

For Stage Kids, there's no place like home, but the show must go on

WENATCHEE, WA—Stage Kids announced today an opportunity for the local community to help the organization—which relies heavily on gatherings for income—to survive the COVID-19 pandemic and continue equipping local youth with the life skills, character, and relationships for a bright future through the proven power of musical theater.

Approximately 85% of Stage Kids' income is dependent on gathering. Through year-round musical theater classes, camps, productions, and school partnerships, the organization helps local kids pre-K through high school develop confidence, empathy, responsibility, teamwork, vulnerability, artistry, STEM skills and more.

Stage Kids has creatively evolved most its programs to be delivered online. Only two of its spring classes had to be cancelled. The organization's spring production of The Wizard of Oz, which was originally scheduled for May 27 - 31 at the Numerica PAC, has been postponed to July, and outdoor venues are being explored.

"We're using these challenging circumstances to teach kids what to do when life throws you lemons, or in this case, a widespread, life-threatening virus," said Managing Director Lacey Price. "Our mission—building characters, one child at a time—is more relevant now than ever. It turns out a global pandemic is a great opportunity to teach resilience, creative problem solving, and the important role we play in our community as both responsible citizens and responsible artists. But we cannot do it on our own."

Despite efforts to reimagine program delivery, Price expects the organization will face a $50,000+ revenue loss as a result of COVID-19. "We simply cannot reasonably recreate the revenue we expected from eight sold-out shows at the PAC," Price said. "Honestly, we really need our community's help to make it through this. So, we've come up with what we hope is a fun and meaningful way for people to support us by embracing what Dorothy learns following her adventure through Oz: there's no place like home."

While supplies last, Stage Kids is offering t-shirts, mugs, and a charm necklace featuring the phrase "there's no place like home" in several designs, including one specifically for those who call the greater Wenatchee Valley home. Proceeds will help Stage Kids continue building characters, one child at a time, in our community. Details can be found on Stage Kids' Facebook page, www.facebook.com/stagekidswa.

At the same time, the show must go on. In lieu of in-person rehearsals, The Wizard of Oz cast of 114 kids representing nine local communities have been meeting online in small groups twice per week, a convening Founder and Artistic Director Michelle McCormick calls "Zoom into Oz!"

"These gatherings are focused on building community among the cast and giving the kids an outlet for their thoughts, feelings, and creativity during these uncertain times," said McCormick.

The Stage Kids staff have also created over three hours of rehearsal video content for the cast to work on at home; however, for the next several weeks, the cast will take a break from The Wizard of Oz to work on something new.

"The Show Must Go Online is a brand-new virtual children's musical specifically designed to be rehearsed and performed completely online," said McCormick. "It's written by a group we already know and love—Beat by Beat Press—who also wrote The Grunch, one of the kids' favorite shows which we're planning to do as a camp this summer." Details regarding Stage Kids' new production of The Show Must Go Online will be announced when available on the organization's Facebook page, www.facebook.com/stagekidswa.

Stage Kids is also moving forward plans for its three summer camps: Disney's Aristocats for kids pre-K through 6th grade, The Grunch for kids 3rd through 8th grade, and Anything Goes for teens 13 - 18 years old. Details and registration information can be found on Stage Kids website, www.stagekidswa.org.

Stage Kids is a 501(c)3 nonprofit established by Michelle McCormick in 2014. It has grown from a summer camp for 19 kids to a multi-faceted nonprofit that served 795 participants ages 4-18 representing 11 local communities in 2019. Over 6,600 patrons attended Stage Kids shows in 2019 and volunteers contributed over 5,000 hours benefitting Stage Kids that year. In the last three years, Stage Kids has awarded over $25,000 in scholarships, so that any child who wants to experience the life-giving power of musical theater can have that opportunity. Kids, visit www.facebook.com/stagekidswa or www.stagekidswa.org.

Stage Kids uses challenging circumstances to teach local youth resilience, creative problem solving, and the important role they play as citizens and artists; invites community support through "There's No Place Like Home" campaign.

God Will Provide

Millions of Americans are out of work and having to make difficult decisions. Many are having to decide whether to pay the bills or feed the family and with state unemployment departments swamped, help and hope seem so far off.

However, now is not the time to assuage people with political promises or point the finger at who is to blame for all this mess. Frankly, there has been far too much of that and it has done nothing except to exacerbate the issues we are facing.

