If apples are bouncing at picking time you're either dropping them or successfully unloading a heavy, brimming picking bag into a bin. The bounce-back of the Cashmere Museum's annual event certainly will be a nod to the latter, returning unblemished and ready to celebrate this year's harvest.

The Cashmere Museum's largest fundraiser gets underway this weekend with the 26th annual Apple Harvest Days. The event, which is typically held the first weekend in October, returns after a 2-year hiatus to celebrate the bountiful Upper Valley apple harvest.

The festival's Apple Days name was altered to add 'Harvest' this year. Museum Directory Nicky Clennon said "We will likely transition to change the name next year to Harvest Days to better represent our community since apples are just one of the many wonderful crops harvested here in the fall. We wanted to keep "apple" in the title this year so that people would correlate this year's celebration to the Apple Days the museum hosted pre-pandemic." The family fun celebration will be held on Saturday, October 1 from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. at the Cashmere Museum and Pioneer Village; 600 Cotlets Way, Cashmere. Join in this opportunity for the community to engage with neighbors and celebrate tradition.

But wait, don't forget the pie! Enter your pie in the Apple Harvest Days Pie Contest, sponsored by Apple Annie's Antique Gallery, to find out if you make the best apple pie in town. There will be a youth category for 18 and under, an adult category, and senior category for 60+. First Place cash prize is $50 and Second Place cash prize is $25. Bring your pie to the Cashmere Museum & Pioneer Village on Friday September 30, between 10 a.m. - 4 p.m. to enter. Three judges will taste each pie on Friday night, and winners will be announced the next day at Apple Harvest Days, Saturday, October 1. The pies will be displayed in the Museum lobby in the morning. Bakers can pick up their pies to take home after the winners are announced. Email the museum pie coordinators at info@ cashmeremuseum.org or call 509-782-3230 with any questions.

Apple Days explores the past and brings neighbors together. Children, adults, and faux pioneers will gather to see exhibits, demonstrations, submit a chance to win a uniquely hand-stitched quilt, and sway along to some music. Lois Tate, and the ladies at the Friends of Old Mission created a queen size quilt of Cashmere Mountain to raffle for the benefit of the Cashmere Museum & Pioneer Village. Raffle tickets are $1 each and can be pre-purchased at the museum and at the event. The winner will be announced on October 1 at Apple Harvest Days (need not be present to win). The Museum extended a huge thanks to the Friends of Old Mission for their beautiful work and endless support.

Carly Schoening will be opening the day by singing the National Anthem at 9:00 a.m. and will perform from 9:30 to 10:00 a.m. after the announcement of the Apple Pie Contest winners. Enjoy the folksy tunes of Corban Welter for his set that starts at 10 - 11:30 a.m.- a great way to kick off a day of family fun. Mariachi Huenachi will perform in the afternoon from 1:15 - 2:15 p.m.,

Prairie Girls play from 2:15 to 3:45 p.m., and the CHS Jazz Band will close out the day performing from 4:00 to 5:00 p.m.

There will also be dance performances performed by Parque Padrinos Folkloric Dancers, a traditional dance troupe from Wenatchee. They will perform from 11:30 - 12:15 p.m., and a show by the Wenatchee Youth Circus from 1:15 - 2:15 p.m.

Traditional family-favorites like gold-panning, free face painting, and pony rides are scheduled to return to the Pioneer Village. The Cashmere Public Library will be holding story time in the School House and Mr. Whiskers will be creating free balloon animals and the kids game corner will be back. All are welcome to sip sarsaparilla soda in the Saloon, and to explore the freshly spruced log cabins. The museum will be open inside to view their new displays, kiosk, and gift shop. The cost is $5.00 per person over the age of 3, and kids under 3 are free. The Cashmere Museum and Pioneer Village invite you to rediscover the time and place that inspires our village of now.

