

Be prepared for construction project impacts to Highway 2

DETOUR ROUTES

The West Cashmere Bridge will be closed from May 4, 2020, to approximately October 2021

SUBMITTED BY JILL FITZSIMMONS
Chelan County Public Works

The approximately 18-month closure of the West Cashmere Bridge on Goodwin Road begins on Monday, May 4.

Detour signs are now in place on US Highway 2, Stine Hill Road and Sunset Highway, showing alternate routes to the highway and through Cashmere.

During the week of May 4, the county's contractor will put in place a temporary eastbound outside lane closure (closing the eastbound off-ramp used to access Goodwin Road) as well as a temporary westbound/left turn lane closure (closing the westbound left turn lane at the traffic signal) for traffic restriping work. Both lanes will eventually be removed with the opening of the new bridge in late 2021.

Also next week, a Chelan PUD contractor on May 6 will be removing utility lines over Highway 2 that cross over the Wenatchee River just west of the bridge. The work will require lane closures on the highway in each direction. Flaggers will be stopping traffic occasionally on the highway for up to 20 minutes when the lines are being removed. Installation of the new conductors, which will cross east of the bridge, is scheduled for June.

Motorists traveling on May 6 on Highway 2 in the Hay Canyon area should plan for reduced speed limits and intermittent closures for the PUD work. Or, use other routes, including Stine Hill Road and Aplets Way, if possible.

Cashmere City Council Meeting

By KIRK BECKENDORF
Cashmere Reporter

Mayor Jim Fletcher expressed concern about the city's decrease in revenue. He expects a shortfall of funds resulting from a decrease in sales taxes, due to the pandemic-caused business closures. The city is looking at projects and activities that can be cut or reduced. Closing the pool for this summer was discussed as one option to help address the budget issue resulting from COVID 19 . The pool usually loses money for the city, so closing the pool for the summer would save the city needed funds. Fletcher added that if the pool is closed, the city would also have the opportunity to repair the leaky pool. He hopes to have a budget workshop in May allowing the Council to establish budget priorities.

At the March 23rd meeting the Council approved a resolution to provide relief for city residents financially impacted by COVID-19 by waiving all late fees for utility bills. However, according to City Treasurer, Kay Jones, there has not been an increase in residents requesting extensions on paying their utility bills.

Fletcher expressed the need for some long-term planning. He outlined a plan to enter into an interagency joint project with Chelan County Public Works. The plan would extend the city's sewer and water lines in conjunction with the Sunset Highway extension project. Fletcher said that maybe the sewer extension will help increase development. Council member Daniel Scott agreed that it would be good to get the sewer lines in place while the road is torn up. Croci added that having a "shelf-ready" project ready to go would be a good way to help stimulate the local economy. Fletcher said the cost would be about a million dollars and so grant funding would be needed.

In the meeting's two business items the Council unanimously approved a contract with RH2 Engineering and an agreement with the Chelan County Noxious Weed Control Board. Fletcher told the Council that the contract with RH2 was the same contract that they approved at the last meeting with Pace Engineering. The contract allows the city to have RH2 do as-needed small scale engineering tasks that are related to wastewater treatment and water production. The city's Director of Operations, Steve Croci added that RH2 has experience and insight with waste water and water production systems and that Pace Engineering does not have that expertise.

The agreement with the Weed Control Board is the continuation of a previous work, which allows for the monitoring and treatment of knotweed on city properties along Mission Creek. The new agreement is effective from June 1, 2020 through Oct. 31, 2024. Council Member Chris Carlson said he was definitely in favor of the agreement and noted that knotweed negatively impacts salmon habitat.

Should the stock market panic more?

Although the stock market had a good panic, with the S&P 500 dropping by more than a third over a matter of weeks, that panic is clearly over. At the moment I'm writing this, the S&P 500 is only down 15% from its all-time high, which doesn't remotely do justice to the damage being inflicted on the global economy. Here's another way to think about it. The last time the S&P 500 was at this level was less than 12 months ago, in May 2019. Back then, no one was complaining about the terrible stock market, in fact, we were celebrating. So why is the stock market still at celebratory levels in the face of the worst recession in modern history?

