Cashmere City Council approves 2021 budget

BY KIRK BECKENDORF

Cashmere Reporter

At the Nov. 23rd Cashmere City Council meeting the final public hearing for Cashmere's 2021 budget was held, no members of the public provided any input. The budget does not include a 1 percent property tax levy increase as had been previously discussed as a possibility.

Director of Operations, Steve Croci announced that the Cashmere Planning Commission (CPC) is seeking input from residents at a public hearing on Dec 7 from 5:00 to 7:00 p.m., via Zoom using Meeting ID 8827199871 and Passcode 788276. The hearing will receive and consider public comments about possible revisions to the Zoning Code to allow Short-term Rentals in the Business, Commercial and Industrial Zones and to allow Accessory Dwelling Units in all Residential Zones. A copy of the proposed Zoning Code revisions for Short-term Rentals and Accessory Dwelling Units is available by contacting City Hall.

Deanna Gregory with Pacifica Law Group (PLG) explained to the Council the process for refinancing the debt on the wastewater treatment facility.

Mayor Jim Fletcher previously said that refinancing the debt on the wastewater treatment center could save the city approximately $1.8 million dollars in interest over the next 30 years. PLG is providing the city with bond counselling services to assist in the refinancing. Gregory said the process is similar to refinancing a home to lower the interest rate. The new bonds will be sold to the underwriter D.A. Davidson who will then resell those bonds on the open market. She explained that the only action needed by the Council will be to pass an ordinance at the Dec 14 meeting authorizing the refinancing. Closing is scheduled for February or March 2021 and final authority will be a designee to watch and time the market to obtain the best rate and the most savings.

Gregory said that a requirement is in place for the city to receive a minimum savings of 4 percent. If rates increase and the savings to the city is less than 4 percent the debt will not be refinanced. Council member Daniel Scott asked if rates increase and the deal is not made will the city owe PLG a fee. Gregory said that her firm will only receive payment if and when new bonds are sold. Council member Chris Carlson expressed concern about what the market may do around inauguration day. Gregory said that D.A. Davidson watches the market closely and can adjust the timing of locking in rates. She added that she will keep the Council in the loop.

The Council unanimously approved an ordinance that repeals a scheduled increase in 2021 residential water rates. The scheduled increases will be pushed back to 2022. The Council made the change and expressed concern about financial impacts on residents due to the COVID pandemic.

A similar measure to push back the scheduled increase of wastewater rates was discussed but then tabled in a split vote. Daniel Scott, Chris Carlson and Derrick Pratt voted to table the vote. Dave Erickson and Jayne Stephenson voted to proceed. Scott expressed concern with making a decision about rate changes while the Council was in the process of refinancing the debt. He said about one third of the wastewater costs goes towards the debt. Scott said he wanted additional information from D.A. Davidson and PLG about options for bond sales, the city's bond rating and interest rates before making a decision. He added that the Council needs to address the bond refinancing before taking action on reducing sewer rates. Council member Dave Erickson said that at the previous meeting the council had already discussed and decided to make the change to rates and had directed staff to develop the budget accordingly, and so he felt they should stick with that decision.

The Council voted unanimously to approve a contract to deliver the City's biosolids to Boulder Park and King County. Director of Operations, Steve Croci said in an effort to eliminate the sewage odor, the biosolids are now being loaded directly onto trucks and hauled away. The cost will be approximately between $20,000 and $40.000 annually.

A contract was approved with Allied Plumbing to repair a hole in the sewer line on Chase Street. The hole was detected during the emergency repair of the Division Street sewer line. Croci said 2 other bids were received, however he recommended selecting Allied Plumbing because they provided the lowest bid, $15,285.91, but they also would utilize the least invasive method to fix the problem.