Turn over a new leaf – give blood or platelets this fall

Donors have chance at VIP racing experience and more as new season begins

SUBMITTED BY BETSY ROBERTSON

On the first day of fall, the American Red Cross is asking the public to start the season off with a lifesaving blood or platelet donation. While the leaves turn, the need for blood never changes. Those who give this fall play an important role in keeping the blood supply high enough to help patients counting on blood products for care—especially ahead of the busy holiday season. Book a time to give blood or platelets by using the Red Cross Blood Donor App, visiting RedCrossBlood.org or by calling 1-800-RED CROSS (1-800-733-2767).

As a thank-you, the Red Cross is offering these exciting opportunities for donors:

- All who come to give through Sept. 30 will be automatically entered for a chance to win a VIP NASCAR racing experience, including two tickets to a 2023 Sport Clips Haircuts-sponsored race of the winner's choice, round-trip airfare for two, up to a three-night hotel stay, and entry to a Sport Clips racetrack hospitality tent, if available, plus a $750 gift card, thanks to Sport Clips.
- Those who come to give in September will also receive a coupon for a free haircut by email, also thanks to Sport Clips. Details are available at rcblood.org/racetogive.
- All who come to give Oct. 1-31, 2022, will receive a $5 e-Gift Card by email to a merchant of choice.

Upcoming blood donation opportunities:

- Cashmere
Oct. 4 at 12:30 - 5:30 p.m., Cashmere United Methodist Church, 213 S. Division St.
- Oct. 5 at 9 - 2 p.m., Cashmere High School, 329 Tigner Road

How to donate blood

Simply download the American Red Cross Blood Donor App, visit RedCrossBlood.org, call 1-800-RED CROSS (1-800-733-2767) or enable the Blood Donor Skill on any Alexa Echo device to make an appointment or for more information. All blood types are needed to ensure a reliable supply for patients. A blood donor card or driver's license or two other forms of identification are required at check-in. Individuals who are 17 years of age in most states (16 with parental consent where allowed by state law), weigh at least 110 pounds and are in generally good health may be eligible to donate blood. High school students and other donors 18 years of age and younger also have to meet certain height and weight requirements.

Blood and platelet donors can save time at their next donation by using RapidPass® to complete their pre-donation reading and health history questionnaire online, on the day of their donation, before arriving at the blood drive. To get started, follow the instructions at RedCrossBlood.org/RapidPass or use the Blood Donor App.

About the American Red Cross: The American Red Cross shelters, feeds and provides comfort to victims of disasters; supplies about 40% of the nation's blood; teaches skills that save lives; distributes international humanitarian aid; and supports veterans, military members and their families. The Red Cross is a nonprofit organization that depends on volunteers and the generosity of the American public to deliver its mission. For more information, please visit redcross.org or CruzRojaAmericana.org, or visit us on Twitter at @RedCross.

A busy weekend at Potholes Reservoir

By JOHN KRUSE

The weekend of September 17 and 18 was a very busy one at MarDon Resort at Potholes Reservoir. Four fishing tournaments took place there, and at 6 a.m. there was a long line of trucks with boat trailers waiting to launch at the resort. One of the tournaments was a high school bass fishing tournament, another was the Mt. St. Helens Bass Masters club tournament and the third was the one I was fishing in with my best friend Rusty Johnston, the Old Farts Bass Tournament. Put on by the Banks Lake Bass Club every September, at least one angler on each team has to over 40 years old. This is an open tournament (meaning anyone can enter) and $400 of proceeds from this year's event will be used to provide a scholarship for a local student.

It was a beautiful morning. The temperature was around 50 degrees, and the skies were partly cloudy with only mild winds. Rusty and I had fished the reservoir a week earlier in an effort to figure out where the fish were and found the water levels had changed dramatically since our last time on the water in June when the reservoir was at full pool. Since then, work was being done to improve a public boat launch on the east side of O'Sullivan Dam and in order to do this the water levels were dropped nearly 23 feet. This meant the entire sand dunes portion of the reservoir was inaccessible, and the lake was fishing pretty small.

