Bear Mountain Water District to hear all complaints before making decision

Decision may not come till May

By Zach Johnson Staff writer

CHELAN - There are intense meetings, and then there was the Bear Mountain Water District public hearing.

If you happened to squeeze your way into the standing-room only pavilion at Tsillan Cellars around 1 p.m. on Wednesday, March 29, you certainly would have sensed the frustration that was shared among the 60 plus property owners that were in attendance.

The motive behind all the displeasure was a formation of a Utility Local Improvement District (ULID) that would help bring fire flow to parcels around the Bear Mountain Golf Course, Hawks Meadow and the lakefront properties that run along SR 97A from Tsillan Cellars to Pat & Mikes. The formation of the ULID - which is split into two now after recently being shut down by Hawks Meadow annexed the lakefront property owners in February, effectively putting them on the hook for around $2.1 million of the total $2.6 million project.

As you would imagine, this ruffled the feathers of a few homeowners.

By Zach Johnson Staff writer

CHELAN - After months of going tit-for-tat, the 'Citizens for a New Hospital' and the 'Vote No' Committee met last Thursday, March 30 to present their side of the argument of the proposed $44.5 million hospital at Apple Blossom Center.

The forum came at an opportune time as the vote is set to take place on April 25. If approved, the public would facilitate $20 million of the total bill through an increase in property taxes of residents in the hospital district. The Lake Chelan Community Hospital and Clinic (LCCHC) is covering the remaining $24.5 million.

Representing the New Hospital group were Ty
Witt, MD, Megan Guffey, MD, Keri Bergeson, MD and Guy Evans. Mike Sherer was the lone spokesman for the 'vote no' side.

The event was run as a traditional debate, with both sides beginning with an opening, then transitioning into rebuttals before finishing with a question and answer - where each side could respond to the question - from the attendees.

Evans and Bergeson set the stage by giving a brief summary of the intent and reason for voting in favor of a new hospital.

CHELAN - Get ready for traffic delays and the soothing sounds of heavy construction equipment ringing across the Chelan Valley this summer as the Washington State Department of Transportation has three projects on tap.

WSDOT held two open houses on March 28 and 29 last week in Chelan and Manson to explain all three.

• No See Um

"The contract has been awarded and I expect it to get executed this week," Project Engineer Kevin Waligorski stated at the Chelan City Council meeting after the Chelan open house on the 28th. "So it should start within three weeks, and the contractor is interested in getting this project going early and getting as much work done as possible before Memorial Day."

Waligorski explained that the project will be done in three phases and is hopeful the project will be completed by Thanksgiving. "The first stage is to update the water and sewer from Don Morse Park to the project and to build the shoofly detour for cars to use around the project," Waligorski said. "That work we'll have single lane control so there will be some delays, but once we get to phase two, we will get traffic moving on the detour road."

The side streets, Golf Course Road and No See Um, will also be used in phases as Golf Course Road will be closed during the first stage and then No See Um will be closed in the next two phases until the project is complete.

In addition to the No See-Um Roundabout, WSDOT will be paving from the Chelan Safeway out to Manson, while skipping the No See-Um section.

"We have a little piece in town and then we'll jump across and continue out to Manson," Waligorski said. "That project is awarded and executed, Central Washington Paving is our contractor and for the need for a new hospital." Evans began in his opening Thursday night. "To be clear, if you were to vote yes, you are voting to maintain current services. It is going to be about $10 per month of increased support for a $300,000 home and you would be adopting a vision that is pragmatically optimistic. This is the most wise option to take in light of the needs."

"All of that is important, we genuinely want you to vote yes with confidence," Bergeson said. "As a physician, I don't want us to lose the real heart of this, and this is about healthcare for families, neighbors and loved ones. I'm tired of having to make excuses and apologize to patients why they didn't have the experience they deserve, and it is always related to the limitation of the facility."

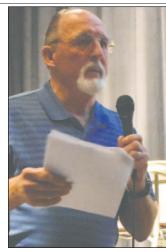

Bergeson insisted that although the 'vote no' side would be preaching a remodel, that in actuality the cheaper option would be a new hospital. Referencing the Healthcare Collaborative analysis in November that stated a remodel project would be in the ballpark of $50+ million.

"A vote no means that we are going to make fixes to basic stuff, but not to patient care needs, and to me, this is about the patient," Bergeson pleaded with the crowd.

Bergeson also mentioned that a residency program with the University of Washington - where medical students would come to LCCHC and shadow for two years for an apprenticeship - would only go forward with a new building.

