American Legion cancels Cavalcade of Flags

SUBMITTED BY LINDA INGRAHAM
Cashmere American Legion Aux.
President

It is with great sadness and disappointment that the Cashmere American Legion Post #64 is announcing that their "Cavalcade of Flags" ceremony on Memorial Day has been canceled. This year would have been the 72nd ceremony that was started in 1976 with just 22 flags under the supervision of Commander Art Cote. Last year 445 American flags donated by veteran's families were put up at the cemetery and there would have been a few more this year. Also close to 1000 small flags would have been put on all veterans and auxiliary graves.

Memorial Day, originally called Decoration Day, is a day on which Americans remember and pay tribute to their ancestral family members. It is the one day of the year to remember, reflect and honor those who have given their all in service to our country. Please think about taking your own American flags out to the cemetery to put on your own loved one and perhaps on a few more veteran's graves. Also remember about the Veteran Memorial behind Cashmere Riverside Center. The memorial along with the flag pole was dedicated in May 2003. It has the names of local veterans who gave their life for their country during the wars. There is always a ceremony there after the cemetery ceremony on Memorial Day and a wreath is thrown in the river for the veterans lost at sea.

The auxiliary will also not be having their traditional "Poppy Days" where they hand out poppies to wear for Memorial Day. We might be able to have it later. All proceeds from the poppies goes to assist active-duty military, veterans and their families. The American Legion Auxiliary adopted the poppy as it's memorial flower in 1921 and started the Poppy Program in 1924.

Please contact me or Commander Ken Komro if there are any questions. Our hearts are heavy about this decision because it is such an important meaningful day. The American Legion and Auxiliary is a community of volunteers serving veterans, military and their families. We commit ourselves to Service Not Self.
God Bless America

Cashmere City Council

BY KIRK BECKENDORF
Cashmere Reporter

The Cashmere City Council unanimously approved a letter to Chelan County from Mayor Jim Fletcher. The letter supports Chelan County's request to Governor Inslee asking that the county be allowed to move to Phase 2 of the state's plans to reopen businesses. Council members Dave Erickson and Daniel Scott added that they support moving to Phase 2 if it can be done safely.

The city pool will be closed in 2020 according to Fletcher. In addition to COVID 19 health concerns, the closure will provide time to repair the leaky pool which Fletcher said "is a drain on the city budget" and will save the city needed funds. According to Fletcher, the city is continuing to expect a substantial decrease in city tax revenue as a result of business closures. In addition to closing the pool they are studying the budget and looking to see where other cuts can be made. He said that they have already deferred some expenses.

An audit completed in 2017 showed a need for an overtime policy and this year's overtime payments have been about $16,000 dollars. Fletcher said a new policy has now been implemented, requiring the mayor's approval of requests for overtime.

A small piece of city property will be impacted by the Sunset Highway extension and Goodwin Bridge construction project. Council members expressed their interest in pursuing joining with the County so that the city property will be included in the development plans. Council members agreed that including an extension of water and sewer as part of the project should be considered. Fletcher said that grants will be needed to fund the project. Council member Chris Carlson said it makes sense to partner with the county but he is concerned about funding since the state is likely to see the biggest budget shortfall ever. Jayne Stephenson asked if the city has a good working relationship with the County Public Works, Fletcher and Director Operations, Steve Croci, both said they did.

The council approved acceptance of two grants from the Chelan Douglas Regional Port Authority. One grant for $20,000, will be used to assist the city in generating an economic development plan for the former lagoon property. The funding will be used to hire a consultant to work with the community and generate the plan by December 2020.

The second grant approved was for $15,000 to help design and engineer water and wastewater utility service to City owned property located on Railroad Ave. This is a 50/50 matching grant that requires the City to contribute another $15,000 towards this activity. The funding will be used to hire an engineering firm to determine the most feasible options to route utilities, survey, design and permit the project.

In two additional business items, the council approved an amendment to authorize COVID supplemental leave in half hour increments. An annual agreement for street striping of city streets was approved with the Chelan County Public Works for approximately $3625.