Despite this we had good success finding and catching bass at the mouth of Frenchman's Wasteway, near the face of the sand dunes, and off the rip rap at O'Sullivan Dam. Better still, we were the first boat out for the tournament and actually got to the spot we wanted at the mouth of Frenchman's Wasteway before anyone else did.

Things started off promising. We were after a shared limit of five bass, with the heaviest limit weighed in winning the one-day tournament. I caught a two-pound bass right off the bat that went into the livewell and then hooked into a very big fish that I thought for sure was going to be a huge smallmouth bass. Alas, it was a six-pound walleye! An impressive fish, but not what we were looking for during a bass tournament. After that the bite died down and we didn't catch anything else for 90 minutes.

We decided to try fishing off one of the sunken humps near the face of the sand dunes, something many of the contestants were doing. Rusty caught a keeper but that was the only bite we got. From there we went towards Medicare Beach on the east side of the lake where I caught another keeper but that was the only fish we got there.

Finally, we fished crankbaits off the face of O'Sullivan Dam, something that worked very well a week earlier. Unfortunately, the only fish I caught was another walleye, but Rusty caught several keepers using a black and chrome Berkley Flicker Shad crankbait. By the end of the day, we had caught seven bass weighing two pounds or better. Unfortunately, we couldn't find any bass that weighed over three pounds and our final weigh in was just under 11 pounds for our five fish.

Most of the other contestants had a day similar to ours but some of the anglers, as always, figured things out. That included the team of Tag Watson and Matt Krumdiack who came over from Bellingham to fish this tournament. Using big soft plastics from a company called Magnum Baits, their five fish weighed in at 20.95 pounds, besting the next team by almost four pounds. Matt also caught the big bass of the Old Farts Tournament, a 4.82-pound largemouth bass. Between the first-place finish and biggest bass caught, the two went home with a check for $1620.

As for the fourth tournament, this one is something special because no boat is required. It's the annual MarDon Resort Dock Tournament, taking place on and around the marina at MarDon Resort. It kicks off Friday night and runs thru Sunday morning and the anglers catching the largest two fish out of ten different species wins cash prizes. This year's first place winners were:

- Perch - K. Daughtry
- Bluegill - N. Melburn
- Pumpkinseed - G. Goss
- Crappie - Rolondo Duddly
- Walleye - Kevin Kay (6-pounds)
- Largemouth bass - Greg Watson (3.9 pounds)
- Smallmouth bass - Chris Sliker (3.4 pounds)
- Rainbow trout - none weighed in
- Carp - Kevin Kay (14.4 pounds)
- Bullhead - Z. Taketa

And then there was the biggest fish caught off the docks during the tournament, a channel catfish reeled in by I. Harris that weighed in at just under 17 1/2 pounds.

Fishing for bass, walleye and other species should continue to be good through October. If you are looking for a place to stay (and eat and stock up on fishing tackle) go to www.mardonresort.com. Potholes State Park is an option as well and has a useable boat launch.

Many gather for the memorial event to honor the victims and heroes of 9/11

By MATTHEW OCKINGA

Correspondent

CASHMERE - For many people, the answer comes automatically. Seemingly all those of a certain age can recall where they were and what they were doing when they heard of tragic events of September 11, 2001. Everyone has a story.

Though across the country from where the attacks took place, the small town of Cashmere honors the victims and heroes of 9/11 in a special and perpetual way with a special memorial to commemorate the events of that fateful day. Many citizens along with law enforcement officers gathered at Riverside Park this past Patriot Day for the 9/11 Spirit of America Memorial Annual Remembrance Ceremony.

Doug Jones, president of the 9/11 Spirit of America Memorial Foundation, began the ceremony by turning back the clock to the day that forever changed America.

"Those who woke up that morning, similar to the first responders here today, woke up that morning maybe kissed their spouse good morning, had breakfast with their kids, shared a laugh with one of their station buddies and then headed off to work just like any other day," Jones said. "But it was not any other day, was it? We know that it was a day that would call them into the fiercest battle against evil in their careers."

