Washington State's new drug possession law is a positive step forward

Lawmakers successfully developed and approved operating, transportation, and capital budgets for the 2023-2025 biennium. In addition to the budgets, other laws were updated, including a much-needed improvement to the state's police pursuits statute.

COMMUNITY VOICES
By BRAD HAWKINS

One disappointment during the regular session was the state's inability to replace its expiring one on drug possession. With that major item not yet completed, Governor Inslee called legislators together for a special session on May 16. A bipartisan compromise was ultimately developed and approved to clarify our state's drug possession law and provide treatment options. This is a very positive step for our state.

The new law was necessary because in 2021, the State Supreme Court struck down Washington's felony drug possession statute as unconstitutional. In its ruling, the court determined that individuals could be incarcerated without knowingly possessing drugs. Legislators approved a temporary measure later that year to classify drug possession as a simple misdemeanor while working toward a more comprehensive solution. The temporary measure expires on July 1, so passing a new law soon became one of the highest policy priorities of the year.

During the regular session, I voted for Senate Bill 5536, which achieved bipartisan support in the Senate. Unfortunately, that bill failed to pass the House of Representatives, largely because a key number of progressive Democrats believed it was too strict on drug possession. Ultimately, the drug possession replacement bill approved during the May 16 special session was similar to the prior Senate bill. The final compromise was approved in the Senate by a vote of 43-6 and in the House by a vote of 83-13.

I voted for the compromise measure. An updated law was absolutely necessary because the temporary law was a failure as it sent the completely wrong message about drug possession. This new law establishes drug possession as a gross misdemeanor while also granting people two opportunities for limited jail times and fines. The third penalty could result in nearly a year in jail, which - at that point - seems very reasonable to me as a directive to get healthy.

Key elements of the new law include the opportunities for pre-trial "diversions" for treatment. Drug convictions can be vacated if people successfully complete their programs. The new law and budget also invest millions of dollars in treatment programs and facilities so that people can get the help they need. The law applies uniformly throughout the state as well, avoiding differing local regulations but providing cities and counties some flexibility.

I am very proud of lawmakers for coming together to achieve a bipartisan solution on such an important and complicated issue, one where interesting combinations of Republicans and Democrats found themselves joining forces either voting for or against the various proposals. Some Republicans believed ideas did not punish drug possession enough while some Democrats believed they went too far. In the end, we found a solid compromise.

What is most important is to recognize that people around us are struggling with drugs. They are not only endangering themselves but also destroying their families and creating huge burdens on government. The rise of drug use is correlated to increased homelessness, crime, and other issues, which impact every community. This new law strikes the right balance between extending a helping hand of compassion and a heavier hand of accountability. For the sake of everyone, let's hope it works.

WENATCHEE - Ohme Gardens is hosting a concert, July 9, to raise matching money for grants to improve the gardens. "Music in the Gardens" will feature the community inspirational choir, GladSong, and there will be a silent auction of an original painting of the gardens by Ginger Reddington, of Twisp, donated by Kim Reid of Wenatchee. The gardens is located just north of Wenatchee.

"Ohme Gardens truly is a community treasure that the whole community can get behind," said Tim Meyer, director of GladSong. "The Ohme family had the vision decades ago to create an alpine meadow on the bluffs overlooking the Columbia River and the community can keep that vision going. We would like to see individuals and businesses step up in a big way," Meyer said.

Samantha Segaline, director of Ohme Gardens, said she hopes the concert will generate matching money needed to apply for a grant to restore and rebuild the gardens' Ox Yoke picnic shelter. She said the project may be completed for under $100,000 but that it might cost closer to $200,000.

The gardens also need matching money for grants for lighting and paving its parking lot which easily will cost more than an additional $200,000 she said.

Ohme Gardens is owned and operated by Chelan County. "People hear that and assume we are county funded, but we are self-supporting. All of our operating revenue comes from admissions paid by visitors. We do not receive any county or taxpayer money for operations," Segaline said.

Annual operations are budgeted at about $400,000. Some capital improvements qualify for county funding, but the far larger source is grants and donations through the Ohme Gardens Friends Society, Segaline said.