· Perspectives on the 2021 Legislative Session

• 2021 TriCommission Legislative Priorities

- Public Works Board / Trust Fund

 Chelan County PUD Fiber Acceleration; 2021 Buildout, update on COVID-19 impacts, 2021 Business Plan

Chelan County Commissioner Bob Bugert spoke about wildfires, decline in snowpack, water supply and other impacts caused by climate change. He expressed hope that future partnerships with other government and NGO's would result in mitigating all of the above.

Chelan County Commissioner Kevin Overbay said the county was working with the Chelan-Douglas Health District and received $8 million for various COVID-19 relief efforts aimed at businesses and organizations. Overbay also said the county has distributed $500,000 to non-profits around the county as well as $250,000 to several fire/ems functions.

Local COVID-19 Case Counts Hit Highest Rate Ever

SUBMITTED BY VERONICA FARIAS Chelan-Douglas Health District

East Wenatchee, WA - The COVID-19 case count for Chelan and Douglas counties this weekend hit its highest rate since the pandemic started more than nine months ago. On Tuesday, the average case count was at 836.4 cases per 100,000 people, up from 632.5 cases last week.

With the increase in case numbers, the health district last week added free drive-thru testing dates. From Nov. 20-22, 1,557 people were tested for COVID-19 at the testing site at Wenatchee High School.

"My concern is what this case count will look like two weeks from now, following Thanksgiving," said Dr. Malcolm Butler, health officer with Chelan-Douglas Health District. "People in our community can still do their part to soften this surge in cases by celebrating the holiday with only those people in your household. Stick close to home this week and for the near future.'

The health district recommends wearing a mask around people who you don't live with (even close friends and family) and limiting the number, size and frequency of gatherings. Wash your hands frequently, get your flu shot and stay home if you are sick.

If you do choose to gather with others, there are steps you can take to reduce the risk of contracting or spreading COVID-19. Chelan PUD and the health district partnered to create a Safety Checklist for people planning on gathering responsibly during the holidays. The checklist is available in English and Spanish and will be distributed throughout the community via the schools and partner agencies.

Community Solar Success in Leavenworth

enjoy a modest rate of return. The Pastor Nancy Gradwohl says, "It was seeing faith in action that led me to answer the call to serve as pastor at Faith Lutheran. The congregation is active in social justice and Creation justice, as exemplified by spearheading the solar project at the middle school." After the project concluded on June 30, the ownership of the solar installation transferred to Cascade School District. Because the electricity goes back into the grid, the Chelan County Public Utility District will reimburse the school district for energy produced based on off-peak market prices. The district will also continue to receive SNAP payments. "We are very thankful this project was installed on Icicle River Middle School," says Mike Janski, principal of the school. "It is wonderful visual of how easy it can be to generate electricity. It also provides our School District with a monthly benefit that is appreciated today and into the future." The project concluded without any major glitches. The years with more cloud cover, snow cover, or smoke had less energy production than the years where panels were clear. And the panels will keep on working for up to 50 years, with photons busily knocking electrons free from atoms inside the photovoltaic cells, creating electricity in the process.

For six years now the sun has shined down on the 96 solar panels atop the roof of the Icicle River Middle School in Leavenworth. The energy captured from that sunlight has generated 147,424 kilowatt hours of electricity in those six years, which after running through four inverters, was put back into the energy grid. Local donors and investors funded the Icicle River Middle School Community Solar Project in 2014, with the project conclusion occurring this year.

The project was made possible through the Washington State Renewable Energy System Cost Recovery program, which was established to promote solar manufacturing in the state. The Icicle River Middle School project was the first and only community solar project in Chelan County, organized by the Earth Stewardship Group at Faith Lutheran Church in Leavenworth.

The project, which by design had to go onto a public property that was not federal, was funded by 20 donors and a total of 39 investors. Investors received cost recovery payments on an annual basis from the Chelan County Public Utility District for the remaining six years of the program, at the rate of $1.08 per kilowatt hour produced. This enabled investors to fully recover their investment and the state

In addition, the Cascade School District receives SNAP payments for the electricity produced. As of March 2020, the district had received a total of $8,666.92. Started in 2001, the SNAP program is designed to help make small-scale solar and wind power more cost-effective for customers. The program connects customers who want to produce solar and wind power with other local customers who want to support the development of new, renewable energy.

