

A Weekend of Celebrating Indigenous Culture thanks to the intersecting efforts of Icicle Creek, IRRF and WRI

Icicle Creek Center for the Arts (ICCA) hosted Indigenous Enterprise (IE), an acclaimed Indigenous dance and storytelling company with representatives from multiple western tribes, for five days of performance and engagement, reaching over 1200 students and 500 community members.

The weekend performances in Snowy Owl Theater, showcasing champion dancers performing the grass dance, jingle dance, hoop dance and more, were stunning and ended with standing ovations. Another, quieter but equally important part of the weekend was the collaboration of Icicle Creek with the nonprofits Wenatchee River Institute (WRI) and Indigenous Roots and Reparation Foundation (IRRF).

Tina Polzin, ICCA Director of Artistic Engagement, helped create an opportunity for ticket holders to deepen their experience. Close to twenty people showed up before each IE performance to attend a pre-show talk and walk with WRI naturalist Kyra Ballas and IRRF representatives.

On Friday evening, Mary Big Bull Lewis, the chair of IRRF, shared about the history, issues, and cultural resurgence of Indigenous people (many of whom are p'squosa or Wenatchi) in north central Washington. IRRF is an Indigenous-led nonprofit, established in 2021 to "preserve history, culture, traditions and language through education and advocacy," and to work toward

"providing a space on the ancestral homelands for all tribes to practice cultural traditions, ceremony and fellowship."

IRRF has been hosting events that connect people to traditions, stories, and places. In the fall, over one hundred adults and children attended an annual huckleberry camp, there have been spring camas harvesting trips, and an online nxa'amxcin language class will occur this summer.

Next, the group of patrons ambled in the afternoon warmth as Ballas identified native plants like arrowleaf balsamroot, serviceberry, thimbleberry, fireweed, and yarrow on the Icicle Creek campus. She shared edible or other uses for every single plant, many of which could be derived from how Indigenous people in the past drew from the bounty of the land.

On Saturday, patrons had the treat of hearing Randy Lewis speak. Lewis is an elder and IRRF board member, and a storyteller, teacher, civil rights organizer, and historian.

He explained how the land in the Wenatchee River watershed home was for thousands of years to a mixture of people from eastern Plateau tribes and coastal Salish tribes. Geography caused pockets of distinct groups and dialects, but through trade and intermarriage, bonds solidified between peoples spread from Montana to the Pacific Ocean. Along the Columbia south of Wenatchee were summer camps of tens of thousands of people. Later, due to cumulative oppression and hardship, those numbers shrank to about 150 tribe members in the 50's.

Lewis spoke of the sacred hoop, which has been broken. To heal it requires deep listening and remembering. He and Big Bull Lewis both spoke of the importance of connecting to the land and the cycles of nature, like knowing the right time to harvest camas. The attendees absorbed the knowledge shared by Big Bull Lewis, Lewis and Ballas, for its practical and spiritual benefit. It was a great preface to the powerful IE dances, which are also rooted in nature. The hoop dance, for instance, shares the perspective of a long-lived willow tree, with the eight hoops, originally made from willow,

Hawkins' statement on passage of bipartisan drug possession bill

OLYMPIA - Sen. Brad Hawkins issued the following statement on the passage of the bipartisan drug possession legislation, Senate Bill 5536.

"I'm thankful to Governor Inslee for calling this special session because Washington needed to establish a statewide framework for drug possession. Clarifying our drug possession law was one of the most important issues of the year for lawmakers, so I'm grateful that we found a way to achieve a bipartisan compromise, even if it required a special session.

"As it relates to the special session process, I would have preferred a 48-hour waiting period between the time the compromise proposal was made public and any legislative vote. This would have provided the public more opportunities to review the proposal and provide comments. While I have been receiving briefings,

I struggled with the push to bring this latest version to a vote so quickly, but I can appreciate the need to secure final passage before a compromise potentially unravels.

"I had been undecided on the compromise, but have come to appreciate its similarities to what the Senate approved in March. I supported that version of the bill, and this version is similar in structure. After much thought and consideration, I came to realize that not passing this bill could lead to less desirable options, which include legislators extending the temporary law beyond July 1 or having no statewide framework for drug possession. Neither of those is a good option.