Arlene Abbott

Sherer articulated that his

group had three arguments against the new facility: vision, ethics and revenues.

"The vision is wrong, we don't want massive new debt, and we want to fix the hospital we have," Sherer started with in his introduction. "We think we should stabilize and ship critical patients to a larger facility."

"The current commissioners have failed the taxpayers for over 20 years," Sherer continued. "They have failed to perform maintenance on the current hospital and have failed to listen to the will of the people. On the revenue end this is neither the time nor the project for this community.'

To back up his theory, Sherer presented a timeline following a 2005 seismic and facility inspection report where the highest rating was a marginal in all areas. Sherer said that since then there has been little renovation of the hospital, although the first levy in 2007 was to do just that. After the initial bond voted down, the Hospital purchased land at Apple Blossom Center and tried two more levy bonds, but both failed to receive the needed 60 percent supermajority.

"Since that time (2007) there has been little to nothing done to address those issues, and it has degraded further over the course of the past 12 years," Sherer stated.

In a rebuttal, Guffed worked at decimating Sherer's assertion.

"If you were a commissioner, if there were two things or maybe three or four, you would say, maybe we can fix it, but when the entire list needs to be fixed, I think you look at that and say we need a new hospital," Guffey pointed out. "We went out to the community (after the first bond fail in 2007) and they told us there is no point to spend money on the current building. They (Sherer and 'vote no committee') neglect to tell you that when they talk about their timeline.'

Sherer insisted that a 'can-do' attitude would solve the issue and that it could be fixed for a lot less than estimated.

Both groups then answered questions chosen from the audience.

Where would money come from for a remodel?

'They (the hospital) are happy to tell you they are flush, if that is true they can use revenues to help do that," Sherer responded. "It all starts with a can-do attitude, perhaps even volunteers. I happen to have a

32,000 pound excavator and if they were moving dirt I would be happy to let them use it for free, I'm sure other contractors would be happy to contribute that as well, so there are a lot of ways the community can help.'

"Thank you for the offer, and if that stays open on the bond we can reduce our loan at the new site as well if you guys would offer to help," Witt interjected, and was met with a resounding applause from the audience. "If there are any volunteers out there, we can reduce it."

• If the hospital defaulted on their loan will that debt be passed on to taxpayers?

"It won't," Witt stated with confidence. "There would have to be a restructure or they would stretch it out further. The government would figure out a way to make the loan solvable and not back to the taxpayers."

Sherer refuted that statement and asserted the community would be held 'hostage' if the hospital forecloses for any reason and would have to step up to the plate to provide the extra money to cover the loan.

• How do you respond to older, poorer residents who might not have the ability or means to make it down to Wenatchee versus a new facility in Chelan?

"We have to evaluate what services we will provide so we are viable for the future," Sherer calmly suggested. "Some things we won't be able to do, but think about the attitude people have that live in Stehekin, or Wintrow or Mansfield, you realize that it would be awhile before you could receive care. If you want a Harborview next door, then you better move to Seattle."

"We are not trying to be Harborview," Bergeson said in a response to Sherer. "We are on the ropes right now. Just to get up to code in order to practice modern medicine, we are talking $12 million. The CT-Scanner barely fits in the room it is in and we have a variance from the Department of Health (DOH) in order to have it. They aren't getting smaller, so the next one we get is going to be bigger, we need more space. Medicine was not practiced the same when that building was built."

• How do you respond to the folks that are on fixed incomes and any increase in taxes means a reduction in life, medication and necessities?

"We actually understand that and it is a touchy point," Witt paused before continuing, "it was important to make it fair and for the hospital to carry as much as we can, and $22 million is what we were told is the safest number to pay back the debt. Unfortunately, the rest would be public, but when you use the hospital you can bring in your tax statement and our billing will credit you off the bill, so that money will come directly back to you."

"If you are aging, $.38 is a good deal not to drive 45 minutes for a CT-Scan, or to take days off of work in order to visit loved ones," Bergeson stated. "The money you save by keeping resources close to home is important."

In the closing argument, Witt piggybacked off the theme of Sherer's presentation, and thanked him for bringing it to his attention that the hospital already has a can-do attitude.

"I believe that our people and staff already have which is why we have been able to make things work and deliver great care for this long in the facility we have," Witt said, causing the audience to applause. "Come out and vote."

Sherer reiterated his message from the opening statement: maintain the old hospital, stabilize and ship critical cases, get new leadership that has a can-do attitude toward fixing the old facility.

The vote for a new hospital is on April 25 and ballots will be mailed this Friday, April 7.

