SUBMITTED BY RUSTY FINCH

Cashmere FFA Teams finished 1st & 2nd in the State FFA Apple Judging Contest on December 7 and landed seven individuals in the top ten. Alayna Groce was the State Champion winning the $1,000 scholarship sponsored by the Apple Education Foundation. Prior to the State event, Cashmere FFA finished 1st, 2nd, 4th, 5th & 6th at the District Contest with 9 students finishing in the top ten. For both competitions, contestants had to identify varieties from a list of 13 apples and pears in addition to common fruit blemishes such as codling moth, indenture, leaf roller or scale to name a few. Students also had to be familiar with sections of the Private Applicators Manual, calculate projected harvest dates and identify almost 30 different insects and mites that impact the fruit industry. Finally, contestants had to determine the internal pressure of an apple as it relates to storage and shipping. There were 38 teams and over 150 members that competed. The following 10 Cashmere students participated in the event.

Cashmere City Council meeting

BY KIRK BECKENDORF

Correspondent

Parking is prohibited on the streets and alleys of Cashmere between the hours of 4:00 a.m. and 7:30 a.m. The reminder was given at the Dec 12 Cashmere City Council meeting, by Director of Operations, Steve Croci, that these restrictions are in effect during the months of November through March to allow for snow removal.

Croci also announced that any ideas for changes to the city's comprehensive land use plan, such as changes in city zoning should be submitted to the city by the beginning of February.

Futsal courts should be included in the city's Parks, Recreation and Open Spaces (PROS) Plan suggested Cashmere resident, Ricardo Zepeda, during a Public Hearing regarding the Plan. He told the Council that local residents now go to East Wenatchee to play, but a place dedicated to the soccer game would benefit the youth and other Cashmere residents. Director of Operations, Steve Croci, replied that a futsal court is included as an option in the PROS plan.

The Council unanimously approved a $121,951 budget adjustment for the Water and Wastewater facilities operator, Woodard and Curran (W&C). The vote followed a detailed explanation about the increase by W&C Area Manager, Chris McMahon, and a lengthy discussion by council members. McMahon explained that the substantial 14% increase over the estimated budget was a result of many unknown issues to the city water and wastewater systems. W&C began operating the Cashmere systems in May of 2022. According to McMahon, "putting out fires" caused by unanticipated system failures resulted in about $44,000 in additional labor costs. An inflation-induced 20% increase, just since May, for wastewater treatment chemicals contributed about $30,000 to the increase above the estimated budget. He contributed the budget difference being a result of the company not knowing the poor conditions of the systems, a result of deferred maintenance and capital projects. According to McMahon, these issues were not detectable until W&C staff were actually in the field operating the facilities. He said, now that many of the problems have been dealt with, things are leveling out and costs are coming down. According to McMahon W&C is beginning to be able to start planning ahead, rather than reacting to problems.

Responding to a question from Mayor Jim Fletcher about the status of implementing technology that will track systems' operations, McMahon said that they are in the process of implementing a computerized maintenance management system. The crew has received training on the system and GIS data has been input into the system and maintenance routines are being added. The computer system will help anticipate needed maintenance to the water and wastewater facilities, allowing for preventative upkeep.

Council member, Chris Carlson, asked McMahon if W&C had a contingency value built into their estimated budget since they knew they were going into an unforeseen circumstance. McMahon replied that they expected to see a certain number of breaks and resulting overtime costs, but the amount grew dramatically beyond what was expected. He said they expected 2-3 calls per week but have received about 20; they expected about 1 waterline break/month but there has been about 5-6 per month; and they expected 1-2 sewer overflows/month, but there have been 5-8 each month. The computer system failed on the 5th day that they took over operation. In a final question, Carlson asked McMahon "What if we say, no, this is too much money?" McMahon replied on that there would need to be different discussions and he would have to touch base with his team, but the contract is cost plus 8.

Responding to a question from Council member Sheila Pistorosi, McMahon said that W&C is still looking

BOCC asks federal agencies to suspend efforts to reintroduce grizzlies into North Cascades

SUBMITTED BY JILL FITZSIMMONS

Chelan County commissioners have submitted comments to the National Park Service and U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, asking the federal agencies to immediately suspend current efforts to reintroduce grizzly bears into the North Cascades.

Commissioners also have asked the two agencies to begin consulting with the Board of County Commissioners, as well as neighboring counties, on the issue.

"This is frustrating, because the federal government pursued this effort only a few years ago," Commissioner Tiffany Gering said. "The effort was suspended after local counties like Chelan County spoke out against it. Yet here we are again, re-addressing this issue."