"What is most important for us all to realize is that people across our state are struggling with personal drug use. In many cases, they are not only endangering themselves but also destroying their families and impacting others. We need to reverse this harmful trend. Having compassionate options as well as necessary penalties are important to getting people the help they need.

"The bill approved attempts to balance compassion and accountability while providing funding supports in a variety of areas. I hope it is successful."

Background
A 2021 State Supreme Court ruling struck down Washington's felony drug possession statute as unconstitutional. Legislators approved a temporary measure later that year to classify drug possession as a misdemeanor while working toward a more comprehensive solution. On March 3, the Washington State Senate approved Senate Bill 5536.

It represented the first major step this year to address a temporary drug possession law that expires July 1, 2023. Sen. Hawkins voted in favor of the proposal, but that version of the bill was not supported in the House, primarily due to opposition by progressive House Democrats opposed to strong penalties for personal drug use. The 105-day Legislative session adjourned April 23 without a bill to replace the short-term fix, established in 2021.

Governor Inslee called a Special Session of the Legislature to begin May 16. Bipartisan legislators in both the House and Senate continued their communications over the past several days with their colleagues and key stakeholder groups, leading to the Budget, Blake, Trueblood, EV chargers bills now fixed and signed by Gov. Inslee.

Gov. said, "he signed the budget out of necessity, but no one should interpret my signature as an endorsement".

Wenatchee Valley Veterans Hall Open House

By LINDSAY TIMMERMANS

The honored veterans of the Wenatchee Valley Veterans Hall invited the community to their Open House May 19-21 in their new building at 1206 N. Wenatchee Ave., the former banquet room in the Fraternal Order of the Eagles in Wenatchee. The local veteran organizers have pounded the pavement since 2020, receiving countless donations of time and effort, in-kind donations of building materials, luxurious kitchen top slabs and new carpet in the 3000 square foot space. There were also donations of carpentry skill, including the Honor Board taking up the full west wall, housing plaquettes of donor names, officers, and honorees like The Bunker, another local veterans' group, giving them their second donation.

This was an opportunity for the community to see the new Wenatchee Valley Veterans Hall made possible by City of Wenatchee Mayor Frank Kuntz who leased the Hall for the benefits of the veterans in the area, and for community members, and veterans who donated time, services, and financial support.

"We hope people come to visit and see the legacy they helped build at the Vet Hall," said Bob Ashford, a Board Member.

with berries.

Pancakes

- 1 cup flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 1 Tablespoon sugar (optional)
- 1 egg
- ¾ cup water or milk
- Skillet or griddle
- Oil for the skillet or griddle
- Pouring cup
- Pancake turner
- Berries or corn (optional)
- 2 mixing bowls

Turn the heat on under the skillet too low to get the cooking surface ready. One of the keys to pancakes is to have a hot surface to cook them on so start heating up the skillet on low as the pancakes are mixed then ramp up the heat later.

Mix the dry ingredients, flour, baking powder, salt, and sugar (if sugar is to be used) together in a smaller bowl. In the larger second bowl beat egg and water or milk together until they are frothy. Add dry ingredients to frothy egg and water. Mix well. The batter should be about the consistency of a milk shake or thin spaghetti sauce so it will be able to be poured.

Dump some of the batter into a pouring cup with a spout. (I use my old-fashioned glass measuring cups. I mix the egg and water in the four-cup size and the dry ingredients in the two-cup size then mix and pour from the one-cup size that has a perfect, for me, spout. Turn the heat up under the skillet to medium or medium high and add a bit of oil, not too much oil, just enough to coat the bottom of the pan. Heat until a few drops of water flicked from the fingers (the kind of flicking we used to do as kids to irritate each other as we did dishes in the sink after dinner) until the water drops sizzle, pop, and skittle across the bottom of the skillet. Pour batter into the skillet, add berries or corn if desired. Heat until bubbles start to form, then heat a little longer until the bubbles are all over the pancake and start to burst open. Turn the pancake and cook on the other side. When the bottom side is golden brown (lift edge of pancake to check) serve hot with maple syrup or fruit jam or left over frosting or wrapped around link sausage or anyway that's delicious.

transforming as the dancer manipulates them into shapes of a flower, bird, rabbit, and butterfly.

