Cashmere Planning Commission Meeting

By KIRK BECKENDORF
Correspondent

The Cashmere Planning Commission's meeting was held on January 3. Director of Operations, Steve Croci announced that the Complete Loop Coalition was soliciting grant applications for projects that will maintain, improve, or extend paved trails. He suggested applying for funding to repair root-damaged sections of the riverfront trail. In addition, he has talked with the county to partner on an application that would provide funding for the planning of a bike trail between Monitor and Cashmere. Commissioner Zak Steigmeyer suggested extending the Riverside paved trail all the way out to the lagoon area, with designated bike lanes. Following additional brainstorming discussions about trail options, Christina Wollman, a consultant with Pertee, Inc., reminded the Commission that one of the actions listed in the Parks Recreation and Open Spaces Plan, which was recently approved by the City Council, was for the city to set up a Trails Committee that would create a comprehensive view of the city to decide where trails should be located.

Croci told the Commission that on March 6 there will be a Community Forum, similar to the one held last year to obtain input from city residents. Potential topics for the forum could include funding options for items in the Parks' Plan, moving the library into the Riverside Center and the possibility of the city selling some of its properties. Steigmeyer recommended that the forum provide opportunities to discuss what aspects of the Parks' Plan, such as the pool that can be funded with the current budget.

On Feb. 13 a joint meeting of the Planning Commission and the City Council will be held at 6 p.m. Croci asked the Commission for a list of topics that they would like to discuss with the Council. He asked them to specifically consider topics related to economic development and potential barriers to development and industrial growth. Steigmeyer recommended that the current parking requirement for new businesses be a topic of discussion. He suggested that if new businesses are established with all of the required parking, the town would no longer look like Cashmere. He said that maybe they should be considering what will make Cashmere better for future businesses, residents, and constituents. He said that part of the goal should be to consider people who will be living here. Commissioner Kirk Esmond suggested that the direction of future growth be a topic for the upcoming meeting.

Give NCW raises over $611,000 for Local Nonprofits

SUBMITTED BY JENNIFER DOLGE

The Community Foundation of NCW has awarded $611,568 to 73 local nonprofits through Give NCW, an online fundraising campaign from Thanksgiving to December 31.

This is the 8th year of Give NCW which was created to build awareness of nonprofit organizations that are serving the region and to provide an easy way for anyone to give with a minimum donation of just $10.

"Our goal with Give NCW is to help build a culture of philanthropy in North Central Washington, where everyone feels they can give back to the community they love" said Beth Stipe, the foundation's executive director. "Give NCW is an easy way to give locally and learn about new nonprofits doing work that is improving the quality of life across the region."

The foundation provided added incentives to encourage and motivate giving, such as Funday Monday in which donors won $1,000 to use on Give NCW any way they chose. There was also an option to "Give to All" to support all participating organizations and have your donation matched, thanks to our Partners in Giving. "Our Partners provide unrestricted gifts that are invaluable to our organization," said Stipe. "We've been able to award additional grants, increase scholarship awards, and provide additional opportunities for nonprofits. This year the $50,000 match to Give to All was met and provided each nonprofit with over $1,400 in extra donations. We're so grateful to be able to have inspired and motivated giving with this match."

This year, Give NCW was open to any 501c3 nonprofit organization located in Chelan, Douglas, or Okanogan counties and had received at least one of the foundation's competitive grants in the past. They were able to raise funds for specific projects or their core operations. Twenty-one nonprofits raised over $10,000. To learn more, visit www.cfncw.org/givencw.

The Community Foundation of North Central Washington's mission is to grow, protect, and connect charitable gifts in support of strong communities throughout Chelan,

Douglas, and Okanogan counties. Established in 1986, the Community

Foundation manages $148 million in assets through 600+ individual funds and has awarded over $46 million in grants and scholarships.

Rep. Mike Steele reappointed ranking member on House Capital Budget Committee

SUBMITTED BY KELLEY PAINE
Senior Public Information Officer

Rep. Mike Steele, R-Chelan, has been reappointed to serve as the ranking member on the House Capital Budget Committee when the Legislature convened for the 2023 session on Monday, Jan. 9.

Steele has been the lead Republican on the committee since 2021, serving as the assistant ranking member prior to that. This continued assignment makes him a top negotiator and budget writer for the state's two-year construction budget.