Cashmere law firm is homegrown

BY GARY BEGIN

CASHMERE - The Cashmere Valley Record heard about a new law firm headquartered here, but the best part is that the attorneys are "homegrown" residents or recently transplanted, to this idyllic town on the Wenatchee River.

Clay Gatens, Michelle Green, and Lindsey Weidenbach banded together to form Gatens Green Weidenbach, PLLC.

According to the firm, Michelle Green was born and raised in Cashmere. She is part of the fourth generation in her family that has chosen to make Cashmere their home. Her great-grandparents farmed orchards in Cashmere in the early 1900s, and Michelle is proud to now serve the agricultural industry as part of her law practice.

Lindsey Weidenbach was also born and raised in Cashmere and is excited to be opening a business here, following in the footsteps of her great-grandparents and her father who owned and operated Wehmeyer's TV and Appliance in downtown Cashmere for decades. Clay Gatens moved to Cashmere shortly after relocating from Seattle with his wife, Jessaca, who is originally from East Wenatchee. The Gatens' two children attend Cashmere schools.

Here is the Q&A from mid-May, shortly after the firm was established:

Cashmere Valley Record: What made the three of you decide to join forces to start a law firm?

Gatens Green Weidenbach: Clay, Michelle and Lindsey were partners at Jeffers, Danielson, Sonn & Aylward, PS, another firm in Wenatchee. We left JDSA to focus on our respective practice areas.

CVR: Are you all equal partners or is there a managing partner?

GGW: We are equal partners
CVR: Are there members involved with community or charitable service?

GGW: Clay Gatens and Lindsey Weidenbach are both deeply involved with the Pybus Public Market from the planning phases to the present. Lindsey serves on the Pybus board of directors as president-elect.

CVR: What caused the firm to specialize in: Cannabis Law/ Highly Regulated Industries, Civil Litigation, Class Actions, Real Estate/Water Rights, Tax Law/1031 Exchanges, Agriculture, Business Law, Estate/Succession Planning, Land Use?

GGW: Gatens Green Weidenbach, PLLC officially opened May 1 (though we are currently closed to the public, except by appointment only, due to COVID-19). Collectively, we have over three decades of legal experience. We formed GGW to focus on land use, real estate, and business practices. Specifically, we do not represent municipalities, counties, or agencies that regulate development, which will enable us to grow and further develop our existing land use and highly-regulated industry practice areas. We are located in Cashmere, at 305 Aplets Way; however, our existing client base spans throughout Washington and Oregon, primarily in the North Central Washington region. We serve a large number of clients in the agricultural industry, real estate developers, contractors, highly-regulated industries (those holding cannabis, winery, brewery or liquor licenses), and business clients. We have significant experience in complex commercial litigation and consumer class actions. We also own a 1031 exchange facilitator entity and can assist with 1031 exchanges and complex tax planning (A 1031 exchange is a mechanism in the Internal Revenue Code that allows you to swap real property used in a trade or business or held for investment purposes for real property that is similarly used, without paying tax). Our highest honor is the trust and confidence that hundreds of our long-term clients put in our attorneys by continuing to make us a part of their team and choosing Gatens Green Weidenbach for their legal needs. We pride ourselves in offering high quality, efficient, and

Take up your own cross

We are wired for comfort and self-preservation. It is endemic to our nature and at the first small sign of uncomfortableness, we immediately draw back.

A WALK WITH PASTOR JOHN SMITH

Yet Christ not only exhorts us, "If anyone would come after me, let him deny himself and take up his cross daily and follow me" (Luke 9:23). In this passage, Christ is calling for radical discipleship and he knows full well what the cross meant for his audience. The Roman method of crucifixion meant certain death. It was agonizing and humiliating with the one bearing the cross being led out of the city as a subject of scorn and reviling. To be crucified was synonymous with losing all sense of dignity—being stripped naked, nailed to the cross, and then lifted for everyone to see your suffering until you eventually die.