Jim White, Senior Energy Efficiency Engineer for the Chelan County P.U.D., says "to me, this community solar project is the truest form of public power. It is power generated by the public for the public."

For the project organizers, this was never about making money. John and Mary Schramm of Leavenworth were among ten project investors that were also donors. "We feel the environmental crisis, including climate change, is the most critical issue we face at this time," says Mary Schramm. "We therefore feel that any step we can take is important. We thought this project was especially significant and we're happy to be a part of it."

The project even helped Faith Lutheran attract its new pastor.

Solar panels installed on the roof of Icicle River Middle School in 2016 are now producing electricity that is sold to Chelan County PUD.

COMMUNITY

Supporting Charities in Times of Crisis

ever Have you noticed how nonprofit organizations talk about the importance of unrestricted donations? How they dream of donations that support their general operating needs and not specific programs? Those unrestricted dollars provide nonprofits with stability, but in uncertain times, they also allow nonprofits to be highly adaptable and respond to the needs of their communities. 2020 has been a case in point at the Community Foundation.

Fiscal year 2020 started when the world still seemed to be chugging along as usual. CFNCW was here to execute its traditional set of grants and scholarships supporting a wide range of causes and students throughout North Central Washington - it was business as usual.

When the world turned upside down on us in mid-March, we stopped in our tracks and asked ourselves how best we could address the many crises that were crashing down on our community. We paused all the programs that are funded from our unrestricted dollars and created a series of initiatives to put our broken community back together.

• Helping Hands Grants were redefined to provide emergency assistance to nonprofits who were seeing huge spikes in demand due to the economic collapse that COVID spawned. Since March, over $147,000 of Helping Hands Grants have gone to local nonprofits and this is By Denise just the beginning.

Sorom • The Back to Basics campaign was conceived to help school districts support their most vulnerable students who were suffering due to school closures. Over $106,000 was granted to schools so they can help students with food, clothing, shoes, school supplies, personal hygiene products and other basic needs. The Nonprofit Reemergence Grant program was developed to aid our charitable sector as they adjust to the new realities of social distancing and the collapse of live, in-person programming.

• When the fires hit in September, we launched the NCW Fire Relief Fund to responsibly collect the charitable dollars that come rushing in during natural disasters and more importantly, ensure that those dollars directly help fire survivors rebuild their lives and livelihoods.

Through regular and frequent calls with leaders at a wide range of charitable organizations, we developed a keen understanding of what the nonprofit community was facing and how we could best help them weather the storm. We forged partnerships with city and county leaders to make sure that charitable dollars did not overlap with governmental aid; and we developed unique collaborations to make sure that public and private dollars were making their way to the people who needed them most.

There is no way we could have done all this without the donors who have supported the Community Foundation over the years. The flexibility of unrestricted donations empowered our team to use its expertise to make our philanthropy not just responsive but anticipatory.

For those of you who enjoy supporting charitable causes, we urge you to consider unrestricted gifts to your favorite nonprofits. When you make your gift, simply note that the donation is unrestricted or to be used where it is needed most. If you are interested in supporting the Community Foundation in this way, you can become a Partner In Giving (or a "PIG" as we affectionately call them) with a donation of $50 or more or you can consider leaving a legacy gift in your will as all endowed funds help CFNCW do its grant-making work every year.

In the end, the real heroes of this story are YOU - the donors who chose to support charitable causes - who are stepping up to support this community when it needs you

He mentioned COVID-19 vaccines could be ready by mid-December. Medical workers, especially longterm care facility workers and patients, would be given priority.

