Cashmere Valley Bank won "Most Creative Scarecrow"

By: Megan Sokol

With over 100 goofy and spooky scarecrows in town and 43 business and residential locations listed on the self-guided scarecrow trail map, "scarecrow hunters" have plenty to find. Cashmere Chamber of Commerce Manager Gina Imperato states that increased event advertising helped increase Scare Crazy interest.

"By week two, the Chamber had gone through all scarecrow maps and needed to reprint more. What a great sign to see how the event continues to get noticed as a fall fun tradition for all ages," Imperato said.

The Scare Crazy contest held five categories for the Grand Champion scarecrow, the Best Business-Themed scarecrow, the Most Creative scarecrow, the Best Ensemble of scarecrows, and the Fan Favorite or People's Choice award for best scarecrow.

"It's amazing to see all the creativity, time and dedication organizations and individuals put into their display," Imperato remarked. "Some displays depict the business/organization, something to represent them. Others will highlight pop culture, and of course the always popular witch or traditional 'scarecrow,' make an appearance each year. All unique from sweet, spooky or silly."

Cashmere resident Jenny McIver was named the Grand Champion for her Spongebob Squarepants-themed scarecrows dubbed "Spongebob Straw Pants."

"She painted cornstalks to look like seaweed and included a light for her display to shine in the evening

Chelan-Douglas Community Action Council Reduce Requirements for Rental Assistance

By: Megan Sokol

After hearing feedback from the State Department of Commerce. the U.S. Treasury Department has relaxed certain requirements for the Eviction Rent Assistance (ERAP) financial assistance program, resulting in an increased applicancy pool for the Chelan-Douglas Community Council.

In just one week, the council distributed over $401k in rental assistance funds. In the first two weeks of October, they provided support to 142 households, with a total of 825 qualifying households since January, 2021. The dramatic increase in applicants has prompted the council to hire 14 new staff members.

"There is a strong need in our region and our staff is working very hard to meet that need. It's exciting to see the change in eligibility requirements. This allows us to offer financial assistance to individuals and families that need it, but were having difficulty meeting existing criteria," explained Chelan Douglas Community Action Council Executive Director Alan Walker.

The change was made possible after the State Department of Commerce listened to the testimonies of the council and other providers on the challenges they were experiencing with the previous requirements.

"The America Recovery Plan Act that passed earlier this year is the funding stream for this round of funding and it originally started out being managed by the U.S. Treasury Department, who interestingly enough had never managed a rent assistance program before," Walker explained. "They established eligibility requirements and also reporting requirements, both of which really caused a difficult situation to get the funding out to individuals that were in need, which was the purpose of the act in the first place and so it kind of created a bottle-neck."

The new requirements for the ERAP financial assistance program only require that your income is at or below 80% of Area Median Income (AMI), meaning that you have had a missed/ past due rent payment that hasn't been paid or has been partially unpaid since March 1, 2020 for the place you currently live in.

"There is not a limit as to what an individual is eligible for so theoretically we pay rent all the way back to March 1st of 2020, and in some cases perhaps forward as well," Walker explained.

"If someone comes in and is eligible for the program and has a missed back rent payment, we can get them caught up and then we can also pay up to 3 months forward for rent and/or utilities."

United States citizenship is not an eligibility requirement, so those who may be undocumented citizens or are in the process of applying for citizenship can apply. The council also pays the landlord directly, so they can be assured that the money is used only for rental assistance.

'The landlord has to sign off that they are accepting the funds for rent that is due and so therefore we know that the rent is being caught up." Walker then added, "If they have mortgages or repairs that they haven't been able to do because rent hasn't been coming in, it's really an opportunity for the landlords as much as it's for the renters.'

The Action Council Press Release states the following:

"Several regional non-profit organizations are again supporting the effort, including Hand In Hand Immigration Services, Community for the Advancement of Family Education (CAFE), and Children's Home Society of Washington.