When Christ says "take up your cross" he is in effect saying, to die to self and to see yourself dead to the world. When people saw a man with a cross, they considered him dead and so when we take up our own, we are signaling to the world just that: we're dead. We are dead to sin and the pleasures of this world. We are dead to asserting our way and being bothered by other people's offenses. Taking up our cross also means an embrace of God's will for our lives regardless of the cost. Jesus embraced God's will by being crucified and suffering for the sake of sinners. Whatever God has for us (suffering included), we embrace it willingly, knowing that it has come from the hand of God and "Thy will be done".

No one ever said that "taking up your cross" or the Christian life would be easy. If they did, then they have sold people a bill of goods. The world, Devil and our innate aversion to anything painful challenges us to lay hold of the high calling of Christ's command to "follow me". Yet, when we consider the suffering of the cross, it should lead us to its blessing.

As stated earlier, the cross meant certain death and to all those who had a cross to carry, they were marked as a dead man. So where is the blessing in that? Well, if you are dead then you are no longer bothered or hindered by the world. What people think or what people say no longer has any bearing on you because you are dead to people-pleasing and maintaining a "respectable" reputation. So many people remain in bondage because they are worried about what others may think. Not to the one who has been crucified with Christ, they have been liberated from that slavery.

Coupled with liberty from the world, there is a deep and profound intimacy with Jesus in following his command for radical discipleship. Often, when we refuse or avoid an embrace of the difficult moments in our Christian life, we miss out on fellowship with Christ. Jesus is of such, that he fellowships with us in and through hard situations, rewarding us with his presence. Think about all the decisions that you have had to make—the ones where you had decrease so that Christ may increase—wasn't there a closeness with Jesus? I remember circumstances in my life where I had to put reputation aside, take up a cross (at times literally) and suffer ridicule for my decision but I always walk away with more of appreciation of what Christ did for me.

When we deny ourselves, following him and embrace all of God's will, that "cross-carrying life" will be difficult, but it will lead us into more intimacy with Christ.

Although, that call of discipleship will invariably lead us to pain and difficulty, the sweet fellowship with Jesus and seeing him present in our lives, makes it all worth it.

Show is better than tell

When I was a growing up my mother sang hymns every day from morning till night . . . and I probably know the words to every verse of every hymn—in most hymnals—a heritage I am grateful for.

JOYCE WILLIAMS
Pastor of Congregational Care

My vivid picture of my mother includes her curly brown hair, warm smile, cotton dress that she no doubt made, white anklets, and canvas shoes . . . cooking, sewing, working in her garden, canning, visiting shut-ins or teaching Sunday school or summer Bible school, always with an eye for the poor and needy . . . and always singing.

My style was a bit different; when our children were small and up until they went to high school, I would tuck them into bed and then sit on the end of one of their beds or in a chair and sing them to sleep. I sang the same simple songs, all in the same key, night after night, putting my heart into them so they would get a feel for the sound of personal worship.

Years later, on the first mission trip the girls and I took to Tijuana, Mexico, our oldest daughter was invited to sing as all the girls in the dorm room snuggled down to sleep. Imagine my amazement when, beginning with "Open My Eyes, Lord, I Want To See Jesus," she sang my old repertoire!

A few years later, after our son got his driver's license, I rode with him to Wenatchee. As he drove out of the driveway, he began to sing "Sweet Adoration," another of my old songs. I commented on it, and he replied, "Mom, it's one of my favorites."

When our oldest granddaughter (now 17) was 3 1/2, I babysat for her overnight. I tucked her into bed, kissed her good night, we said prayers, and then I sat on the end of her bed and began to sing . . . of course, my old and loved songs. As I began, her little voice came from the pillow, "My mommy sings that to me." My heart swelled up with joy. As I finished "Oh, Lord, You're Beautiful" and began "Jesus, Name Above All Names," she whispered, "My mommy sings that song, too."

A lot of years have passed, but I was reminded of all this during a visit to my son and his family in Minneapolis. Their children are now 3 and 6. To give my son and his wife a date night, I offered to stay with the children and tuck them into bed. As they settled for the night in their twin beds in a shared bedroom, I started to sing—of course, my same simple songs! The 6-year-old piped up, "Our daddy sings us those songs—but you have them in the wrong order!" My initial chuckle was drowned in grateful tears.