Jim Kuntz, executive director of the Chelan-Douglas Regional Port Authority, said his entity bought 72.5 acres in Malaga at 5375 Malaga-Alcoa Highway for slightly less than $1.4 million, which averages to around $19,000 per care.

He said the land was a much needed addition to low land inventories currently carried by the Port. Kuntz stated that a water hookup was about one mile away. He also said another parcel was located in Douglas County that was equally valuable to add so that Chelan-Douglas with remain competitive with Grant County as far as attracting new business ventures. Kuntz also said Pangborn Airport was at negative 66.7 percent of passenger traffic, but that was actually better than many other airports around the state. The average is negative 79 percent.

He also expressed satisfaction that Pangborn flights remained at two per day, on par with all of the larger airports, even though Wenatchee is a much smaller fundraiser, you can support a non-profit organization and amplify its work while connecting with friends and family during an unusual holiday season. To get people excited about the cause, go beyond simply asking for donations. For example, host a dance-a-thon to be conducted over video conference and have each participant rally to get sponsors. Or, perform a concert and live stream it, asking friends to make a donation in order to watch.

 Spread holiday cheer by donating toys, books, games and other gifts to kids who may not otherwise receive gifts this season. Just be sure to review the policies of the organization you select. For example, some charities ask that gifts remain unwrapped. At the same time, look for drop-off sites that allow you to donate in a safe, socially distant way.

Talks are still ongoing with United Airlines, Skywest, Boutique Air and Alaska Airlines for other direct flights, but for some reason, Denver and Phoenix are the locations being mentioned the most.

As of this meeting, 880 checks totaling $4.2 million has been distributed to businesses in the bi-county region. The future bodes bright, according to meeting attendees, that the incoming Biden Administration will introduce a huge stimulus package, keeping the stock market and economy buzzing along at record high rates.

Chelan The County Commissioners decided not to raise the property tax rate by the 1 percent allowable by statute due to the dire straits of many small businesses and families.

speakers State Guest Senator Brad Hawkins and State Representative Mike Steele said they have spoken to Congressman Kim Schrier regarding getting more funding for fiber connections from federal coffers.

Hawkins offered to draft a letter to Schrier and said he thought it would show great solidarity and one-mindedness if all local elected officials in the area join in signing the letter.

It was suggested that Senator Maria Cantwell be contacted as she is a key link on U.S. Senate committees handling energy for U.S. Senate in Georgia, giving them a Senate majority and thus more power to that party to head these important committees.

Chelan PUD Executive Director Steve Wright stated that the utility was in the process of replacing wooden telephone poles with metal ones to aid in wildfire mitigation efforts, but that this program was costly and also will take a while to complete.

Wright stated it was a $5 million effort and was especially important to the Leavenworth area, which is listed by the state as a major hazardous area, highest risk in the state, pertaining to wildfires.

Wright said the PUD is hiring a consultant to identify best practices in regards to wildfire risk assessment. Wright said recent talks were encouraging with Washington State Director of Natural Resources Director Hillary Franz , which allows for less stringent rules for taking down "danger trees."

Several of the meeting participants wished retiring Chelan County Commissioner Doug England a happy retirement and thanked him for his many years of service to the county.

hunters. The average hunter I spoke with didn't flush more than one pheasant per outing despite using dogs. WDFW biologists were unavailable for comment about whether less birds were released or not this November because of the Thanksgiving holiday.

Shelby Ross, owner of Ross Outdoor Adventures, says there are lots of ducks in the Columbia Basin and around Potholes Reservoir. Shelby says, "If there is wind the hunting is good. If not, it's tough." However, with colder weather coming Shelby expects a fresh push of northern birds and those birds will congregate to areas of open water as smaller ponds freeze up in the davs ahead.

As for geese there are lots of them in the basin but they have been difficult to target during the mild fall days as their feeding times and locations have been unpredictable. Colder weather and freezing temperatures will make hunting better as the geese become more predictable as to when they head to the fields to feed.