One of them (Jeff Sorensen) even hired attorney Chuck Zimmerman to help represent the lakefront property owners.

"I have been able to determine that the owners of this big large area (referring to Bear Mountain) annexed the big property owners plus the strip along the lake so they had 60 percent of the landmass," Zimmerman said last Friday. "They did it legally, it's just really slick. So now what property owners will have to do is petition the district to get removed from the district, and that process will take several months. I doubt they will take us out, they are relying on my clients to pay for their water system."

Zimmerman - who stated he has worked on several ULID's in the past - said that in 30 years of practicing law he had never

"They don't have to make a decision, so they can wait as long as necessary, but the earliest they could address it is at their April 19 meeting," Peterson said with confidence. Peterson sees ZImmerman and his clients issues as more 'procedural issues' which can be touched up.

"Those are easy to fix with a do-over, and sending out a new notice and basically restarting," Peterson insisted. "Although not necessarily for frontage owners. The board has yet to read all of the objections and I still have to digest it."

Zimmerman was surprised when, amongst what seemed like heavy and clear opposition, the Board of Commissioners didn't vote down the ULID.

Gladys Beatrice Parsons, 105, passed away on Saturday, March 25, 2017 at Mc-Kay Healthcare in Soap Lake, Wash. She was born to Cyrus and Hattie Holder in Lake Chelan on June 9, 1911. The family moved to Lake Stevens where she grew up and graduated from High School. During high school she met Carl Parsons after he moved over from Minnesota and went to her church. It was love at first sight. The two wanted to be married right away, and her mom told her "you will be turning 18 soon, so we will see". Gladys had thoughts of her own and on her 18th birthday Carl and Gladys were married.

Gladys enjoyed free hand painting, oil painting, and singing in choir. She was a professional seamstress and sewed wedding dresses for her daughter-in-law and two daughters. Gladys and Carl helped found the church at Manson, and she has always been part of a church. Usually, a nondenominational, Baptist, or Nazerene. For their 70th wedding anniversary, the happy couple was able to travel back to Branson, Missouri.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Asking for your support on the hospital bond

Dear Citizens of the Chelan Valley,

I am writing to ask for your support on the upcoming hospital bond on April 25. Eight years ago, my family and I had the fortunate opportunity to move to beautiful Lake Chelan. During my career search, we interviewed with several other rural communities throughout the Northwest. Unfortunately, many of these towns were struggling to survive. We were ecstatic to find a community such as Chelan that was growing and investing in its future.

During my training, I have had the opportunity to work in many different hospital facilities. These range from 10 bed acute care rural hospitals in Colorado and Nebraska to level 1 trauma centers in Seattle. Throughout my time at LCCH, I have become aware of the current facility's shortcomings.

Our current building lacks the space, privacy and infrastructure necessary to care for patients appropriately. The quality of care we are able to provide is truly being limited by our current facility.

An embarrassing example of this is that during a cold spell this winter, we were literally unable to run the operating room equipment and heat the facility at the same time. Patients sat shivering in the preoperative area just hoping that we would not cancel their scheduled surgeries while staff members ran about the building turning off unneeded equipment.

It is grossly apparent that something needs to be done and soon.

A lot of time, money, community input, and effort by the commissioners and administrators have gone into developing an action plan.

After reviewing the studies, it appears that building a new facility rather than remodeling and expanding the current one would be the most cost effective approach.

There is no doubt that our current facility has served us well for many years. However, our community is growing and its needs are changing. I encourage everyone to research the facts and attend an upcoming public forum. Additional information is available at LakeChelanHospital.com under the facility reports tab.

Please help invest in the future of our community and its healthcare needs by voting yes on April 25.

Sincerely,

Tobe Harberd, MD Chelan

Health care question

The Swamp is a cute name for, I'm not sure what, but I like the visual it generates about Washington D.C. However, let's get to the point, first, Obamacare is nothing more than RomneyCare gone Federal. Second, at a minimum, the GOP has had from 2010-2017, adequate time to draft a healthcare bill that would deflate and repeal and replace the current ACA, one would think.

The House of Representatives failed in that effort.

The current failure does not suggest that no work has been done by some segment of the GOP to offer a package. What's missing in all the noise is the fundamental difference between the GOP's sides.

That important difference can be simply explained, were one to examine the details and exempt the political party nonsense that covers things.

If I may, here is the major difference: 1. Romney Care is a state program. 2. Obama Care is a Federal Government program, a law that requires all 50 states to comply.