To apply, contact the Chelan-Douglas Community Action Council office at (509) 662-6156 to schedule an appointment and ask for 'Rent Assistance."

County not seeing the influx of short-term rental applications it expected

SUBMITTED BY KIRSTEN RYLES, Manager, Short-Term Rental Division

Chelan County Community Development reminds existing owners of vacation rentals that time is slipping away for any pre-existing short-term rentals to apply to operate legally in the county.

The department opened up the application period for existing short-term rentals on Sept. 27. That application period ends Dec. 31. But as of Oct. 18, the county has received only 40 completed applications from existing operators.

However, the department estimates Chelan County has at least 1,300 businesses in the county operating as short-term rentals.

The county didn't want a rush of applications on Sept. 27; however, a few dozen applications at this point in the process is concerning, according to Kirsten Ryles, of Community manager Development's Short-Term Rental Division. "If people have questions about the process, give us a call. We are here to help.'

In July, Chelan County commissioners passed a new code, Chapter 11.88.290, that establishes the operating standards of the county's short-term rental industry. which has seen rapid growth in most recent years.

Chelan County created an application process for existing short-term rentals to give current operators the opportunity to be grandfathered into the new code and not have to comply with certain requirements, such as density caps and lot size minimums that all new rentals will have to follow. That "grandfathered" rental permit process only runs through Dec. 31. After Dec. 31, if a full application has not been handed into Community Development, short-term you meet requirements for an existing short-term rental in Chelan County, we encourage you to visit our website, download the application and forms, and get started on this process,' Ryles said. "If operators put off the process, they may find themselves competing in the new year for limited opportunities with other new businesses."

For existing short-term rental applicants, a provisional permitting process is being used for the 2021 and 2022 permitting years because of the large volume of applications expected. Upon turning in their applications and paying their fees, applicants are issued a provisional permit, giving Community Development time to review the application and determine if a final permit will be issued, or if an issue needs to be corrected prior to issuance of the final permit. Operating a short-term rental without a valid permit after the cut-off date carries a $750 a day penalty, which may increase to $1.500 a day for repeat violations.

The application period for new short-term rentals opens Dec. 1 and runs through July 29, 2022.

OPINION/COMMUNITY NEWS

The Washington Cares Fund

Many of you have written to me recently asking about the "Washington Cares Fund." This is a trust fund created by a 2019 law to implement the state's new longterm care program. The Legislature that year approved and Governor Inslee signed House Bill 1087 concerning long-term services and supports. In accordance with the law, Washington state will be requiring all workers to pay into its long-term care program regardless of whether they will receive benefits from it. This mandatory long-term care program has a maximum lifetime benefit of $36,500. It is funded by a .58% payroll tax, which amounts to $5.80 for every $1,000 of earnings.

What is funded by the program?

I suspect that the program will be adjusted multiple times over the next several years and beyond. However, as initially authorized, program is available to any Washington state resident over the age of 18 who has paid the COMMUNITY payroll tax premium VOICES for at least three of By BRAD the last six years or for a total of 10 years, HAWKINS with at least five years without interruption. The program has a maximum lifetime benefit of $36,500 and people qualify if they need assistance with at least three of the following daily activities: medication management, personal hygiene, eating, toileting, cognitive functioning, transfer assistance, body care, bathing, ambulation/ mobility, and dressing. The Washington State Employment Security Department will help implement the tax collection. People can apply for an exemption through the department if they have purchased long-term care insurance through a private provider by November 1, 2021.