What we need is real answers and to trust all the more in God's provision.

In the Sermon on the Mount, Jesus Christ looks to the multitude of impoverished people and says to them "Therefore I tell you, do not be anxious about your life, what you will eat or what you will put on" (Matt. 6:25) and then proceeds to tell the crowd that they are more valuable to God than the birds or the flowers in the field. If God cares for them, Jesus says, will He not take care of people who are created in His image? Of course, He will.

When the feeling of anxiety settles in, we have to all the more be reminded of how much God has provided. Even now as you are reading this, God in His grace has given your life and breath. He has given you a mind that can read the words on the page and a seat to settle yourself down onto to contemplate the wonders of God's provision. To list everything that God has provided for you would fill a thousand pages.

"Jehovah-Jireh" is a name of God that I believe many of us are familiar with and it means "God will provide". Used by Abraham when God supplied a ram as the sacrifice in Genesis 22:8, it means so much more than just God provided us with a new car or a fancy house. In the time where Abraham needed God's provision, God showed up and He will in our desperation.

We are very needy people and our need extends beyond material resources. Yes, again, when you open your eyes, you can see God supplying every need that you have. Yet the greatest need and the apex of God's provision is found in Christ. He was given so that you and I would receive the treasure of an inheritance—eternal life. The very life of Christ provides the righteousness we urgently need. Jesus' perfect life credited freely by faith to our imperfect one.

Furthermore, Christ supplied the payment in full for the debt of sin that we owe by shedding his blood. This settling of our debt by Jesus is total and for all time. In Christ, we will never incur any wrath or judgment because of our sin.

As the hymn says, "Jesus paid it all. All to Him I owe."

The provision of Christ is vast and eternal—exceeding past our finite lives here and stretching on into eternity. In other words, God will always provide for his people in and through Christ. This truth is what led the Apostle Paul to conclude his letter to the Philippians with this statement, "And my God will supply every need of yours according to his riches in glory in Christ." (Phil. 4:19)

God's provision is sealed with the blood of Jesus and therefore in times of need, we can look to him and be assured that he will take care of us. "He who did not spare his own Son but gave him up for us all, how will he not also with him graciously give us all things?" (Rom. 8:32).

Finally, Jesus Christ offers an exhortation to those anxious about how needs will be met. He says in Matthew 6:33, "But seek first the kingdom of God and his righteousness, and all these things will be added to you." When we concern ourselves for God's kingdom, seeking his rule in all of our lives and labor to see him advance in our hearts, the necessities of life will be given to accomplish that end for his glory.

We may all be experiencing lack to some degree, but in Christ, we will be in want of nothing because we have been given everything we need in him.

NCW Media Inc.'s Obituary and Memorial Policy

An obituary is a way for family members to commemorate a loved one's life and to notify the larger community of the deceased.

Obituaries are also used for historical and ancestral data. Memorials are another way of letting the community know about the life and memories of the person who has died.

A memorial is different from an obituary. An obituary is usually current while a memorial can be written later.

For publication in the Cashmere Valley Record or The Leavenworth Echo, an obituary or memorial needs to be typed and emailed to editor@leavenworthecho.com no later than 4 p.m. Friday for the next week's issue. Funeral homes and chapels can submit obituaries by noon on Monday, except holidays.

Obituaries are priced per word while the charge for memorial ads are by the column-inch. Cost of the obituary/ memorial is due at the time of placement.

For information call 509-548-5286, or email editor@leavenworthecho.com

Dryden Transfer Stations Solid Waste Update

While COVID-19 safeguards have been in place, the large volume of transfer station customers on Fridays and Saturdays has made it difficult for staff to sanitize regularly throughout the day. For this reason, some solid waste facilities and services are returning to normal hours in an attempt to spread out the number of vehicles throughout the week. We remind people visiting the transfer stations to only bring in household garbage and brush at this time. The Dryden Transfer Station is now open regular hours Tuesday through Saturday for all credit card payers as well as commercial account holders. (Please note the new credit card system does not take debit cards - only credit.) Regular hours are posted at: <https://www.co.chelan.wa.us/solid-waste-management/pages/transfer-stations> The Dryden Transfer Station will be open only Friday and Saturday to those members of the general public who must use cash or check to pay. The Dryden Transfer Station brush yard is open regular hours to ONLY customers who pay by credit card or have a commercial account. Cost is $15 for loads under 200 pounds. For the Leavenworth Drop-off Brush Yard, see: <https://cityofleavenworth.com/city-of-leavenworth-spring-clean-up-april-1-30-2020/> (er18,19).