So, with my little story, I challenge you, "Are you 'showing' your faith to your children?" It doesn't have to be the way my mother did it, or the way I did it—be yourself.

But remember, "Show is better than tell."

Enjoying a lifetime passion for reading and storytelling that developed into more than a mere hobby, Joyce Williams is happy to have completed her 7-book historical fiction series, The Rose & The Ring. Set in Central Europe (Vienna, Prague, Nuremberg and surrounding countryside), this series follows the Branden family and is set against the social, religious and political backdrop of the 14-1500's. Each story wraps around a social challenge, from class disparity and domestic abuse to religious oppression and arranged marriage. The series is appropriate for teens and up.

Joyce has one other published work of fiction, Quilt of Grace, and has contributed to 2 other books: "Travelers' Tales: Gusto Mama" by Marybeth Bond and "Jot It Down" by Dave Cole.

Joyce's books are available through Amazon and also in e-format for Kindle, Nook, iBooks and Kobo. She also has a Facebook page, Redemptive Rose Fiction, and a personal inspirational blog: JoyceWilliamsWritenow.blogspot.com.

Our attorneys have been on the forefront of numerous large-scale class action cases, including the landmark Jordan v. Nationstar Mortgage, LLC case, in which the Washington State Supreme Court held that lenders are prohibited from changing locks on a borrower's property prior to completion of a foreclosure. Ultimately, Clay Gatens was able to achieve a settlement of $17 million for the benefit of the certified class members.

The COVID-19 situation has certainly impacted our clients in dramatic ways. We are assisting a large number of essential business clients in navigating the new governmental regulations and orders pertaining to the crisis, as well as providing legal services and assistance in securing Paycheck Protection Program loans and other small business loans.

Gatens Green Weidenbach offers professional legal services in North Central Washington and beyond.

Top Gardening Trends for 2020

Blooms and beyond: The top gardening trends for 2020

(BPT) - Whether you have an outdoor oasis or are a nurturing indoor plant parent, gardening offers a multitude of benefits and has the power to brighten up any space or mood. Spring is the time to plan what plants to grow, and with some expert insight on top trends, you'll be gardening with success and enjoying the results. The team at Ball Horticultural Company shares the top trends for 2020, guiding plant lovers at all levels to confidently grow a garden, big or small.

Indoor Garden Rooms

Mother Nature has made her way indoors with more people planting inside their homes in a variety of ways. Whether it's creating a soothing space by a windowsill filled with houseplants or growing your own edible herbs and microgreens in your kitchen, planting indoors is on the rise. Serious plant-lovers are even dedicating entire interior spaces to gardening, creating "garden rooms" or "indoor jungles."

Indoor gardening lets homeowners experience the benefits of plants wherever they live, regardless of the weather outdoors. Easy-to-care-for houseplants, such as Dieffenbachia, a strong and sturdy plant that has stunning and unique tropical leaves, makes people feel like they are on vacation in their own homes. Studies show that foliage plants also clean indoor air and lift overall spirits. Finally, don't be afraid of indoor flowering plants like Gerbera or Cyclamen. Their flowers last 3-4 weeks and are available in many colors to fit your mood or match your seasonal décor. PanAmerican Seed offers the Kitchen Minis collection as an option for gardeners who want to grow and harvest their own vegetables year-round. These potted vegetable plants can thrive on a sunny windowsill or counter. With Kitchen Minis, such as the Siam Edible Potted Tomato, people can pluck ingredients right from the container in their kitchen to use in a recipe. The collection also includes sweet and hot peppers with more options to come.

Gardening for Health and Wellness

It's no secret that consuming fresh vegetables and herbs is beneficial to one's physical health, and gardening at home puts a variety of flavorful produce within arm's reach. The benefits of gardening also extend to mental health, as tending a garden and being close to nature helps reduce stress, calm anxiety and acts as a mood-booster.

Herbs are a simple place to start when growing your own food. You can't go wrong with Everleaf Emerald Towers Basil, which adds flavor to many dishes like fresh Caprese salad. This beautiful, column-like plant not only gives a bountiful harvest, it is also late to flower and can be paired with colorful flowers in a mixed container for month after month of hand-plucked flavor and garden enjoyment.