"Community support has dwindled in recent years, and we would like to turn that around. We're always looking for volunteers to help with everything from pulling weeds to

Colchuck Peak Avalanche update

SUBMITTED BY CCSO

Sheriff Mike Morrison reported Monday, May 29, the body of Jeannie Lee, a 60-year-old climber from Bayside, New York was recovered from the base of Colchuck Peak. Lee was killed in an avalanche on Sunday, February 19, along with two other climbers; see original release below.

A Chelan County Mountain Rescue volunteer was in the area on a personal trip when he located Lee's body. Snow has melted significantly with the warm weather recently. He hiked to the top of Colchuck Glacier where he made a call to RiverCom dispatch.

Chelan County Sheriff's Office was notified and deployed the CCSO helicopter. Two additional Chelan County Mountain Rescue volunteers were transported to the scene to assist with the recovery. Lee's body was transported to the Leavenworth Fish Hatchery at approximately 4:30 p.m. and turned over to the Chelan County Coroner's Office. The rescuers did not locate the additional missing climber, Yun Park of Palisades Park, New Jersey. Conditions still are not safe to conduct a thorough search of the area.

Background: Sheriff Mike Morrison reported on February 20, that deputies were contacted at the CCSO Leavenworth substation about an avalanche that occurred near Colchuck Lake the previous day. The reporting party, a 53-year-old Maryland man reported the group he was with had attempted to climb Colchuck Peak on Sunday February 19. There were six climbers in that group and the reporting party had stayed at their base camp that day.

The lead climber triggered an avalanche while attempting to climb the Northeast Couloir of Colchuck Peak. Four of the climbers were swept down the couloir approximately 500 feet. Three of the climbers died as a result of trauma sustained in the fall. They were a 60-year-old female from New York, a 66-year-old male from New Jersey, and a 53-year-old male from Connecticut. The fourth climber, a 56-year-old male from New York, sustained non-life-threatening injuries and was able to hike back to base camp with the remaining two. They were a 50-year-old male from New York and a 36-year-old male from New Jersey. When they arrived at camp, they sent the reporting party for help.

When Deputies took the report, An SAR coordinator started gathering resources. A total of 22 rescuers responded to the trailhead to assist with this effort. They were from Chelan County Mountain Rescue, Chelan County Volunteer Search and Rescue and ORV unit, Seattle Mountain Rescue, Tacoma Mountain Rescue, and Yakima Mountain Rescue. A group of four from Chelan County Mountain Rescue responded to the lake driven part of the way by the CCVSAR ORV unit. They reached the base camp at approximately 1:30 p.m. They were able to determine avalanche conditions were too hazardous to continue to the deceased climbers. They escorted the surviving climbers back to the trailhead. Rescuers were not sent back into the scene that day due to hazardous conditions. CCSO continues to work with Northwest Avalanche Center to assist in a recover plan. Colchuck Peak sits at the south end of Colchuck Lake approximately 8 miles south of Leavenworth.

Silence can be deadly

New Life Retreat drug and alcohol rehabilitation and education

SUBMITTED BY AARON OLSON
Community Relations Director Narconon

Many of those who battle addiction do so in silence. However, on occasion they are the ones with the biggest smiles and some of the kindest people. They are the ones who are always there for others but who still feel alone. Sometimes they require someone to speak up when they cannot. Find out how they are doing. Help them. Remind them of their advantages, jobs, education, families, friends, or other resources they may have. Sometimes people fail to realize the potential consequences of even one drug use decision. In talking to them, they may be able to connect their decisions to use with the troubles they are having in life. It may seem difficult to suggest a friend enter treatment, yet doing so could ultimately result in their life being saved. Make it clear you will help them enter treatment, but you won't support their habit. They might be afraid, unprepared, or resistant to change. But with help, they can get there. You are not alone if you or a loved one are battling addiction. The nightmare of addiction can be ended. Getting help is the first step.

If you have a loved one struggling with drug or alcohol use, help them to seek treatment immediately. Do not turn a blind eye if you suspect someone is abusing drugs. Talk up. Speak with them. And most importantly, get them into treatment.