Meanwhile, in Northeast Washington Daniel at Clark's All Sports in Colville reports turkey hunting remains good this fall and this should remain a solid prospect as long as the weather holds. As for the deer; hunters are seeing more bucks than last year but over all the numbers harvested appear to of the McCredy Company Store in Goldendale, says not a lot of turkey were taken during the fall season in Klickitat County. The general deer season this fall was also very slow with not a lot of animals harvested. Part of this could be due to the lower number of deer and turkey hunters seen in the region this season. On other hand, there is high interest and a great deal of participation in the muzzle loader season for elk in Western Washington now with the areas around Trout Lake and Glenwood in particular drawing good numbers of hunters.

Latest Governor COVID-19 restrictions ends Wenatchee Wild's 2020-2021 season

With the latest restrictions on gyms and ice arenas in the state of Washington it has made it impossible for the Wenatchee Wild to continue with the 2020-2021 season. The United States and Canadian border remain closed until at least December 21. The latest setback is not being able to train our players here in the state of Washington. We are not opting out of the season we are being forced out because the United States and Canadian border are closed and the restrictions on gyms and ice arenas in the state of Washington. "We are very saddened by events that are out of our control and have forced us to not have a 2020-21 season for our BCHL Wenatchee Wild. We will continue to develop players on our four other development teams, and I will keep all Wild staff on board, as this is a temporary setback for the BCHL Wild. We will be back with the Wild for the 2021-2022 season and we appreciate all of our supporter's patience and understanding." said David White, Owner Wenatchee Wild With hockey being played in other states and other leagues around the country our players need to be able to continue their development as they are competing for college scholarships. This is a very tough day for us as an organization as we pride ourselves on being a players first organization. Our coaches first off will be working to make sure all our current players have a place to play for the remainder of the 2020-2021 season. After that they will shift into building the Wenatchee Wild 2021-2022 team. "Obviously like everyone else, our staff is disappointed that we are forced to end the 20-21 season. We want to thank our players for all their hard work over the last 7 weeks. We were looking forward to seeing this group of players grow throughout the season. We also want to thank our incredible billet families for opening their homes during these unprecedented

Fishing And Hunting Roundup

Fishing Reports:

Bob Loomis, Sales Director for Mack's Lure, went out with three friends to Banks Lake recently to try their luck for walleye. Their short afternoon of fishing went very well. Fishing metal Sonic Baitfish lures as blade baits they caught over 35 walleye averaging 20 inches in size. Loomis reports they were fishing ¼ ounce jigs 35 to 52 feet deep. The hot color? Glow white.

Rowland Lake in Klickitat County was planted on Nov. 18 and 19 with some 2500 trout from the Goldendale hatchery. What's impressive is the size of the fish put in here. The smaller rainbows weigh over a pound and the largest are tipping the scales at nearly nine pounds.

Pete Fischer at MarDon Resort shares the overall mild temperatures of November makes a fishing trip to Potholes Reservoir a worthwhile prospect. The fishing may not be on fire but largemouth bass and walleye fishing is fair and both species can be found at depths of 10 to 28 feet. One place where you can catch both species is the face of the sand dunes at the northwest end of the lake where a series of underwater humps provide structure for these fish.

If you want to go after trout here you have two choices. Boat anglers trolling #7 Berkley Flicker Shad plugs in various patterns are catching rainbows

What will stop the stock market?