One reason is that as bad as the economic news is, this wasn't caused by something fundamentally wrong with the economy. So, the hope is that this is all temporary, and once we make it past the virus, we can return to normal. But that ignores the damage from the virus itself. In other words, perhaps there wasn't anything fundamentally wrong with the economy before this, but there sure might be now. Further, isn't every recession "temporary?" The question is, how quickly will we get back to where we were? I worry the answer is much further away than the stock market seems to think.

COMMUNITY VOICES
By BRAD BLACKBURN

Over the last few weeks, more than 30 million Americans lost their jobs. Many of those jobs should come back relatively soon, but not all of them. If we can get the unemployment rate back below 5% by the end of the year, we can all give each other hives (or whatever celebratory gesture is socially acceptable at that time). Unfortunately, I worry we won't be close to that.

Businesses invest in new employees when they have strong balance sheets and are confident in the future. However, businesses across the globe just spent two months losing huge amounts of money, and our future is as uncertain as ever. What business is coming out of this looking to aggressively spend money? More importantly, businesses need consumers. But consumers spend when they have money in the bank, steady income, and are confident about the future. All of those things have been damaged over the last two months.

Nearly every business, family, and government across the globe is in a worse financial position than they were 2 months ago – and uncertainty is everywhere. Even in the best-case scenario, where the virus fades away in a few months, this crisis will leave a mark. Unfortunately, I don't think the stock market is taking that into account.

OBITUARY

Bonnie Lee Owens

November 3, 1926 - April 15, 2020

Bonnie Lee Owens passed away peacefully in her home in Cashmere, WA on April 15, 2020. Bonnie was born November 3, 1926 in Deloit, Iowa to Gourley S. and Beatrice C. Riggleman.

The Riggleman family moved from Iowa to Nebraska when Bonnie was very young. The family continued farming in the Rushville/Gordon area until the day Bonnie graduated from Gordon High School in June 1946, at which point they moved to Cashmere and left farming life behind. Bonnie lived in Seattle for a short time and did some modeling but returned to Cashmere to be closer to her family.

After Lowell Owens returned from serving in the Navy, Lowell and Bonnie started dating and were married on June 14, 1948 at the Cashmere Presbyterian Church. Lowell's parents, Frank and Florence, followed Lowell west and settled in Cashmere.

Frank, Florence, Bonnie, and Lowell purchased and operated the East Cashmere Market for many years. Bonnie and Lowell built their family home in 1953 where they raised four children, Linda, Diann, Craig, and Terry.

Bonnie loved working in her garden, cooking, baking, fishing, hunting, and sewing. There just wasn't anything she couldn't sew.

Bonnie started as a Blue Bird leader and had the same group of girls into Camp Fire. She was an active member and president of the Children's Orthopedic Hospital Guild of Cashmere and an active member and pre-school teacher at the Cashmere Methodist Church. Bonnie always dreamed of being a teacher and those years of teaching at the church created the foundation for opening and operating Bonnie's Pre-School in Cashmere for 35 years until she retired, at the age of 70. Bonnie often said that, retiring was the hardest decision she ever made. She loved all of her kids.

Years later, Bonnie was always able to recognize her kids, whether she saw them at the grocery store or if they hers. She was truly blessed. Bless you for a life well lived and thank you for raising all of us up in the life you shared with us.

Bonnie was a loving and devoted wife to Lowell for 66 years and a loving and caring mother, sister, aunt, grandmother, and friend. She is survived by her children, Linda, Diann, Craig and daughter-in-law, Tammy, and granddaughter, Makena and her husband Albert. She was preceded in death by her husband Lowell and her son, Terry, her parents, Gourley S. and Beatrice C. Riggleman, brothers, Dwight Riggleman, Paron Riggleman, Ray Riggleman; and her sisters Hazel Beck, Mary Beckley, Nettie Beckley, Clara Whiting, and Fanny Hann. Bonnie will be missed but forever in our hearts. A memorial gathering will be planned for a later date.

