Formerly 'saucy,' Louisville women's basketball's Hailey Van Lith now shows her grit

TIM SULLIVAN

Hailey Van Lith has ditched the knee pads. Though she plays basketball as if auditioning to be a crash dummy, the Louisville freshman has decided to stop cushioning her falls.

Some of this, she says, is superstition. Much of it, she demonstrates, is tenacity.

"The team makes fun of me," Van Lith said. "They say I dent the floor when I fall 'cause I fall hard. I've got bruises on my elbows, on my knees, on my back somehow, but it's how I like to play."

To watch her at work Thursday night was to marvel that her nose is still centered and her teeth mostly intact and to better understand how U of L became the nation's top-ranked team and why it improved to 13-0 with a 67-54 victory over towering Syracuse.

Though Dana Evans is surely the Cardinals' star, Van Lith brings a gritty versatility to Jeff Walz' backcourt that emboldens the coach to think this team could be "special." She led U of L with eight rebounds against the Orange, scored 18 points by sinking six 3-point shots and spent the game's final seconds absently bouncing the ball against her head as if craving more contact.

"The kid's tough, is she not?" Walz said afterward. "She's everywhere. She is not afraid to get into the mix. She embraces the contact. She actually delivers more of the contact than she receives. But it's what I love about the kid.

"There's never a question of how hard she's going to play. If she continues to watch film and learn and grow, it'll be fun to watch and see what she can do as she progresses throughout her career."

She is, already, impactful, having started every game as a U of L freshman and averaging 13.2 points and 6.4 rebounds. Though the level of her performance was all but preordained — Van Lith was a five-star recruit who has played prominent roles on USA Basketball's national age-group teams — stylistically, she's something of a surprise.

As a high school star in Washington, Van Lith liked to describe her game as "saucy." Given to flair and flash, she was known for behind-the-back passes, over-the-top ambition and an unfiltered (though not undeserved) confidence.

"I'll have like 20 (points) at halftime and they'll still chant 'Overrated' at me," she said in a YouTube video viewed more than 200,000 times. "I'm like, 'What are you talking about?"

She has conveyed more of a blue-collar attitude at U of L, content to contribute without dominating the ball. The 14 shots she attempted Thursday were her season high and something of a strategic necessity. With the 6-foot-7 Kamilla Cardoso lurking beneath the Syracuse basket, driving the lane was deemed counterproductive.

"We had scouted them and we knew that if we moved the ball around and got paint touches that they were going to leave shooters open," Van Lith said. "So I was just looking for that shot, get my feet set, and my point guards and my posts did a wonderful job of seeing me open in the corner. And it just worked out."

Her rebounds were mostly a product of anticipation and reaction, of sensing where the ball would bounce and getting to that spot oblivious to the flying elbows en route. Listed at 5-foot-7 (two inches shorter than by USA Basketball), Van Lith plays both bigger and bolder.

"At the beginning of the season, the coaches were asking the guards to step up and get boards and I feel like I've embraced that," she said. "... I think most of it is the mindset. But that's everything in the game. So if I decide I'm going to rebound tonight, I'm going to get some rebounds. That's just what I've been trying to do all season"

So far, so good. And so bruised.

HB 1239: Give us 'Liberty' or ... stay united?

Representatives Mike Steele and Keith Goehner.

By Gary Bégin

Managing Editor

OLYMPIA – Representative Rob Chase (R-Spokane) has introduced a bill for the future of Washington state and America, that his former colleague Rep. Matt Shea of Spokane Valley has wanted for years – establishing the state of Liberty from all of Eastern Washington.

Establishing the new state of Liberty — House Bill 1239

Introduced by Rep. Rob Chase (Spokane) (R) on January 18, 2021.

The Bill states in Section 1,"A separate and independent state is established from the eastern portions of Washington. The new state is named and known as the state of Liberty. The western boundary of Liberty follows the crest of the Cascade mountains and the western borders of Okanogan, Chelan, Kittitas, Yakima, and Klickitat counties. The eastern, northern, and southern borders of Liberty are the existing state borders."