Mardi Gras Fun Snack Peppers from Burpee Plants are the perfect healthy miniature peppers that add a conversation piece to any garden. They're available in four eye-catching color options that can be grown together in one container for a fun patio display, and kids adore helping to grow, pick and eat these crunchy snacks.

Aromatherapy is also a popular wellness practice, with lavender plants topping the list of must-haves because of its reputation for inspiring relaxation. SuperBlue English Lavender grows rich blue blooms on short flower spikes, providing a calming scent and great garden texture. Alternatively, Primavera Spanish Lavender flowers throughout the summer, displaying great heat tolerance with bushy, scented florets that attract bees and other pollinators.

Bold Colors

Bold colors are planted in gardens across the country and different hues blanket landscapes large and small. Additionally, people with container gardens are planting flowers known for their vivid color for instant impact, making this trend accessible to all, including those who live in a condo or apartment with limited outdoor garden space.

Some standout plants that feature the best bold hues include Galaxy Geranium, a brand-new series that is vigorous enough to keep its large, semi-double blooms in-color all season. Look for stunning dark red, pink, purple, salmon, violet, watermelon and white, giving gardeners the option to choose their favorite shade or create a rainbow of flowers.

Another bold option that is wonderful for sunny borders or bright corners is Rose Marvel Salvia. Its mega-large bloom stems result in spectacular displays in spring and summer so you'll enjoy color throughout the warm months. The rose-pink flowers are deer and rabbit resistant, plus they rebloom without being cut back, saving time and minimizing maintenance.

Ask for these plants at your favorite garden retailer, and you're on your way to experiencing all that flowers have to offer. To learn more about these plants and the top gardening trends of the year, visit the plant experts at www.ballhort.com.

5 Fresh Ways to Frame Your Outdoor Space

(BPT) - When determining the look of your outdoor living space, decking is only half of the equation. In many cases, it's the deck railings that are most visible and the design element that makes the first impression.

"Railings serve a necessary safety function, but they also play an important aesthetic role," explains designer Alison Victoria, star of HGTV's "Windy City Rehab" and "Rock the Block." "They frame an outdoor space and define the setting's style and personality."

Following are five fresh ways to frame up your outdoor space for maximum enjoyment and curb appeal:

Industrial inspiration

Industrial styling is all the rage, as homeowners seek to replicate the clean lines and modern looks found in today's hottest hotels, restaurants and craft breweries. In backyards across the country, this commercial-to-residential trend can be seen in the increased use of aluminum railing styles that deliver sleek sophistication. One such example is Trex Signature Railing, which offers a range of designs, including horizontal rods, mesh panels or glass inserts, in addition to traditional spindles - all with the low maintenance and durability of aluminum.

Mixed materials

While railing matched to the decking remains perennially popular, an increasing number of homeowners are taking advantage of customizable design possibilities afforded by new railing materials, styles and finishes. Visual interest can be achieved by juxtaposing materials such as composite, aluminum, glass and brick. For an eye-catching color contrast, consider pairing chunky, white posts with slim, black balusters. Or, mix classic and contemporary looks by using a traditional, wide railing to frame the deck while installing a slimmer railing style on staircases.

View-optimizing options

If you want to enjoy your view, thin balusters finished in black are a great choice as they tend to optically blend into the environment, putting more visual emphasis on the natural surroundings. Glass panels are also ideal, of course, as are cable and rod rail designs. Conversely, if you have nosy neighbors or a view you'd rather minimize, opt for railings with thicker posts and more tightly spaced balusters to enhance privacy.

Form and function

In certain cases, deck railings can be as practical as they are pretty. One of the biggest trends is "cocktail railing" or a "drink rail." This approach uses a deck board as a top rail to create a flat ledge at just the right height for holding drinks and plates. This level surface also offers an ideal resting spot for potted plants, candles and other decorative accessories. By using boards that match the decking, you can achieve a look that complements your deck, while making great use of space.