Why I voted against the long-term care tax

Ensuring that population has access to quality long-term care is a very important issue. As many of you know from friends and relatives, long-term care service is very costly. While this new program is intended to help people and may benefit some, creating a government program to tax everyone's paychecks for years and years including younger workers struggling to repay student loans and save for a home seems very burdensome. This is especially true for a limited benefit that workers may never receive, either because they end up not needing longterm care or they have moved away. This benefit is also, at least currently, not "portable" across state lines. Many private or employer-based long-term care insurance programs are portable. Since the state program is currently not portable, workers who someday move to another state are no longer eligible to receive benefits despite paying into the system throughout their working careers in our state. Lastly, the cost of longterm care can far exceed the program's maximum lifetime benefit of $36,500, so this program will likely significantly underperform in its efforts to fund people's long-term care needs. For all these reasons, I voted against House Bill 1087 in 2019. The bill, however, passed the House of Representatives (63-33) and the Senate (26-22). I have joined many of my colleagues to call upon Governor Inslee to intervene related to the new long-term care tax.

Oppose spring black bear hunting season

I want to bring to your attention the upcoming spring season of black bear hunting. The Washington Fish and Wildlife Commission will be voting in November whether to hold a spring black bear hunting season in 2022.

This is a very cruel act as it leaves cubs to die from starvation, predation, or exposure to the elements due after female black bears are killed. During this time, black bears are emerging from hibernation and do not have the strength or the means to outrun hunters. Hunters are taking advantage of the vulnerability and malnourishment of these amazing animals. It is not a fair fight in any way and black bears do not have the ability to defend themselves under these circumstances.

During Washington's 2021 spring bear hunt a total of 124 bears were killed. This means that an undetermined number of cubs were left to fend for themselves. There is no necessity for this black bear trophy hunting as it does not aid in reducing the amount of human-bear conflicts.

To oppose the spring black bear trophy hunt season email the Washington commission 2022Springbear@ PublicInput.com and ask that this hunt season not be passed.

The Washington Outdoors Report

Hunting And Fishing Roundup

By John Kruse

Columbia Gorge Coho

Brandi Jo Moore At Gorge Outfitters Supply says the coho salmon fishing is really good on the Columbia River at the mouth of the Klickitat. In Moore's words, "There are lots of anglers there and lots of salmon being caught." At the mouth of the Deschutes Moore says, "It's slower, there are less anglers, but it's still producing." As far as how anglers are catching these coho salmon Moore suggests casting Blue Fox spinners or trolling Brads Wigglers. Moore said they are also still catching Chinook salmon at the mouth of the Klickitat River as well and hover fishing with salmon eggs remains an effective way to catch the Kings.

Another species to go after in the Columbia River Gorge is walleye. Moore says, "The walleye fishing is starting to pick up and the hot and heavy fishing for trophies should take off in about a month." Try trolling a Bandit plug, jigging or fishing a spinnerworm harnesses deep for success right now on the Columbia River between Rufus and Boardman. You'll find all of these lures and more for walleye and salmon at Gorge Outfitters Supply in Rufus.

Trout Derby Finale

The Washington Department of Fish and Wildlife's annual trout derby ends after Halloween. This year 100 lakes were stocked with tagged fish and if you catch one and report it, you'll be eligible for a nice prize. Over 70 businesses provided prizes this year valued at $38,000. So why are we bringing up this derby so late? Because more than half of these tagged fish have not yet been caught and this is a great time to fish for trout as they put on the proverbial feedbag before winter. You can find a stocked lake near you and more details about this program at https://wdfw.wa.gov/fishing/ contests/trout-derby.

Opening Weekend Hunting Results

Staci Lehman, the Public Affairs Officer for the Washington Department of Fish and Wildlife in Eastern Washington, said some 300 hunters came through staffed check stations in Northeast Washington during opening weekend, the vast majority of them deer hunters. There were about 50 harvested deer brought in and samples were taken from white-tailed deer to see if any of them test positive for Chronic Wasting Disease. There were no check stations in the Winthrop area this year but there are plans to have it open next October.

Captain Mike Sprecher said the opening weekend for deer hunters was "fairly typical" but hunter numbers were down a little. Unfortunately, WDFW Enforcement Officers did find several hunters doing things they shouldn't be doing to include trespassing on private lands, spotlighting deer at night and taking some nonlegal animals.