The Capital Budget Committee approves money for the construction and repair of public buildings and other long-term investments, such as land acquisitions and transfers. Additionally, the committee considers grants and loans to local governments or nonprofit organizations for infrastructure, broadband, housing, and cultural and heritage facilities.

"It's an incredible honor to be reappointed to this leadership role," said Steele. "The capital budget is unique in that it is by far the most bipartisan committee in Olympia. Both sides of the aisle work together to prioritize and advance projects that not only improve long-term economic goals, but also enhance renewal, health, and growth for rural and urban communities alike."

The 12th District lawmaker was also reappointed to serve on the House Appropriations Committee and Education Committee.

The Appropriations Committee considers the operating budget and related legislation, budget processes, and fiscal issues such as pension policy and compensation. The Education Committee considers issues relating to kindergarten through twelfth grade (K-12) education.

"Serving on the Appropriations Committee gives me a unique opportunity to protect our citizens' hard-earned tax dollars, advocating for a fiscally prudent state budget - while working against irresponsible state spending," said Steele.

"How we educate our youth, teaching them to think critically and be prepared for life, is incredibly important to the future of Washington state," added Steele. "I'm deeply thankful to have been selected to continue as a member of the Education Committee in the coming session."

PUD Commissioner appointed to national public power council

SUBMITTED BY RACHEL HANSEN
Senior Communications Strategist

WENATCHEE — Chelan PUD Commissioner Garry Arseneault was appointed to the Policy Makers Council, a group that advocates before Congress on behalf of more than 2,000 public power utilities nationwide. Arseneault will serve a three-year term.

"I'm honored to represent not only Chelan PUD, but all public power utilities across the nation," Arseneault said. "There are several significant issues being discussed in our nation's capital, and it will be beneficial to have a seat at the table."

The Policy Makers Council, an affiliate of the American Public Power Association (APPA), is comprised of 45 elected or appointed governing officials from communities around the country.

Twice a year, the council meets in Washington D.C. to advocate on issues such as the Columbia River Treaty, grid security, and other issues of interest to public power utilities.

Arseneault is stepping in for Commissioner Randy Smith, who recently retired from the Policy Makers Council after 10 years, including a year as chairman in 2020.

Arseneault has been involved in APPA as a representative of Chelan PUD since 2014.

Arseneault will also serve as president of the Washington Public Utility District Association until his term ends in April 2023.

Join NCW Libraries for Virtual Story Time

SUBMITTED BY NCW LIBRARIES

NCW Libraries offers a weekly, live virtual story time that connects young children and their caregivers across five counties through reading, song, and play.

The story time airs on the Zoom platform every Thursday at 9:30 a.m., led by Librarian, Clare Morrison, Peshastin

Upcoming story times include Jan 12: Read "Ten Ways to Hear Snow", about a girl who wakes up after a blizzard to a quiet town and realizes that snow actually changes sound. Jan. 19: Pajama story time (wearing pajamas encouraged). Jan. 26: Celebrate Lunar (Chinese) New Year.

At the beginning and end of the story time, the children are given the opportunity to talk with the librarians and each other. NCW Libraries started virtual story times during the Covid lockdown, when it was the only way to offer reading programs to children and families. The program continued even after libraries reopened and in-person story times resumed because families still enjoyed the virtual experience that engaged children from across the library district in the comfort of their own homes.

"It's a joy to see the kids participate with us," Woodruff said. "It's been a wonderful way to connect kids from our five-county area." Morrison added,

"The flexibility of the Zoom Storytime format is a great complement to our regular in-person story times. We've had several preschool and elementary school classrooms participate who might not otherwise be able to make it to a library for Storytime. We've even had kids tune in from the car on family road trips!" Sign up for virtual story time at www.ncwlibraries.org and click on "Events". Then receive a Link to the Zoom event via email.

Cashmere Coach Wheeler has unique approach to wrestling

By MATTHEW OCKINGA
Correspondent

CASHMERE — Wrestling can be a tough sell. Especially for high school students, this relatively obscure athletic activity does not match the perceived glory and notoriety of other more marketable sports.