The GOP is currently (and perhaps for the past 10 to 12 yrs) in the mess of trying to decide who leads the party: a. the State's Rights purists, or 2. the Federalists who would not have joined the fight in 1864 against Slavery Ownership Rights by individual states.

Like it or not, this is the fundamental question about healthcare; is healthcare a Federal Govt. supported/provided benefit of citizenry, or is it a service provided or not by each State's opinion in the legislative offices?

As I read your tripe (and yes, that is a throw-away fish), I see you too fail to come to grips with this point. So, let me ask you directly: Bill do you favor a federal or a state level of law in the matter of health care for all Americans? Both sides are legitimate Constitutionally, and both sides have value as well as flaws... there is no perfect solution for issues of such magnitude.

I mean no insult or injury when I ask the question; neither do I intend to open up a different debate. All I'm looking for here is an honest answer. Do you support: A. State's rights for providing healthcare support/insurance, or B. Federal govt. rights to provide healthcare to the citizens of the nation?

Before you ask: I favor, strongly, a single payer, federal system that trumps (no pun intended) all private insurance claims, just to keep you on target to answering my question.

In the federal sense, it is this question nationally that must be answered and it too should be decided whether the nation needs a Romney solution, aka State decided, or an Obama solution, a national solution from the federal government.

If you're interested, I too favor the replacement of Obamacare; I want a single-payer, Federal insurance program for all citizens in all 50 states. I'm confident that were President Lincoln alive in today's health insurance market he too, as an ardent member of the old GOP would take my side in this debate.

Where do you stand? And by the way, if your view is the other side of the debate... that's terrific. Now we have a substantive debate issue, without name-calling and ranting. What's required is for the house and the senate to also come to grips with the basic question and hammer out a solution that makes the majority happy. Isn't that what our government is all about? The majority decides? And, the majority should be the voters, not the insurance companies, the pharama giants, etc. It should be the registered citizen voters, not the dollars of others.

Alex Saliby Leavenworth

Publisher's response: Short answer – I want a free market solution with minimal involvement from the government. Competition and ingenuity will produce better results than a one size fits all government mandate whether that is mandated by the states or the federal is irrelevant.

Difficult issues require serious debate

A few individuals wrote to me this week threatening to cancel their subscriptions because we had an advertisement in the newspaper opposing Planned Parenthood. One writer said she did not want this kind of "political propaganda" in her local newspaper.

There are a couple of serious issues here.

First, advertisements are what pay for the newspaper. Subscription revenue would never be enough to pay for the cost of publishing a newspaper. So, the economic reality is without advertising revenue the price of the newspaper would be prohibitively

Second, paid subscribers are what drive advertising rates. The more paid subscribers the more advertisers are willing to pay for their advertising. In other words, the more that advertisers are willing to pay for an ad the lower the subscription rate.

It's a symbiotic relationship that is somewhat akin to dancing with a cobra.

Third, newspapers are not vouching for an advertiser when they run an ad. It is up to the consumer to decide if the advertisers message is true or "propaganda."

Finally, it is important to recognize that our founding fathers recognized the importance a free and unfettered press. It is a core American principle that our democracy cannot be sustained without an open and sometimes difficult exchange of conflicting ideas.

Even as the publisher of a small local newspaper, I take the challenge of being a forum for public discourse seriously. Many of my local critics have challenged me over the years because of my clearly conservative views.

That said, I have never denied those with a more liberal or progressive point of view their opportunity to express their contrary viewpoint. In the early days, I often took the opportunity to respond to letters submitted by readers thinking that might add to the debate. I soon found out, however, that most letter writers did not want a debate. They simply want to register their opinion on an issue.

The bottom line here is that the "anti-Planned Parenthood" group was willing to pay for the opportunity to express their opinion. The "pro-Planned Parenthood" folks have the same opportunity.

This newspaper does not endorse either view. What we do believe is issues of a public nature require a forum for open expression. Historically this forum has been our free press. You might not always like what you read in the pages of your local newspaper but real democracy requires all citizens to keep informed of the issues confronting us.

Our country is clearly at a crossroads. Making the choice of which way our country should go requires open and honest discussion of the differences that keep us apart. Choosing to ignore those we disagree with because their opinion offends us is not going to insure we ultimately choose the right road.

U.S. Running out of places to borrow

By Antony Davies and James R. Harrigan

As the federal debt has gone from astounding to unbelievable to incomprehensible, a new problem has emerged: The US government is actually running out of places to borrow.

