

Grayson “Miracle Baby”

SUBMITTED BY JUSTICE PROVO

Grayson James Barnes was born on June 9, 2021 at 2:59 PM at UW Medical Hospital in Seattle, WA.

During his mother's pregnancy they received news that he had a critical heart condition. To be exact he had single ventricle anatomy with pulmonary valve atresia and discontinuous pulmonary arteries. This heart defect would require at least three open heart surgeries before the age of six. His heart defect was caused by a rare underlying condition called Heterotaxy Syndrome that causes your organs to develop in misplaced and unusual ways.

In May of 2021 Grayson's mother, Justice Provo, graduated from Cashmere High School at 36 weeks pregnant and would then relocate to Seattle, WA with her mother, Jennifer MacCallum, to await Grayson's big arrival. They stayed in the RV parking lot at Seattle Children's Hospital in a family owned RV. Cameron Barnes, Grayson's father, would join them in the first week of June after he graduated from Eastmont High School.

Grayson had his first of many open heart surgeries on June 16, 2021 at just a week old. This surgery was complicated by a blood clot in his heart that sent him into cardiac arrest and put him on extracorporeal life support, the highest level of life support possible. Basically this machine was his heart and lungs for six days as he recovered from cardiac arrest.

Grayson's second open heart surgery was on October 16, 2021. This surgery went well but it was not the repair that had been planned for Grayson at this age, the Glenn, that he was no longer a candidate for. Three weeks post operation Grayson developed a blood stream infection causing him to go into heart failure. He was then evaluated and approved for heart transplantation in January 2022.

On February 27, Grayson's team of doctors accepted an offer on a heart. The operation was ten hours long and would be extremely complicated due to his anatomy. This didn't stop him, all went perfect in the OR. When Grayson got back to the CICU he had an acute case of pulmonary hemorrhage but eventually settled out and is now on the road to recovery from his heart transplant.

Grayson has gone through so much in his short nine months of life and still has a huge smile on his face. To be exact he has had three open heart surgeries, four diaphragm plications from his right diaphragm being paralyzed in his first open heart surgery, five heart catheterizations, a g-tube placement, and an uncountable amount of x-rays, ultrasounds, echocardiograms, EKGs, CT scans, and lung perfusion scans. He is an inspiration to all and continues to beat the odds. His parents have been by his side through it all and have only gone home once since May of 2021. His Grandmother, Jennifer, has been a huge resource of help during this challenging period of life.

This small family who was dealt an unfair hand has been shown nothing but love and support by their community. They have reached their goal on GoFundMe of $30k and they have also been shown huge amounts of support by a community auction put on by Toni Andross and Jenny Brooks. They feel so beyond grateful to have such a supportive community during this time and they have been absolutely blown away by everyone's generosity. This money will help them be able to stay by Grayson's side as long as he needs as he fights for his life. It will then go on to help

Cashmere Planning Commission Meeting

BY KIRK BECKENDORF

Correspondent

An In-person Public Forum will be held at 6:00 p.m. on March 21st at the Riverside Center. Steve Croci, Cashmere's Director of Operations, made the announcement at the Planning Commission's March 7 meeting. He explained that the Forum is to encourage and obtain public comments about the Parks, Recreation and Open Space Plan, and for the public to provide input on options for developing the Lagoon property. In addition, the County will provide explanations and seek input about the Chelan County Multi-use Pathways Plan, and the library will describe potential improvements and the option of moving the library to the Riverside Center. The Forum will include tables, posters and other displays that will be used to describe the different options that will be discussed. Mayor Jim Fletcher added that the city is seeking ideas and that the Forum is intended to be a brainstorming meeting not a debate. He expects the discussion to be informal and to have small break out sessions so that everyone has the opportunity to express their thoughts and ideas.

Croci also announced a public hearing regarding the potential annexation of a couple of lots on Evergreen St., north of the cemetery.