As for duck hunting, Lehman was able to forward me information from three WDFW regulated access waterfowl hunting areas in the Desert Wildlife Area within Grant County. Hunter numbers were down this year, partially due to the drought and a lack of water. A total of 54 hunters were checked with 115 ducks for an average harvest of 2.1 ducks per hunter. In comparison, 3.1 ducks were taken on average by hunters in the same area last year during the opening weekend of waterfowl season.

Lehman encourages hunters to stop by check stations, even if they aren't successful. The staff members at these stations want to know what you are seeing in the field and answer any questions you have. If you do harvest a deer, biologists can help you figure out the age of your buck and if it's your first deer ever, they'll even give you a certificate commemorating that milestone event!

Are we the only ones?"

That question has often crossed my mind as of late. Whether it be ministering at our local death mill called "Planned Parenthood" or standing on the sidewalk with those who are resisting medical tyranny, it always seems that we are too few in number. For example, with the thousands of individuals who have lost their jobs because of a draconian mandate from Olympia, why aren't the streets flooded with people in opposition? Where is the outcry with so many families and businesses affected, and why is it so difficult to rally people to action?

Is it fear? Possibly. We are afraid of losing our respectability, reputation, or our comfort. As our neighborhoods burn to the ground, we don't want to be considered fanatical by trying to put out the flames. However, as William Wilberforce put it, "If to be freelingly alive to the sufferings of my fellow-creatures is to be a fanatic, I am one of the most incurable fanatics ever permitted to be at large."

Or maybe it is apathy? We just simply do not care. Regardless, if it is the plight of the unborn, the business owner that has lost his business, or the nurse who is fired because she made a personal decision about her own body, that's their problem, not ours. So, like the scribe and Pharisee of Luke 10:25-37, we step over our neighbor's body because we simply do not want to be bothered.

is frustrating and disheartening to see so very few rise to the occasion, but the question is, are we really alone?

I am reminded of the Prophet Elijah in the book of 1 Kings. Elijah stood against the rampant idolatry and wickedness that was pervasive in the nation of Israel. He opposed the tyrant king and queen to their face and spent much of his ministry in their crosshairs. Yet, as brave, unyielding, and full of the Spirit as Elijah was, when we come to 1 Kings 18:22 and 1 Kings 19:10, we see that he struggled with discouragement.

"I have been very jealous for the Lord, the God of hosts. For the people of Israel have forsaken your covenant, thrown down your altars, and killed your prophets with the sword, and I, even I only, am left..." (1 Kings 19:10).

"I am the only one left," Elijah says, and again, we can all sympathize with him to AWALK WITH a certain degree.

PASTOR However, if we were to JOHN read further in chapter SMITH 19, God is quick to remind him and us of an important truth. God says verse 18, "Yet I will leave seven thousand in Israel, the knees that have not bowed to Baal. and every mouth that has not kissed him." God, in effect, has reminded Elijah that he isn't alone but 7,000 others who have stood and will continue to stand against the immorality in Israel. So, although to Elijah, it seemed that he was the only one doing anything, there were others that God was raising up. It may seem that we are in the Prophet's shoes-the only ones out there, standing for righteousness-but there are many others that God is awakening and moving to stand.

Yet, what if we were the only ones? What if God didn't providentially preserve 7,000 men in Elijah's day? Would that make much of a difference? No. God is not impressed with numbers like we are. We see in the Bible that God shrunk Gideon's army of 32,000 to 300, and they crushed an army of over 100,000 Midianites. Furthermore, Christ used 12 ordinary men and turned the world upside down, bringing forth a message and establishing the Church that still endures to this day. If you feel discouraged that you're the only one out there, don't be. There are many others out there who are standing with you and who think precisely as you do. But, also, remember, as John Knox said, "A man with God is always in the majority.' You're not alone, God is standing with you.