ICCA hopes to continue collaborations like these to educate and enrich our community. Ballas said, "It was a beautiful experience having all these different people, from locals to international visitors, come together and connect through their own relationship with nature and learn from IRRF about the P'squosa and their deep heritage connection to the lands we are on."

And Polzin explained, that, for Icicle Creek, "Fostering local artists and organizations doing important work continues the legacy of Harriet Bullitt and the sleeping lady who overlooks us, reminding us that the planet and people are intertwined and, through helping each other, we thrive."

PANCAKES

When I was small, even before preteen, Grandpa would make pancakes on the weekend so Grandma could sleep in. It didn't work because he always had to wake her up to ask her what ingredients to make them out of. She'd stay in bed anyway and we'd make pancakes (and a mess) in the kitchen. Grandpa, then Dad, mostly made 'beaver pelt' shaped pancakes (beaver pelt pancakes are round, just like the beaver hides he harvested as a married college student for income to pay bills. Landowners would get in touch with him when a beaver flooded their fields. It's hard to grow crops on flooded fields. So, he'd trap the beaver, stretch the hide, salt it really good, and hope the day would come when he could afford to get it tanned, but sometimes he'd make other animal shaped pancakes. All the animals looked alike with a round center, a smaller round head, four stumpy stick legs and a curved tail. Sometimes he put a drizzle of batter on the neck and call it a horse; sometimes he put two pointy almost triangles on the head and called it a cat; sometimes the points became too long and floppy; those pancakes were 'dogs.' Whatever he called the shape I could always see it in those pancakes.

Sometimes we'd pick berries, mostly blueberries and he'd drop them onto the pancakes once they'd been shaped in the hot skillet then he'd drop the berries one at a time into the pancake batter just as the batter formed bubbles. As the bubbles began to burst, he'd turn the pancake; let it cook until golden brown on the underside then serve it to us hot.

Sometimes we didn't have berries, so he'd add whatever was available, usually leftover canned veggies from the night before. Grandma (then Mom) wasn't very enamored with his additions to the pancakes other than berries. Every now and again he'd sprinkle the pancakes with whole kernel corn. Those were my favorite. I don't know why; they just were. I even liked them better than the pancakes sprinkled

Committee on Geographic Names approves three tribal proposals to replace derogatory names

SUBMITTED BY DNR

OLYMPIA - The Washington State Committee on Geographic Names approved five names, including new names submitted by tribes for three places that previously bore a term derogatory to Native American women, during a meeting Monday, May 1 at the Natural Resources Building.

The five names include a name for a reopened Puget Sound passage in Jefferson County, an official name for a ditch in Thurston County, and proposals from tribes for new names for a ridge in Okanogan County and lakes in Kittitas and Chelan counties. After their approval, the proposals will now be presented to the Board of Natural Resources for adoption. The proposals from tribes came in the wake of the U.S. Department of the Interior's orders in November 2021 to rename geographic features throughout the country that have derogatory names.

CHELAN COUNTY

The 5-acre lake west of Lake Wenatchee would be named Masawii Lake, a name proposed by a Wenatchi elder and submitted by the Confederated Tribes of the Colville Reservation.

OKANOGAN COUNTY

The 2-mile-long ridge about 8 miles west of Pateros would be named Swaram Creek Ridge after the creek that runs below it. The creek previously bore the same derogatory name, but the Board of Natural Resources approved the change of its name in 2018. The name was proposed by the Confederated Tribes of the Colville Reservation, coming from a Methow tribal elder. Staff will also submit the name Mokheil, a traditional name for this landform proposed by the Confederated Tribes and Bands of the Yakama Nation, to the federal geographic naming database as an alternate name for the ridge.

Once the Committee approves proposals that are up for final consideration, it forwards its recommendations to the Board of Natural Resources, acting as the Washington State Board on Geographic Names. If the board approves these recommendations, the approved names are added to the Washington Administrative Code and the Board passes them along to the United States Board on Geographic Names for federal review. Detailed information on all initial and final proposals, including maps, historical information, and supporting documentation can be found on the Board of Natural Resources page under the About tab on the DNR website. Information on the policies and procedures of the Committee can be found in the same location.

