density Chart would be removed, but would retain critical area regulations and add hillside development regulations on slopes greater than 30 percent, which are intended to minimize changes to natural land forms. Grueter provided clarification on what is meant by density "we are proposing a gross density system which means if the zone allowance for RL from 4 units an acre, at 10 acres, that's 40 units per acre (for example). Then you have to meet all the other city requirements for how you can place those lots. They have to fit per regulations and growth standards. It tells you how many units maximum you can have." Clustering changes were also added to the proposal, zone depending, taking in to account the natural features on the site and planning the development accordingly. Amendments and additions to water quality issues included implementation of clearing and grading regulations, and the requirement of erosion control, enforcing erosions control where it is not of natural origin, with associated amended city codes for critical areas ordinance, addressing the "best available science for geologic hazard areas" per the comprehensive plan update presentational handout.

LCCHC Board holds strategic retreat

BY GARY BÉGIN MANAGING EDITOR

CHELAN - The Lake Chelan Community Hospital and Clinics Board of Commissioners held a summer retreat at the Lake Chelan Golf Course Wednesday, August 9.

The discussions were broad in scope and not focused on any one specific issue. Financial performance, medical staff recruitment, the need for other internal resources and a variety of other subjects were discussed during the informal get together.

These other topics included the disposition of the current hospital after moving into the new facilities, an increase in emergency room (ER) care during peak summer months, measuring progress and holding staff accountable on key performance indicators and an assessment of internal strengths and vulnerabilities.

Dr. Ty Witt and other administrative staffers were in the room to facilitate comprehensive interchange of ideas including a paid facilitator from Seattle - Jody Carmona. Chief Financial Officer Vickie Bodle, Chief Operating Officer and Clinic Administrator Brad Hankins, Chief Nursing Officer Donna Strand and Human Resources Director DeLynn Barnett were all in attendance.

Strand, on her second day on the job, was recently recruited from Swedish Hospital.

Regarding improvement in the staffing of the ER, Dr. Witt said it might be possible to employ a medical student doing their residency during peak summer weekend hours.

LCCHC CEO Kevin Abel said that he understood many residencies require a stint on ER duty in order to fulfill degree requirements.

In a related area, LCCHC Board Commissioner Tom Warren said he thought the raising of $2 million for the Lake Chelan Health & Welness Foundation (formerly Lake Chelan Community Hospital Foundation) by a group promising to do so would not be possible without the hiring of a professional fund raiser.

Dr. Witt suggested that perhaps a specific project or goal for the fund raising efforts would help donators focus on what they were giving the money for. Warren and others agreed that a project, piece of equipment or the naming of a "room" would enhance efforts at attracting patrons.

New Marine Vessel

How low can you go?

BY ERIN ROSSELL, STAFF WRITER

CHELAN-Those who can call Lake Chelan home, as well as frequent vacationers, may have noticed and even commented on the low lake levels earlier this year. Kimberlee Craig, Public Information Officer with Chelan County P.U.D., answered some lingering questions last week, regarding the lake level, spill, and water runoff.

According to Craig, an average year of water flow expected from remaining snow on the mountain ranges is standardized as 100 percent runoff. This standard is an average based off 80 years of data collected from snow and runoff. What was unusual about this year? "We issue a forecast for the runoff period April 1 through July 31, and just to tell you about this year, there was a lot of concern about it being a dry year ... and our first April 1 estimate was for 106 percent ..., so that just means six percent more than average," Craig then continued by stating, "what we found was that 85 percent of the runoff happened before the end of June, which makes it an early year". With an abundance of rain, cold weather, and even some snow, the estimated runoff of 106 percent ended up being a drastically larger 130 percent runoff. "Usually we are plus or minus six percent of our original estimate" Craig said, "from 106 percent to 130 (percent) it was a lot more ... so it's just a reminder that Mother Nature really has the trump card."

Summing up the meeting,

Commissioner Russ Jones

provided an informational

update on Marine Fire Response. Jones stated that parameters for the new marine vessel were discussed on Monday, explaining that they are trying to "paint a funding sources for it." A

February 1, March 1, and April 1 Chelan County P.U.D. flies by helicopter out to four different SNOTEL sites. Although these sites automatically send out informational readings electronically, the data is manually checked to ensure the accuracy of the readings. After landing at each site, borings of snow are collected and weighed for water content. The density readings of the snow are then used to estimate the water remaining in the mountains, and the lake level is adjusted accordingly, to allow the estimated runoff room needed in the lake.