Pay-to-Move Programs Revitalize Small Towns

JACKSON ELLIOTT

Small cities and rural areas have discovered they can trade dollars for citizens to revitalize their economies.

Dozens of American towns facing population loss now offer up to $15,000 to those who move there and stay for one year. Most offer around $10,000.

In a world where many people work remotely, this inducement—plus lower taxes, wider spaces, and other local amenities—gives small towns a large advantage in attracting people, said Bob Ross, the spokesman for Choose Topeka Initiative in Topeka, Kansas.

"The economic impact far exceeds the $10,000," said Ross. "If you really think about it, $10,000 isn't a huge amount when you consider the fact that you're coming here to purchase a home."

The Topeka initiative pays people up to $15,000 to move to the city—nearly a fourth of the area's average salary. The city chose this number because it was the estimated cost of moving from the coast to Topeka, said Ross.

Half the money comes from local employer-signing bonuses, and the city provides the rest, he said.

Despite the outlay, the city makes its money back and more after just one year, said Ross.

"There is a dollar impact," he said. "They're bringing partners with them which often have jobs as well. They're buying homes and they're shopping at businesses."

When a person moves to an area, they bring much more than their tax dollars, Ross said. They add their own personal contributions to local community.

"What I've enjoyed about the 54 people that have moved here is almost to a person, they're very adventurous," Ross said. "They're very eager to become a part of a place. They're choosing a smaller city because they want to make an impact there."

Since its start in 2019, Topeka's paid-move program has brought in an estimated 200 people, he said.

For decades, towns have attempted to attract businesses to get people, said Ross. Now, paying people directly cuts out the middleman.

"Do you really need an Amazon headquarters? Or do you just need 50 to 100 of those Amazon workers able to enter the community?" he asked. "That's the real value that comes out of those businesses coming into your community."

Population Maintenance

Like many rural places in America, Topeka's population has been declining. In the past decade, the dropped by 1 per cent in the county.

A crowd of people at a food truck festival in Topeka, Kansas.

Experts argue over which factors bear the most responsibility for this demographic change, but the results are indisputable. Towns disappear, local tax bases strain, and communities die. A shrinking town is a dying town.

Although Ross said the program was started as a talent-attraction move, statistics suggest that it may balance out the town's population decline. If it continues to succeed at the same rate, the city will nearly match its population departure rate.

"We've been working so aggressively over the last decade to revitalize our city and to really transform it," he said.

For other cities, paid-move programs have the primary goal of attracting population. In the 15,000-person town of Newton, Iowa, the local government currently pays people $10,000 to build new houses. After the 2008 housing crisis, Newton struggled to add housing, said Bruce Showalter, the town's housing director. "In 2011, we had zero starts and zero housing permits taken out," said Showalter. The town then hired a consulting company, he said. After a study, the company announced Newton was dying. In response, civic leaders came up with a plan to revive it.

Newton would pay $10,000 to anyone who bought a newly constructed home in the area. With this initiative the city could fix both its housing and people shortage.

"The two reasons were to build and maintain our population and to increase our tax base," said Showalter. Since the beginning of the program in 2014, the city has assisted in the building of 100 new houses.

Paying the incentive for these houses cost Newton & million. To raise Paying the incentive for these houses cost Newton $1 million. To raise the funds the city sold bonds, said Showalter.

> Bob Ross, spokesman, Choose Topeka Initiative

Tax growth from the increased population is enough to pay out the bonds, he said.

"It's paying itself back pretty much and with the population growth, the city council is very happy."

Chris Giesen, the economic development authority coordinator for a similar program in Harmony, Minnesota, said he was also confident his program could quickly pay for itself.

"If you have a $255,000 house, the city will collect about $12,000 in five years," he said. "So it's a way of foregoing those dollars for a little bit of time."

Pandemic Plus Sides

In some ways, the COVID-19 pandemic has gifted paid-move programs with a golden opportunity, said Showalter.

