COMMUNITY VOICES
By BRAD HAWKINS

OLYMPIA — After successfully advancing through three Senate committees this session, Senate Bill 5001, sponsored by Sen. Brad Hawkins, has been approved unanimously by the Washington State Senate.

“This bill would give us the option of forming a second Public Facilities

District, which would provide our region with a legal structure for both financing and governance,” said Hawkins. He added, “If we can advance this bill through the rest of the process, we will have the ability to construct and operate a regional sports complex, if that is what our community leaders and voters decide to do.”

Senate Bill 5001 would amend the existing Public Facilities District statute to allow communities in the region to form a second district and ultimately seek voters to approve a regional sports complex.

Hawkins hosted several meetings last fall with local mayors, county commissioners, regional port,

Red Cross honors regional community heroes during Red Cross Month celebration in March

Northwest Region residents advance legacy of Clara Barton, one of most honored women in US history.

Help can't wait when emergencies strike-whether it's for the family huddled on the street after a home fire, the patient needing a blood transfusion, or the military member deployed during a family crisis. In these dire moments, Red Cross volunteers, blood donors and supporters provide relief and hope, helping to ensure that their neighbors never face these and countless other crises alone.

This March, the Northwest Region of the American Red Cross is honoring those who make its mission possible during the 80th annual American Red Cross Month celebration- a national tradition that began in 1943 when President Franklin D. Roosevelt issued the first Red Cross Month proclamation.

“When help can't wait during emergencies, people here in Washington state rally together to provide relief and hope for neighbors in need,” said Dan Wirth, Interim CEO for the Red Cross Northwest Region. “This humanitarian spirit is at the heart of our community, and we are proud to honor all those who make our mission possible during this year's Red Cross Month celebration. You can join in their commitment by donating, volunteering, giving blood, or taking a lifesaving skills course.”

Participate in Red Cross Month by visiting redcross.org to make a financial donation, give blood, become a volunteer, or take a class in lifesaving skills. On March 22, you can also join our annual Red Cross Giving Day campaign by donating at redcross.org/givingday to help provide shelter, food, relief items, emotional support and other assistance for people affected by disasters big and small.

Continuing Clara Barton's lifesaving legacy

Today's Red Cross volunteers, blood donors and supporters are advancing the lifesaving legacy of Clara Barton - one of the most honored women in U.S. history, who founded the American Red Cross more than 140 years ago. Her vision to prevent and alleviate human suffering has never wavered: generation after generation, people have come together to adapt this timeless mission for their communities' most urgent needs.

Today in our communities, this includes:

- Disaster volunteers like Phil Ohl, from Richland, Washington, who left his family over the holidays to help Hurricane Ian victims on a two-week deployment to Fort Myers, Florida, a beachfront community where the storm damage was massive.
- Blood donors like Larry Bleich who recently organized his own blood drive with the City of Gig Harbor. Also, Lisa Gardner, a lifelong sickle cell patient in Spokane working to raise awareness surrounding the need for more donors who are Black.
- And volunteers like Elisa Kissinger from Spokane, who in her first year as a Red Crosser has served in various roles, including volunteering with our Home Fire Campaign, and serving local military veterans.

Cashmere City Council Meeting

By KIRK BECKENDORF
Correspondent

As a memorial to Brent Holladay, Evergreen Mountain Bike Alliance (Evergreen) will pave and upgrade the pump track. The agreement with Evergreen was unanimously approved by the Cashmere City Council at their February 27 meeting. Holladay was instrumental in establishing the dirt pump track but passed away about a year ago. Cashmere's Director of Operations, Steve Croci, explained that Evergreen approached the City to make improvements to the existing track with no cost to the city. Kim Holladay told council members that an artistic metal sign is being designed that will be installed at the new track. She highlighted that the sign is a collaborative project of high school teachers, and students. Alan Pace, school art director, and Keith Boyd, engineering teacher, are working together to design and build the sign. Holladay added that the senior who will be doing the metal cutting is Brent's nephew.

James Munley, with Evergreen Bike Alliance, provided the Council with detailed plans for the project and said that Evergreen has designed and installed numerous pump tracks around the state, including ones in Leavenworth, Quincy, and East Wenatchee. Evergreen will coordinate the construction project which will be primarily completed by local volunteers and staff. All project labor, equipment and material expenses are being donated in memory of Brent. The city will retain ownership and maintenance responsibilities of the track.