The $20 trillion debt is already twice the annual revenues collected by all the world's governments combined. Including unfunded liabilities, though, which include promised Social Security, Medicare, and government pension payments that Washington will not have the money to pay, the federal government actually owes somewhere between $100 trillion and $200 trillion. The numbers are so ridiculously large that even the uncertainty in the figures exceeds the annual economic output of the entire planet.

Since 2000, the federal debt has grown at an average annual rate of 8.2 percent, doubling from $10 trillion to $20 trillion in the past eight years alone. Who loaned the government this money? Four groups: foreigners, Americans, the Federal Reserve, and government trust funds. But over the past decade, three of these groups have cut back significantly on their lending.

Foreign investors have slowed the growth in their lending from over 20 percent per year in the early 2000's to less than 3 percent per year today. Excluding the Great Recession years, American investors have been cutting back on how much they lend the federal government by an average of 2 percent each year. Social Security, though, presents an even bigger problem. The federal government borrowed all the Social Security surpluses of the past 80 years. But starting this year, and continuing either forever or until Congress overhauls the program (which may be the same thing), Social Security will only generate deficits. Not only is the government no longer able to borrow from Social Security, it will have to start paying back what it owes - assuming the government plans on making good on its obligations.

With federal borrowing growing at more than 6 percent per year, with foreign and American investors becoming more reluctant to lend, and with the Social Security trust fund drying up, the Fed is the only game left in town. Since 2001, the Fed has increased its lending to the federal government by over 11 percent each year, on average. Expect that trend to continue.

For decades, often in word but always in deed, politicians have told voters that government debt didn't matter. We, and many economists, disagree. Yet even if the politicians were right, the absence of available creditors would be an insurmountable problem - were it not for the Federal Reserve. But when the Federal Reserve acts as the lender of last resort, unpleasant realities follow. Because, as everyone should be keenly aware, the Fed simply prints the money it loans.

A Fed loan devalues every dollar already in circulation, from those in people's savings accounts to those in their pockets. The result is inflation, which is, in essence, a tax on frugal savers to fund a spendthrift government.

Since the end of World War II, inflation in the US has averaged less than 4 percent per year. When the Fed starts printing money in earnest because the government can't obtain loans elsewhere, inflation will rise dramatically. How far is difficult to say, but we have some recent examples of countries that tried to finance runaway government spending by printing money. From 1975 to 1990, the Greek people suffered 15 percent annual inflation as their government printed money to finance stimulus spending. Following the breakup of the Soviet Union in the 1990s, Russia printed money to keep its government running. The result was five years over which inflation averaged 750 percent. Today, Venezuela's government prints money to pay its bills, causing 200 percent inflation which the International Monetary Fund expects to skyrocket to 1,600 percent this year.

For nearly a century, politicians have treated deficit spending as a magic wand.

In a recession? We need jobs, so government must spend more money! In an expansion? There's more tax revenue, so government can spend more money! Always and everywhere, politicians argued only about how much to increase spending, never whether to increase spending. A century of this has left us with a debt so large that it dwarfs the annual economic output of the planet. And now we are coming to the point at which there will be no one left from whom to borrow. When creditors finally disappear completely, all that will remain is a reckoning.

Jim O'Connor, Portland-based USGS hydrologist, will discuss "The Bonneville Flood – A Veritable Debacle." 18,000 years ago, at Red Rock Pass in eastern Idaho, unconsolidated materials gave way to sudden overflow of Glacial Lake Bonneville. One of the largest floods on earth, the Bonneville Flood was a catastrophic outburst, with discharges lasting a year or more. GK Gilbert first discovered the flood in the 1870s while looking for the outlet of an inland sea that had cut prominent ancient shorelines above Great Salt Lake. His explorations led him to that spillway. Flooding carved canyons, cataract complexes, and built massive boulder bars, all of which help interpret megaflood processes and model hydrodynamics and landscape analysis today. The program is free and open to the public.

Kiss a goat charity raises $90 for Manson student Chelan Ag Education

SUBMITTED BY, DAMON SMITH, MANSON HIGH SCHOOL

On Friday, Feb. 24 the Manson FFA participated in National FFA week. The students participated in a kiss the goat charity.

Manson Teachers would volunteer themselves to have a jar with their name and face on it, and through the week if a student wanted them to kiss a goat they donated money.

At the end of it all the winners were Mrs. Koth and Mrs. Carlton. All the money that was raised went to Esteban Escoto who is battling cancer. Manson FFA raised a total of one hundred and ninety dollars in total thank you for all of your support and to the students that donated.