The remainder of the meeting was a wide-ranging discussion that built on previous meetings. The focus was one of long-range planning for city growth and development. Croci said that Cashmere is going to grow, so how should the city manage that growth. He suggested that the conversation about housing be through the lenses of density-high, medium and low. A multistory apartment building would be an example of high density, townhouses would be medium density and single-family homes individual lots would be low density development. Reducing lot sizes, encouraging multi-family development along transportation routes and extending utility lines were major items of discussion throughout the meeting and those topics will continue to be on future agendas. Croci posed the question, Should the city invest in utility extension rather than just depending on new growth to pay for the extensions?

Acknowledging that the county controls the location and size of the UGA adjacent to the city, Fletcher expressed the need for the city to create a growth plan so that Cashmere can send a message to the county about how and where the city wants to grow 30 years down the road. Otherwise, according to Fletcher, the county will follow the guidance of developers. Christina Wollman, consultant with Perteet Inc., explained that in 2026 the County will conduct a new land capacity analysis which will look at growth and UGA areas. The city would need to prove to the county that it needs more space, based on projected growth and land capacity. According to Wollman, currently Cashmere's UGA capacity exceeds growth. Fletcher said that city needs to have a plan and not just react to what is happening around it.

Commissioner Zac Steigmeyer asked, how to turn the Commission's ideas into something concrete.

Rep. Mike Steele announces $10.5 million in 12th District projects included in final 2022-23 supplemental capital budget

SUBMITTED BY KELLEY PAYNE

Sr. Public Information Officer

Rep. Mike Steele, ranking member of the House Capital Budget Committee and lead Republican negotiator, announced today that more than $10.5 million in 12th District projects was included in the recently approved 2022-23 supplemental capital budget.

“As a top capital budget negotiator, it's extremely gratifying to help bring this funding home to the 12th District. While operating budgets take care of most state agency funding requests, capital budgets pay for more permanent items. In essence, they are construction budgets with funding for anything from major projects like schools and low-income housing to local parks and other public facilities,” said Steele, R-Chelan.

“This year's capital budget was truly historic. In a supplemental budget year, we are making more statewide community investments than the previously approved two-year plan. I'm extremely happy to see the number of projects included for our communities.”

The supplemental capital budget spends $1.5 billion, with $107.3 million from the sale of general obligation bonds. The remaining $1.39 billion is comprised of a combination of federal funds, General Fund-State (GF-S) transfers, and other dedicated funding sources. It leaves $210,000 in bond capacity.

- 12th Legislative District projects highlights include:
- 1. Trades District port project: $3 million
- 2. Peshastin Cross Over Siphon Pipe (Peshastin): $309,000
- 3. Wenatchee City Pool Repairs (Wenatchee): $550,000
- 4. Wenatchee Valley YMCA (Wenatchee): $515,000
- 5. Chelan Douglas Food Distribution Center (Malaga): $1 million
- 6. City of Brewster Canyon Well

House (Brewster): $480,000

- 7. City of Brewster Sewer Upgrade (Brewster): $2.8 million
- 8. Lake Chelan EMS Design (Chelan): $191,000
- 9. Town of Elmer City Fire Station Improvements (Elmer City): $772,000
- 10. SD Brewster School District: $933,000

MORE SALMON FORECASTS:

The Washington Department of Fish and Wildlife has come out with their second round of salmon forecasts and things are looking up for most runs compared to last year.

Starting with the Columbia River, some 230,400 “upriver bright” fall Chinook are expected to return above Bonneville Dam, 9500 less than the 2021 return and well below the 10-year average. As for the lower Columbia “tule” Chinook, that return should be similar to last year with 73,000 salmon forecast to return.

The coho run was very good last year with 829,000 salmon and this year is shaping up to be even better with just under one million salmon coming back. If this is true it will mark the best return of coho we've seen in the Columbia since 2014.

As for the sockeye run, that is forecast to improve with 200,000 fish expected. This compares to last year's return of 152,309 salmon. Unfortunately, the endangered Snake River sockeye run continues to struggle and only 200 fish forecast to come back to Idaho. The projection for the Lake Wenatchee sockeye run is to be below the escapement goal of 23,000 salmon. However, it is worth noting that in recent years, WDFW has routinely under forecast the sockeye run for the Upper Columbia River and Lake Wenatchee so don't count this fishery out yet.