State Senator Brad Hawkins (R-East Wenatchee), replying exclusively to an interview from NCW Media, stated, "I would be very surprised if the House of Representatives, given its Democratic majority, will give this bill much consideration, but it would sure be an interesting discussion. Since I serve in the Senate and there are sometimes thousands of bills being considered each year, I probably won't be able to study up on this one unless it advances to the Senate for consideration."

Hawkins continued, "While I know that people in eastern and central Washington would prefer to work separately with 'likeminded' people and I'd welcome an eastern Washington governor, this wouldn't be without some logistical challenges. I do have questions myself about how this idea could actually be implemented. There is a large, rural geographic footprint in eastern and central Washington requiring significant state investments for transportation, wildfire suppression, higher education, and other things."

Hawkins said, "While we may disagree with the political philosophies of many people in western Washington, that area of the state is an economic driver for us over here. Maybe we could live without them and their progressive policies, but we'd also have to live without the economic benefits of Amazon, Boeing, Starbucks, and Microsoft."

Hawkins cites "high needs" of rural Washington, "The schools and social system on our half of the state usually have high needs as well, given the large proportion of free-and-reduced lunch students and lower economic status. So we'd have a huge service territory with lots of federal lands and a relatively low tax base, but that's not to say a separate state couldn't be successful. The public hearing on the bill would get lots of attention, and it would be interesting to hear the testimony on both sides."

State Representative Mike Steele (R-Chelan) did not wish to comment on the issue, until and if, it reaches his desk. State Representative Keith Goehner (R-Dryden) said, "Although there is great frustration by many with legislation that is driven by urban Puget Sound legislators, forming a new state does not guarantee that there will not be conflicting views represented in the political process. Rural Western Washington is impacted similarly to Eastern Washington and it is important for us to continue to present our ideas and principles in a way that resonates and affects the change we want to see. Washington has many diverse contributors and it is critical for us to work in a collaborative manner to make our State more prosperous."

Okanogan County convicts caught in Portland, and near Malaga

Christian White

By Mike Maltais

 $Staff\ writer$

OKANOGAN – Following a brief bout of life on the run, two fugitives who escaped custody from the Okanogan County Jail on Jan. 5 are back behind bars along with an accomplice.

Okanogan County Sheriff Tony

Hawley said Christian White, 53, from Rock Island, and Teresa K. Lancaster, 64, of Cashmere, who aided in his escape were apprehended in Portland, Oregon on Jan. 12.

"The U.S. Marshal working with authorities in Portland located White and Lancaster and arrested them," said Hawley in a media release. "Okanogan County Sheriff's Office will be working to have both extradited back to Okanogan County."

Teresa K.Lancaster

White was arrested on a warrant for second degree escape with nationwide extradition, said Hawley. Lancaster was arrested for second degree rendering criminal assistance and criminal conspiracy for her role in assisting the escape of White and Kristofer L. Wittman.

Wittman was apprehended the following day (Jan. 13) near YoYo Rock boat launch in Chelan County.

The U.S. Marshal's Fugitive Task Force out of Yakima and Spokane with assistance from the Chelan County Sheriff's Office, Columbia River Drug Task Force, and Washington Department of Fish and Wildlife (WDFW) apprehended Whitman, said Chelan County Sheriff Brian Burnett in a media release.

U.S. Marshal received information

that Wittman was staying in an abandoned trailer located approximately 1.5 miles south of the pavement on Tarpiscan Road south of Malaga, Burnett said.

"They were able to conduct surveillance on the trailer and a plan was developed to place resources in the area," said Burnett. "WDFW Officers transported a team to the area by boat on the Columbia River and a team went in on the ground as well with CCSO K9 Asa."

Wittman was arrested while walking away from his trailer, Burnett said.

"The ground team was positioned to where they were able to intercept him and take him into custody," said Burnett. "He has been booked into the Chelan County Regional Justice Center."

Carp Diem!

By John Kruse

Wondering what to do on the water this month? Due to the mild temperatures this winter many Eastern Washington lakes don't have safe ice for hardwater fishing and most anglers have their boats put away until spring. Never fear, Carpe Diem, or "seize the day", as they say and target carp in a lake or river near you!