"You can live anywhere and still do your job remotely," he said.

Statistics bear his observation out. Many urban people have moved into rural areas during COVID-19.

Maine has seen a surge of applicants to its paid-move program during the pandemic, said Katie Shorey, the engagement director of Live and Work in Maine. Many urban people move to rural Maine because they want to be outdoors.

"If you were in a city during CO-VID, you were like, 'Oh my God, I am confined in these walls and in these streets,'" she said. "I was able to get outside and snowshoe and walk in the woods."

From its start in 2008, the Live and Work in Maine program has grown exponentially. In 2019, 14,751 people moved to Maine through the program, according to a graph provided by Maine Revenue Services.

Students who move to Maine get some student loan payments reimbursed by the state using tax credits. In 2019, Maine reimbursed $30 million in student loans.

But the main point Shorey emphasizes about Maine are the benefits of rural life. Free college payment may attract people, but hiking, enjoying the fall colors, and friendly neighbors keep them.

In return for these economic and personal benefits, Maine receives a stream of talented young people.

"Historically, we've had a big braindrain problem and a lot of young people leave the state," Shorey said. "So if this program can either entice them to stay after going to school, or help attract younger people here, that is a huge value add for us."

Doctor Sam Stanfield, a Live and Work in Maine participant, said that she and her husband moved to the state for school, but chose to stay because of the student loan payment offer.

Because Stanfield works in Maine at a rural hospital, her monthly loan payments are now only $500 a month. In other places, she would have to pay over $2,500 a month, she said.

"We thought we would move to Maine for me to attend school and then relocate to be closer to our families," she said. "But this was definitely a great reason for us to stay in Maine."

Stanfield said she loved both Maine's community and its natural beauty. She also said she appreciates the simplicity of loan reimbursements.

"Maine has made it super easy," she said. "You can literally go onto the website, fill out the form, and show proof of graduation and you qualify."

Pentagon: No Plans to Suspend COVID-19 Vaccine Mandate

ZACHARY STIEBER

The Department of Defense doesn't plan to suspend its COVID-19 vaccine mandate, which is compelling a large portion of the U.S. military to receive a vaccine.

Republicans say the mandate raises serious questions on readiness and morale, with concerns that discharging unvaccinated troops will cripple the armed forces.

"This haphazardly implemented and politically motivated vaccine mandate must be immediately suspended or risk irrevocable damage to our national security," Sen. Jim Inhofe (R-Okla.), the ranking Republican member on the Senate Armed Services Committee, wrote in an Oct. 18 letter to Defense Secretary Lloyd

In an emailed statement to The Epoch Times, Pentagon spokesman John Kirby said the department is aware of Inhofe's letter and concerns and "will reply to them appropriately."

A U.S. Air Force sergeant receives a dose of the Moderna COVID-19 vaccine at Osan Air Base in Pyeongtaek, South Korea, on Dec. 29, 2020.

"That said, Secretary Austin remains convinced that our vaccination regimen—which has helped us achieve a fully vaccinated rate of nearly 85 percent in the active component and more than 66 percent across the active, guard, and reserve components—is, in fact, one of the surest ways to bolster our readiness for the challenges we face around the world," Kirby said.

"He remains comfortable with the service-appropriate ways in which each military department is pursuing their mandatory vaccination program. A vaccinated force is a protected force, better able to deploy and to defend our interests around the world."

According to the most recent statistics released by the Pentagon, hundreds of thousands of service members remain unvaccinated just weeks before the mandate deadlines start arriving.

Some have filed for religious or medical exemptions, but few of those applications have been acted upon, lawyers say. Branch spokespersons either declined to say whether any exemptions have yet been approved or rejected, declined to comment, or didn't respond to requests for comment by press time.

The first deadline is Nov. 2 for active-duty Air Force personnel, though Coast Guard members are being told to get vaccinated "immediately, as soon as operations allow," a spokesperson said.