The Well Debacle

Reflection on the Feb. 28th Cashmere City Council Meeting

BY MEGAN SOKOL

Staff Writer

Cashmere resident Dean Hills started drilling his private well on December 9, 2021, with plans to irrigate all three of his properties. After drilling a mere 25 ft. into the ground, Hills and his team suddenly heard a passing city employee telling them that they were drilling illegally within the city limits.

“He walked over and he says, ‘you can't do that, it's against the law.’” Hills reports, who later responded with: “no, I've got all my paperwork in line.

I'm in cahoots with the Department of Ecology. I've already paid my money there, they're on board with it, and I've done everything legally.”

Shortly thereafter, Hills claimed that that same city employee had informed Mayor Jim Fletcher of Hills' well-drilling plans, prompting them to order a termination for the development. Problem is, there was no language in the city water utility code that outlawed drilling within city limits before Hills was issued his permit.

Hills claims that he was asked to hand over copies of the drilling costs so that the city could reimburse him for the drilling costs. However, Hills claimed that the situation swiftly changed.

“I went in and talked to the mayor about two weeks later and I said, ‘how come I haven't got paid yet?’ He said, ‘Well, there's been a change.’ I said,

‘What's the change?’ He said, ‘Well, we figure you were halfway to close, we're gonna pay you half the money.’ That's when I said, ‘I'm going to the city council meeting and explain to them what the deal is and how I was lied to so many times and get this turned around.’”

On Dec. 13, the city council passed an ordinance saying you can't draw wells in the city limits. However, due to the law change happening after discovering Hills' well, it would be illegal to ask him to quit drilling.

“We actually pulled the pipe out that we had in the ground and from that point on, it just became a big fight,” Hills said.

In the beginning of the Feb. 28th joint meeting between Cashmere city council and the planning commission, Hills reminded the council that they

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor,

The Washington Fish and Wildlife Commission is considering a proposal to allow a recreational spring bear hunt this year. This hunt has been held in previous years, but in late 2021 the Commission voted to cancel this year's hunt, due to a lack of scientific justification for it. But after a shakeup of the Commission's composition, they are one again considering this extremely controversial hunt.

The Washington Department of Fish and Wildlife refers to the spring bear hunt as a "long-standing recreational hunting opportunity." This hunt, held from April to June, targets malnourished bears leaving their dens after hibernation. Female bears have young, dependent cubs during this season. This unethical hunt would only provide "recreation" for a few hundred hunters – an incredibly small proportion of the Washington population, most of whom appreciate living wildlife. The spring hunt of vulnerable bears is also redundant to the annually held fall bear hunt.

This hunt is unnecessary and does not reflect Washington's conservation values. Let the Commission know that you oppose the spring bear hunt by emailing commission@dfw.wa.gov by March 18, 2022.

Red Cross honors community heroes during annual Red Cross Month celebration in March

Celebrate by donating on Red Cross Giving Day, March 23; giving blood; or volunteering

This past year marked one of our region's most active for severe weather; in some cases, battering communities still reeling from previous disasters. We saw Red Cross volunteers step in to provide comfort and relief from wildfires, a dangerous heat wave and devastating flooding. Since January 1, our teams of volunteers have responded to at least 175 home fires across the Northwest region. And we've seen hundreds roll up a sleeve to donate, as every day hospital patients in the U.S. needed lifesaving blood to battle illness and injury.

In March, the Northwest Region is honoring the people who make its mission possible every day during our annual Red Cross Month celebration — a national tradition started nearly 80 years ago when President Franklin D. Roosevelt issued the first national Red Cross Month proclamation recognizing those who give back through the American Red Cross. Each U.S. president has issued a proclamation ever since.

"When emergencies strike, our community rallies together to help families and individuals when it matters most," said Alex Dieffenbach, Northwest Region CEO. "We honor this dedication during our Red Cross Month celebration, and we invite everyone to turn their compassion into action by donating, volunteering, giving blood or taking a lifesaving skills course."