"It's counterintuitive", said Craig, "the more runoff, the lower we have to take the lake in the spring to make room for it. The dryer the year, the less we take the lake down, and we manage that both by spill and generation." The community verbalized a desire for keeping the lake levels up higher through September when prompted by Chelan County P.U.D. staff in 2006, while considering license changes for the hydro project. Craig stated that while the voices within the community hold great weight, other aspects and include a landing craft bow, jet propulsion, diesel engine, and ability to carry up to six people. "There's a boat right now (that we like), unfortunately it's up in Alaska," Jones added, "on the surplus stuff it'd be best if it's close enough for us to get a look at it first." The current river raft vessel, the Achilles Marine 71, is out of service and will be listed as a surplus item to be bid on.

factors are taken into consideration and some are a requirement with the new licensure in 2006. One of the aspects that are heavily considered, and rank over recreational activities, is the creek levels needed for fish activity, health and spawning. The runoff and spill amounts are important for the tributary creeks and natural spawning. Drawing the lake down washes out sediment buildup in the streams, preventing the buildup of sediment bars and allowing fish to swim up and spawn successfully.

OBITUARIES

Myrtle Rushing

Myrtle Rushing, 92, of Chelan, Wash., died August 8,2017.

Myrtle was born on April 22, 1925 to George and Minnie Byrd in Fayettville, Arkansas.

She finished the 8th grade, was an orchardist with her husband Gordon and enjoying gardening, doll making and

Bertha Lillian 'Peg' Gordon

Bertha Lillian "Peg" Gordon went to be with her Lord and Savior Jesus Christ August 5, 2017 in Chelan at the age of 91.

Peg was born on February 25, 1926 to Oliver R. and Bertha E. (Wagner) Fellows in Kooskia, Idaho. She was the third of 10 children. Her family moved to Chelan in 1934. It was during the Depression and her father had the promise of a job in the area.

Peg was named after her mom and her aunt. Her mother did not think the name Bertha suited such a pretty little girl, so Peg got her lifelong nickname when she was a baby.

Peg asked Jesus Christ to be her Lord and Savior when she was a young girl. She was baptized in Lake Chelan at the age of 17. She faithfully followed Christ, through life's ups and downs, for the rest of her life. Mostly they were ups!

yard saleing. She attended the Chelan Senior Center and local area churches

She is survived by Dennis Rushing, Barbara Zeller, Carmen Denton, Robin Shocky, Devra Zeller, Scott Zeller, Shane Rushing, and Kelsey Rushing.

She was preceded in death by her husband Gordon Rushing and her son Eddie Rushing. Services were held on Tuesday, August 15, 2017, at Living Stone Church. A reception followed. Viewing was at the church.

Please leave any thoughts and memories for the family at www.prechtrose.com. Services are entrusted to Precht Rose Chapel of Chelan at the Christian Church in Mansfield, Wash.

Pioneers, continuing friendships she made during her long career with GT&E.

She also worked many busy holiday weekends as a reserve police officer with the Chelan Police Department.

Peg will be sorely missed. She enjoyed people, and hospitality was a gift she excelled in. Her house hosted many meals and was a place to stay for traveling friends and family. She offered an open door and heart, a quick smile and much laughter, a fresh pot of coffee, and lively conversation interspersed with the clicking of knitting needles. She fashioned sweaters, hats, socks, mittens, all handed out to friends and family. If her hands weren't busy, she wasn't happy. In later years, she acquired several spinning wheels and learned the art of yarn making through workshops and classes.

Peg is survived by her sons John (Beth) and George "Dick" (Taina) of Chelan, plus seven grandchildren (Evelynne, Clayton, Kenneth, Abigail, Jim, Mikko, and Will) and four great-grandchildren. Peg is also survived by her brothers Donald, Gorden, Ernest, and Alvin. She was preceded in death by her husband Doc, her infant sister Judith May Fellows, brothers Rawlin, Vernon, and Virgil, and her sister Esther.

Simple solutions: New laws require a new Congress

I don't have all the answers, but no one human does. So here's the plan: Allow unlimited immigration to the United States with the caveat that all males and females immediately enlist in the military, branch of their choice, as a price for admission. Once they serve a four year contract, which automatically includes overseas deployment, they get their citizenship.

This plan also ensures that they learn a skill and English in the military, if necessary, as well as learn to save and invest money so that when they leave the military they do not immediately go on welfare.

Of course they have the option of reenlisting.

That's it. Simple, but there are these inherent problems: 1) The modern military does not want high school drop outs. 2) Today's military does not take drug addicts or alcoholics. 3) The military has height, weight and other physical requirements that many immigrants cannot meet. 4) No criminals allowed. So how many of these immigrants will have a clean background check? 5) Age limits. I think 29-years-old is the maximum and I believe 17-years-old with parental permission is the minimum. So even more immigrants will be eliminated.

Basically all the above issues make my simple answer untenable. Alas, simplicity is the boilerplate of most plans. They just don't see the forest for the trees. Simple answers just aren't answers at all, but a way to justify naive actions. At least that's how it may appear.

Political action by sound bites or bumper stickers, tweets, Facebook or other quick solutions are not solutions at all. So what do they represent? In my simple mind, simple answers represent more of a general philosophy than an actual game plan with step-by-step actions taken to achieve a specific goal.