Carp can be caught in many open bodies of water yearround. They commonly average three to five pounds in size and can reach up to 30 pounds. In Washington State no license is required to fish for the common carp, there is no minimum size requirement and no limit on how many you can keep. Why is this? Probably because they are considered a trash fish by many these days and harmful to the environment. They grow in numbers fast and carp can take over a lake or waterway, especially shallow ones, in just a few years. As bottom feeders they often uproot shallow rooted plants and muddy up water, covering eggs and nests from more desirable game fish.

Carp didn't always have a bad reputation. In fact, they were introduced to America from Germany by the United States Fish Commission in 1876. Since that time carp have spread from coast to coast. In Europe, the common carp is still considered a fine eating fish but today in our country, most don't consider them for table fare. However, noted American angling author A.J. McClane wrote, "The carp is a good fish to eat when properly prepared. It's important to skin them and trim out the dark flesh...Carp is excellent when smoked and the roe is edible and often sold in canned form. Carp flesh is an important ingredient in making gefilte

My first experience with carp was at a shallow lake near Greeley, Colorado. I was six years old and my grandfather took me to the deserted body of water that was full of carp. My grandpa baited my hook with canned corn, tied a couple of split-shot a couple of feet on the line above the hook, and cast it out. In short order I was wrestling with a fish far bigger than the bluegill and pumpkinseed I was used to catching and I've had a special place in my heart for carp fishing ever since.

The dead of winter is usually when I target carp, largely because there is little else going on in the fishing and hunting world during this time. My go-to offering is to use a nightcrawler on a bait hook, tie on two feet of leader to a swivel, and then put a sliding egg weight above the swivel. That way a carp can pick up the bait and swim away with it before it senses the weight attached to it, giving you time to get a good hookset into the bony mouth of these fish. Carp put on a good fight. They don't jump, but they do pull and run and catching a few makes for a fun day on the water.

In addition to using bait like corn, nightcrawlers or bread dough (a traditional carp offering) you can also catch them from time to time on artificial lures and even with a fly rod. Large rabbit hair streamers in natural colors can be a good bet and sight fishing for carp with a fly rod became so popular in the 1990's that some anglers started guide services catering to catching carp this way and a number of articles about this were published in fishing and flyfishing magazines around the country.

Fly fishing for what one writer called "golden tarpon" moment may have waned as a fad but casting a line for the common carp can still be a fun affair if you are looking to tangle with a sizeable fish when few other options are available.

American Legion Auxiliary celebrates 15 years in partnership with Cashmere youth

SUBMITTED BY LINDA INGRAHAM President, American Legion Auxiliary #64

In 2005, the Cashmere American Legion Auxiliary #64 approached Cashmere High School to ask if a class would help preparing holiday care boxes to our local deployed soldiers. Steele Syke's history class stepped up to volunteer for the task.

The AL Auxiliary had been collecting snacks and personal items from our Cashmere community to fill care boxes to mail to our troops. Local families provided the names and addresses. That year everything was taken to the High School class on Dec. 1. They boxed everything, labeled them, filled out customs forms and took 20 priority boxes to the post office the same day. The Auxiliary and local donations paid for the postage. Syke's class did it for one more year. Then in 2007 Steve Simonson's creative writing class took over the project. Every year since then, for 13 years, Simonson's class has graciously taken on the project. His class is now the Contemporary World Problem's class.

Some years there have been 89 priority boxes and this year there are only 8, but we had 7 names so everyone received

Vale School and Middle School students have written letters and this year Happy Letters and drawings from pre-schools that went into the boxes along with Christmas

Over the years, some of the boxes went to soldiers who had been students in the participating classes and some were relatives of the students making the packages more meaningful.

The American Legion Auxiliary #64 is proud of our Cashmere students and we wish to express our thanks to Steele Sykes, Steve Simonson and all of the students who have participated in this project.