About the Washington State Committee on Geographic Names: The Committee, which meets at least twice annually, assists the Board of Natural Resources in approving official names for Washington state geographic features. It is made up of a representative of the Commissioner of Public Lands Hilary Franz, a representative of the State Librarian, the director of the Department of Archaeology and Historic Preservation, a representative of Washington state tribes, and three members of the public.

donated by the Wenatchee Downtown Association line the hall leading in and proudly surround the space with local faces of patriotism. Respectfully hung by the local Thomas A Biddle Foundation, are two flags around the banner of Thomas "Allen" Biddle, a fallen active-duty military soldier fallen to suicide. The blue star flag was presented to mothers of active-duty military soldiers and the gold star with blue outline flag was given to mothers of fallen military soldiers in active-duty.

The Vet Hall is a place for veterans to gather, a location for veterans to use, and is a resource for connecting veterans with additional veteran service organizations in the community. "The most rewarding part of this is seeing vets helping other vets," said Army vet George Turner, crediting help from Douglas County Veterans Service Officer and Air Force veteran Sarah Simonson. The Vet Hall is also home to a certified DAV Service Officer, Marine and Army vet Ron Bruno, who supports local veterans with disability claims and enrolling veterans in benefits, and he is there on Tuesday mornings and by contacting 509-679-2359 or ron.bruno@frontier.com.

The Wenatchee Valley Vet Hall was proudly "built by veterans for veterans" and is here to support the greater region of North Central Washington. The Wenatchee Valley Veterans Hall is a 501(c) (3) tax deductible corporation, and the facility is available for meetings at no cost for veterans or to the community via a veteran by donations which are saved to use for future maintenance. It can accommodate 250 people and they even have the chairs and tables on site. For more information visit www.facebook.com/WenValleyVetsHall or they welcome vets weekly at the Vet Hall on Tuesday mornings for coffee and camaraderie from 8-11 a.m.

Memorial Day

HONORING ALL VETERANS

SUBMITTED BY LINDA INGRAHAM
American Legion Auxiliary,
President

Memorial Day, the annual event pays tribute to those veterans who have willingly served their country for decades. Memorial Day, originally called Decoration Day, is a day on which Americans remember and pay tribute to their ancestral family members. It is sometimes easy to forget the true significance of this solemn day.

Where did the poppy tradition originate? The poppy comes from the poem "In Flanders Fields" written by Lt. Col. John McCrae. The poem refers to the poppies that grew out of newly dug soldiers' graves during World War I in Europe.

The American Legion Auxiliary adopted the poppy as its memorial flower in 1921 and started the Poppy Program in 1924. Today Auxiliary members distribute millions of poppies in exchange for contributions to assist military veterans and their families.

The distribution of poppies is only by donation, never sold.

You should look at the poppy and see what it represents. It's not just a flower with a label on it. Try to remember what the poppy stands for and what the meaning of Memorial Day is. Please take the time to set aside this one day of the year to remember, reflect, and honor those who have given their all in service to our country.

Everyone should be able to say, "I know why I am free". Proudly wear a poppy for Memorial Day. In addition, our auxiliary will be putting 1077 small flags on all veteran and auxiliary member's graves at the Cashmere Cemetery on Saturday, May 27 starting at 9 a.m. Cashmere American Legion Post #64 is planning their Memorial Day Ceremony Monday, May 29 at 11 a.m. with 474 big flags out this year.

In Flanders Fields

a 1919 collection of Lt. Col John McCrae
In Flanders Fields, the poppies blow (grow)

Between the crosses, row on row,
That mark our place; and in the sky
The larks, still bravely singing, fly
Scarce heard amid the guns below.

We are the dead. Short days ago
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow,
Loved and were loved, and now we lie,
In Flanders fields

Take up our quarrel with the foe:
To you from failing hands we throw
The torch; be yours to hold it high.

If ye break faith with us who die
We shall not sleep, though poppies grow
In Flanders fields.

WASHINGTON OUTDOORS REPORT

Tournament Bass Fishing, Part Two

By JOHN KRUSE

Last week I wrote about the Pro-Am bass fishing tournament I participated in at Potholes Reservoir where I personally didn't catch many bass fishing with two pros over two days, but I certainly learned a lot.