Donald Trump won the presidency because he made many vague promises similar to my immigration/military plan above. The difference is he now has to make things happens and keep at least some of his promises.

I honestly believe more and more Democrats and Republicans ought to resign as independents for the U.S. Senate and for Congress.

The reason is simple, just like Trump's campaign promises. America needs dedicated independent thinkers and doers, not the same old, same old political hacks that have infested Washington, D.C., for the last 50 years.

We need new thinkers with new plans and bold ideas. If a man or woman tries to run as a Dem or GOP then they are dooming themselves to becoming slavishly fettered to whatever status quo platform the party apparatus has been adhering to for generations and that hasn't worked out too well.

Americans chose Trump as a means to an end - the changing of the status quo, not the continuation of it. Steve Bannon, Trumps "Rasputin," stated he wanted to destroy their party positions and run the government as we know it. We may not be ready for this extreme plan, but at least we should be ready to elect a few more brave souls with enough fight within them to effect real change.

> Some argue, as I have done myself, that the only way to change a political party is to become a member of it and change it from within. This logic also assumes the element of change gets to vote for a fellow change agent during the primaries.

We, as an electorate, must therefore encourage persons with this "change element" mentality to run in primaries in order for the theory to hold water, but how many party bosses will even allow holders of "radical" ideas to be allowed on the ballot?

Another negative factor about simply quitting the party you now belong to is that candidates running as independents rarely get elected. Third party candidates get votes, but they are almost a waste of time except for the "protest" value inherent in the act of voting against the status quo.

I am in favor of term limits and, barring that, I'm in favor of more and more so-called third party candidates at least giving the election process the "old college try."

Men, woman - agents of change - your nation needs you. A change maker like Trump will never succeed unless Congress has a working majority of newly elected change agents to make sure his agenda realizes fruition.

Yes, it is that simple. Stop voting the party line and give some new blood a try.

If it doesn't work out, then it will be just like it is now, so what have we got to lose?

Would somebody wake up Mitch

Too many years in the Senate and Speaker Mitch McConnell doesn't seem to recognize the American public has grown impatient. Recently he told a local Rotary club that President Trump "had excessive expectations about how quickly things happen in the democratic process."

Seriously?

We just went through an historic election. None of the good old boys expected Trump to win.

News flash Senator McConnell. The American people are tired of your do nothing Congress. They elected a guy well known for his ability to fire people in an attempt to disrupt the morass in Washington.

Republicans have claimed for years that given the chance they would address the problems in DC. But in Trump's first six months they have demonstrated their love for the status quo.

It is clear that little is going to change until the biggest alligators in the swamp are removed. McConnell needs to go. His time has run out.

Obamacare has already failed. Our tax system is broken and needs to be scrapped. Our immigration policies are a disaster. Over regulation is stifling small business creativity and innovation.

Decades of feel good liberal entitlement programs are bankrupting our country and dividing our citizens.

The media has demonstrated their inability to offer serious analysis that can help us all understand the complex issues facing us. Instead they have turned their newscasts into emotional sound bytes intended to draw an audience to support their overpriced advertising.

The President can't actually fire McConnell. And it is pretty clear the entrenched bureaucracy is doing everything they can to disrupt and delay President Trump and his agenda.

If we really want to change the do nothing status quo that Washington has become, we must come together and demand the old guard be removed.

Unfortunately, here in Washington state we are burdened with a liberal political majority that want to expand their failed policies dividing us further between the rich and the poor. The producers and the takers.

If you want to examine the true intentions of the left then look no further than their oldest entitlement program - social security. No one can retire on the paltry sum they will receive from social security and that paltry sum is clearly not secure.

Several economists have examined the issue of taxes paid during an average persons work life versus the benefit received from social security and concluded the benefit received is less than the contributions.

And if you don't live to the average life expectancy the government keeps your unclaimed benefits.

It may be difficult but we as citizens must demand that our elected representatives begin to address the problems we face. Democrats need to be held accountable for their stonewalling. They lost. It's over so they can do their job and work with the President. Send a letter to your Congressional representatives today and demand that McConnell step down and that they work in a positive and collaborative way to serve the American people.

CHELAN - Hospital Guild Y's summer fundraiser, the No Sweat Tennis Tournament, was an exciting, successful event. The funds raised will be used to support Lake Chelan Community Hospital which is the main focus of the Guild.

The children's Tennis the Menace League was won by Dahlia Soderstrom, 6 - 0, 6 - 0. The Big Hitters League for teenagers was won by Cara Quale who narrowly defeated heavy-men's league. Kevin Abel won first place in the One Stroke Division for ages 40 to 59, in a very close match with Dave Clouse. The match between Al Marcear and Steve Maloof was a close one, but Steve Maloof prevailed and won the trophy in the Get A Grip Division for mature male players.

In the Racq Pacq League for mixed doubles, 16 teams entered competition. Ron Hart and Pat Kelly had to hit some strong returns to win the match against Cindy Marcear and Lorraine Goulet who are fierce