Chelan FFA Advisor, Rod Cool, assembled teams from Chelan, Manson, and Pateros FFA chapters, along with some of the Chelan FFA Alumni, to ease financial pressures on friend and colleague, Chelan High School teacher, Mike Curry. Due to health issues, Curry took early retirement from his teaching position last year and is currently undergoing dialysis multiple times a week. The desire to help prompted FFA advisor, officers, and members to take action. Chelan FFA officers proposed the idea of a game of Donkeyball, and with a goal focused on helping raise funds to offset medical expenses for Curry and his family, local FFA chapters and Donkey Sports, Inc. out of Entiat, Wash., came together for a night loaded with fun and laughter.

With fans and supporters of all ages in the stands, teams of FFA chapters went head to head (or donkey to donkey) in the slower paced basketball game. Don't be fooled by the slower pace of the game however, there was plenty of excitement and entertainment packed into the gym for this cause worthy event.

CHELAN - A sure sign that spring has arrived is beautiful blooms and busy kids in the Chelan Agriculture Education Department Greenhouse. Even though the snow just left the valley floor and still remains on the protected ridges and draws up the sides of the Lake Chelan Valley.

The gorgeous colors popping out inside of the Chelan High School Greenhouse let us know that spring is here. The bedding plants and vegetable starts will be available at the Annual Spring Plant Sale on Saturday, April 29, from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. The bedding plants are starting through there first blooming cycle, the peppers and herbs have been out of the ground for couple of weeks. The 10 varieties of both heirloom and hybrid tomatoes are being planted this week and the other starts will get planted the week after spring break all to be just right for the Annual Spring Plant Sale.

FFA members enrolled in the Agriscience and Biological Systems II course are responsible for planting, tending, and selling this year's greenhouse plant crop.

Entiat, Manson, Chelan compete in first big track meet of season

By Zach Johnson STAFF WRITER

MANSON - It might have been a little breezy, but the sun was shining and it was a good day for a track meet.

In one of the first big meets of the season, athletes from Cascade, Entiat and Chelan traveled up to Manson to compete in an all around event.

Entiat

"We were really happy with the times and distances the kids put up so early in the season," Entiat head coach Julie Cannon said after the meet. "We have been doing a lot of conditioning and strength building work which in the shorter haul can result in slower times and shorter distances because the kids are tired and sore. So to see them do so well was exiting."

One of the highlights for the Tigers was Ronnie Parks, who had a high jump of 5'10". Allison Haynes and Grace Giacomazzi also combined to sweep the girls throwing events and Natalya Paz won both hurdle races.

"We need to work on our relay exchanges, but we are going to continue to work on building endurance and strength to refine our techniques," Cannon stated. "We are starting to figure out where everybody fits so we can get more specific work in on the areas the kids will excel."

Chelan

"We had some good times in our meet, although the wind did help our times and I know that it also affected our jumping abilities," Chelan head coach Erik Romero said.

The Goats excelled at their running events on Thursday. The top three at each event

Dillon Novich, 11.35, 24.10, Donny Watson, 11.89, 24.63 and Caleb Dodge 11.92, 24.82 (guys 100m and 200m).

Ava Dickes, 13.20, Rebecca Ediger, 13.84 and Fleur Brown, 13.99 rounded out the top three in the girls 100m and Dickes, 27.64 Molly Oswald, 28.48 and Rosa Lopez, 29.03 finished in Chelan's top three at the girls 200m.

"With only two full weeks under out belt outside of training, I would say that we are happy with these times," coach Romero said after the meet. "We had some girls with good times as well and I hope that with a free weekend they will continue to take and have some rest."

For distance, Mereck Palazzo ran the 1600m in a time of 4:38.92. Dillon Dawson ran the 800m in 2:04.97 and Christopher Knight ran the 3200m in a time of 11:13.20. On the girls side, Olivia Nygreen took first in the 1600m with a time of 6:28.27 and Allie Barnes finished the 800m with a time

The Goats also had some standouts in the field events as Sterling Gordon through the javelin for a personal best 179 feet. Kevin Cazares hurled the discus 95 feet 6 inches and Gordon set a team high 19 feet four inches in the long jump.

"We had a good time at the meet in Manson, and I know that we are behind a little when it comes to training outside, but that will not stop our coaching staff from having our kids ready for the end of the year," coach Romero concluded in his meet report.

Manson

After the meet, coach Kurt Toolson broke down the days action in a few highlights:

"Spencer Ward won the 200m, 4x100 and 4x400 relays and also placed in second in the 100m dash," Toolson wrote in his meet report. "The significance was that both the 200 and 100 times tied existing school records."