How to Extend the Life of Your Used Car

(StatePoint) Nearly 70 percent of all car sales are used vehicles, thanks to the rising costs of new cars and the increasing quality of their used counterparts. While buying a previously owned vehicle makes the best financial sense in a lot of cases, experts say there are some things to keep in mind. "To keep everyone on the road safe and protect your purchase, all drivers need to stay up-to-date on car maintenance," says Doug Turner, director of service operations at Byrider, the nation's largest used car and finance network of dealerships. "This is especially true for those with used cars." April is National Car Care Month and to help you extend the life of your used car, the automotive experts at Byrider are offering the following tips:

- Follow the maintenance recommendations of the manufacturer.
- Caring for a vehicle is similar to caring for oneself -- take preventative steps to help keep your car healthy. Pay special attention to issues, noises or warning signs that could indicate your vehicle needs maintenance. Warning lights on your dashboard are illuminated for a reason. Understand what they mean and address them as-needed.
- Prevent rust and other issues by keeping the interior and exterior of your vehicle clean.
- Use a trusted repair service that hires Automotive Service Excellence (ASE)-certified technicians. This certification can make a big difference when it comes to quality repairs and maintenance.

- Complete as-needed or at a minimum, an annual inspection, on the vehicle. Keep in mind that different seasons of the year require different inspections and repairs.
- Use quality parts.
- Fill your vehicle with the proper gas. Use premium if the vehicle manufacturer suggests it.
- Regular oil changes will keep your car running as smoothly as possible. Be sure to use the proper oil per the manufacturer recommendations.
- When buying a vehicle, stick to retail dealers that put cars through a detailed inspection process. This will help to ensure a given vehicle's safety and reliability. At the same time, consider dealers with an attached service department. "Your relationship with the dealership shouldn't end once you drive the car off the lot," adds Turner. In the case of Byrider, every car sold comes with a warranty or optional service agreement, as well as discounted parts, labor and service. To learn more, visit byrider.com.

A used vehicle can be a great investment. Extend the life of your car and stay safer on the roads by making smart purchasing decisions and taking a proactive approach to maintenance.

Swiping payment cards at the pump could put your card information at risk

(BPT) - Have you paid for gas recently at the pump where you've had to swipe your credit or debit card?

At gas stations across the U.S., criminals are skimming cards and stealing payment card data from consumers paying at older fuel pumps. This is because the majority of fuel stations still use insecure outdoor fuel pumps with point of sale (POS) systems that read the magnetic stripe on the back of a payment card to process the purchase of gas instead of POS systems that use more secure EMV(R) chip card readers.

In fact, the U.S. Secret Service estimates that roughly 20 to 30 skimmers are discovered a week on fuel pumps, with an average of about 80 payment cards copied on it when the skimmers are removed. Stolen payment account information can be subsequently printed onto duplicate credit or debit cards, and used by criminals to make unauthorized purchases at stores and fuel pumps that do not have chip-enabled POS systems - draining a cardholder's checking or savings account or maximizing their credit card balance. The industry calls this counterfeit payment fraud or counterfeit card fraud.

Currently, counterfeit payment fraud experienced by fuel merchants at the pump is absorbed by the financial institution that issued the payment card to the consumer.

That's about to change.

Fraud dollars may be absorbed by independent and franchise owners of fuel stations on Oct. 1, 2020 if their pumps are not upgraded to process chip cards. Depending on how much fraud a station experiences, it could become a significant burden to station owners.

But this can be avoided.

For Visa cards, liability for fraud dollars stays with card-issuing financial institutions and does not shift to station owners if fuel pumps are chip-enabled.

Chip technology is proven to prevent counterfeit fraud. In fact, according to payment company Visa, non-fuel merchants that are chip enabled have experienced a significant 81 percent decrease in counterfeit fraud dollars. However, troubling statistics show only about 7 percent of fuel pumps nationwide are processing chip transactions.

For station owners, there's no time to waste - contact your hardware or fuel provider for information on how to upgrade your pumps. For consumers, make sure to pay with a chip card at a fuel pump that is chip-enabled. If you're not sure if the pump is safe, pay inside with your chip card.