You can join us in celebrating Red Cross Month by visiting redcross.org to give blood, become a volunteer or take a class in lifesaving skills, such as first aid and CPR. On March 23, you can also join our annual Red Cross Giving Day campaign by donating at redcross.org/givingday and help provide shelter, food, relief items, emotional support and other assistance for people affected by disasters big and small.

Help can't wait during emergencies. Already in 2022, our disaster teams have responded to at least 175 home fires throughout the Northwest Region, providing emergency assistance to more than 565 individuals whose lives have been impacted by those devastating occurrences. We've seen Red Crossers step in to provide shelter when severe flooding hit our community, deploy nationally when the need called, and save lives using CPR skills, like Tracy Sheehy who answered a call for help on Thanksgiving Day. We honored our local heroes at this year's Heroes Breakfast in King County on March 10.

The Red Cross blood supply remains incredibly vulnerable — especially as doctors begin to resume elective surgeries previously delayed by omicron. It's critical that individuals schedule a blood or platelet donation immediately to help ensure patients get the care they need as soon as possible. To make an appointment, visit RedCrossBlood.org, call 1-800-

RED CROSS or download the Red Cross Blood Donor App.

As a thank-you, all those who come to give March 1-31 will receive a $10 e-gift card, thanks to Fanatics. Plus, those who come to donate in March will be automatically entered for a chance to win a trip for two to the 2022 MLB® All-Star Game® in Los Angeles, California.*

About the American Red Cross: The American Red Cross shelters, feeds and provides comfort to victims of disasters; supplies about 40% of the nation's blood; teaches skills that save lives; distributes international humanitarian aid; and supports veterans, military members and their families. The Red Cross is a nonprofit organization that depends on volunteers and the generosity of the American public to deliver its mission. For more information, please visit redcross.org or CruzRojAmericana.org, or visit us on Twitter at @RedCross.

Link Transit Ambassadors

Link Transit is seeking student applicants for its Transit Ambassador Program. Transit Ambassadors develop job skills and scholarship references through the successful completion of 30 volunteer hours assisting in Link Transit's marketing and outreach efforts. Now in its 15th year, the Transit Ambassador Program is designed to give students a better understanding of the value of public transportation and how Link Transit serves the communities in Chelan and Douglas Counties.

Transit ambassadors gain an understanding of the environmental and financial benefits that public transportation provides to communities while gaining life skills related to utilizing public transit to access work, school, and recreational opportunities. Additionally, Transit Ambassadors will assist in creating a marketing and promotional campaign targeted at attracting youth riders to public transportation.

Transit Ambassadors may come from any school within Link's service area. The program is open to any student who will be 14 or older by the application deadline of Friday, April 1, 2022. Applications may be made online at www.linktransit.com/ta or www.linktransit.com/ta.

Applicants must submit a photo of themselves and include an essay of 200 words or less on the benefits of Public Transit. Students selected as Transit Ambassadors must attend orientation on Sunday, April 10, and assist in promoting Link services and student pass programs during school registration events. Transit Ambassadors will receive training on handling Frequently Asked Transit Questions, and act as a student representative within their school and the community to promote use of public transportation.

For more information on the Transit Ambassador program, visit Link's web site at www.linktransit.com/ta, or call 509-664-7624.

War is Hell

With the news about Ukraine streaming in and the images displaying the horrific violence at the hands of the Russian military, Gen. William Tecumseh Sherman's words are devastatingly accurate. War is hell, and it has arrived in Ukraine.

A WALK WITH PASTOR JOHN SMITH

It is hard to cut through all the spin and propaganda surrounding this conflict. Political posturing and the virtue-signaling coming from both the Left and the Right are nauseating and only distract from the reality that in war, both sides lose. Ukrainians will die, and so will Russians, and the suffering will extend beyond the borders of these two nations.

Please do not misunderstand me that we should allow a despot and tyrant like Putin to invade sovereign nations, bomb innocent civilians, and threaten nuclear war if any country attempts to intervene. But, as the United States of America, in large part, we are duty-bound to promote the cause of freedom. Ronald Regan, borrowing from John Winthrop's sermon preached in 1630, described us as a "city on a hill," and so, therefore, the light of God-given liberty should shine into every corner of the world.