The submitted comments come after the NPS and USFWS hosted a series of four virtual public meetings to discuss grizzly bear restoration. The federal agencies are interested in initiating an Environmental Impact State process to evaluate options for restoring and managing grizzly bears in the North Cascades. Community comments were due Dec. 14. The BOCC's full comments, submitted to Don Striker, superintendent of the North Cascades National Park Service Complex, are below.

Re: 2022 North Cascades Ecosystem Grizzly Bear Restoration Plan/ Environmental Impact Statement

Mr. Don Striker, Superintendent North Cascades National Park Service Complex

Dear Mr. Striker:

Chelan County has reviewed the Notice of Intent from the National Park Service and US Fish and Wildlife Service to prepare a Grizzly Bear Restoration Plan and Environmental Impact Statement. We have previously provided extensive comments opposing grizzly bear reintroduction into our local communities. We continue to oppose grizzly bear reintroduction given the likely negative impacts to public safety, economic development, recreation opportunities and the overall livelihood of our rural communities. The federal agencies leading this effort have generally failed to address these concerns and have failed to engage in Looking ahead to the 2023 Legislative session

The Washington State Legislature meets each January but alternates between longer sessions of 105 days in odd years and shorter sessions of 60 days in even years. This year, the Legislature will convene on January 9th for a 105-day session. The primary focus will be developing the operating, transportation, and capital budgets for the 2023-2025 biennium. In addition to developing new state budgets, committees will conduct hearings and the Legislature will debate and update various laws. After two years of COVID pandemic "hybrid" sessions with only partial in person activities, the upcoming session is expected to return to more standard operations. Here is a review of each of the state budgets, including their 2021-2023 approved amounts:

courts, and other areas. With a budget of this size, there are always things to like and things to disapprove of. Despite the COVID pandemic, state revenues have been positive, with more dollars flowing into the state than what was previously projected. The November 2022 revenue forecasts estimates approximately $66.2 for the 2023-2025 budget cycle. Overall, this revenue figure is still higher than previously projected, although uncertainty remains for how national economic factors, such as interest rates, gas prices, and inflation will truly affect state revenues over the next two and four years.

Transportation budget ($12.2 billion)

The transportation budget funds the construction and maintenance of the state transportation system, including the maintenance and preservation of roads, bridges, and ferries. This budget also funds state agencies and commissions that serve our transportation system and numerous previously approved road projects based on their construction schedules.

Due to the lack of driving during the COVID pandemic, much of the gas tax revenues to the transportation budget were significantly less than in past years but federal infrastructure legislation provided some enhanced funding for transportation. Last session, a new 16-year, $16.9 billion "Move Ahead Washington" transportation package was approved, primarily for maintenance of the existing system and some large-scale transportation projects. With this significant package approved, it is unlikely major new projects will be funded in 2023.

Capital budget ($7.8 billion)

The state capital budget funds the construction and maintenance of state buildings, public school matching grants, higher education facilities, public lands, parks, and other assets. Most sections of the capital budget include grant programs where governments apply for funding based on specific qualifications and matching funds. Other elements of the capital budget are more subjective. In recent years, the 12th District team has been able to generate big wins for our district through this budget. Unfortunately, the upcoming capital budget could be significantly strained due to inflationary factors and the rising costs of construction projects.

New changes to district boundaries

The Washington State Redistricting Commission's new boundaries for our 49 legislative districts are in effect for the 2023 session. The new boundary for the 12th District includes East Wenatchee, Chelan County, and portions of Snohomish County (Index to Monroe) and King County (North Bend to Duvall). Due to retirements and elections wins, many districts have new legislators, surely to create new dynamics at the Capitol. The balance of power is similar to past years. There are 49 members of the State Senate (29 Democrats and 20 Republicans) and 98 members of the House of Representatives (58 Democrats and 40 Republicans). It will be interesting to see how the Legislature functions with the new lawmakers and their redesigned districts. Hopefully the Legislature will adjourn by May with all three budgets approved.

Cashmere Girls Basketball Coach's Comments

By LINDSAY TIMMERMANS

Staff Report

Bulldogs Coach Brent Darnell is starting his tenth year at Cashmere High School, and his 24th year overall.

With 7 returning players for the 2022-23 season; 3 seniors, 2 juniors and 3 sophomores.

New players to the team are Kora Trainer and Adysen Bjorklund, both are sophomores.

The numbers are about the same as from previous years.

"We had a great season last year. We won our 9th straight Caribou League title and 8th straight CTL District Championship. We made it to the final four of the state tournaments and ended up placing 3rd at State," said Darnell.

For competition they have some tough non-league games this year, (Warden, Wapato, Okanogan, and Ellensburg), and their league game competitions are always tough. "Omak, Chelan and Quincy are all well-coached teams with some really talented athletes, which should make for some very competitive basketball games," said Darnell.