This haphazardly implemented and politically motivated vaccine mandate must be immediately suspended or risk irrevocable damage to our national security.

Sen. Jim Inhofe

The Pentagon faces multiple lawsuits over the mandates, including a class-action suit filed in federal court in Florida on Oct. 15.

Cashmere Cross Country

By Jeff Kenoyer

School Cascade High hosted a Cross Country meet at Enchantment Park in Leavenworth on Oct. 19. The course is a 2.75 mile two lap race through the tourists in Enchantment Park. It was basically a dual meet with the Kodiaks and a few kids from Cascade Christian Academy thrown in. All the kids run in one race with girls and boys competing against each other. The race conditions were good and the kids ran well.

Even with such good races from the kids, the Kodiaks nipped us 27-28. Our next race is the CTL/District 6 Championship race on Tuesday October 26. It is hosted by Cashmere High School and will be held in Walla Walla Point Park in Wenatchee. To qualify for state the runners will need to finish in the top seven as individuals or qualify as a team by winning the meet.

Cashmere High School Presents Vintage Hitchcock: A Live Radio Play

By: Megan Sokol

The Cashmere High School Drama Department is presenting Vintage Hitchcock: A Live Radio Play, the first live performance show since the pandemic, now featuring a spooky twist.

"He is the master of suspense, so there's suspenseful stories that are perfect for Halloween weekend," Director Susan Gubsch said.

Set in a 1940s radio station (on air sign and all) students will act out Alfred Hitchcock's earlier acts such as "The Lodger," "Sabotage," and "The 39 Steps," with live-action foley sound effects included. The show will conclude with a special Halloween radio performance on KOHO 101.1 at 6 p.m.

The show is directed by drama teacher Susan Gubsch who is delighted to see how the retro 1940s radio atmosphere will play out in modern time.

"The audience is coming to sit as an audience for a live radio show back in the 1940s like they used to back in the day." Gubsch adds, "For example, when somebody's getting stabbed to death, we have a spatula going into a cantelope."

All of the foley sound effects will be produced live right beside the stage. After a foley workshop courtesy of James Wallace from Wenatchee High School, the Cashmere foley crew brainstormed how to create the best sounds.

Sophomore Maite Madsen will be directing the foley crew.

"My whole crew has really taken the initiative, especially people in the cast helping and setting stuff out," Madsen said. "It's one of the biggest things because you're making sure that you have everything."

Their Foley crew includes Audrey Adams, Rilen Desy, Savannah Caruso, Titus Corbaley, Sophie Hill, Seth Martin, Angelina Napoles, Emmy Risdon, Oliver Satterfield, Korbyn Smith, and Jenna Zimmerman.

The acting crew consists of theater veterans such as Maggie Hill, Kaitlyn Kennedy, Trevor Link, Katherine Lopez-Parkins, Ali Moran, Angelina Napoles, Isaac Peyton, Easton Risdon, and Korbyn Smith. New actors include Spencer Boyd, Titus Corbaley, Sophie Hill and Seth Martin. The stage manager is Chyann Gilbert, with Dylan Nicolas on sound and Derek Hughes-Roberts on light board.

"I think [it's a] fun challenge for the actors," Gubsch explained. "They're playing 6-8 roles, and so they've had to come up with different voices and different characters to differentiate because on the radio we don't want them to sound the same.'

Cashmere faculty have noted their own excitement for the show, including Principal Craig MacKenzie and Vice Principal Scott Brown.

"My Vice Principal's like 'I listen to podcasts every day when I drive to and from work,' so he was super excited about this," Gubsch said.

Vintage Hitchcock: A Live Radio Play will be performed in front of a live audience on October 28, 29, and 30, in the Cashmere Middle School Auditorium at 7p.m. Audience members will need to wear masks and socially distance. Tickets are $8 for adults and $5 for students and senior citizens. Tickets are available only at the door. Doors open at 6:15 p.m.