The Contract
 Unveiling the healing power of forgiveness
 A novel by local writer William E. Forhan.
 Nobel Prize winning author Gabriel García Márquez was quoted as saying, “All human beings have three lives, public, private and secret.”
 In our modern world of the Internet search engines and DNA testing, keeping our private and secret lives separate is increasingly difficult. Sometimes they can come crashing in on our public lives when we least expect it.
 Father Robert McCarthy is a middle-aged priest who is suddenly and unexpectedly confronted with his secret past. How he deals with the revelation of that past with his family, his congregation and the impacts of that secret life is inspirational. How McCarthy discloses the news of his college indiscretion requires him to take everyone involved on a journey of confession. That journey forces him to deal with issues of homosexuality, judgementalism, divorce and pride.
 His pastoring skills and the depth of support from his wife help him bring forgiveness and restoration to many broken relationships.
 The bonds of three families are ultimately restored through celebrations of life experiences including fishing, holiday gatherings, the discovery of unknown family connections and a wedding.
 Bill’s Book is available online through Amazon.com, BarnesandNoble.com and Apple iBook. The paperback is $16.99 and the ebook is $8.99. You can also pick up a copy of the book or order the book directly from Carol Forhan at The Leavenworth Echo (509-548-5286), or the Lake Chelan Mirror (509-682-2213), or by emailing your contact information to Carol@leavenworthecho.com. Leadership

Sonny's been working as a non-family member at a two-family establishment, small enterprise, five guys in the shop, good people, good pay. It is, however, his first hiring in a secular job and he's learning a lot. Last week at Grandma's dinner table when he came to move his Bronco, we had an interesting conversation about status, reputation and accomplishment theft. What, you ask, is accomplishment theft? Quite simply it is when someone else takes credit for my work reaping the status benefits of my labor inhibiting my reputation growth. That's not all bad if I'm a politician but politicians don't run in the family. Fishermen do. Having worked with his Uncle Larry for many fishing seasons Sonny has an idea in his mind of what a boss is.

We were sitting at the table eating potato salad and Ruben sandwiches from Grandma's left-over corned beef dinner when Sonny said after being asked how work was going, "Well, the owner doesn't know who's doing the work. The supervisor's son is on his phone constantly. Jake, Jake Jr. and I do the hands-on work and the supervisor, and his son take the credit." Sonny frowned into his plate before looking up, "I like the work, Grandpa. Sometimes it's irritating when I'm halfway through a job and the directions for what they want change." He shrugged. "But I really like the work and the pay is good." Grandpa looked at Sonny for a moment then he said, "It's a small shop," he glanced over at me to see if I'd like to offer an explanation. I kept my mouth shut. Oh yes, I've been there. I wandered around corporate America for many years before meeting Sonny's father. I am very well acquainted with accomplishment theft. "No matter where you go," Grandpa continued, "those people are there. You just have to continue to do a good job and don't let it bother you too much." Grandpa and I watched the two men at the table. I saw Sonny's face smooth out as he made eye contact with his grandfather. His shoulders didn't hunch as much; he leaned back; he sat straighter in his chair.

After dinner as Sonny and I headed down to look over the Bronco (pre-trip check) he said to me, "You know the owner of the shop doesn't have a clue what goes on in the field when we are getting the work done." "That's because he doesn't want to know," I said.

Sonny frowned at me. I don't think he believed me. Then he said, "Mom, Uncle Larry may act like he's not paying attention." I raised my eyebrows into question marks. That didn't sound like Uncle Larry to me. "You know? Like how well we are doing our jobs and who's doing what? But he knows. He knows everything that's happening on his deck. Everything. All the time."

"That's a captain's job." I said, thinking that sounded more like Uncle Larry.

"Well, Mom," Sonny told me, "The owner of this shop doesn't know what's happening on his deck. I think Jake and Jake Jr. are looking for other places to work." "That's a good indicator that you need to start looking too." I said, "And Sonny? Are you learning anything from this owner and his supervisor?" Sonny frowned, "The owner didn't know my name until last week and I bet he's forgotten it by now. And the supervisor takes credit for everyone else's work."

I grinned, "Like maybe how NOT to lead?"