stopped by her house. She had a gentle, quiet, and loving spirit that touched everyone she met. Our family has been told that Bonnie is a legend in the Cashmere valley. Someone told her years ago that there would be a Saint Bonnie when she died. Bonnie touched a lot of little lives and hearts over the years and they forever touched

Dryden Transfer Stations Solid Waste Update

While COVID-19 safeguards have been in place, the large volume of transfer station customers on Fridays and Saturdays has made it difficult for staff to sanitize regularly throughout the day. For this reason, some solid waste facilities and services are returning to normal hours in an attempt to spread out the number of vehicles throughout the week. We remind people visiting the transfer stations to only bring in household garbage and brush at this time.

Dryden Transfer Station is now open regular hours Tuesday through Saturday for all credit card payers as well as commercial account holders. (Please note the new credit card system does not take debit cards - only credit.) Regular hours are posted at: https://www.co.chelan.wa.us/solid-waste-management/pages/transfer-stations The Dryden Transfer Station will be open only Friday and Saturday to those members of the general public who must use cash or check to pay.

Due to the Corona Virus all meetings, events are cancelled or postponed until further notice. For more information contact your local organization or business at their phone number or email address.

SOCIAL DISTANCING Is Working!

6 feet 6 feet

We know that social distancing – staying 6 feet away from each other in public places – works. All of your efforts to stay home and to maintain social distancing when you are out are working! Keep up the great work.

- Wash your hands frequently with soap and water.
- Use 60% alcohol-based hand sanitizer if soap and water is not available.
- Clean and sanitize common areas.
- Wear a facemask when in public.

Spend wisely, and keep it local

BY DENISE SOROM
Director of Community Philanthropy, Community Foundation of NCW

As we watch the crisis of Covid-19 unfold across the country and around the world, we see huge disparities between the way that wealthy nations, such as ours, and developing countries are able to respond to the pandemic. Income levels define not only how well people can protect themselves from the virus, but how they can cope with the shuttered economy, the mandate for "sheltering in place," the ability to feed their families, educate their children, and keep themselves emotionally and physically healthy. Many of us feel fortunate to live here in North Central Washington, where the virus is present but not overwhelming our systems.

While we may feel relatively safe here, unfortunately the same disparities exist. The cascading effects of the economic downturn have taken a huge toll on the well-being of our neighbors and fellow community members. Our job at the Community Foundation of North Central Washington is to do all we can to preserve and enhance the quality of life in our region. Since the outbreak of this crisis we have been regularly communicating with our local nonprofit leaders. We host weekly sector calls that gather those addressing food security, housing, and personal safety. We keep in touch with nonprofits that are here to bring meaning to our lives: the arts, education, social services, and environmental and animal welfare.

We have learned that our neighbors need our help. People have lost their jobs in record numbers, domestic violence is on the rise, and many are struggling to keep their homes and put food on the table. We are heartened that the federal government is offering stimulus checks to help families in these circumstances, but we know it won't be enough.

We also know that some people who receive a stimulus check may find themselves fortunate enough to have a steady income and can maintain their quality of life. If you are one of these fortunate few, we ask you to consider how you might use your stimulus check to help our community recover. If you didn't receive a stimulus check, but have the ability to make charitable donations, consider how you might direct those charitable dollars during this crisis.

We ask you to keep those dollars local. The money from the federal government is meant to stimulate the economy, so please use it to stimulate

OUR economy. Spend it at your favorite locally-owned store or restaurant, buy your produce at the farmers market, or make a donation to your favorite local charity. If you don't have a favorite charity, but you want to help, consider supporting the Helping Hands Grant program at the Community Foundation. Every two weeks we review requests for assistance from a broad spectrum of charitable organizations and provide them with the critical funding they need to help our most vulnerable populations. We also provide much needed support to nonprofits that have had to close their doors or cancel their events to adhere to public safety guidelines.

We believe that after this crisis, North Central Washington will once again enjoy the tremendous quality of life we have come to appreciate: a plentitude of creative small businesses and restaurants, fantastic arts offerings, world-class outdoor recreation, and top-notch healthcare and human services. Whether or not this hope becomes the post-Covid reality is largely up to you. Spend wisely, and keep it local.

