Cashmere Community Concerts Welcomes Caleb Klauder and Reeb Willms

SUBMITTED BY CINDY JACKSON

Join Cashmere Community Concerts, Saturday, Nov. 23, 7 p.m. and be inspired by Caleb Klauder & Reeb Willms. This vocally-driven duo whose music stands out as subtle, powerful, and compelling will soak through to your bones. Their sound is elevated by Caleb's distinctive and lyrical mandolin and grounded by Reeb's unwavering guitar, as they perform original songs and tunes as well as their favorite picks from traditional and country repertoires. With wonderful harmonies, strong mandolin, and solid guitar playing, Caleb and Reeb deliver a pure, honest and classic sound to audiences both regionally and internationally.

Caleb Klauder, mandolin/guitar/ vocals. Caleb grew up on Orcas Island, Washington and began playing and singing at the early age of twelve. He moved to Oregon in 2002 and has contributed to a number of influential and successful groups, namely: The Foghorn Stringband, Pig Iron, Calobo, and his own honky tonk band, the Caleb Klauder Country Band. Other collaborations include Dirk Powell and Riley Baugus, both live and in the studio and Jesse Lége and Joel Savoy to form the Cajun Country Revival, a honky tonk cajun country

Reeb Willms, guitar/vocals. Reeb was raised in Waterville, Washington by a family of wheat farmers. She grew up listening to her father and uncles, the Willms Brothers, singing country and traditional songs. Reeb began singing and playing guitar in her early twenties and quickly displayed a strong vocal style that is clearly her own. She is a respected and well-loved singer and joined the Foghorn Stringband in 2010. Her love for old time fiddle tunes and old country songs roots her in a classic

American musical style.

This music event is brought to you by the good folks of the Cashmere Community Concerts, a non-profit organization whose mission is to provide live, affordable, high quality entertainment to the Wenatchee Valley. A cover charge of $3 per person at the door will help to cover expenses. Refreshments are

The musicians will be paid by a onetime Hat Pass; a suggested donation of $8 to $11 per person will be greatly appreciated. Enjoy great bluegrass music in an alcohol free environment with concert seating.

Located at the Riverside Center; 201 Riverside Drive Cashmere, WA. Doors open at 6:30 pm. For more information call Marie (509) 548-1230 or (509) 421-0494. The Cashmere Community Concerts series can also be found on the web at www. cashmereconcerts.com.

North Central Education Foundation 2019 Teacher Classroom Grant Award Winners

SUBMITTED BY ELDENE WALL,

NCEF Liaison

The North Central Education Foundation was thrilled to increase the number of teacher classroom grants that were awarded at the 2019 Teacher Classroom Grant Award reception held at Confluence Technology Center in Wenatchee. During this tenth year of teacher grant awards, over 145 teachers from four counties were presented with grant awards in the categories of literacy, STEM, STEAM, Music/ Fine Arts, College Preparation, Chelan-Douglas Land Trust Foothills and Financial Education through the Young Adult Consumer Education Trust (YACET). A new partner added this year was Friends of Lower Grand Coulee (FLGC).

We are also pleased to announce that teachers in 27 out of the 29 school districts included in the North Central ESD region received grant awards this year!

PJ DeBenedetti, North Central Education Foundation Board member, served as MC for the award presentation and awards were presented by President Rufus Woods, Board members Mary Jane Ross, and Kyla Allen, along with NCESD Board representative Marcia Henkle and NCESD Superintendent

Michelle Price.

Guest speaker, Regional Teacher of the Year Malia Renner Singer from Cascade School District, shared inspirational words of encouragement with the attendees, and Kristin Umbarger-Keene and students from Vale Elementary, Cashmere School District. demonstrated balance boards that are being purchased with her grant award.

The Foundation is working to make a difference in the future of the children in the North Central ESD region by providing teachers with opportunities to enrich their classroom environments. This is due to the generosity of the North Cascades Bank, Woods Family Music & Arts Fund, Confluence Health, Community Foundation of NCW, Chelan-Douglas Land Trust, Wenatchee Rotary, LASER Science/ Pacific Science Center, Clear Risk Solutions, Young Adult Consumer Education Trust (YACET), PlanMember Services, Clear Risk Solutions, Friends of Lower Grand Coulee, and generous board members, ESD staff and community members who also donated to the fund.