The experience prepared me well for the tournament that took place the next two days, May 6 and 7. This was the Limit Out Marine Big Bass Tournament, also at Potholes Reservoir and hosted by MarDon Resort. A total of 86 boats with one or two anglers in each one signed up to fish the event.

These tournaments are really fun. There are hourly weigh-ins and the biggest bass weighed in is worth $550 to the angler or team that caught it. Meanwhile, the biggest bass caught during the weekend is worth $7500 along with whatever hourly winnings the angler or team of anglers earned.

Two things I enjoy about Big Bass tournaments is that even a blind squirrel like me can occasionally find a nut or in this case, a big fish. Second, I believe a big bass tournament is good for the sport because there is less mortality to the fish. During a typical bass tournament, you have five fish in your live-well and may have them there all day. If you are fishing a stormy day and making a long run back to the weigh in site or are fishing on a hot day you run the risk of killing some of these fish, and the longer the fish are in your live well the worse it often is for the health of the fish.

In a big bass tournament though, you generally have the fish in the live well for an hour or less before weighing it in and releasing it. This is a much better way to reduce mortality. The other nice thing about a big bass tournament is that you immediately catch and release the fish you catch if you don't think they are big enough to win an hourly weigh-in.

I fished in the tournament with my best friend and longtime fishing partner Rusty Johnston. Like everyone else, we headed back into the sand dunes, looking for bass in the shallows on spawning beds or near them. We were lucky enough to find a spot nobody else was at and fished it all morning. We had a great day, catching fish after fish with wacky rigged Senkos, (a plastic work hooked in the middle with little to no weight).

The vast majority of the fish weighed two pounds, but we also caught a three-pound bass and one that was close to three and a half pounds. This fish was just an ounce or two shy of being a winning fish the first morning when a 3.6- and 3.7-pound bass both took home hourly cash winnings.

By the end of the day, we had caught 25 to 30 bass and were confident about the next day.

Unfortunately, the weather cooled overnight, and the bite cooled as well for just about everybody fishing this tournament. We caught some fifteen bass the second day fishing the same area and trying a couple of others as well. Unfortunately, the biggest bass we caught that Sunday was only a 2 1/2 pound fish.

As for the winners? That was Josh Lucas and Ryan Williams who both live in Pierce County. This was actually Williams first tournament fishing experience. Like me, he fished the Pro-Am and Big Bass tournaments as a co-angler. The two won two hourly prizes over two days. On day one they weighed in a bass under four pounds to win and the second day they got the big one next to a flooded tree where Josh had caught big bass in the past. When Lucas cast his Senko next to the tree, it was grabbed by a 6.15-pound largemouth bass and that fish earned the two a total paycheck of $8600.

If you want to fish at next year's event or find out more about tournament bass fishing at Potholes Reservoir, contact Russ Baker at Limit Out Performance Marine in Spokane Valley or just go to his tournament series website at www.bigbasstrail.com.

Personal use firewood cutting program now open

SUBMITTED BY ROBIN DEMARIO
US Forest Service

Wenatchee - Woodcutters are now able to obtain a free permit to cut firewood on the Okanogan-Wenatchee National Forest. Those who receive free use firewood permits may use the firewood for cutting, manufacturing, or other processing, but not for resale.

"This is the second year we have participated in this free permit program which benefits people who rely on firewood as their primary heat source. It not only benefits local woodcutters, but also allows us to dispose of material that otherwise would have a cost to burn or remove," said Forest Supervisor Kristin Bail.

Woodcutters need to obtain a free permit, firewood tags, a map, and also have a copy of the regulations on hand when cutting and transporting firewood. The free use firewood permits and tags will be available at Okanogan-Wenatchee National Forest Ranger District offices which began on May 1 and are valid through December 31. Permits will also be available at local vendors in the Methow Valley and Ellensburg; vendors will charge a $2 administrative fee per permit.

Procedures for issuing free personal-use or commercial use permits will vary by office, so please check to verify hours and permit purchase options for each location. People will need to provide their driver's license to obtain a permit and the permit holder must be present during firewood gathering in the National Forest.