Grandma's Potato Salad

- (Steve & Caren's favorite)
- 4 medium to large potatoes boiled, peeled & diced
- 2 teaspoons minced onion
- 1 Tablespoon minced pickle (optional)
- 4 hard-boiled eggs
- 2-3 Tablespoons mayonnaise
- Salt & Pepper to taste
- Pinch dry mustard (optional)
- Paprika (optional)

Put diced potatoes, onion, and pickles in a large bowl. Peel eggs, separate hard-boiled yolk from the white. Dice the hard-boiled egg white into the large bowl and put the hard-boiled yolk into a small bowl (cereal bowl size). Add the mayonnaise to the egg yolk and mush it together until it is smooth. Add pinch of dry mustard (or a squirt of the prepared type) if so desired. Taste then add salt and pepper to taste. Sprinkle with paprika to garnish. Serve as a side for hot dogs, burgers, sandwiches of all types, fried chicken, BBQ and most anything grilled.

THE WASHINGTON OUTDOORS REPORT

Salmon, salmon and shad

By JOHN KRUSE

WENATCHEE RIVER IN LEAVENWORTH OPEN FOR SALMON FISHING

The Wenatchee River from the US Highway 2 bridge to the mouth of the Icicle River is now open for Chinook salmon fishing, thanks to a healthy run of springers heading back to the Leavenworth National Fish Hatchery. The limit is three hatchery Chinook per day through June 30. Bait is allowed but you have to use barbless hooks. No motorized watercraft are allowed in this section of the Wenatchee River.

SUMMER FISHING ON THE COLUMBIA

Fishing for summer Chinook, sockeye salmon and steelhead opens up on the Columbia River on June 16 and stays open until July 31. The open area is from the mouth at Astoria to the Hwy. 395 bridge at Pasco. The Columbia from Richland to Priest Rapids Dam will also be open during this time. The forecast for Upper Columbia River summer

Chinook this year is 85,400 fish, which is about 6,000 more than last year.

PATEROS SALMON BAKE

The Pateros Booster Club will be sponsoring a salmon bake on Saturday, June 24 starting at noon in the park. The cost is $15 a plate which includes not only salmon but also salad, water and rolls from the Sweetwater Bakery. In addition to a good meal there will also be seminars and demonstrations from the Colville Tribe about salmon conservation, the local salmon hatchery, Native American beadwork and basket weaving.

REGISTER NOW FOR THE WENATCHEE SALMON DERBY

The Peter Flohr Memorial Salmon Derby takes place July 14-15 between Rock Island Dam and Wells Dam on the Columbia River. There will be $7500 worth of cash and prizes given away at the event for the heaviest boat limit of fish and for the heaviest fish caught by a single angler. Last year that latter winner was Greg Kite who caught a 20.41-pound Chinook salmon. Derby tickets cost $75 and can be purchased at www.wenatcheesalmonderby.com. Proceeds from the event will go to the Coastal Conservation Association.

SHAD FISHING IS HEATING UP

The annual run of American shad up the Columbia River is building steam. Over a 100,000 shad a day are being counted at the Bonneville Dam fish ladder. Marc Bush, owner of Twisted Waters Guide Service, recently took two clients shad fishing near Beacon Rock State Park and the two, Drew Monsey and his father Martin, caught 104 shad in short order, with Drew out fishing his dad by 11 fish. If you would like to book a trip with Bush you can go to his Facebook page or his website at www.twistedwaters-gs.com.

You don't need to have a guide to have success catching shad. Two great places to fish for them from shore are just below Bonneville Dam and also below the John Day Dam. Simply cast a 1/16-ounce jig or shad dart and use anywhere from ¼ to ½ ounce of lead above it, depending on the current. Then, let it swing downstream with the current and wait for a bite before reeling in the jig and casting again.

Shad typically run between one and three pounds but they are scrappy fighters and fun to catch. Kids in particular enjoy the non-stop action when the shad run is going strong. The state record for shad is a 3.85-pound specimen caught by Tom Magnuson out of the Columbia River in 2005.

Some anglers will keep the shad to eat but others, myself included, cut these fish in half and use them for crab bait. They are a very oily fish and work very well when it comes to attracting crabs. Shad also work well as bait for sturgeon fishing and for catfish too.