Jones then turned the ceremony over to master of ceremonies John Kruse, retired captain of the Wenatchee Police Department. Kruse served the Wenatchee PD for 24 years. Reflecting on Sept. 11, he told the story of getting off of night shift as a young patrol sergeant and hearing the news of the attacks on KPQ 560 radio while driving home.

"The one good thing that came out of that day, especially seeing now and how we are as a country, was how united we became, and I can only hope and pray that we find that unity as a county and as people again," Kruse said.

After Kruse's opening remarks, the Seattle Police Department Pipes and Drums then accompanied the Chelan County Sheriff's Office Color Guard in the presentation of the colors. After Jared LuBean sang a Capella version of the Star-Spangled banner, Chaplain Paul Hughes of the North Central Washington Chaplain Foundation, offered a prayer.

"Father God, you know why we've come here today. It's to honor the fallen and injured from the tragic attack on American that happened on Sept. 11, 2001," Hughes prayed. "Although you did not author the evil that took place that day, it also did not take you by surprise because you know all things. We pray this morning to you because not only do you know all things, you divinely care for every soul that was lost that day when foreign terrorists used planes to destroy American lives. It is to both your knowing and you're caring that we appeal."

Jones then presented the Spirit of America Award to local representative from North-Central Washington Fire, Emergency Medical Services and Law Enforcement. Accepting the awards for their respective divisions were Chief Blake Larson of the Cashmere Fire Department, Ray Eickmeyer of Lake Chelan EMS, and Ivy Jacobsen of the East Wenatchee Police Department. Jacobsen was earlier named the NCW Officer of the Year.

New to the ceremony this year was the reading of all the names of the first responders who died on 9/11. Local officers read the names while the traditional ringing of the bell took place after each one. Almost 3,000 Americans lost their lives in the attacks in New York City, Washington D.C. and Shanksville, PA. In New York, those victims included 344 firefighters, 72 police officers and eight EMS providers.

The memorial consists of many parts including two twin granites towers about 11 feet tall. Engraved in these pillars are the world of each 9/11 victim in New York City. There is also a metal beam section from the 60th floor of one of the towers. Another monument exists for those who died in the attack on the Pentagon and stand in the shape of the building. An ornamental piece of limestone from the face of the Pentagon is on display. The third monument, in the shape of Pennsylvania, honors the passengers and crew of United 93 which crashed in Shanksville. Now also included in the memorial is the "Survivor Tree." This is a Callery Pear similar to the plant pulled from the World Trade Center site. Four granite monuments of people holding hands represent individuals who died from the three attack locations.

John Jackson established 9/11 Spirit of America Memorial Foundation after the attacks and wanted a monument in each state of the country. Cashmere had to compete with several candidates for the memorial which came with many requirements. Eventually the foundation awarded the memorial to Cashmere and dedicated it in 2015.

"It's been one of the most moving things I've ever been involved in," said Tom Green, current board member and past president of the local foundation.

In Remembrance

Queen Elizabeth died on September 8, 2022. As the longest reigning British monarch, her passing leaves a massive void in the United Kingdom and that of the entire world. The Queen represented the stability of an institution and a British cultural identity. When you think of England, your mind immediately thinks of the Queen, and therefore, you could say that the U.K. and the Queen were one and the same. The Queen was a constant presence on the world stage, and we can't remember when Queen Elizabeth wasn't on the throne.

However, that is all different now. Her son, Charles, has ascended to the throne, and the call, "God save the Queen!" is no longer heard or relevant. Now it is "God save the King!"

Having such a high-profile figure die puts a needed truth before the eyes of the watching world—a fact that we often try to ignore. Yet it is an unescapable reality and will visit each of us at some point. Death is ever-present here and indiscriminate of who it will take. Regardless of status in life, death is the great equalizer.

Furthermore, Queen Elizabeth's passing also reminds us of another truth, the change that comes about because of death. In her case, the U.K. and the world will forever be different. Those of us who have lost someone personally can attest that our world is never the same without them. The Queen's death means a loss of her presence, ending her legacy, and a time of upheaval and change within the nation. When someone we care about dies, we experience the same, albeit on a much smaller scale.