Top Tips to Plant, Grow and Care for a Container Garden

(StatePoint) Container gardens are a viable and popular cultivation option, especially for those who have limited sun-exposed spaces or are looking to start small and learn the basics of gardening.

“Containers, whether bought or recycled, are a great place to plant herb and vegetable gardens,” says landscape designer, Doug Scott of Redeem Your Ground in Atlanta, Ga. “But to get it right, there are a few things to keep in mind.” To help you successfully cultivate a container garden, Scott offers the following pointers:

- Well-drained, not dry or overly wet soil, is necessary for herb and vegetable growth, so using bottom-draining pots with a peat-based potting soil specifically formulated for herbs and veggies will facilitate proper soil drainage and moisture retention.
- The proper container size depends on what you'll be growing. Most small herbs do well in pots as small as eight inches in diameter, while larger plants may require a gallon pot or larger. For visual interest, consider repurposing items around the house to use as your container, such as an old pail.

- Incorporate a “thriller, filler, spiller” planting approach to maximize space and aesthetic appeal. This means tall focal plants in back, middle layer plants that fill in, and plants that will cascade over the container in front.
- Soil dries out more quickly in container gardens than garden beds, especially if you place containers outdoors in the sun. Perform daily soil moisture checks. You may need to water outdoor container gardens every day -- and possibly twice a day -- in extremely hot weather.
- Place your container garden where it will get the optimal amount of sunlight -- between six and eight hours a day. The beauty of container gardens is their movability. You can even follow the sun as exposure changes throughout the seasons. Always refer to the care tags on the specific plant to determine a prime location.

- Gardens planted in a container are entirely dependent on you to provide nutrients. Start out with an organic, rich potting soil formulated for container gardens. Then, going forward, fertilize your container every two to four weeks by pouring a nutrient-rich liquid solution directly into the soil.
- Don't forget to reap what you sow. Harvesting will generally help increase yields and prevent plants from outgrowing their containers. For best results, use this five-step method: water plants before harvesting, make clean cuts, keep them clean, dry your harvest quickly and store them away from sunlight and moisture.

More expert advice is available online. Scott has partnered with Exmark, a leading manufacturer of commercial mowers and equipment on a video series for DIY homeowners called “Done in a Weekend.” Among the free videos is “Contain Your Enthusiasm,” offering tips to help you successfully plant, grow and care for herbs and vegetable container gardens. To view the video, as well as access other videos in the series covering a range of home and garden topics, visit Exmark.com/DIY.

There are a few important considerations that every container gardener should know. Be sure you're equipped with the proper tools and knowledge before getting started.

Top Ways to Lighten Up Your Home Workspace

(StatePoint) Many people have found themselves working from home. Whether setting up shop at the kitchen table or creating a complete home office, here are simple hacks to make your new work environment comfortable and productive.

“No matter which room becomes your workspace, proper lighting plays a key role in avoiding fatigue, eye strain and other discomforts,” said Jennifer Kis, director of marketing communications, Progress Lighting.

Begin by defining your workspace. Setting up on the kitchen or dining table can work -- temporarily. The upside is that it's quick and easy. But these rooms are typically high-traffic areas, leading to distractions. Plus, you might have to pack up work at mealtimes. Instead, re-purpose a small table and chair and place it in an out-of-the-way spot, such as a stairwell or bedroom corner.

Next, think about lighting. Layering light is a basic technique that should be used in every room, but especially home offices.

“Balance the lighting for different times of day. Natural light for day, layered light for afternoon and task lighting at night,” recommends Piper Stromatt, lead designer and partner for Curate Custom Homes. “There are three layers of light to consider: ambient or general light, task lighting and decorative or accent lighting.”

Select a location with a good source of ambient light. Natural light is ideal: it diffuses throughout the space, bouncing off walls and ceilings to cut down on glare that can reflect on the computer monitor and the shiny desk surface.

“When selecting ambient light sources, the goal is to illuminate the entire space without creating undue glare and contrast, which can lead to headaches and eye strain,” says Kis. “If possible, avoid using overhead ceiling fixtures as the primary source of lighting. If that's the only option, use a dimmer switch to vary light levels as needed.”