However, as Christians, our perspective is beyond border disputes between nations transcending upward to a vantage point with Christ—a position of peace. Unfortunately, peace has always been in short supply. Peace, as the world gives, is temporary and fleeting. For as long as I can remember, we have always labored for peace in the Middle East, but what invariably happens? Some situation rises to the surface, violence, and mayhem ensue, and ultimately reveal that peace is too delicate of a thing to endure. I fear the same will happen with Ukraine and Russia. There may be peace in Ukraine—a temporary cease-fire and a halting of Putin's invasion—but it won't last. In other words, as long as wicked men rule, there will always be bloodshed.

True and everlasting peace must come from a true and eternal source, and the only source that fits that criterion is Jesus. He says in John 14:27, "Peace, I leave with you; my peace I give you. I do not give to you as the world gives." In this passage, Christ is speaking to individuals who were afraid and distraught. The disciples' lives were being turned upside down and facing the absence of their beloved Messiah only made matters more difficult. Yet Christ reminds them that the peace he speaks of is eternal and that he has the authority to give it because he, himself, is the "Prince of Peace" (Isa. 9:6).

What Ukraine and Russia both need is Jesus.

What Vladimir Putin and Volodymyr Zelensky need is Jesus.

Ultimately, Christ is the only one that can put a stop to the animosity. By the shedding of his blood on the cross, he annihilated the hostility between God and man (Eph. 2:14) and, as a further consequence, destroyed the barriers that separate people. Bombs, tanks, even economic sanctions can adequately do what Christ did on the cross. They may restrain or stop the conflict for a season, but only the gospel can give permanent peace.

We have many Ukrainian contacts—personal friends who are actively ministering in the middle of conflict. Huddled in bunkers as the shelling continues above, they say that they are more than comforted in the Christ that promises peace and that this Christ is not just for them but also for their enemies. They repeatedly urge us to pray for peace, not just to end the war but also for peace of the soul.

War is hell, but Christ can deliver people from it and give peace.

returns are expected to be much better than last year's forecast of 241,800 fish. This year, biologists expect 454,693 coho. Many will be heading to Grays Harbor and Willapa Bay but several other coastal rivers will see improvements as well.

In Puget Sound coho returns to the Sound and surrounding rivers should be up around eight percent over last year with 666,648 wild and hatchery coho forecast to return. The North Sound stocks are expected to see the bulk of this increase with more coho coming back to the Skagit and Nooksack Rivers. Other areas will likely remain down to include Hood Canal, the Strait of Juan De Fuca and the Snohomish River system.

Finally, the Chinook numbers in Puget Sound are expected to be up by about 19,000 this year, with 250,444 salmon expected back. This reverses a multi-year downward trend but low returns to some rivers like the Stillaguamish will likely constrain fisheries.

THE COLD-WATER WALLEYE BITE IS HOT:

The Columbia River Walleye

Anglers Association had their first tournament of the year March 5th and 6th in the Tri-Cities. Fifty-one anglers fished the Columbia and Snake River looking to bag a limit of six walleye each day. This being the pre-spawn, there were some real Hawgs caught. The biggest walleye brought to the scales was a monster 13.5-pound fish and a total of 11 walleye were weighed in that hovered near the ten-pound mark or better.

As for who won this tournament? That would be the dynamic duo of Matt Brown and Jordan Binstock. They weighed in 12 walleye over two days weighing a total of 67.35 pounds. In addition to bragging rights, Brown and Binstock also get to split a $3,120 first place check.

The walleye fishing is also hot further downstream. During the first week of March WDFW creel checkers contacted 47 anglers who caught 54 walleye in The Dalles Pool and 79 anglers who caught 81 walleye in the John Day Pool.

The fishing is also very good right now at Lake Roosevelt. Launching near Kettle Falls, Steven Morris, the owner of SJM Guide Service, took three clients out on March 7th for a day of fishing and came back with 29 fish. The majority of them were eater-size walleye but there were also some nice burbot caught as well, a fish also known as the "poor man's lobster".