Since death is ever before us and creates such dramatic changes in our lives, how should we respond to it?

First, we should acknowledge that it happens. Denying the reality that people die or refusing to face it when it occurs only exacerbates and prolongs the grief and pain of loss. The Bible clearly states that death has not only entered our world but has plagued it since our first parent Adam sinned in the garden of Eden (Rom. 5:12).

Second, since death is a reality here, we should prepare to make our lives count with the brief time we have left. As the Scripture teaches, your life is but a vapor—here today and gone tomorrow (James. 4:14). Making your life count is not so much about pursuing little things like worldly success or completing your bucket list. Those things are transient, and those joys are fleeting at best. As the Westminster Catechism states, our lives here are to "glorify God and enjoy Him forever." I am often reminded of what C.T. Studd famously wrote, "Only one life 'twill soon be past; only what is done for Christ will last."

Third, in response to death, we should grieve. This almost seems like a given, but it is not often done. I've observed families so busy with funeral arrangements and the like, that they do not take time to grieve. I remember giving pastoral counsel to such an individual who retorted, "I don't have time to grieve! There's too much to do!" The Bible clearly presents a time of mourning. For example, when Joseph's father died, he spent seven days in mourning (Gen. 50:10). This was not unusual, and this extended time to mourn is repeated in various places within the Bible. The Apostle Paul says in 1 Thessalonians 4:13 that we should grieve with hope. It is important, if not necessary, to take time to process grief and not rush to get back to a sense of "normalcy."

This leads me to my last point: Ensuring you have hope for eternity. Hebrews 9:27 says, "For it is appointed man once to die and then comes the judgment." Since death is a reality, so is eternity, and people spend it somewhere. The arrangements for that eternity are to be made now, not later, and are wholly dependent on what you do with Christ in your life. Believe upon him; eternity in heaven is yours. Reject him; hell and condemnation are yours. Those are the choices, and they are to be made on this side of eternity.

When we said, "God save the Queen!" I pray that we meant it and that God did, but I also pray that he saves King Charles and others as well.

OBITUARY

Robert Edwin Johnson

February 23, 1933-September 19, 2022

Robert Edwin Johnson, age 89, went to be with his Heavenly Father whom he served his whole life, on September 19, 2022.

Born February 23, 1933, in Omak, to Joseph and Alberta Johnson, Bob moved with his family to Leavenworth where he attended grade school and helped his dad in the Leavenworth Johnson Bakery. After graduating from Salem Academy in 1952, he married his high school sweetheart, Nola Jean Zobel. On June 20, 2022, they celebrated their 70th wedding anniversary.

Bob lived in Leavenworth,

Salem, Oregon, and San Jose, California. He returned to Leavenworth with his family in 1960 "to ski for one year". What began as a year of skiing turned in to now over 60 years of investment into the community. Bob worked as a builder, contractor, manager at Stevens Pass, hotel developer and owner, and Alphon player.

Instrumental in the promotion and construction of transforming Leavenworth into the Bavarian Village, Bob will be especially remembered for his daily Alphon concerts at the Enzian Inn and throughout town, which he performed for over thirty years.

Bob LOVED sports, both as a player and a fan. He was a basketball and football star in high school, a tennis player, jogger, fisherman, boogie boarder, water skier, and an avid downhill, and cross-country skier. In fact, when he was 80 years old, he participated and placed in the Hog Lopet, a 21-mile cross-country ski event.

He was a great man of faith and a member of the Leavenworth Church of the Nazarene, serving as Sunday School Superintendent, youth leader, church board member, and on many work and witness trips overseas.

Bob will be remembered for his wit and his generosity and his incredible love for his family. A servant of God, a great husband, a great father, a great grandfather, and an amazing great-grandfather, his life has had a significant impact on so many.