May is National Osteoporosis Awareness and Prevention Month

When May arrives every year, I think of my mother. Although it's true that Mother's Day is in mid-May, May is also National Osteoporosis Awareness and Prevention Month. For the last ten years of her life, my mother suffered greatly from complications of osteoporosis. Osteoporosis is a condition where your bones become weak, making them more likely to break. Nearly 54 million Americans have low bone mass or osteoporosis, according to the National Osteoporosis Foundation (NOF), a health organization dedicated to preventing osteoporosis and broken bones through awareness, education, and research. This silent but devastating disease affects more women than men. Women have a 50% chance of suffering a hip, spine, or wrist fracture during their lifetime. However, this bone disease doesn't affect only women; nearly 30% of men will also experience a broken bone from osteoporosis. Osteoporosis-related fractures aren't just painful; they can be deadly. One in four women and one in three men WILL DIE within one year of experiencing a broken hip. If you are female, the likelihood of you breaking a bone from osteoporosis is equal to your risk of having breast, uterine, and ovarian cancer COMBINED. My mother broke her left wrist when she was 74 years old when tripping on a curb while trying to catch a bus in downtown Seattle. Four years later, she fell when getting out of bed in the middle of the night to use the bathroom, breaking her hip. I gently suggested that she get her injury checked out by her doctor, but she stubbornly insisted to me, "It's not broken, I just sprained my knee." She hobbled around on it for nearly two weeks before she gave in and saw a doctor, but by then it was too late. The bone of her right upper leg had split apart, then started knitting together in the wrong position as she walked on it, leaving her with the discomfort and awkwardness of having one leg an inch shorter than the other for the rest of her life. Although its complications show up in old age, osteoporosis can start in childhood because the thinner your bones are when young, the more likely you'll experience a fracture later in life. We build nearly 90 percent of our peak bone mass before we turn 20 years old. In middle age, that process begins to reverse. We lose 1% of our bone mass every year, doubling to 2% every year for women after menopause. Find out more about osteoporosis at the National Osteoporosis Foundation website, www.nof.org.

Here are 6 Tips to Help Keep Your Bones Strong and Healthy:

1. Get adequate calcium and vitamin D.

Eating a variety of foods rich in calcium is essential to building and maintaining a healthy bone density. Green leafy vegetables like broccoli, Brussels sprouts, and kale are good sources of calcium, along with dairy products like milk and yogurt. A calcium-rich diet is more effective at preventing osteoporosis than taking calcium supplements. If you take prescription bone-building medicines, you may need additional calcium and Vitamin D supplementation.

2. Do weight-bearing activities as often as possible.

Walking, cycling, dancing, even gardening will help your body keep your bones healthy. Activities like tai chi and lifting light weights strengthen your thigh muscles and improve balance, helping prevent falls.

3. Don't smoke.

My mother started smoking when she was 18 years old, and it took her over 60 years to quit. Stopping smoking decades earlier could have helped her avoid the fractures which plagued her later years.

4. Ask your doctor.

Testing your bone density helps determine how likely you are to have a bone break in the future. If your bones are too thin, future bone loss can be slowed with medicine and other strategies. My mother never knew her bones were thinning until she broke her wrist.

With screening and bone-building medicines, she might have avoided the hip fracture that changed her life so drastically.

5. Try eating prunes every day.

Eating prunes every day can build up your bones, according to two recent studies. The participants consumed about ten prunes every day for a year, but you don't have to eat nearly that many to benefit your bones. Since prunes have a natural laxative effect, I suggest starting out eating just a couple prunes daily, then gradually increasing as you can.

6. Take your medicine.

Several bone-building drugs are available: tablets you take every week or every month, or injections given daily, every six months, or once a year.

Dr. Louise Achey, Doctor of Pharmacy, is a 40-year veteran of pharmacology and author of Why Dogs Can't Eat Chocolate: How Medicines Work and How YOU Can Take Them Safely. Check out her NEW website TheMedicationInsider.com for daily tips on how to take your medicine safely.