STATE PARK STAYCATION

With gas prices at an all time high a staycation at a Washington State Park over the spring break could be a good bet. Sure, it can be chilly at night but if you have an RV or camper you'll be just fine and if you don't, consider a rustic cabin stay. An Eastern Washington expedition in particular can be appealing since the day time temperatures are usually mild in late March and early April and you've got a good chance to enjoy sunny skies. As of March 10th, there were openings the last weekend of March and the first weekend of April in several state parks east of the Cascades. Go to <https://washington.goingtocamp.com/> to make a reservation today.

them get on their feet after living at a hospital three hours away from home for ten plus months.

Jennifer MacCallum Provo and Justice Provo quote:

"I feel like one thing Grayson has really taught us is to live each day like it's your last because nobody really knows how long they will be here for. He has shown us that even in a time of heartache life is still extremely beautiful and we are all beyond blessed for each day we are given on this earth. This journey with Grayson has been beyond stressful like you could never imagine... but it has also been the best year of our entire life. He brings so much love and joy to the world and he has strength like nobody you've ever met. We just want to bring our boy home."

"It was a miracle that he got a heart as quick as he did. We were told to expect to wait three to twelve plus months for this miracle. We will think about and pray for the donor family for the rest of our lives. They were so selfless in a time of devastation and we want them to know, wherever they may be, that we will take care of this miracle for every second we are given on this earth."

"The fact that so many people pulled together as we were feeling like falling apart means more than anyone could realize. Not only financially has our community supported us but also through prayer and good thoughts to our son. Our community's faith and love has helped move mountains. God has put a strength in our little boy like no other. Your support for our family has helped give us immense hope during a time of heartache."

"Grayson James turned nine months old this week and has spent his whole life inside of hospital walls. We are so beyond hopeful that this miracle we were given will finally get him out of the hospital and home with his family."

The Well Debate

had illegally asked him to stop drilling his well.

"I knew I was in the right. I just needed to get that point across to everybody so I could continue drilling my well."

After lengthy deliberation, council later passed the motion to let Hills continue drilling and his well. Mayor Fletcher later admits that the city was in the wrong in this particular instance.

"Dean came in and technically he's correct. We made a mistake because we did not have explicit language in our ordinance that said you cannot drill a well, so we did apologize for that because we were operating under the assumption incorrectly that we did have such a language in our ordinance and it was only upon reading and doing research that we discovered that we did not."

Fletcher explained that he was growing increasingly anxious over the city's increasing growth and what effect that would have on their future water supply. Fletcher explained that the city had senior water rights. However, the increase of private well drilling makes water supply more scarce, especially since Cashmere's entire water irrigation system is only connected to one water source.

"Say we get a drought and the water level and the river [level] goes way down and the river water and the groundwater there are essentially connected, it's one aquifer. So we start running low on water in the river, and that then shows up as low water in our well. We want to retain the right to be able to say, 'Hey, wait a minute here. You're now impacting the city.'"

Mayor Fletcher recalled the water shortage in Klickitat County that made him wary of water supply within Cashmere

"There's been a period of time where you could not build in Klickitat county because there was a water shortage. When you start thinking of those types of things happening elsewhere, you do get a little bit worried that we've not had to experience that here. I hope we never have to, but I think it behooves the city to be in advance and be prepared before such things happen."

Hills also recalled a case that occurred 15 years ago between the city and a former Cashmere resident, and claimed that the well ordinance remained the same even back then.

"If it was that big of a deal to them, why didn't they get that ordinance in place 15 years ago after the first guy started his well? They've had all this time to do it, but they've never done it. It must not have been that big of a deal to them."

Hills does not think that the city will come after his well anymore, believing that the possible legal fees would not be worth the city's time or money. He does however believe that the city needs to improve upon their city code.

"For them to come after me legally now would be stupid because it's gonna cost them nothing but money," Hills states. "I think that the city needs to get their ducks in a row before they start going after people, because when somebody is doing something totally legal and they come after them, it does nothing but cause hardship between the city and the taxpayers and I don't think that's a necessary thing."

He hopes to continue drilling once the ground dries and becomes more stable.

"As soon as the ground dries out enough where they can drill on my property again, without sinking out of sight, we're gonna re-drill the well."