He is survived by his wife, Nola; his sister, Jan Anderson and her husband, Milt; his children: Renee Sexauer and husband Randy, Robert Johnson, and wife Nancy, Rebecca Hills and Windell Hills; also, eight grandchildren whom he adored: Eric Sexauer, Ryan Sexauer,

Kimberly Johnson Woo, Robin Johnson John, Julie

Johnson Soares, Skye Johnson, Laura Hills Rose, and Lindsey Hills Andrews along with eleven great-grandchildren and many nieces and nephews. In lieu of flowers, memorial donations may be made to the Dwelling Place or Upper Valley Christian School, Leavenworth, WA.

A Celebration of Life will be held at 1:00 Saturday, October 8, 2022, at Leavenworth Church of the Nazarene. Relatives and friends are welcome to a time of refreshments after the celebration.

Cashmere Airport Days

By MATTHEW OCKINGA
Correspondent

CASHMERE — On a pleasant Saturday morning at Cashmere-Dryden Airport, two young sisters were playing with a toy airplane on a thin strip of lawn. As they tossed the mini aircraft for several brief flights, the girls repeated the mantra, "Take off and land! Take off and land!"

Moments like this are the goal of the Cashmere-Dryden Airport Day which organizers held September 10. Visitors had the chance to get up close and mechanical with around 57 aircrafts.

Jared Paine of Cashmere is a hanger and aircraft owner at the airport. Aviation is in his blood. It's a passion that he inherited from his grandfather. Pain has his grandpa's 1956 plane which he flies regularly with sons.

"My entire life is involved in aviation," Paine said. "We're trying to promote the airport as a good asset to the community and to the county, let people know that we're here, answer questions, get kids out here and get involved."

As the day began, two police helicopters flew in and land in much to the delight of many giddy and cheering children. Airport board member Bill McGlynn has been instrumental in organizing the aerial festivity which was put together by volunteers and board members. He mentioned that technically the event of the 10th was not he first airport day as a similar event took place 15-20 years ago, yet this year's activity signified a much-needed reset of local awareness.

"It's been too long, and you run into people in the community in Cashmere and you say, have you guys ever been to the airport, and they go, 'We have an airport?' It's just been long overdue. It's time that we get organized, put it together and make it happen," McGlynn said. "People fly in and out of here all the time and people go, 'I wonder what they do over there.' So now they get a chance to come over, look at airplanes and touch them."

The open house of sorts also offers people a chance to understand the facility's importance. Safety is an essential benefit the airport offers the community. Helicopters for Lifeline Ambulance Inc. of Wenatchee fly in and out of Cashmere. The airport has especially proved an important asset to the North Central Washington community during wildfire season. Smoke, from fires near and far, has become a dubious rite of passage nearly every summer. The Cashmere-Dryden airport offers easy and local access for helicopters and planes to stock up on gas and fly out to fight the flames. McGlynn was hoping a few such planes could be on display for the airport day, but the crafts were previously occupied on that smoke Saturday.

"There're so many people around this community that would just love to go up and rub the belly of a firefighting plane and say, 'Thank you so much for everything you do,'" McGlynn said.

Earlier in the summer, representatives from the Federal Aviation Administration visited the airport and were excited when local board members told them about the airport day. Cashmere Fire Chief Blake Larson and told the guests the importance of the airport to the area. McGlynn, paraphrasing what Larson told the FAA, said, "The fact that we have an airport right here where we can just pull a fuel truck in, and just have helicopter after helicopter come right in hot fueling and just dumping water... That is invaluable to the community."

McGlynn also pointed to the economic benefits of small towns having airports. He feels Cashmere has continued to benefit from its facility.

"It seems like towns that have gotten rid of their airport also go into a malaise. Maybe it's just because the infrastructure isn't there anymore," he said, adding that official airports are better than makeshift alternatives. "It's a whole lot better landing on an airport than it is a baseball field for a whole lot of reasons."

Obituary & Memorial Policies

NCW Media, Inc.: Leavenworth Echo, Cashmere Valley Record, Lake Chelan Mirror, Quad City Herald

An Obituary is a way for family member(s) to commemorate a loved one's life and to notify the community of the passing of the loved one. Obituaries are also used for historical and ancestral data.