Mason Cameron won the shot put, discus and placed second in the javelin. Mason Walters placed second in the high jump and third in the long jump and Maddee Ward won the girls shot put and placed second in the discus. Julia Sanchez got second in javelin and Alyssa LaMar got third.

"I think every athlete who participated set a personal best in one event or another, so there are a lot of things to feel good about all the way around," Toolson wrote. "I also want to send out a sincere thank you to all the volunteers who helped out, including the Manson baseball team. There were well over 30 volunteers who spend four to five hours to help us out."

All three schools will enjoy a restful spring break before getting back to practice next

Goats tennis team squeaks by Cascade

By Zach Johnson Staff writer

CHELAN - The Goats tennis team - although good - were fortunate to get a win against Cascade this past week according the head coach Marty Rothlisberger.

"We felt fortunate to get the win on the girls side because we were missing two key players and Cascade has been the CTL champs the past three seasons," Rothlisberger wrote after the game. "It turned out that Cascade was also missing two key players, and we were able to beat them with depth."

Although a little shorthanded, Rothlisberger felt there were some newcomers that served as key contributors.

"Alex Gavin had just won a challenge match to earn a varsity spot and we gave him the opportunity to play singles," Rothlisberger said. "He played the most consistent tennis I've ever seen him play. Also, Azzia MacDonald (rookie) and Sky Zelenko filled in for our missing varsity veterans and pulled off an impressive comeback victory."

Despite the win, Rothlisberger was adamant in saying that the season is still early and although they are a pretty good team, "we need to improve at everything."

Let's hope the Goats are using their spring break to practice and hone in their tennis skills before getting into the tournaments later in the year.

Top Left moving clockwise: Alex Gavin gets his serve warmed up before beginning his singles match. Coach Rothlisberger stated after the match that he had never seen Gavin play as consistent of tennis as he had last Tuesday against Cascade. Gavin will look to become a consistent force for Chelan to use in their singles matches.

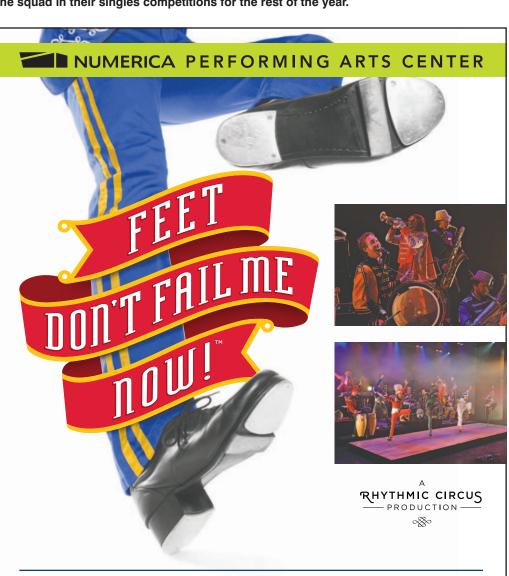

Top Right: Rookie Azzia MacDonald gets ready to serve with her partner Sky Zelenko. Both ended up filling in for missing players and player admirably after pulling off a remarkable comeback victory over their Cascade counterparts.

Right: Syd Hawkins's racket falls just short of connecting with the tennis ball, resulting in an ace for the Cascade doubles team they were facing.

Manson struggles to plate anything against Tonasket

By Zach Johnson Staff writer

CHELAN - If you were looking for offense at either of the Manson softball or baseball games this past weekend at Mt. Goat field, you came to the wrong place. Unless of course you were a Tonasket fan.

In four games, both the softball and baseball teams were outscored by a total of 77-0.

• Softball

"The Lady Trojans hosted their first home games of the season on Chelan's field," head coach Kendra Farnsworth said after the game. "We were missing four key starters, which had a big impact on the games. Nevertheless, the girls that were there really stepped up. We had girls playing in positions they've never been in before and it took some time, but they learned what to do."

The overall lack of experience at each position was evident in the mass of errors and miscommunication in the first game. Offensively, the girls struggled to make solid contact against the Tonasket pitcher. The eventual final score of the first game was 32-0.

Manson got a better result in the second game - although they lost 17-0 - as three girls all reached base from either walks or drop third strikes. "The girls were aggressive on the bases and able to advance to third on passed balls, but we weren't able to get across the plate," Farnsworth wrote in her game report.

As the season wears on, the Trojans will look to improve as each game progresses.

Baseball

The Trojan baseball team was also forced to play at Mt. Goat field do to the lingering poor field conditions at their home park at Singleton.