January 2, 2021 Harold (Harry) Douglas

Clark, 77, loving husband and father of four, passed away Saturday, January 2, 2021 early in the morning peacefully in his sleep at Lake Ridge Memory Care in Moses Lake, Washington. He had resided there since Sept. 2020 with severe Dementia. Parkinson's Harold was born on September 4, 1943 in Colbert, Oklahoma to Othanile and Doris Clark. He moved with his family to Chelan, Washington at the age of 2. He spent most of his childhood swimming in Lake Chelan and fishing in the Columbia River. He graduated from Chelan High School in 1961. He proudly served in the Army during the Vietnam War and was a Disabled Veteran for 20 years. He was an active member of The American Legion Post 64

Harold married the love of his life Mary Kettering on July 12, 1986, each brought two children into their marriage. He two daughters Rebecca and Renee, she two sons Rick and Marcus. Harold was a Journeyman Welder and worked at Pybus Steel until it closed in 1982, then he moved on to Far West until forced to retire due to a stroke in 2001. He loved his work and his play, gardening, fishing, and hunting. He loved each of his dogs with all of his heart. He was a gentle quiet man who dearly loved being a husband, father and grandpa. His grandchildren adored him and lovingly called him Papa Chicken.

His hunting trips with lifelong friends were something he looked forward to each year. When no longer able to drive himself, his friends him, especially Clint Pierce and his Dad Earl Pierce. His nephew Rob Weber from Texas also traveled to Washington to hunt with Harold for the past 7 years that Harold was able to hunt.

COMMUNITY

Harold and Mary spent 42 years at their home in Cashmere raising kids, dogs, chickens, turkeys, beef and other critters. He had a passion for fishing and hunting that he shared with their children and friends. As a family, they spent many weekends camping in their motor home. Harold was known for the best gardens with plenty of vegetables to can and share.

He was preceded in death by both parents and his eldest sister Fay Weber.

He is survived by his wife Mary, his children Rebecca Clark Johnston (Mike). Renee Clark LeBaron.

Rick Kettering (David Cupach) and Marcus Kettering (Stephanie). His five grandchildren Kalanda (Cody), Amanda, Grace, Aubri and Roman and two great-grandchildren Kaiden and Kailee. He is also survived by his brother Tom Clark and sister Grace (Junior) Hattabaugh of Chelan. Many additional family members and friends will greatly miss him.

We hope to have a gathering at our home on Airport Road in Cashmere and a graveside service at the Wenatchee Cemetery in the summer of 2021.

Rest, Refreshment in Troubled Times

long day of ministry, weary. In fact, every day has been long and exhausting considering the times we are all in. As I walked to my front door, my steps heavy and my shoulders slumped due to fatigue, I looked up and was treated to a beautiful sunset. Hues of fiery oranges, deep purples matched with the white snow-covered mountains made for an awesome display. At that moment, I couldn't remember the last time I looked up to watch a sunset as beautiful as this one and I was remarkably touched to the point of tears.

How many sunsets have we missed during this season of tumult? How many instances where we were oblivious of God's creativity all because our attention was focused elsewhere? Probably too many times to count. I, like many of you, have had my focus on so many other things. Whether it is how to navigate a COVID-19 world, the election, and all the emotions tied to it, or just trying to figure out what's for dinner, there are so many things that have and currently are demanding our attention. Yet, all the while, God is out there, displaying his glory in creation, reminding us of his presence and continued involvement in our world.

As I am writing this, the inauguration ended a couple of hours ago with very little disruption and fanfare. It was a peaceful transition of power and as the dust settles after one of the most controversial election cycles to date, I, for one, am glad it is over. Not that I accept the unrighteousness that won Joe Biden the Presidency nor am I rejoicing that the radical Leftist politicians occupy the White House bringing with them the most anti-God

AWALK WITH PASTOR JOHN SMITH

God has been doing throughout this whole process. It is Christ, as the Scripture says, who "upholds the universe by the word of his power" (Heb. 1:3) and ordains the times and the seasons of all things, demonstrating his sovereignty. And in his loving sovereignty and his grace, he has given us the beauty of fallen snow, brilliant sunrises and sunsets, and other innumerable examples in Creation that declare the glory knowing, and focusing on the "What If's" has drained and distracted

(including

of God and his goodness. Here is my advice for the coming days: Stop watching the news and fretting about the future and go take a walk. Spend some time away from the noise of political fallout and lift your eyes to see a sun just about to set behind the hills. Breathe in the crisp clean air of a winter's morning and enjoy the grace that God has given you.