A Cashmere Community Forum was held on March 6, at 6 p.m. at the Riverside Center. Mayor Fletcher told council members that the four main topics to be discussed at the forum included:

1. updates about the Sunset Highway Construction Project.
2. plans for the Cashmere Library to move to the Riverside Center.
3. options for city owned buildings- (particularly the building which currently houses the library).
4. options for funding the city's parks and pool.

Fletcher provided additional context about city parks. The recently completed Parks, Recreation and Open Space (PROS) Plan was developed with community input, which indicated a public desire for additional parks, facilities, and services. Fletcher said that the city currently spends about $100,000 per year maintaining the existing parks and about $150,000 to maintain and operate the pool. Input at the forum will help determine what current and additional facilities and services the public is willing to pay for. Fletcher explained that even if grant funding is used to create a new park facility or trail, additional money must be available for ongoing park maintenance. To implement many of the items in the PROS Plan, he said that it will be necessary to have citizens directly involved.

Director of Operations, Steve Croci, also told the Council that the WSDOT, and the County, will likely be at the Forum, presenting information about construction plans for Sunset Highway and Hwy. 2.

Fletcher told the council members that their role at the forum should be to engage in the small group discussions and asking citizens to explain their thoughts about the various topics.

Written comments may be submitted by email to: Mayor@CityofCashmere.org or by mail to: City of Cashmere, 101 Woodring St., Cashmere, WA 98815.

An interlocal agreement with Chelan County for an emergency generator and quick electrical connections was unanimously approved by the Council. In partnership with the County, Cashmere applied for, and received, a federal grant to purchase a mobile generator that can be used to power the city's critical water facilities. The County will administer the grant, and contract. The grant award to the city is $178,524 with the city matching $28,128. The project was listed as a priority in the City's Comprehensive Water Plan.

The Council also unanimously approved Woodard and Curran's (W&C) amendment to the installation of the city's lift station pumps.

Eileen Maier Bryd Celebrates 100th birthday

By RENEE VAN PUTTEN
Niece

Born January 25, 1923, in the home which her dad built on Alki Beach, West Seattle. Her father helped build Smith Tower in Seattle. His initials are carved into the top of the steeple. Eileen was born by a midwife named Mrs. Britt, who lived a few houses down.

There was a snow blizzard and snow 3 feet high when her mother went into labor. Mrs. Pritt was boiling hot water; she saw a letter at the door and ran upstairs to her mom. The letter said, “On this day a child is born that will never die.” Grandma had lost 1 child, a baby girl years ago, only 1 week old and was afraid to have another. Mrs. Pritt ran down the stairs and looked outside but saw no footprints.

After the Smith Tower was done, her dad got very ill because of drier climate change. They went back to Alberta, Canada, grew up and married Art Ellerson in 1940, and was only 17. They lived on a farm outside of Rimbey, Alberta. She has 2 girls and 3 boys all in Canada. She then married Dee Byrd in 1976. They worked picking fruit and eventually started working at the fruit stands picking and sorting fruit for 35 years until she was 83.

From Wenatchee, Monitor, Leavenworth and Peshastin. She was a hard worker, sometimes working 9 hours a day. She now resides at Epledalen in Cashmere, WA. She has an apartment and her brother-in-law Delibert lived there too. Since May 4, 2021, she is grandma to 13 and great grandma to 25 and great-great grandma to 2, plus one more on the way. She had a birthday party with her one daughter and husband, her youngest son and partner, and niece, from Renton, Washington, her brother's daughter, and all the people who live at Epledalen. She is happy and carefree to everyone and a blessing. That's the secret to living 100 years.