Defensive woes plagued the Trojans as they racked up dive errors on the day. Although one highlight of the day came when senior Mason Cameron made a nice catch in right field.

"Cameron is playing in his first baseball season since eighth grade, and has shown true grit and an outstanding determination to compete, work hard in practice and contribute to the team," head coach Bill Thompson wrote in his game report.

Offensively, Manson could not get anything going against the Tonasket pitcher, as they struck out 11 times and only managed one hit off the bat of junior Zach Serafini.

The second game saw much of the same for the Trojans. They made three more costly defensive errors and labored to get any offensive runners. Manson lost by a final score of 16-0.

Like the softball team, the Manson baseball squad will look to use their spring break to improve on their fundamentals before progressing in the season.

Next up for both teams is a game against Soap Lake on Tuesday, April 11. First pitch in both games in 4:30 p.m.

Zach Johnson can be reached at lcmeditor@gmail. com or (509) 682-2213

Top Left moving clockwise: Freshman Caleb Rossell comes through just a little low on his swing, and pops out. Rossell also was the starting pitcher in the game, but couldn't make it out of the third inning after being bombarded with hits from Tonasket.

Top Right: Angel Cervantes swings just a little above the ball and ends up hitting air. Cervantes would go on to strikeout in the at-bat. Although the Tonasket pitcher wasn't throwing very hard, the Trojans struggled to square the ball up, which was evident in their numerous pop ups and routine ground ball outs.

Bottom Right: Zach Serafini managed the only hit for the Trojans in the first game, and was the only player to barrel up the ball a couple times. The Trojans most certainly need some work in the cages.

Above: Litzy Sarabia was one of the few Trojan batters to make contact with the ball and grounded out to short on the play.

Above: Alondra Chavez chokes up on the bat in order to get the proper bat speed to catch up to the Tonasket pitcher.

Trojans notch two more wins to season total

By Zach Johnson STAFF WRITER

MANSON - The Trojans soccer team has gotten off to a superb start this season, with their only loss coming against Brewster, and they added two more wins to their season total this week as they swept Bridgeport in the season series and cruised past Omak on Saturday.

In their second league game of the season, Manson traveled to Bridgeport for the second time in consecutive weeks and beat the Mustangs by a final score of 5-2.

Their win over Bridgeport was in large part thanks to senior Jose Juarez, who put the Trojans up 3-0 in the first half with a hat trick.

"We began the game with great intensity, and created many chances early on, and although Bridgeport created a few chances of their own, our goalkeeper Misa Montes cleared the danger," head coach Jared Mumley said in his game report.

The first goal of the game came a little after the seven minute mark when Aurelio Gutierrez played in Juarez who then dribbled to create enough space and scored. Gustavo Villasenor assisted the second Juarez goal and then Montes was credited with the assist in the third goal after Juarez took the long goal kick and scored.

Manson continued to dial up the pressure on Bridgeport in the second half, which eventually paid off in the form of two more goals from Everardo Rodriguez.

Bridgeport responded with three goals to close out the half, but the deficit proved to be too much.

Omak

On Saturday, April 1, the Trojans beat Omak by a final score of 2-1 at Chelan Falls field.

'We pressed Omak early on and created a number of chances - including a goal that was called back for a foul - in the first five minutes of the match," coach Mumley wrote in his game report. "The break finally came in the 30 minute mark when Gustavo Villasenor finished a nice team move and put the Trojans up 1-0."

Manson continues to attack in the second half and were rewarded for their efforts when Freddie Leyva scored on a cross that made it to the far post.

Omak scored late in the 70 minute mark but couldn't find the equalizer in the final 20 minutes and Manson pulled out the 2-1 win.

With the wins this past week, the Trojans improve to 5-1 on the season and 1-1 in league play. Manson will be given some rest during the spring break before taking on Tonasket on Tuesday, April 11. Opening kickoff is set for 4:30 p.m.

Top Left: Although the Trojans have yet to play a game at their home field at Manson High school as it still dries up from the relentless beating it has taken from rain and snow this spring Manson has got off to a great 5-1 start to the season.

Left: Junior Heri Sarmiento (11) gets the ball in the midfield and dribbles past a few Mustang defenders. Overall, Manson controlled the pace of play from the beginning as they jumped out to a 3-0 lead at half.

Above: Although Bridgeport scored a few goals in response in the second half, Manson dialed up the pressure defensively and clamped down in order to get their second division win of the season. The win against Bridgeport was the second in as many weeks for the Trojans, whom will now enjoy their rest over spring break before getting back on the pitch on Tuesday, April 11 against Tonasket.