Positioning your workspace correctly also helps. For rooms with natural light, place your desk perpendicular to the window, ideally facing north or south so that sunlight doesn't cast shadows at certain times of the day. If an overhead fixture is the only light source, situate your workstation so that the light shines from behind it.

“Make sure your home officesuits your performance under particular lighting conditions,” says Stromatt, who recommends the following tips:

- Don't set your monitor in front of the window; the bright background light shining behind the screen causes eye strain.
- Place your chair at least arm's length from the screen so that it can be seen without reading glasses or squinting.
- Add LED tape lighting behind your monitor or under a desk for diffused light.
- Use solar shades to soften lighting and lessen heat.

After setting up a glare-free workstation, add task lighting. Use dedicated light sources such as desk lamps for tasks like paperwork and filing. Place direct task lights on the opposite side of the hand you write with to avoid casting shadows onto your work.

Finally, add accent lighting for visual appeal. Frame your workspace with desk lamps or install a permanent fixture on a dimmer switch, such as a pendant hung directly over the desk. Wall sconces can throw light on decorative objects in the room.

For more home tips and lighting inspiration, visit Progress Lighting at www.progresslighting.com/shop.

Lighting can make or break a home office. Be sure to set yourself up for maximum productivity and comfort.

OBITUARY

William H. Wells Jr.

February 25, 1934 - April 15, 2020

William "Bill" Wells passed away peacefully in his home in Leavenworth, Washington surrounded by his family on April 15. He was born in Seattle, Washington, and attended Lincoln High School. In 1953 he joined the US Army and was in the Signal Corps, Alaska Communication System in the territory of Alaska until 1956.

During that time, Wells married his sweetheart, Dorothy "Diane" (DeDe) Walker and they had two children, Steven A. and Shelley L. (Winterer). They relocated to Yakima in 1958 where he attended J.M. Perry Technical Institute earning the Aircraft and Power Plant (A&P) license after completing his restoration of a 1947 Aeronca 7AC Champ in 1960. Working in 1962 for a helicopter services company as a skilled mechanic, Wells received his private pilot license in fixed-wing craft.

When he was hired by Cascade Helicopters, Inc., he earned his FAA Commercial Rotorcraft license and FAA Certified Flight Instructor (CFI) license in 1963/64. His flying missions included agricultural spraying, search and rescue, Forest Service and Department of Natural Resources fire suppression, government contracting, geological survey, volcanology scientist team, recreational, transmission line installation, and law enforcement. Wells flew a National Geographic photographer all over the Enchantments in 1968 to photograph the beauty of the area and that became the cover story in the magazine. That exposure led to the eventual designation of The Alpine Lakes Wilderness area. By 1988, Wells was owner and president of Cascade Helicopters Inc.,

Cashmere Washington.

In 2002 Wells was elected international "Pilot of the Year" by his colleagues based on his accident-free missions and the quality of his service, safety, and rescue being of the highest level. Wells logged over 11,500 accident-free hours over the course of his career. In 2002, Wells retired and closed Cascade Helicopters. He felt that the hundreds of rescues he was able to perform were what "being a helicopter pilot was all about."

In addition to flying and running a helicopter business Wells was active in the industry on a national and international scale. He was involved in Helicopter Association International, based in Alexandria, Virginia and served on the board of directors and as Chairman in 1994 to 1995. Closer to home he served on the Pangborn Airport Board and helped oversee the construction of the new (present) terminal and micro-wave landing system.

Bill and Diane were both very active in Leavenworth and promoted the Bavarian theme of the small town. They owned a shop, Alpen Hansel, which was a European Gift and Art shop in downtown Leavenworth.

Bill and Diane spent many gift-buying trips in their beloved Bavaria. In 1993, Wells was a Kanzler (president, chairman) for the Royal Bavarians, at the same time Diane was chosen as "Royal Lady". He had served on the Leavenworth Planning Commission and as a Leavenworth City Council member, Mayor pro tem and, until March 18, was a board member on Projekt Bayern and the Nutcracker Museum. He was a long-time member of Grace Lutheran Church, Cashmere. Bill's hobby has been cars, especially older hot rods. He enjoyed restoring his Model A Ford and building and driving his 37 Ford street rod. He had many friends in the local rodding family and enjoyed spending time with them and talking cars. Bill is survived by his loving bride of 66 years, Diane Wells, his son Steve Wells (Janet), daughter Shelley Winterer (Frank), Grandfather "Opa" to five grandchildren, Cami Ulrich (Jon), Kelli Fletcher (Justin), Eric Wells (Crystal), Cameron Winterer, and Devon Winterer, and "Great-Opa" to Spencer Wells, Caroline and Elise Ulrich, and Walter and Emmeline Fletcher. Wells was preceded in death by his mom, Nadine, stepfather Rod Mullen, and his father William H. Wells, Sr.