Just before the pandemic, I wrote a terribly timed article entitled "nothing stops the stock market." Of course, stocks promptly took one of the steepest, deepest dives in history, and COMMUNITY I had a good laugh myself (while at also crying a little). However, that article looks a lot better in reign. That means hindsight. At the moment I'm the Trump tax cuts won't be writing this, the S&P 500 is reversed, and the big tech up more than 10% in 2020. If companies won't be hassled. On the trade war front, while high tariffs with China are likely to remain, the trade war will be waged much less chaotically.

financial world is the "the stock market hates uncertainty." If that's true, it explains the optimism in the markets. If there's one thing we gained over the last month, it's certainty. Of course, the news isn't all good. The pandemic is growing, shutdowns are here again, and the economy is slowing. Further, we haven't experienced lockdowns without the government shoveling trillions of dollars into the economy – which isn't likely to be repeated anytime soon. So, the coming months might be hard. However, even if we fall into another market. However, times like this are often when stocks surprise investors. In the same way that the best time to buy stocks is when there's "blood in the water" (March 2009 for example), the best time to sell stocks is often when the water is calm and beautiful. That's certainly not a recommendation to sell all your stocks and hide the money in your backyard. But investors should keep their guard up and not get complacent - especially when the future looks rosy.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor:

The Echo's November 18 lead article falsely proclaims, Governor says cancel Thanksgiving and Christmas." No one is cancelling Thanksgiving or Christmas or any other holiday.

Leavenworth is now a hotspot for the virus, and the number of cases in Chelan and Douglas Counties has skyrocketed to 685.6 per 100,000 over the last 14 days. Pointing to this dangerous rise in COVID-19 cases in our city, county and state, Governor Inslee is urging (not mandating) Washingtonians to limit social gatherings to immediate households through December 14. In other words, Governor Inslee is counting on us to recognize the dangerous spread of Covid and take personal responsibility to do what we can to control this pandemic. Crowded indoor gatherings are primary sources of contagion. This includes large Thanksgiving family gatherings. My husband and I will enjoy our dinner alone. We figure it's worth missing a special family dinner so that we can be around to celebrate Thanksgiving with our family next year. We can still have an outdoor, spaced gathering, visit virtually with our Alaska family, and give thanks for our blessings.

acknowledging While COVID-19 to be "a serious disease [that] can have deadly consequences," the publisher goes on to say that "the danger is not as significant as once thought," and urges

"a serious discussion about the issue of COVID-19 policy." After contradicting himself, he offers not a serious and helpful discussion, but three articles supporting the "insignificance" of the pandemic and the primary importance "freedom." of

One writer calls the pandemic "fake," citing the 14th century Bubonic Plague as a "real pandemic," implying that COVID, having so far killed 1.34 million people worldwide, is not. He cites U.S. COVID-related deaths as 204,613 on October 16. One month later, on November 20, according to Worldometer, that number is more than 260,000 close to the number of Americans killed in World War II. and more than five times the number of those killed in the Vietnam War. None of these numbers is insignificant. The COVID death toll doesn't include the growing number of "long-haulers," those whose effects of the disease linger still, such as a friend of ours who has been ill with COVID effects for nine months. This same writer calls governors implementing measures to control the pandemic "little human republic dictators."

Another writer seems to embrace "freedom" above all else. What freedom? Freedom to infect others? He refers to leaders who impose "arbitrary and whimsical mandates . . . to control and oppress the governed." He accuses such leaders of regarding him and his followers as "dangerous" because they are "a free people who are united and have faith in the living God." He encourages no change in our Thanksgiving observance as "an act of defiance." This is what is dangerous — insisting on freedom to infect others no matter the cost.

It is striking that in this entire issue of the Echo, there is no perspective from scientists, nor from medical professionals who risk their lives every day to treat people who are paying the price for others' twisted concept of freedom. One article in this Echo, however, gives some important advice on how to "avoid crisis and conflict" during COVID. Advice includes: "Avoid judgment," and "avoid language that could make another person feel anxious or defensive." I suggest the publisher and the other writers read it before writing falsehoods like "Governor cancels Thanksgiving." We will still observe Thanksgiving but — as Governor Inslee urges may we do it safely.

Susan Butruille Leavenworth

Mr. Randy Agnew,

I am writing this to you in response to your letter in the Leavenworth Echo dated 11/12/2020.