Free personal use firewood collection is allowed in all designated areas authorized for firewood collection in the forest which are marked on the woodcutting map, which will be provided when firewood tags are distributed. Generally, woodcutters may cut wood lying on the forest floor and standing dead trees, except wildlife habitat trees. Be aware that western larch, also known as tamarack, drops its needles and may look dead, but isn't. No woodcutting is allowed in Congressionally designated Wilderness areas.

Firewood permit requirements for the Naches Ranger District are different from the rest of the forest. Special rules and conditions exist which limit the dates of the firewood cutting season in the Naches Ranger District. Please visit the Naches Firewood information page for details: www.fs.usa.gov

Obituary & Memorial Policies

NCW Media, Inc.: Leavenworth Echo, Cashmere Valley Record, Lake Chelan Mirror, Quad City Herald. An Obituary is a way for family member(s) to commemorate a loved one's life and to notify the community of the passing of the loved one. Obituaries are also used for historical and ancestral data. Memorials are another way to let the community know about the life and memories of the person who has passed. A Memorial is different from an Obituary. An Obituary is usually current, while a Memorial can be written later. Obituaries and Memorials need to be typed and emailed as a Word Document. They can be placed in one or more papers - all publish weekly on Wednesday. Obituaries are priced by the number of words and include one color photo and go online at no extra charge. Memorials are priced per column inch. Please call for cost. *Payment is due at the time of placement. *Exception: Chapels, funeral homes who have an account, can be billed. There is no charge for a Death Notice - information is limited. Deadline is 4 p.m. on Friday - some exceptions may apply. Cashmere Track at Districts

SUBMITTED BY COACH JEFF KENOYER

The Thursday, May 18 District Championship track meet hosted by Cashmere High School had great results. The five Caribou Trail League schools of Cashmere, Cascade, Chelan, Omak and Quincy participated. Athletes and relay teams needed to win the event to be ensured of a trip to the state track meet on Memorial Day weekend. We had a few athletes qualify because they ran a time that was good enough to allow them to participate in the state meet as well.

Forty-one personal records were set by Bulldog athletes at the District meet. Twenty-two athletes qualified for the state meet. The State Track meet will be held at Zaeffel Stadium in Yakima on May 25-27th. Both boys and girls followed up their Caribou Trail League team championships won at Quincy on May 10 with WIAA District 1A team championships.

Student Spotlight

Athlete: Garrik Strong

Reason: Garrik continues to improve each week, and has proven to be one of the top distance runners in the Caribou Trail League. On May 5 at Royal he placed 2nd in the 3200M run, and placed 3rd in the 1600M run. Both times were personal records. -Jeff Carlson/ Athletic Director
Coach Kenoyer: "Garrik Strong is having a super season! He set personal records in the 1600M run (4:45.69) and 3200M run (10:22.97) at the Vanderholm Invitational. He has set PRs for himself in the last three meets in the 1600M run and has broken his PR in each 3200M run he has run this year. He is the Caribou Trail League leader in the 3200M run and 2nd in the 1600M run."

Grade: 12th
Activities: "Confirmation" class at the church, Our Lady of the Assumption.
GPA: 3.76
Sports: Track & Cross Country
Future Plans: Pursue Business at the University of Idaho
Parents: Russell & Olga

Student: Scout Parsons

Reason: I would like to select Scout Parsons for student of the month. I am selecting them because they exemplify the Bulldog attributes of empathetic listening and respectful communication. They also work hard in class, but their kindness stands out. For example, in classes they are always willing to offer help to others and genuinely care how they are doing. They even offered to attend Afters with a friend who needed moral support. They didn't just attend one day, but attended with their friend for a couple of weeks. Scout's just being there and encouraging their friend helped this young lady change her mindset and start passing all of her classes. We could use more people who are kind and go out of their way to help others like Scout in the world.

Parents: Melissa Parsons Brandon Parsons
Grade: 11th
Activities: I mainly draw on my own time along with reading and photography. I also love to volunteer at the library when I can.
GPA: 2.76
Future Plans: I'll be completely honest, I don't plan to go to college or trade school right now. I'm much more focused on just saving money and working hard.

11 agencies awarded lodging tax grants for capital projects

SUBMITTED BY JILL FITZSIMMONS
PIO

WENATCHEE - Chelan County commissioners awarded $776,436 in lodging tax dollars to a variety of local agencies that will use the money for capital projects that support tourist-related activities.