The Cashmere Rotary Auction was a another great success for the Cashmere Community. Rotary raised $18,000 for Cashmere Cares a project to the Cashmere School District that endeavors that no child goes hungry, without a warm jacket or without a mentor. At the end of the night, the organization draws for a $1,000 Grand Prize to someone still in the room. This year's winner was Mary Uhrich pictured here with Randy Baldwin and John Bryant.

Cashmere considers reducing sewer surcharges

By Kirk Beckendorf NCW Media Reporter

Changes to water and sewer rates were major points of discussion at the Nov. 12, Cashmere City Council meeting. According to Mayor Jim Fletcher, these rate changes are partially the result of a study by a consultant who reviewed the city's water and sewer systems. The study included an examination of the physical systems, the expected operating costs and expected future needs. Based on the study's results, a proposed rate schedule was developed to provide the revenue needed to operate and maintain the water and wastewater systems.

In a unanimous vote, the council voted to adopt the new water rates, these new system development charges will take effect Jan. 1, 2021. Originally proposed to take effect in January 2020, the council members voted to push the rate increase back to 2021. Council members said this provides over a year to educate and inform the citizens about the need for the new charges. Fletcher expressed the need to incentivize more people outside of the city to connect to the city's sewer system. He said that more homes being connected to the sewer system will help stabilize rates. However, currently the city charges a 50 percent surcharge, for homes outside of the city, to connect to the sewer system. According to the mayor, this charge is a price barrier resulting in an extra $600 per year per bill, and so many people choose to use a septic system instead of a city connection.

At present 60 customers outside of the city are connected to city sewer. With the surcharge, this provides the city with an additional $36,000 in income, about 1.3 percent of the city's annual wastewater revenue.

In a lengthy discussion about the merits of the surcharge and ways to attract more customers, council members asked if reducing the fee would mean that city residents would have increased rates. Fletcher responded that there is no easy fix and begs the question of, do we seed future growth or wait for future growth to come along?

Council member Daniel Scott made a motion to reduce the surcharge, from 50 percent to 40 percent, but the motion failed, due to a lack of a second. Derrick Pratt made a motion that was seconded by Kameon

Smith to completely eliminate the surcharge. The motion failed in a split 2:3 vote. Following the vote, the council continued discussing ways to increase the number of sewer customers vs a loss in revenue. The Resolution was tabled, to allow the council and city staff to investigate the matter in more detail.

Fletcher provided the council with an explanation of the 2020 budget. The council then unanimously voted to accept the budget. However, a final public budget hearing will be held at the next council meeting, Dec 23rd.

Fletcher's explanation included a comparison of the city's revenues and expenses. For the General Fund, the 2 largest sources of revenue include taxes (64 percent) and interests/rents/misc. (17 percent). The 3 largest General Fund expenses fall into the categories of Criminal Justice (46 percent), Capital Projects Fund (17 percent) and General Government (13 percent).

Property taxes comprise 48 percent of the Public Works revenue, compared to sales taxes at 34 percent of revenue. The mayor explained that sales taxes can be difficult to predict due to economic factors that affect peoples' spending. The costs for maintaining roads make up 51 percent of Public Works expenses, the dollar amount is almost equal to the amount of income from property taxes.

In other business, change orders were approved for the Sherman Reservoir and Chapel Street Projects. Complications in the construction projects resulted in unexpected cost increases. Steve Croci, Director of Operations, gave council members a heads-up that the Chelan County Hazard Mitigation Plan is ready for review and will need to be discussed at the Dec. 23rd council meeting

Celebrate Christmas with the Leavenworth Village Voices!

SUBMITTED BY ALLISON M. Bergstrom

The Leavenworth Village Voices can't wait to share the joy and peace of Christmas with locals and visitors this season! It is a landmark year for the community choir, with membership climbing to 45 singers and Larry Henderson directing for his twentieth season. The full choir performs only during the Christmas season, so make plans to catch one of their four concerts this December. A Thursday evening performance was added this year, sponsored by the Leavenworth Chamber of Commerce, to enable concertgoers to attend without battling Christmas Lighting traffic.

This year is especially meaningful to this group of singers as they honor Larry Henderson for his 20 years of directing and dedication. When most people are thinking of Easter and spring break, Henderson is already reviewing Christmas music for the upcoming season.