As standouts, seniors Maddie Hammond and Kaitlyn Bjorklund are going to have a great year. "Those two girls have worked and improved as well as any kids we've had come through our program," said Darnell.

"Unfortunately, Zoe Brown, one of our seniors, tore her ACL in soccer and is unable to play her senior year. But Zoe's great attitude and senior leadership is contagious, and she provides that much-needed inspiration during a long and tough basketball season," said Darnell.

"Bri Talley and Katie Piepel are two great athletes and now that they understand our system entering their second year on varsity, they are going to be a big part of our success. Our sophomore class, Leah Kunz, Ellie Bessonette, Allie McKenna, Adysen Bjorklund and Kora Traynor, is a very talented class of kids. The key to their success and our team's success is how fast they mature. They are athletic, competitive and they are all a pleasure to coach. Expect great things from our sophomores."

Darnell commented "We're excited for this new group of Bulldogs to create their own legacy. After graduating the CTL Player of the Year Riley Johnson, and All-League guards Ella Burts and Genna Ledesma, this year's team knows they have big shoes to fill. But they look forward to the challenge and look forward to another great year of Cashmere Girls Basketball."

Kyle Hart with his prototype Lone Peak camper

An affordable, innovative camper

By JOHN KRUSE

They say misfortune is the mother of innovation and for Kyle Hart, that was certainly the case. The 34-year-old inventor and entrepreneur was elk hunting with friends near Ashford in Western Washington. Kyle had a roof top tent camper in the back of his pick-up truck and he and his companions used dirt bikes to get to the area they wanted to hunt. However, when they returned, they found someone had taken a Sawzall and literally sawed the tent structure right off the bed of the truck and as an added bonus, they also stole the trailer for the motorcycles.

Kyle needed another tent camper but he didn't want to go through this heartbreak again. That's when he came up with the idea that led to the prototype of the Lone Peak camper. What Kyle came up with is ingenious. It is a lightweight (300 pound) hard shell, aluminum camper. Like a pick-up canopy, you put it on top of your truck's bed rail and clamp it in. Side panels open up giving you access to storage boxes that hold a lot of the things you'll need for your camping or overlanding expedition. Going to the back of the truck you fold down your tailgate, lift up the lockable camper door, and get inside the camper. A tall, wedge-shaped tent quickly opens up giving you ample room to stand. In fact, the roof of the tent at the back of the truck bed is nearly 10 feet high and has zip screen windows giving you great views. The bed, as long as a queen size bed and 54 inches wide, lies over the cab of the truck and is definitely spacious enough for two. Better still, it's four inches thick, double the standard foam bed you find in many truck campers.

When standing inside the camper you can fold down shelves on both sides, perfect for cooking food on a small camp stove or working on a laptop. The bed can also be moved out of the way so you can have the entirety of the truck bed available for use. Other accessories include both interior and exterior lighting available from a Juice Box that can be controlled by pushing buttons on the unit at the back of the truck or by using a cell phone app. Kyle has his prototype mounted on his Ford F-150 truck but said his campers will be useable for up to 74 different models of trucks, to include smaller pick-ups like the Toyota Tacoma.

Perhaps the most amazing thing about this camper is the price point. A full-scale truck camper can cost anywhere from 40,000 to $80,000. Many pop-up truck campers cost more than $25,000 and even tent-style roof-top truck campers go for north of $10,000.

The price of the Lone Peak Camper? Only $5,995. That's the base model without any accessories but Kyle explained he wanted to make this as affordable as possible for consumers.

As for the accessories? Those include LED lighting, Gear Vault storage boxes, a cab pass through window, grab handles, ladders, laser light bars and roof fans. These can all be added on to the base model camper and installed when you order one.

Kyle lives in Wenatchee, Washington and is currently building these campers out of his garage. After he built his first one, he went on a 4500-mile, multi-state road trip through Western America putting the camper through its paces and meeting up with potential customers and installers. The trip was worth every mile. When Kyle launched his roll-out campaign this fall, he received pre-orders to the tune of one million dollars in his first week.

Kyle is focused now on getting a facility with more space and hiring employees to produce these campers in June and have those initial orders filled by August. Consumers will be able to get these campers installed at facilities in Wenatchee, as well as in California, Colorado and New Mexico. Look for Kyle Hart and his prototype Lone Peak Camper at the Washington Sportsman's Show in Puyallup from February 1 - 5.

If you are an overlander, hunter, angler, or camping enthusiast there is a lot to love about the Lone Peak Camper. You can find out more about it and watch a YouTube video that gives you a great visual walk-through of this product at www.lonepeakoverland.com.

for a quality qualified manager to oversee Cashmere's systems but has not yet found anyone that is qualified and that W&C can meet their salary expectations.