GladSong performs pop, country, jazz, and gospel pieces. GladSong's 2022 concerts resulted in $42,000 raised for 11 charitable causes in the Wenatchee Valley. The choir had a benefit concert for the NCW Chaplain Foundation, on June 11, at Christ Center Church in Cashmere, and for a Leavenworth group providing weekend meals for underprivileged children, July 23, at Icicle Creek Center for the Arts Snowy Owl Theater. Information other summer concerts is available at GladSong.org. Sunnyslope orchardists Herman and Ruth Ohme began developing their backyard garden in 1929, planting trees and flowers and building paths. Ohme was quoted as saying, "It was a rock pile, but it had an inspiring view." The family opened the gardens to the public in 1939. The state of Washington bought it in 1991 and Chelan County operated it. The state gave it to the county in 2008.

Q I've been battling a heat rash from the hot weather we've been having recently. What's the best way to get rid of it?

Donna, a 75-year-old grandmother, developed redness and itching during a summertime heat wave in her groin area.

"I've tried putting Gold Bond® powder on it for the past 3-4 days, but it's not helping. What else do you recommend, instead?"

Heat rash, or prickly heat, can happen to anyone with active sweat glands. It's estimated that at least 40% of infants will get a heat rash at one point. Heat rash also afflicts people who sweat in the summer heat doing strenuous physical work, performing sports, exercising, even gardening.

Prickly heat or heat rash is caused by clogged sweat glands. When sweat builds up under your skin, it can become trapped, causing your pores to swell and rupture. This creates small red, raised lesions that burn or itch. These reddened bumps may be clustered in small clumps or spread out over larger areas.

Heat rash can occur anywhere that sweat accumulates: your armpits, chest, upper back, belly, and groin. The blockage creates inflammation, pustules, or a yeast infection if it is severe enough.

Heat rash or prickly heat can also happen to people treating dry or itchy skin with heavy creams or ointments. Although soothing in winter, thick creams and ointments can plug up your hard-working sweat glands during hot, humid summer weather.

Keeping your skin dry is one key to relieving the itching and burning of prickly heat. One of the best ways to do that is by maximizing airflow to the skin to discourage sweating. Wearing loose, lightweight clothing during hot weather and using fans to improve airflow is essential. Fevers can cause profuse sweating and should be treated with appropriate doses of acetaminophen to decrease excess moisture next to the skin.

Another key to treating heat rash is avoiding oils, heavy creams, or ointments on areas that perspire heavily. This can include under your arms, your chest, around your groin, behind your knees, and under any skin folds.

Avoid using medicated or plain powders on red, irritated, or broken skin when treating prickly heat. Powders can clog inflamed pores and sweat glands, so it's best to stay away from them entirely until your skin has calmed down.

Heat rash can cause intense itching and an almost uncontrollable urge to scratch. Although scratching feels good, your relief is short-lived, as it will trigger an increase in inflammation and even more itching. Applying cloths dampened with cool water can help, along with non-prescription steroid creams containing 1% hydrocortisone. Hydrocortisone 1% cream is safe for small areas of broken skin or larger areas of intact skin in adults. You should avoid applying medicated creams directly over areas of damaged skin, especially the skin of children or infants.

Finally, avoid using hydrocortisone ointment when addressing heat rash because they are occlusive, which can block or clog your sweat glands.

If these strategies don't help the itching and irritation of heat rash, contact your doctor, as other conditions may look like heat rash at first but need to be treated differently.

Here are 6 Tips for Treating Prickly Heat or Heat Rash:

1. Increase airflow to the affected area.

Wear lightweight, loose clothing or no clothing at all. House fans can help circulate air over your skin.

2. Lukewarm sponge baths increase evaporation, helping to cool and dry the skin.

Avoid hot water for showers or baths, which can increase inflammation. Adding oatmeal or a product that contains oatmeal like Aveeno® to bath water helps soothe irritated skin.

3. Avoid using skin powders like Gold Bond®, especially on broken skin.

The powder can create clogged sweat glands. Avoid applying powders until the acute symptoms of redness and itching subside.