THE WASHINGTON OUTDOOR REPORT

Fishing and Hunting Reopens

Hunters and anglers are heading out to the water and into the woods again beginning May 5th following announcements by Governor Jay Inslee's and the Washington Department of Fish and Wildlife that these activities are once again legal. In Central and Eastern Washington, all seasons will open exactly as they normally would be on May 5.

Spring turkey season also opens on the 5th as does spring bear hunting, this latter season being extended to June 30.

It is important to note these activities could be restricted (or even closed again) if outdoors enthusiasts don't follow rules and guidelines currently in place to limit the spread of COVID-19 to include:

Staying local (if you can't get to your destination and back in a day, you are going too far.

Maintaining social distance of at least six feet from one another.

Don't contribute to overcrowding. If that boat launch or park is full of people, go somewhere else.

State wildlife areas and Department of Natural Resource owned lands are open for day use, as are the majority of state parks. National Forest lands are also open though access through Forest Service roads could be challenging. Many roads above 3,000 feet in elevation remain impassable due to snow.

Fishing And Hunting Reports:
Chelan, Douglas And Grant Counties:

Wendy Herrera with a nice walleye caught in the Columbia River Gorge

Travis Dawson manages the fishing department at the East Wenatchee Sportsman's Warehouse store. He says trout anglers will find "Lily, Clear Lake and Beehive Reservoir are all stocked and accessible in the Wenatchee Heights. Other options are Wapato and Roses Lake near Manson and the Rock Island Ponds in Douglas County. According to Dawson, "Those trout are going to be hungry and fishing should be on fire!"

Dawson says many bass and walleye anglers are going to Moses Lake. Less crowded options would be Potholes Reservoir or Banks Lake. In Dawson's opinion, "Nothing has changed in terms of opportunity, there is just lots of fresh fish to catch since they have not had any pressure yet." Dawson also suspects the good fishing will last several weeks because there won't be as many people fishing at one time like the traditional lowland lake opener. Sportsman's Warehouse stores are open for business and have plenty of fishing tackle along with lots of gear and ammunition for turkey hunting.

Curlew Lake - Ferry County

Sandy Beck is the co-owner of Fisherman's Cove Resort at Curlew Lake in Ferry County. When asked about being open on the 5th Beck replied their resort is not open now because they are not considered an essential business. However, the Becks are hoping to be open by Memorial Day or June 1st. Beck says, "Once we do, we'll be enforcing strict sanitation measures to include temperature checks, mask use and hand sanitizer use. We want to make sure our guests are safe."

As for May fishing, Beck says it should be very good for perch. They were illegally stocked a few years ago and now there are plenty of them and some are good sized. In addition to this the lake has been stocked with trout and Curlew Lake remains one of the premier places in the state for tiger musky though they are hard to catch.

Conconully Area Lakes -

Okanogan County

Sam Martin, the mayor of Conconully and owner of the Comstock Motel in town said he is looking forward to having a good season starting May 5th but asks that visitors practice good social distancing and stay home if they are not healthy.

Martin says the state launches at both Upper and Lower Conconully Lake will be open and both lakes have healthy populations of bass, trout and kokanee. Other nearby lakes in the Sinlekin Wildlife Area will also be open for day use. Assuming you are a local resident but want to stay overnight, Martin says there are some overnight lodging options available in Conconully at the local motels and cabin resorts. There is also a small store in town and two restaurants offering to-go dining.

Columbia River Gorge

Wendy Herrera, the owner of Gorge Supply Outfitters in Rufus, Oregon says the Columbia River walleye are done spawning and the bite now is phenomenal! Also "phenomenal" is the smallmouth bass fishing in the Columbia River Gorge. Herrera says you can catch bass all day though boaters should be aware river levels are fluctuating daily.

Herrera says Gorge Supply Outfitters is open for business and they are very well stocked with walleye and bass tackle. Turkey hunters may want to drop by as well to take advantage of an ammo sale going on now.

Until next week, keep your distance from each other, stay local and enjoy fishing and hunting for the first time in a long while.