For the past 23 years, the Upper Valley Empty Bowls Festival has been a fusion of feeding the hungry, promoting the arts and celebrating community. The event brings talented artists, local restaurants, and the community together to share a simple meal of donated soup and bread. Proceeds from ticket sales and artist bowl auction are a substantial source of funding for the Community Cupboard Food Bank, a program of Upper Valley MEND (Meeting Each Need with Dignity). A key part of the Upper Valley Empty Bowls Festival is the Artist Bowl Auction. From 8 a.m. March 13 through 10 p.m. March 22, twenty bowls and platters designed and created by local artists and potters will be available for bidding online at the Upper Valley Empty Bowls website www.uvemptybowls.org. Each bowl is a work of art, from its' creation at the hands of skillful potters, to the hours of time it takes to painstakingly hand paint the designs, and then the final careful firing of the masterpieces. Each bowl is also available for immediate purchase with a "buy it now" price. Most of the bowls are ceramic serving bowls or platters thrown by local potters, but there is also a wood turned bowl by Scot Brower, an etched glass bowl by Teri Zimmerman, four handmade mugs by Momi Palmieri and many other colorful works of art featuring birds, plants, and local landscapes. While the contributions of the artists' time and talent are sizeable, so too is the financial impact of the auction of their bowls. The money raised by the artist bowl auction is a significant portion of the total Empty Bowls profit, each year raising more than $7,000 for the Community Cupboard. $1,000 of the proceeds also supports small art grants that benefit local youth. The auction bowls are also on display now in the Leavenworth shop windows of Benchmark Jewelers, Der Sportsmann, Inside & Out, Icicle Ridge Winery, Ganz Klasse!, Icicle Brewing Company, Jubilee Global Gifts, Posy Handpicked Goods and the Plant Ally. They will also be featured at the March 23 Soup Supper at the Leavenworth Festhalle, so that the community may view the finished bowls as everyone gathers to celebrate and eat together.

Michelle's Kitchen Table Strategies

By Michelle Priddy

Emergency Water

Well, it happened. After the windstorm took out the electricity; the light in the well house didn't come back on when the electricity came back on line; the most vulnerable pipe on the place froze; no water for four days. Being Grandma's daughter we had some cases of bottled water for drinking, a couple five gallon water jugs (designated for water when brand new) plus 20 half gallons of prepared water (see recipe below) so inflow water was alright but the outflow (sewage) was a worry since I didn't want to use up my stored water for emergencies to flush toilets unless I had to (that's a story for another day, but something to think about).

When it comes to plumbing, I am completely lost but that isn't the case for Sonny. He saw what the issue was, turned off the breaker in the well house so the water would stop gushing; stepped out of the well house to grouch a bit as he wrapped his head around the problem then turned and asked me, "Do you have Grey's phone number?" Grey's is the local plumbing outfit.

"No, but I can get it." I replied. He groused a bit more. "Sonny," I said, "this is the cost of home ownership." He quit grousing, stepped back into the well house took a closer look at the fractured pipe turned to me and said, "we need to go to town." I nodded and headed to the house to get the car keys. By the time I returned he'd figured out what he needed, took a picture of the broken pipe, and had sawed a piece of PVC pipe (as a reference for pipe size) to take with him.

"Do we still need Grey's number?" I asked. "I think I can fix it," he told me and he did. When we returned, I turned off the breaker in the main house to the well house because with all the water flowing I wanted to make sure there was no current to cause harm.

I went out and I tried to help but I was simply in the way in the close quarters of the well house. Eventually he handed me a flashlight and told me to go see what was happening outside the well house door. I blinked, he nodded. "Yes mom, I can do better alone." I shrugged, took the flashlight and headed out of the well house.

Sonny finished the job then let the purple PVC primer and PVC pipe cement cure overnight. Come morning he flipped the breaker in the well house to start the pump expecting water to flow again. It didn't. The water didn't flow because I'd turned off the well breaker at the main house breaker box. Sonny figured it out pretty fast, but it did slow him down a bit. I'm sure he groused under his breath about his over cautious mother. So now we have water again. Boy, am I glad we only lost water and still had electricity (that's a story for another day, but something to think about).

Emergency Prepared Water or Chlorinated Water

(Like hay, this should be done when sun shines in early fall

then changed out every 6 months)

- ½ or 1-gallon jugs
- Eye dropper
- Tap water
- Basic liquid bleach with 6% sodium hypochlorite

NOT scented; NOT color safe; NOT with added cleaners.

Look under 'active ingredient' on the side of the jug it will say % sodium hypochlorite

To one gallon of tap water add 8 to 10 drops of basic liquid bleach. If using ½ gallon jugs add 4 to 5 drops of basic liquid bleach. Pour out and remix every 6 months. Because it is hard to tell what bleach has in it these days, I use this water for hand washing, doing dishes, and cleaning up. I keep one case of water per person in the house in case of emergency for drinking water and use my emergency prepared water for everything else.