I don't live in Washington, I live in Texas near a small country town called Normangee. But, having traveled to Washington state for vacations 11 or 12 times from the late 1990's through 2015, with 10 of those times being winter trips to the Leavenworth area, my wife and I have an affection for your part of the state. It seems it was our second home for a while. I check in with the Echo occasionally to follow the local happenings in Leavenworth and that part of the state.

Knowing the liberal Seattle side of the state is the driving force for all things political there,I was very pleasantly surprised to see your letter. It was very eloquently written with the sentiments that many others in your state, as well as many folks here in Texas, share in these crazy times. So many of us here in Texas see this whole pandemic as a precursor to the next step in an attempt to deprive us of more freedoms and to institute a tighter noose of governmental control. You hit the nail right on the head all through your letter, but the last two paragraphs really drove home the whole point so well. I agree with you...it's a test. How far will we go before we say ENOUGH! Quoting vour letter, "Is this the Land of the Free or the Pasture of the Sheeple?"

I want to thank you as an elected official in Washington state, for being bold enough to stand up and say what so many others are saying and talking about everywhere. It takes a man with a spine to stand up in the crazy political climate that our nation is in right now, and say ENOUGH!

Mayor Randy Agnew, you have my deepest respect and admiration, all the way from TEXAS!

Best Regards, Dennis Powell

times. We can't wait for the 2021-2022 season and look forward to seeing everyone then." said Wild Head Coach Chris Clark

As an organization we would like to restate our gratitude for all our players that have been with us the past seven weeks and wish everyone continued success this year. We would like to thank all of housing families that have taken players into their houses during these tough times.

We appreciate your patience as we begin this process of an untraveled territory for our staff.

We feel bad for not only our players and fans but also all the service clubs, charitable organizations, youth teams that use the Wenatchee Wild as a vehicle to raise money for their organizations. The Wild generally help with about $100,000 per year to these organizations through chuck-apuck, 50/50, ticket fundraisers, jersey auctions & more. We have been shown that the Wenatchee Wild have about a five-milliondollar economic impact in Wenatchee and we look forward to continuing our local impact moving forward.

"This is a sad day for the Wenatchee Wild organization. We feel for our players, housing families, fans, season ticket holders, corporate sponsors, and the Town Toyota Center. Not a good day for any of us. This will hurt for a while for sure, but I know we will get through this and we will be back better than ever for the 2021-2022 season. I will challenge the hockey operations staff building next vear's team to recruit harder and smarter than ever. We will challenge our front office to upgrade everything we do. We are proud of the show we put on right now but want make it the most entertaining event in junior hockey." Said Wild GM, Bliss Littler.

The BCHL season will tentatively start this December with the 17 other BCHL teams.

"The BCHL is very sad that circumstances beyond the control of our valued franchise, the Wenatchee Wild, have caused this shutdown," said Chairman of the League's Board of Governors, Graham Fraser. "We wish Bliss Littler and his staff the very best as they get to work on getting back to play for the 2021-22 season."

Very Successful Business for Sale

My wife and I have decided to retire and have chosen to sell our business Your Family Name.

Go to our website: www.yfn.net.

and see some of the products we sell. Since opening in 2006 with the "Name Store". We have added some new great selling products. Our most popular are the Rhythm Magic Motion clocks, House of Jerky products and Almond Blossom nuts. We have 2 great employees and are great at running the store in our absence. People come into the store all the time and say "Oh we have been here before, we just like to come in when in town and checkout all your great and new stuff." We have a lot of repeat customers who love coming in for the Nuts and Jerky. We are not asking any "Blue Sky" payment for the store. We are just asking for someone to purchase the inventory at cost and take over this well-established business. The inventory will run in the area of $20K. As they say, the 3 things important to any business is Location, and Location. This business is located at 933 Front Street, Suite D. Leavenworth-meaning traffic to our store is excellent. If interested, we can make ourselves available to you for training, or you can take advantage of our already trained employees, who are willing to stay on. Call Duane, 509-423-0553.