In Lieu of flowers, please send donations to your favorite charity: Hospice Care Confluence Health; The Nutcracker Museum, Leavenworth. A Celebration of Life will be announced at a later date.

More Fishing & Hunting Is Coming To Washington

By JOHN KRUSE

On April 8, David Bernhardt, the Secretary of the Interior, announced his intention to open up more than 2.3 million acres across America for increased fishing and hunting opportunities. This would occur as early as this fall on 97 national wildlife refuges and 9 national fish hatcheries managed by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (US FWS).

This is part of a push by President Donald Trump's Administration and the US FWS to open more access to the refuges. With this addition hunting will be allowed at 399 refuges and fishing permitted at 331.

The announcement garnered applause from the CEOs of several conservation organizations to include the Rocky Mountain Elk Foundation, the Coastal Conservation Association and the National Wild Turkey Federation. This week, we take a look at the nine refuges and fish hatcheries where new fishing and hunting may take place in Washington State.

National Wildlife Refuges:

Turnbull National Wildlife Refuge: Located south of Cheney in Eastern Washington, 231 acres on the Upper Turnbull Slough currently open for youth hunting one weekend in September and November.

Willapa National Wildlife Refuge: Situated in Southwest Washington in Pacific County, the region has long been one of the premier places to hunt Roosevelt elk and black-tailed deer. Under this proposal, new acreage on the refuge would open up for hunting. Specific areas include 2,181 acres at Lead-better Point, 396 acres in the South Bay Unit and 143 acres at the Nemah Unit to allow elk and deer hunting for the first time.

National Fish Hatcheries: Fish hatcheries operated by the US FWS seem like unlikely places to fish or hunt, but the land these hatcheries sit on often encompasses a great deal of acreage outside of the actual hatchery itself.

Abernathy Fish Technology Center: Bank fishing for salmon, steelhead and trout would open for the first time along a portion of Abernathy Creek owned by this Center in Cowlitz County.

Leavenworth National Fish Hatchery: The US Fish and Wildlife Service wants to open up migratory bird, upland game and big game hunting on this complex for the first time. This proposal though is a real head scratcher. There are several hundred acres adjacent to the fish hatchery in Leavenworth and there is trail system there used by hikers and wildlife watchers. These trails near the Icicle River are also popular with tourists who come here to ride horses or go on winter sleigh rides with Icicle Outfitters which has a longstanding concession contract to operate here. This, and the fact there are homes and a retreat center nearby, make this a very unlikely hunting area.

I spoke with Jim Craig, the hatchery complex manager. He told me, "We do have small areas at the Leavenworth and Entiat Fish Hatcheries open for salmon fishing at times but there are no areas suitable for hunting except for a small amount of land we have at Snow and Nada Lakes in the Alpine Lakes Wilderness. Even this land is essentially just the shoreline of the lake and its already open (for grouse hunting and for the September High Buck Hunt)".

As for additional opportunities, Craig agreed the grounds around the hatchery are not appropriate for hunting and won't be opening for that activity. In Craig's words, the increased opportunities promised by the Dept. of Interior at his hatchery complex in North Central Washington are "Much ado about nothing."

Little White Salmon And Spring Creek National Fish Hatchery: Lands near these hatcheries in South Central Washington could see hunting for the first time for everything from crow and grouse to bobcat, deer, elk, bear and turkey. When it comes to the Little White Salmon, the US FWS wants to open 114 acres of hatchery-owned lands west of Cook-Underwood Road. Due to safety concerns hunting will be allowed only with shotgun, bow, and arrow. As for Spring Creek, some 50 acres of hatchery-owned land in the Big White Ponds Area west of State Route 141 would open for hunting.

Willard National Fish Hatchery: According to the US Fish and Wildlife Service, Sport fishing would be allowed for the first time through access to some 600 feet of bank fishing along the west bank of the White Salmon River located 1400 feet downstream of the Cook-Underwood Bridge.