“You’re out there in a singlet, for one,” joked Rich Wheeler, head wrestling coach at Cashmere High School. If wrestling matches themselves are not flashy and attractive, practices prove even less so. On a chilly Monday in December, Wheeler and his assistant coaches gathered their athletes in a small auxiliary gym to hone technique and strategy. Yet during these gritty grappling sessions Wheeler, in his second year as head coach, aims to change the narrative of his wrestling squad.

“It was the very first thing we needed to change as the wrestling team, the pity factor that wrestling isn’t the glamor sport of basketball or football or anything like that,” Wheeler said.

“We wanted to earn our spot. There’s a little bit of something different with a kid that decides they want to wrestle, different than a basketball player or a football player. These kids are just slightly different and looking for maybe a little bit more of a challenge.”

A Vashon Island native, Wheeler has been tussling on the mat since he was 10. In high school, he competed in the 108 and 115 weight classes and garnered State titles in 1989 and 1991. Now, he’s been involved in coaching for 24 years.

Around a decade ago, he attended a wrestling clinic with Mark Sprague, a famed Oregon grappler who founded Cobra Wrestling in 1972. Wheeler referred to the clinic as an “awakening” that greatly influenced his coaching philosophy.

“He delineated it in a way that my brain just really understood it, and it completely changed the way that I coach and that I view the sport today,” Wheeler said. “Just watching the way, he looked at it. It’s all lines and angles.”

At Cashmere, Wheeler has taken those methods into practice where he prefers a hands-on approach. Most of the team’s preparation involves sparring with a partner and digging into the nitty-gritty of close combat. Wandering from pair to pair, Wheeler requires but a few seconds to diagnose any strategic and tactical issues. He’s not afraid, instead rather eager, to grapple with his athletes himself, teaching by example. Besides making his wrestlers better, Wheeler jokes he does this for two selfish reasons.

“One, it helps me to get in shape and two, it helps me to get in shape for snowmobiling,” he said. “I’m a far better athlete today than I ever was 20 years ago.”

When demonstrating a technique for the entire group, the head coach has a go-to partner: his son, junior Hugh Wheeler. The younger Wheeler leads by example not only by battling on the mats, but also cleaning them after practice by showing teammates the proper procedure of swabbing up the sweat.

Before the season, father and son engaged in a 24-hour sit-down meeting at their place in Entiat. They set objectives for the season and discussed how those could be reasonably accomplished.

For Richard, coaching Hugh has proved thoroughly enjoyable.

“It’s an always evolving deal and his goals change and attitude and mentalities,” Wheeler said. “He’s one of my favorite kids to coach.” He’s super coachable and works hard. I’m thankful I’m not in his weight class.”

In recent years, the majority of high schools have added a girls’ program to the mix. Cashmere is no different, and Wheeler feels good about the growing interest. When fully healthy, the Bulldogs feature 7-8 girl wrestlers and Washington now has enough for a state tournament with two classes. Regardless of background or experience in the sport, Wheeler prioritizes mental toughness and goal setting. “As I tell my kids, ‘Don’t come here and work for free,’” Wheeler said, emphasizing the importance of learning life skills. “It’s one of these things that these kids work really hard, and I need them to really realize that they can accomplish something much greater than winning a State title.” If Wheeler had to sell wrestling to someone who had never heard of it, he’d keep his descriptors minimal and simple: humility, nervousness, hard work. For this seasoned coach, the sport boils down to athletes laying everything out on the mat and concocting no excuses, win or lose. While acknowledging that, in the Wenatchee Valley, wrestling currently lacks the regional notoriety it enjoyed as recently as the 1990s, he believes that the quiet hard work of his grapplers provides the sport’s perfect selling point.

“These kids have set some really high expectations for themselves, and I think they’re working really hard,” he said. “I think that we have great leadership and I’m really excited to see what they’re able to do and accomplish.”

How to maximize the value and timeliness of your tax return

Courtesy StatePoint

Tax season doesn't need to create headaches, fears, or anxieties. By gathering important tax documents in advance and understanding your filing and refund options, you can have confidence that you've maximized the value and timeliness of your tax return.

STATEPOINT - Research shows that if you're dreading tax season, you're not alone.