The decision comes at the recommendation of the Chelan County Lodging Tax Advisory Committee, which reviewed 17 applications and narrowed those down to 11 projects.

"The county awards grant dollars from its lodging tax collections twice a year. This spring grant round, which focuses on capital projects, is always exciting because of the potential long-lasting impacts the dollars will have on our local tourist industry," said Commissioner Tiffany Gering, who is chairwoman of the committee. "We heard from several great projects this year that will not only build upon our economy but also be enjoyed by local residents in the future."

The advisory committee originally set aside $560,000 for the capital awards; however, that was raised an additional $216,000 because of the caliber of the projects, Gering said. The recipients are:

- Cascade Community Markets: $15,000 to expand and invest in equipment upgrades for the Leavenworth and Cashmere community farmers markets.
- Chelan County Natural Resources: $50,000 for improvements to the Cashmere Riverside Park boat ramp.
- Chelan County Natural Resources: $15,000 to develop capital facilities for river recreation in the Leavenworth area on Icicle Creek and the Wenatchee River. • Chelan-Douglas Land Trust: $30,000 for trail improvements and trail-related infrastructure in the Wenatchee Foothills Trail System. • Icicle Creek Center for the Arts: $87,500 for capital improvements related to parking. • Lake Chelan Ski Club: $70,000 to build a ski rental shop • Manson Chamber of Commerce: $68,000 toward irrigation and sidewalk repairs in the downtown core. • Plain Valley Ski Trails: $111,610 for the purchase of a utility groomer for its trails system. • Pybus Public Market: $150,000 toward its Westside Revitalization Project. • Wenatchee Valley Museum and Cultural Center: $150,000 toward its expansion and redesign project. • Wenatchee Youth Baseball Club: $29,326 for purchase of portable pitching mounds and an infield groomer for tournaments.

Lodging tax dollars are generated by local lodging establishments. In Chelan County, about half the money generated in a year is allocated to six local chambers as well as the Cascade Loop and TREAD. Another portion is used to operate the county's Visit Chelan County campaign.

Additional dollars are offered twice a year annually in the form of grants to tourist-related organizations, such as festivals and museums. A call for marketing and promotional grants is typically made each fall and a call for capital projects is typically made each spring. For more information, visit the LTAC webpage or Visit Chelan County webpage.

Washington Trust, National Park Service seeking teens to attend Free Summer Camp

SUBMITTED BY HUY PHAM

Washington Trust for Historic Preservation

The Youth Heritage Project (YHP) has been organizing camps in state national parks, historic districts, and other locations since 2014. This year's camp will take place at the Manhattan Project National Historical Park, also known as Hanford Nuclear Site, where participants will not only learn about history but also engage with science, ethics, tribal relations, site cleanup, and environmental stewardship. The Washington Trust for Historic Preservation, a statewide nonprofit organization, and the National Park Service have designed to promote collaboration and diverse perspectives to historic and cultural preservation of the nation's most important places. Clara Moore, a high school sophomore from Mercer Island who attended last year's camp in Port Townsend at Fort Worden State Historical Park, emphasizes the importance of collaboration between students and local organizations and is looking forward to participating in the Hanford camp. While the camp organizers acknowledge the devastating impact of plutonium production at the site on Hiroshima and Nagasaki, they believe it is crucial to understand and recognize the implications of American history, both domestically and overseas. The Hanford Site was originally inhabited by multiple Tribal nations and communities, and the camp organizers ask students to reflect on how the land has been stewarded and used for such a grim purpose. They also ask difficult questions about how to reconcile the history of labor force especially with African American and Latinx communities of the past and present Tri-Cities, recognizing the impact of this history and finding solutions to current issues that impact the community around the site. The Youth Heritage Project is a free program for selected high school students (including incoming freshman to graduating seniors) and is managed through a partnership with the National Park Service, the Washington State Department of Archeology and Historic Preservation, the Department of Energy, Tribal Nations, and local community partners. The overnight camp is will run from July 18 to July 21 and the deadline for student applications has been extended to May 31, 2023. For more information, visit preservewa.org/ylp.