Note: I use the best quality jugs I can reasonably get. I like plastic because it won't break. Mine are ½ gallon clear used juice jugs rinsed three times with boiling water swished all around the inside surfaces of the jug immediately after they are emptied then turned upside down to drain overnight.

About the author: In 2000 Michele Priddy left the workforce to become a stay-at-home mother and wife. Being a one-income family in today's society meant she had to learn to budget quickly. Food became a priority early because she wanted the children to have the best nutrition she could offer them even on a budget. She taught cooking classes at various churches in her community on "How to stretch the food dollar with simple ingredients". Michelle has put her kitchen strategies, stories and recipes in booklets, her church newsletter and in her hometown newspaper, The Goldendale Sentinel. We hope you will enjoy her strategies, stories, and recipes. You can contact the Leavenworth Echo at Reporter@leavenworthecho.com or Michelle's email: mykitchenstrategies@gmail.com if you have any questions or comments.

 Salmon Sculpture stolen from WRI Grounds

Salmon Sculpture stolen from WRI Grounds

An Art piece stolen from Wenatchee River Institute (WRI) grounds along the Waterfront Park trail near Barn Beach in Leavenworth.

WRI was proud to commission a salmon sculpture from Swede W. Albert, an emerging Indigenous artist and descendant of the p'squosa people from the 12 Confederated Tribes of the Colville Reservation in Omak. He made the sculpture using recycled and salvaged metals. It was made to capture the essence of the salmon, an important part of the p'squosa culture and of all people in the Pacific Northwest.

The sculpture was installed last fall. WRI was ready to celebrate the art piece with a ceremony inviting community members, the Wenatchi Advisory Group, the artist, and sculpture sponsors once the snow cleared, and the signage was finished.

WRI Executive Director, Canuche Terranella said, "while we are saddened and disappointed by the theft, this is only a bump on the journey towards a closer connection with the p'squosa people, the original stewards of this land. We take lessons from this experience and will raise the funds to commission art like the Salmon Sculpture to share with our community."

The sculpture was broken off its boulder base on Thursday, February 16 in the evening or night. This theft was reported to the Chelan County Sheriff. WRI still hopes that it may be returned to them and asks the community to keep an eye out for this distinctive artwork.

Hawkins believes development of a facility in Wenatchi Landing would help meet an aquatic and recreational need in the region while also serving as a catalyst development project, potentially leading to significant economic activities

The Chelan-Douglas Regional Port Authority is currently administering a feasibility study to analyze the project and its economic benefits. The study group is comprised of numerous local officials and is chaired by East Wenatchee Mayor Jerrilea Crawford.

The Leavenworth Mosquito Control District board will hold their first public meeting of the 2023 season on Monday March 20th at 7 p.m via ZOOM. Those wishing to attend should use this Link: <https://cascadesd-org.zoom.us/j/81509826710>

Meetings are scheduled at 7 p.m. on the first or third Mondays of each month but are often cancelled due to a lack of pressing business. For up-to-date information call Jenny Mullins at 509-548-5904. The District will begin larvicide treatments as soon as mosquito larva are found (but no earlier than March 20) continuing until October 15 at the latest. Larvicides used include Bacillus thuringiensis subsp. israelensis, Bacillus sphaericus, and methoprene. Spinosad may also be used. In addition, a paraffinic white mineral oil may be used as both a larvicide and a pupicide.

The District seeks to reduce mosquitoes through habitat reduction and larviciding. Adulticides were not used from 2007 through 2022. If an adulticide is needed, we may choose to use malathion, natural pyrethrins, piperonyl butoxide (PBO), permethrin, etofenprox, naled, prallethrin, resmethrin, and/or sumithrin. Such spraying could occur in June, July or August anywhere within the District and will be noted at our website: www.leavenworthmosquitocontrol.org.

Larvicide treatment locations are also posted at this website. Additional sites may be added as needed. More information on these pesticides is available online at npic.orst.edu/pest/mosquito/.

For additional information or to be placed on a "no Spray" list, leave a message for Manager Jennifer Mullins at 509-548-5904. Placement on the list is not a guarantee on non-treatment. The Department of Ecology Aquatic Pesticides Permit Manager may be reached at 360-407-6600 or nathan.lublimer@ecy.wa.gov