4. Avoid Benadryl® cream or spray. Use 1% hydrocortisone cream instead.

Although Benadryl® (diphenhydramine) capsules and liquid can help relieve itching, diphenhydramine cream or topical spray should be avoided. Benadryl® can be absorbed into the bloodstream from areas of broken skin. Combining diphenhydramine pills or syrup with a skin cream also containing it can result in drowsiness and confusion.

5. Avoid applying heavy creams and ointments.

Ointments and heavy creams can block sweat glands. Keep your armpits, groin, chest, and skin folds as dry as possible. Tucking a light cloth like a pillowcase between skin folds helps absorb excess perspiration.

6. Cool it before you use it.

Refrigerating your medicated cream or aloe vera gel before applying it can provide additional soothing power.

Enough is Enough

SUBMITTED BY DONNA RICE HUGHES

Enough Is Enough (EIE) applauds the efforts of Surgeon General Vivek Murthy to shine a national spotlight on the harms of social media, stating it presents "profound risk of harm" for children. Protecting children from online exploitation is a nonpartisan issue that deserves wide bipartisan support.

EIE has been exposing the tragedy of the online exploitation of children for 30 years. Sadly, it often takes a public health crisis to get government and Congress to say Enough Is Enough. Parents cannot shoulder the entire burden of protecting their children in the digital age from online predators and pornographers, and even technology platforms who put profits over the safety and welfare of children.

The advisory issued Tuesday, May 23 by the Surgeon General, which acknowledges both social media's benefits and harms to young people, calls for increased research into its impact on youth mental health, as well as action from policymakers and technology companies.

The advisory notes:
 • Social media use among kids is "nearly universal": 95% of kids ages 13 to 17 report using social media; more than a third saying they use it "almost constantly."
 • Although 13 is the minimum age to use social media sites in the US, nearly 40% of kids ages 8 to 12 use the platforms. (*EIE will continue to push for the implementation of widely available age verification technology to keep kids under 13 from using these age-inappropriate platforms.)

• Correlations between social media use and depression and anxiety, as well as poor sleep, online harassment, and low self-esteem, particularly for girls.

It is necessary for the current Administration to recognize the harms caused by unregulated social media companies who avoid accountability and corporate responsibility by trying to hide behind Section 230 of the Communications Decency Act. Both federal and state government must prioritize efforts to curb the online exploitation of children. It takes all of us doing our part.

CITY OF LEAVENWORTH REQUEST FOR QUALIFICATIONS FOR WATER TRANSMISSION MAIN REPLACEMENT - WELL SITE TO MILL ST.

The City of Leavenworth (City) is soliciting qualifications from consulting firms (Consultants) to provide professional services for the bid-ready design of the Icicle Road water transmission main from the City's well site to Mill Street.

The Icicle Road transmission main was identified in the City's 2018 Water System Plan as needing replacement in order to address peak hour demand deficiencies in the water distribution system and replace the aging steel main. The Water Transmission Main Replacement - Well Site to Mill St. project will replace and upsized approximately 5,400 feet of existing 12-inch diameter domestic water transmission main from the City's groundwater well site on Icicle Road to the intersection of Icicle Road and US 2 and along US 2 to the intersection of US 2 and Mill Street. The water main is anticipated to be located within the limits of Icicle Road and US 2 and, if necessary to connect to the existing water distribution system, along City-owned access roads to both the well site and the Icicle Road Reservoir. The existing transmission main is anticipated to remain live until the new main is in use in order to convey water to the City. The complete Request for Qualifications (RFQ) document can be found on the City of Leavenworth's request for bids/proposals webpage: <https://cityofleavenworth.com/documents/category/requests-for-bids-proposals>. It is the sole responsibility of the Consultant to obtain any RFQ updates or addenda from the City's website. Submissions shall be sent electronically to Andrea Fischer, City Clerk, at afischer@cityofleavenworth.com by 2:00:00 PM on Monday, June 26, 2023. Late or incorrectly submitted submissions will be automatically disqualified from consideration. Any qualifications received after the specified date and time will automatically be rejected and will not receive any further consideration by the City. The City of Leavenworth in accordance with Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act (Section 504) and the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), commits to nondiscrimination on the basis of disability, in all of its programs and activities.