Inviting illumination

Augment the beauty of your railing and lengthen the time you can spend enjoying your deck with discreet outdoor lighting that can be integrated into railing posts and caps. Not only will lighting set the mood, it also adds safety and security. Consider LED dimmable options to maximize energy efficiency, such as Trex Outdoor Lighting, which also are weatherproof and salt-air proof - ensuring they will last for years. To learn more about different railing options and outdoor living trends, visit www.Trex.com.

3 Ways a Deck Can Make Staying Home More Enjoyable

(BPT) - With so many people across the country staying put in their homes right now, a fun and functional outdoor space is more important than ever. Amusement parks and concerts are closed or canceled and spring is around the corner, beckoning families outdoors. Millions of people are working remotely and looking for a more natural option for their home offices. A well-thought-out deck could be the answer to making a staycation, whether forced or planned, more enjoyable.

Here are three ways a deck can improve the at-home experience.

1. Fewer screens, more fun

When kids are out of school, screen time usually goes up. Whether it's TV, computers, video games, phones or tablets, screen time is usually a sedentary activity.

A deck can provide an alternative outdoor play space where kids can be active and stretch their imaginations, enjoy the outdoors and do things like bring their favorite toys like building blocks, action figures or doll houses outdoors.

Worried about splinters hurting those little toes and fingers? Composite decking is a beautiful option that makes sanding, staining, sealing and splinters a thing of the past. While composite decking has historically had a higher price tag than traditional wood, boards like Envision Ridge Premium deliver the exotic hardwood beauty and low maintenance of composites at a budget-friendly price.

2. Home office with a side of vitamin D

Millions of Americans have moved to work-from-home situations recently and are looking for a way to get out of their stuffy home offices in favor of a workspace with natural lighting and a great breeze. Soaking up a safe amount of sun every day can reap big benefits for your health, according to physicians and the World Health Organization (WHO), including elevating mood, improving sleep, promoting bone growth and strengthening the immune system.

With the right patio furniture, a deck can make a great option for an outdoor workspace to soak up the benefits of the sun's rays. Choose a table of the appropriate height and a comfortable chair for extended work sessions, or a cushioned chaise lounge for shorter periods. Adding a screen or pergola to a deck can provide some protection from the wind (fewer important work papers blowing around).

3. Family time all year long

If there's an upside to the increase in people staying home, it's the ability to connect with the other people living in your home. Life can get so busy with work, friends and other commitments that it's difficult to find time to connect or have a family game night. A deck is a great place to gather the members of your household for a laid-back evening of stargazing or a rowdy game night.

And those family connections don't have to end due to summer's heat or fall's chill. By adding an outdoor heater, firepit or fans, you can extend your deck's use as a family space to the majority of the year.

As you can see, a deck is a great way to expand the living space of your home and to provide an alternative space for all members of the family to enjoy.

Stranded Students

SUBMITTED BY JUDY RECTOR

Valentin, Micaela, Rocio, Maximiliano, and Augustin are all graduate students from Argentina. They came to Leavenworth, WA, to work the winter season at Stevens Pass but after the ski season ended, their flights home were cancelled because of the COVID-19 crisis. Then, Argentina closed its borders.

Their J1 workers VISAs expire at the end of May. They are very concerned that they're here in the US legally and have submitted their extension papers by mail but all immigration offices they've contacted are closed. Their worry is that they won't have jobs and though they're all working locally now, that will end when their VISAs expire.

They're staying in a rental house now, which the kind landlord forgave the rent for this month because of the situation. But there is no guarantee for the next three months.

These youth have enjoyed their experiences living, working and practicing their English in the US but 'not knowing' when they can return home is frustrating and upsetting. They're trusting that the immigration center in Texas where they have mailed their visa extension papers will respond soon so they can work legally and support themselves.

On September 1, American Airlines will hopefully begin flying again to South America and honor their open-ended tickets home and Argentina will open its border again. All the students face a two week quarantine at their own expense when they return. Meanwhile, the students will continue working on their online university classes since their regular classes are closed at home, just like all students here.