According to the Pew Research Center, 47% of Americans say they are bothered a lot by the complexity of the federal tax system. Other taxpayers stress over getting the details right. In a Credello survey, 22% of respondents say not maximizing their refund is their biggest fear around doing taxes, while another 22% said their biggest fear is making a mistake.

"Many Americans rely on their tax refund to make ends meet. Accessing those funds should be fast and easy," says Chad Prashad, president, and CEO of World Finance.

To help you get a handle on your taxes, World Finance is drawing on its 26 years of filing expertise to offer these timely tips:

- Get ready early. As soon as your employer provides your W2, you can file your taxes. Having all other documentation and receipts ready to go will help expedite the process, which means you will get your tax return faster, too. Collect the necessary materials in one place before filing.
- Consider significant life changes. Did you move in 2022? Have a baby? Get married? Change jobs? Each of these monumental life events can have an impact on your taxes, so be sure to disclose these factors when filing or to the professional filing on your behalf.
- Know what's new. Visit IRS.gov to learn about any changes to tax filings that are applicable to you. A tax services professional can also help you identify relevant updates. World Finance tax pros have year-round training to stay on top of the latest tax filing requirements and are ready to tailor tax services to each tax customer's financial situation.
- Review and adjust. Once you know what your return is going to be this year, make any necessary adjustments to your W2 to make sure you're withholding enough during the year. If this is your first year working with a professional tax service, have them review your previous years' filings as well. You may be able to recover additional refunds if anything was missed. World Finance offers this service for no additional charge.

• Consider a tax refund loan. After filing, you can potentially take out a loan for the amount of your expected refund. This is known as a tax refund loan and an option to consider if you need your refund as soon as possible.

• Work with a professional. Filing your taxes with a software program is a low-cost option, but only if you have time to dedicate to the task, and the know-how to get your biggest possible tax return. Working with a reliable, trusted tax preparation service can help ensure your taxes are filed correctly, and your return is as substantial as it can be. Look for a service that offers transparent pricing, flexible filing options and same-day Tax Advance Loans, such as World Finance. Tax season doesn't need to create headaches, fears, or anxieties. By gathering important tax documents in advance and understanding your filing and refund options, you can have confidence that you've maximized the value and timeliness of your tax return.

 February 22-23: Washington Wine Research Advisory Committee Research Review, Prosser
 February 27-28: Idaho Wine Commission Annual Meeting, Nampa, Idaho

Cold Hardiness Monitoring - Back again for 2022-2023

WSU Viticulture will continue with grape cold hardiness monitoring for the 2022-2023 winter season. Observed cold hardiness data for the Prosser, area is updated approximately every 7-14 days at: <https://wine.wsu.edu/extension/weather/cold-hardiness/>
 This webpage also has several resources on preventing cold damage and how to respond after cold damage has occurred.

Given cold hardiness monitoring cannot be done on a large scale, a cold hardiness model is available on AgWeatherNet. You do need a (free) registered AgWeatherNet Account to see the model: <http://weather.wsu.edu/>

When low temperatures are forecasted use the model on AgWeatherNet to help prioritize which locations, and varieties, you should start with for follow-up scouting. The resources available on the WSU Grapevine Cold Hardiness Monitoring page above can be used to help you develop a bud collection and assessment plan. They also provide worksheets to develop pruning strategies to compensate for potential crop loss, should cold damage occur.

Obituary & Memorial Policies

NCW Media, Inc.: Leavenworth Echo, Cashmere Valley Record, Lake Chelan Mirror, Quad City Herald. An Obituary is a way for family member(s) to commemorate a loved one's life and to notify the community of the passing of the loved one. Obituaries are also used for historical and ancestral data. Memorials are another way to let the community know about the life and memories of the person who has passed. A Memorial is different from an Obituary. An Obituary is usually current, while a Memorial can be written later. Obituaries and Memorials need to be typed and emailed as a Word Document. They can be placed in one or more papers - all publish weekly on Wednesday. Obituaries are priced by the number of words and include one color photo and go online at no extra charge. Memorials are priced per column inch. Please call for cost. *Payment is due at the time of placement. *Exception: Chapels, funeral homes who have an account, can be billed. There is no charge for a Death Notice - information is limited. Deadline is 4 p.m. on Friday - some exceptions may apply. Please call 509-548-5286 for more information Or email classifieds@leavenworthecho.com