John Perry asked what W&C was going to do for the city to reduce costs and get a permanent project manager. McMahon replied that the budget is coming in line with the system issues being addressed, reducing overtime labor costs. Costs were under budget in November and McMahon expects December to be at or below budget. In terms of the project manager, he explained that they can find people who are willing to do the job, but "we want to find some that can bring the level of expertise that Woodard and Curran expect" and until then

W&C will continue to provide the support that has been provided to date.

In additional W&C related votes, the Council unanimously approved two Out of Scope agreements with W&C for replacing and programming a new SCADA server. Croci explained that the funds were already budgeted, but the work was being shifted from RH2 Engineering to W&C, since they will be the ones operating the computer system.

The 2022 budget was amended, shifting funds that reflect changes in the Fire Department. Kay Jones, City Clerk-Treasurer, explained that the dollar amount remains the same, funds were just shifted.

In other business, final approval was given by the Council for the Freedom Hills subdivision and changes to the utility and billing policy which will reflect the recent changes made to city fees.

Fire and Life Safety Gift Ideas

SUBMITTED BY WASHINGTON STATE FIRE MARSHAL'S OFFICE

With the holiday season upon us, the Washington State Fire Marshal's Office would like to keep fire and life safety in the forefront when shoppers are out searching for the perfect gift.

If you're having a difficult time trying to figure out what to buy that special person, here are some suggestions:

- Smoke and Carbon Monoxide Alarm - Proven fact: THEY SAVE LIVES!
- Portable Fire Extinguisher - Puts out small fires or can contain it until the fire department arrives.
- Escape Ladder - Can be placed in or near windows to provide an additional escape route.
- Flashlight - In addition to lighting the way at night during an emergency, flashlights can be used to find people who require rescue and signal for help when needed.

- Whistle - Great notification tool during an emergency for those needing rescue.
- Emergency Weather Radio/Crank Radio - Used during a power outage to stay informed of any changes during disastrous weather conditions or in times of national security.
- First Aid Kit - Essential item for survival during a disaster for first aid needs
- Solar Electronics Charger - When the power goes out, it is only a matter of time before your cell phone battery is fully drained. In these modern times, a cell phone may be your only form of communication in an emergency.

- Emergency Food/Water Kit - These kits have extended shelf lives and give the nutrition and calories needed to survive during an emergency.
- Emergency Roadside Car Kit - Harsh weather don't occur when you are safe at home, but sometimes hit while you are on the road during the holidays. Be prepared to keep yourself and your passengers safe until assistance can arrive.

Obituary & Memorial Policies

NCW Media, Inc.: Leavenworth Echo, Cashmere Valley Record, Lake Chelan Mirror, Quad City Herald. An Obituary is a way for family member(s) to commemorate a loved one's life and to notify the community of the passing of the loved one. Obituaries are also used for historical and ancestral data. Memorials are another way to let the community know about the life and memories of the person who has passed. A Memorial is different from an Obituary. An Obituary is usually current, while a Memorial can be written later. Obituaries and Memorials need to be typed and emailed as a Word Document. They can be placed in one or more papers - all publish weekly on Wednesday. Obituaries are priced by the number of words and include one color photo and go online at no extra charge. Memorials are priced per column inch. Please call for cost. *Payment is due at the time of placement. *Exception: Chapels, funeral homes who have an account, can be billed. There is no charge for a Death Notice - information is limited. Deadline is 4 p.m. on Friday - some exceptions may apply. Please call 509-548-5286 for more information Or email classifieds@leavenworthecho.com any meaningful way Chelan County and other neighboring counties in the proposed grizzly bear restoration area. NPS and USWFS appear to acknowledge the inherent dangers of reintroducing grizzly bears to our local communities in the current proposal; however, instead of taking pause they have chosen to accelerate the EIS effort. The "10j" proposal is not well-defined. It identifies the need for grizzly bear management options for "certainty, safety and control for the region." However, it then goes on to suggest reintroduction. In a time when collaboration and partnerships are the norm for restoration efforts, the lack of coordination and consultation with local communities on this effort, as well as the failure to address rural community concerns, is disappointing. Federal agencies have an obligation to coordinate and consult with local governments, specifically county governments, to ensure consistency between federal and local planning efforts and policies. There has been no effort to engage us in this current effort, and the EIS timeline appears to fast-track the effort toward a predetermined outcome. This board also questions the legality of the effort, given Washington State law states, "Grizzly bears shall not be transplanted or introduced into the state (RCW 77.12.035)." We are concerned the current approach appears to run counter to local and state policies and laws. We request that you immediately suspend the current effort and consult with us and counties in the proposed grizzly bear reintroduction area to discuss our concerns. Board of Chelan County Commissioners Kevin Overbay, Chairman, Tiffany Gering, Commissioner, Bob Bugert, Commissioner