Regardless of who is President, if you are reading this at this moment, God has given you more than you or I deserve and he bids you to find rest and peace in Christ.

Christ is speaking to the weary, burdened soul, "Come to me, all who labor and are heaven laden, and I will give you rest" (Matt. 11:28) and I am praying you hear and take him up on his invitation.

History of The Cashmere "Grange" Building

Note: The Cashmere Grange was organized in 1910 with 61 members. In 1911, the Grange was incorporated as the "Grange Co-Operative Association" with W. J. Carr as Manager. H. J. Olive -Secretary. 1912

RESEARCH BY TOM HART

The building that houses the present-day Agave Azul Mexican Restaurant on the southeast corner of Cottage Avenue and Woodring Street, was built by contractor

H. L. Morley for the Cashmere Grange in 1912 for $44,182.31. Originally a threestory brick building, it was dedicated in Nov. 1912, and dubbed the largest Grange building in the world and home to the largest Subordinate Grange in Washington State with 233 members. Total cost of the building after operation began was $52,000. The original building manager was J. H. Sprague, who was succeeded by Ray M. Parrish in 1913.

The Cashmere Post Office, Cashmere Market, and the Cashmere Cash Grocery Store were on the lower floor of the building and the Grange Theatre & Opera House were in the back. Apartments were on the second floor, and the Grange hall on the third floor.

The Netherlands Bank of Seattle financed the Grange Building. Not long after completion, the bank foreclosed, and the building was leased to Ray Parrish, who sub-leased the third floor to the Grange. The post office and other businesses remained on the ground floor.

1912. Grange Master – J. J. Bixler. Officers: J. C. Parsons, T. F. Casebeer, Matt Hickey, G. L. Swartz, J. W. Angier, J. H. Sprague, Victor Jordan, Ina Holiday, Stella Knox, and Mrs. H. G. Chadbourne.

1914, Grange Co-Op Directors - Matt Hickey, W. H. Smith, H. G. Bohlke, J. W. Angier, E. E. Tigner, F. H. Moses, O. M. Torrence

1916, Grange - Master - F. H. Moses. Officers: Overseer - Mrs. Matt Hickey, Lecturer – E. E. Tigner, Steward – T. M. Stewart, Assistant Steward – S.F. Stowell, Lady Assistant Steward - Mrs. Nellie Parsons, secretary. - Mrs. Helen Angier, Treasurer - J. W. Angier, Chaplain - Mrs. O. M. Torrence, Gatekeeper – Benjamin Golden, Pomona, Mrs. F. T. Adams, Ceres - Mrs. T. M. Stewart, Flora – Mrs. J. S. Holliday 1919, Grange Officers: J. J.

Bixler, C. R. Jones, John Knox, J. W. Angier, O.M. Torrence, J.F. Casebeer, F. T. Adams, W. H. Smith, J. M. Francisco, Mrs. T. M. Stewart

by a fire in 1921.

When Grange membership declined in 1922, the building was sold to George C. Faskin, who did extensive remodeling in 1924, and also operated the Royal Movie Theatre on the ground floor.

In 1927, the street address of 128 Cottage Avenue was assigned to the Grange building. Suites were rented to various businesses for many years.

At some point, Ben Slowe bought the Grange building from George Faskin.

A fire in 1946 destroyed some of the building's interior, permanently closing the Royal Theatre. The Cashmere American Legion Post No. 64 bought the Grange Building from Ben Slowe in 1950.

The Cashmere Grange later moved to new quarters on Evergreen Drive.

Most of the Grange building was abandoned after another fire in 1949. Some businesses remained on the ground floor until a final fire occurred in 1955. It stood vacant and condemned until 1960 when the top floor and the back 1/3 of the building were demolished, and then remodeled as a restaurant (The Evergreen Inn). Several restaurants have been operated in the building since that time.

The following is a chronological list of the businesses that have been located in the Grange Building.