Case No. 20-4-02315-6 KNT
Probate Notice to Creditors (RCW 11.40.020, 030)

Suzanne M. Lewis has been appointed as Representative of this estate. Any person having a claim against the decedent that arose before the decedent's death must, before the time the claim would be barred by any otherwise applicable statute of limitations, present the claim in the manner as provided in RCW 11.40.070 by serving on or mailing to the Representative of the Representative's attorneys at the address stated below a copy of the claim and filing the original of the claim with the Court in which the probate proceedings were commenced. The claim must be presented within the later of: (1) 30 days after the Representative served or mailed the notice to the creditor as provided under RCW 11.40.020(1)(c); or (2) four months after the date of first publication of the notice. If the claim is not presented within this time frame, the claim is forever barred, except as otherwise provided in RCW 11.40.051 and 11.40.060. This bar is effective as to claims against both the decedent's probate and non-probate assets.

PUBLIC NOTICES

The Bureau of Reclamation is preparing an environmental impact statement on the Leavenworth National Fish Hatchery Surface Water Intake Fish Screens and Fish Passage project and will be gathering information from other agencies, interested parties and the public on a range of possible alternatives to modernize this hatchery's water intake, fish screening and fish passage system. The public will have the opportunity to participate in the scoping process and provide input through a web-based virtual meeting room from April 24 to May 26, 2020. Website visitors will be able to view information about the project, pose questions, view answers and submit comments. The virtual meeting room is accessible at <https://virtualpublicmeeting.com/leavenworth-swisp-eis> Reclamation also will hold a live Question and Answer Video Teleconference on May 18 from 4:00 p.m. to 6:00 p.m. Pacific Daylight Time. Reclamation will be giving a short presentation at 4:00 p.m. followed by the Question and Answer session. Attendees may join via computer or phone to participate. Information on how to attend is available on the project website.

Comments must be submitted by close of business on May 26, 2020, in the web-based virtual meeting room, by email to BOR-SHA-PNRLSWISP@usbr.gov or by mail. If submitting by email, please indicate "SWISP Scoping Comments" in the email subject line. To submit written comments, please address them to Jason Sutter, EIS Team Lead, Bureau of Reclamation, Columbia-Pacific Northwest Regional Office, 1150 N. Curtis Road, Boise, ID 83706.

New group asserts short-term rentals in county residential zones are illegal

County to hold public hearing May 27

SUBMITTED BY
 KIRVIL SKINNARLAND

LEAVENWORTH/MANSON - Chelan County has seen a rapid growth in the number of short-term rentals (rentals of less than 30 days) in residential neighborhoods for the last five years. A new group calling itself "Residents United for Neighbors in Chelan County" (RUN) has been organized to advocate for the interests of long-term residents of the County—residents who are being negatively affected especially by houses rented to large groups where there is no owner living onsite. There are over 1,300 short-term rentals (STRs) in unincorporated Chelan County, the majority of which (868) are in the 98826—Leavenworth zip code.

Residents United for Neighbors released a legal memorandum today from the group's attorney, David Bricklin (Bricklin and Newman LLP). He concludes that except for Manson, "Short-term rentals are currently not allowed in Chelan County's residential zones." The County's zoning code is structured so that unless a use is expressly authorized, it is prohibited. Because short-term rentals are not specifically authorized in residential districts, they are prohibited. (The County does allow bed and breakfast lodging in residential zones when it is the owner's principal residence.)

Residents United for Neighbors also asked Mr. Bricklin whether a County ban on STRs would constitute an unlawful taking of property without compensation. The answer is no. The County has the authority to ban short-term rentals in residential zones, including banning those already in existence. Citing a November 2019 Washington Supreme Court Case, Yim v. City of Seattle, the legal memorandum states that since property can still be used for traditional residential uses, "the County has no exposure to a takings claim."

Residents United for Neighbors is not seeking to eliminate all short-term rentals in Chelan

County. "We understand areas such as Leavenworth and Lake Wenatchee are tourist destinations, and short-term rentals are part of the lodging mix for visitors," says Barbara Rossing. However, "absentee-owner short-term rentals are commercial tourist facilities, similar to hotels. They are more appropriate in commercial and tourist zones." RUN suggests that such absentee-owner whole-house short-term rentals not be allowed in residential neighborhoods at all unless they are reduced in number and meet stringent code requirements including a limit on guests. "870 short-term rentals in the 98826 zip code is too many," says Rossing. Such a large number worsens our housing affordability crisis and negatively impacts the cohesion of our neighborhoods.