Memorials are another way to let the community know about the life and memories of the person who has passed. A Memorial is different from an Obituary. An Obituary is usually current, while a Memorial can be written later.

Obituaries and Memorials need to be typed and emailed as a Word Document. They can be placed in one or more papers - all publish weekly on Wednesday.

Obituaries are priced by the number of words and include one color photo and go online at no extra charge. Memorials are priced per column inch. Please call for cost. *Payment is due at the time of placement. *Exception: Chapels, funeral homes who have an account, can be billed. There is no charge for a Death Notice - information is limited.

Deadline is 4 p.m. on Friday - some exceptions may apply.

Cashmere FFA Preparing for Nationals - Support the Prime Rib Dinner

BY RUSTY FINCH
FFA advisor

Nine Cashmere FFA students will compete at the National FFA Convention October 22nd -29th in Indianapolis Indiana. Cashmere qualified a Meats Evaluation Team, an Environmental Natural Resources Team and the State FFA Talent Show Winner, Carly Schoening. The Meats Team consists of Monica Oropeza, Dru Heyen, Wendy Garcia and Ivette Alvarado. These students will have to identify 30 retail cuts from a list of 120, quality and yield grade beef carcasses according to USDA standards and select/rank different meat cuts based on quality, cutability, workmanship and color. They will also take a written test, perform a least cost formulation calculation and identify different muscle and skeletal features. This is the sixth Meats team Cashmere has taken to Nationals. The Environmental Natural Resources team is represented by Kimmy Dodson, Eli Lyons, Grady Zimmerman and Tristan Hoffman. Members will take a 50-question environmental science test, analyze water quality data, identify natural resource equipment and species, analyze waste management scenarios, navigate a GPS course, and evaluate a section of soil and land recommending erosion prevention strategies. This is the fourth ENR team Cashmere FFA has sent to Indiana. To support the trip, The Cashmere Area Youth Support Fund is hosting a Prime Rib Dinner/Auction on October 1st from 6:00-9:00 at the Chelan County Fairgrounds. Tickets will be available at the door or you can contact Mike Phillips or Rusty Finch to pre-purchase or support the event.

It's fresh fruit season - time for a peach cobbler

Last month, I needed to make a dessert for a potluck. I had recently purchased an entire box of locally grown peaches from a lady who goes to our church. The fresh fruit was marvelous, but I needed to use the rest of them quickly. One peachy possibility for the potluck was a peach pie. However, I didn't want to mess with making the crust for a peach pie, so I considered making a cobbler instead.

My grandmother had always made cobbler by dropping scoops of drop biscuit dough onto the fruit filling and baking it. I scoured my cookbooks for a recipe for "peach cobbler." One recipe used canned peaches. No, thank you. I had fresh, ripe, delicious peaches, and I wanted the fruit to shine.

In 1985, while living in a small farming community just outside Dayton, Ohio, I purchased a copy of the Discover Dayton Cookbook. This cookbook was one of the main fundraising projects of the Junior League organization of Dayton, Ohio.

 When moving back to Washington State in 1990, I gave away a lot of cookbooks but kept that one because it contained delicious regional recipes unique to the greater Dayton area, where my husband grew up.

I found a recipe for peach cobbler in the index of my dogeared Discover Dayton cookbook. Titled Five Generation Peach Cobbler, it was submitted by Mrs. George L. Word (Paige Early). Her introduction described it as "a luscious standby" that "contributes to the happiness, health, and longevity of our family." That sounded intriguing.

Her recipe included a peach filling with sliced peaches sprinkled with flour, sugar, and cinnamon. The crust was more complicated. Instead of islands of biscuit dough with peaches peeking through, the recipe required you to cut the shortening into the flour, just like a pie crust, then roll it out. Hmmm...

Because of the crust, it took longer than I expected to make and bake the cobbler, making my husband and I late for the potluck. My peach cobbler was placed at the very end of the dessert table, behind

2 other peach desserts.