A draft code to regulate short-term rentals in Chelan County is currently being considered by the Planning Commission. A public hearing is scheduled for May 27.

THE WASHINGTON OUTDOORS REPORT

Can we go camping Memorial Day weekend?

BY JOHN KRUSE, THE WASHINGTON OUTDOORS REPORT

Courtesy John Kruse

Memorial Day weekend is heralded as the kick off to the summer camping season but the COVID-19 pandemic will change that this year. In Washington, the majority of state parks (except for several in the Columbia River Gorge and along the Washington Coast) are open for day use but they will not open up for camping until at least June 1st. That's when the majority of the state is poised to move into Phase 2 of our recovery efforts, which includes the resumption of camping.

I contacted Anna Gill with Washington State Parks to ask about whether parks in counties that have already moved to Phase 2 (Columbia, Garfield, Ferry, Lincoln, Stevens, Wahkiakum, Skamania and Pend Oreille) would be open for camping over Memorial Day weekend. She responded by saying camping would not resume at State Parks in those counties until the entire state enters Phase 2.

The same question was posed to Paige DeChambeau with the Washington Department of Natural Resources and Staci Lehman with the Washington Department of Fish and Wildlife. DeChambeau said, "Further direction will be needed from the Governor's Office before any plans can be finalized, but we are hoping to target a June 1st statewide camping reopening.... We want to encourage people to try and stay close to home for a while longer." Lehman with WDFW echoed the same message. As for our National Forests? Right now, developed campgrounds, picnic areas and trailheads are closed. Catherine Caruso with the US Forest Service's Pacific Northwest Regional Office says, "Developed day-use recreation sites will be opening up gradually throughout the month. These day-use sites include developed trailheads and picnic areas. Campgrounds will likely not be opening prior to Memorial Day weekend."

In addition to this, visitor centers (such as the ones found at Mount St. Helens) will probably remain closed through May. In Central Washington, there is no firm answer as to whether Icicle River Road near Leavenworth with a number of popular trailheads, campgrounds and developed recreation sites, will open before the end of the month. However, the Forest Service did announce no overnight camping by hikers will be permitted in the popular Enchantments area of the Alpine lake Wilderness through the end of May.

As far as National Parks go, Mount Rainier remains hard to visit with the main Nisqually entrance and Carbon River entrances closed. All lodges, visitor centers, campgrounds and trailheads also remain closed. At Olympic National Park many of the roads are open, but just about everything else is closed and at North Cascades National Park Denise Schulz, Chief of Visitor Services stated "The entire park complex is closed... It is yet to be determined what, if any, areas of the park complex might be open by Memorial Day weekend."

Meanwhile, the Lake Roosevelt National Recreation Area does have boat launches open as water levels allow but campgrounds, toilets and fish cleaning stations are closed. Trash collection is also not taking place.

Moving on to the Bureau of Land Management the developed recreation sites east of the Cascades that were closed due to COVID-19 have reopened, but only for day use activities.

Finally, several private fishing and camping resorts have opened though others remain closed. Some of the ones we found open for business included MarDon Resort at Potholes Reservoir in Grant County, Liar's Cove Resort at Conconully Lake in Okanogan County and the Beaver Lodge Resort on Lake Gillette near Colville. However, every one of these resort owners told me their camping and campground/RV sites are completely booked for Memorial Day weekend. Having said that, it might be worth calling a few other private resorts to see if space is available. It's unlikely, but there's a small chance you can salvage a traditional Memorial Day weekend with camping and time at the lake at a private resort.

For the rest of us though, access and overnight stays at many of our favorite places is not in the cards this Memorial Day. Instead, follow the advice of state health officials and enjoy a day trip to public lands and parks that are open, sticking close to home over the long weekend. After a day at the park, on the water or in the woods head back home. There you can grill up something outside and enjoy some time with family around a fire pit (where allowed). Those marshmallows and hot dogs burn the same whether you are at the campground or in the backyard.