Then an odd thing happened. A couple of men served themselves a small piece of my cobbler, then, a few minutes later, they returned to collect a second piece of my dessert. One guy returned for a THIRD helping. What was going on?

I had my answer when I brought the leftover half of the cobbler home with me and tried a bite.

Oh, my. WOW. Best cobbler EVER!

You might be wondering what made it so good. Was it the ripe peaches, or was it the crust? Probably some of both. It's definitely worth the extra effort of making the rolled crust. Enjoy!

FIVE GENERATION PEACH COBBLER

- 5 cups fresh peaches, peeled, pitted, and sliced
- 3 tablespoons flour
- 1 1/4 cups sugar
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 4 tablespoons butter

Slice peaches into a heavy, greased baking dish, approximately 9 inches around and 3 inches deep. (I used an 11 x 7-inch rectangular glass baking dish that was 2 inches deep. It worked just fine.)

Mix together flour, sugar, and cinnamon, and sprinkle over peaches. Dot with butter.

CRUST
 1 cup flour

1/2 teaspoon salt
 2 teaspoons baking powder

1 tablespoon sugar
 1/3 cup shortening. (I used butter.)

1/3 cup milk
 Sift together dry ingredients.

Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse corn meal. Pour milk in all at once, and stir with a fork. Roll dough out on a floured board until it is the size of the baking dish – it will be 1/4 to 1/2 inch thick. Place crust on top of peaches. (I rolled my crust onto a rectangular cutting board instead of on the counter, then flipped it over into the baking dish.) Bake in a preheated 425 oven for about 30 minutes. YIELD: 6 to 8 servings.

This recipe is from the Discover Dayton Cookbook, 1984 edition, submitted by Mrs. George L. Word (Paige Early). Many thanks to Paige and the Junior League of Dayton, Ohio.

The leaves are falling, but your proactive health measures don't have to. Help protect yourself against pneumococcal pneumonia

BPT - There are many things to enjoy about fall. From cooler temperatures to the colors of the leaves, and all the fun activities that come with the changing of the season, it is the perfect time to enjoy the outdoors with friends and family. But along with the changing seasons and a slight chill in the air, come the looming days ahead of increased respiratory infections. This fall don't let pneumococcal pneumonia get in the way of taking in all the things this season has to offer.

Here are some fun, health-oriented activities to try this fall:

- Take long walks outside: One of the best ways to stay active as the weather changes is taking a long walk to enjoy the fresh, crisp air.

- Pick your own apples: Enjoy a healthy snack full of fiber and antioxidants by picking apples at a local apple orchard.* Hit the farmer's market: Take advantage of fresh, organic fruits and veggies at your local farmer's market, while supporting local businesses and farms.

- Find out if you're at risk for pneumococcal pneumonia and learn about vaccination to help prevent it.

Take long walks outside: One of the best ways to stay active as the weather changes is taking a long walk to enjoy the fresh, crisp air.

can strike any time of year, and pneumococcal vaccination is available year-round. While you're getting vaccinated against flu this season, don't forget to ask your doctor or pharmacist about pneumococcal pneumonia vaccination.

Even if you've already had a previous pneumonia vaccine, your healthcare provider may recommend it for additional protection. What is pneumococcal pneumonia?

Pneumococcal pneumonia is a potentially serious bacterial lung disease that can disrupt your life for weeks. In severe cases, it can put you in the hospital and even be life-threatening.

Who is at risk?

The risk for pneumococcal pneumonia increases for adults 19 or older with certain chronic health conditions, including asthma, diabetes, COPD, and chronic heart disease, among others. People aged 65 or older are also at increased risk for pneumococcal pneumonia, even if they're generally healthy, because the immune system weakens with age.

Talk to your doctor or pharmacist

No matter the season, it's important to think about what you can do to help protect your health. Don't wait - talk to a doctor or pharmacist about pneumococcal vaccination. To learn more about the disease, risks, symptoms and more, visit KnowPneumonia.com.