It would be no exaggeration to say it is a family affair for the Hendersons: Larry's wife Carol is a long-time choir member in the soprano section, daughter Mariann Boyce records practice tracks for the sopranos and altos, and granddaughter Lexie performed as a guest artist in 2018 and will be performing a solo again this year. Daughter Renee Henderson, a computer programmer, assists choir with its website. The Leavenworth Village Voices deeply appreciates Larry's musical talent, his approach to teaching developing singers, and the significant commitment he and his family have made year after year to the choir and to the spirit of Christmas in Leavenworth. Music for this year's concerts include traditional and new holiday favorites that will delight audience members of all ages. Christmas classics include a toe-tapping "Sleigh Ride," a gorgeous variation of "Still, Still, Still" called "Still is the Night," and an inspiring medley of Christmas carols requiring a little audience participation.

Henderson has also selected new pop favorites for this year's repertoire, such as an a cappella version of "This Christmas" and "Thankful," a song with a powerful message made popular by Josh Groban. The Gospelblues-y "Good News, Great Joy!" will have the whole house clapping and dancing in their seats. A Leavenworth Village Voices concert would not be complete without its tradition of a "Halleluiah Chorus" singalong with the audience to close the show (and homemade Christmas cookies served during intermission!).

The concert features local talented musicians as part of the program. Guest artists include pianist Jonathan Pinkerton, jazz duo Mary and Steve Sanders, the Bavarian Brass, and Lexie Boyce. The Leavenworth Village Voices Women's Ensemble, a subset of the choir founded in 2015, will also perform. Jennifer Sidebottom will once again accompany the choir on piano and direct the Women's Ensemble, for which she also arranges music. Tim Heath will emcee.

The Leavenworth Village Voices was founded in 1982 as a nonprofit organization dedicated to enriching the community and visitor experience by promoting choral music and traditional German songs. The choir contributes to Leavenworth's Bayarian theme and festive atmosphere and provides an opportunity for locals to sing in a professionally-directed choir.

If you've never attended a Leavenworth Village Voices concert, don't miss out this year. Give yourself and your loved ones the gift of the Christmas spirit through music, while supporting this hard-working nonprofit organization in your community. The performance is guaranteed to inspire and send the audience out the doors spreading the peace, hope, and love of the season. The ladies will be donning new attire this year, thanks to sponsorship from Projekt Bayern.

Performances are Friday, December 6, Friday, December 13, and Thursday, December 19 at 7:30 p.m., and Sunday, December 15, at 1:00 p.m., at the Leavenworth Church of the Nazarene, located at 111 Ski Hill Drive. Tickets may be purchased in advance by credit card at the Leavenworth Chamber of Commerce (509-548-5807) or via cash or check at the door. Prices are $20 for an individual ticket and $50 for a family of four (two adults and one or more children). Children five years and older are welcome to attend.

You may also hear the Leavenworth Village Voices perform in the gazebo during the final Christmas Lighting ceremony in Leavenworth on Sunday, December 22. Small groups of choir members will lead caroling in the streets in downtown Leavenworth during each of the Christmas Lighting Festival weekends.

For more information about the Leavenworth Village Voices or how to contact them to sing at your special event, find them on Facebook or at www. leavenworthvillage voices.org.

What do we do as a society to stop this violence and to protect our children while maintaining Constitutional Rights?

Metal detectors or more cops per each school are two suggestions. "Arm the teachers" is another idea. I have pondered this question ever since Columbine. I happened to be living in Denver at the time so it hit close to home.

One could argue mental illness also manifests itself in millions of Americans as drug addiction, alcoholism, domestic abuse or other selfhurtful behavior, but not everyone who shoots a gun should be painted with this broad brush nor those who are merely drinkers of alcohol or users of prescription drugs or all of the above.

Trump has President mentioned it before, more money must flow to mental health facilities and practitioners in grade schools, colleges and society in general.

Screening those with apparent (overt) behavior issues is probably an obvious method to glean the ill from the healthy people, but much more difficult would be to discover aberrant behavior that is covert.

In many cases, the family doesn't even know their own kid nor do his classmates. The solitary mind, in it's own little silo, fabricates conspiracy theories and sometimes convinces the body to take action in an effort at it's own survival.

Deal or not, the trade war will continue

The stock market (S&P500) has once again pushed into alltime highs. One big reason for the stock market celebration is hope for what is being called a "phase one" trade deal with China. Both America and China have announced in recent weeks that a deal is close. However, is far too optimistic. As the name implies, a phase one deal is only the first step. So, even if a deal is successfully agreed to, we'll still be in a trade war. Further. from what I've seen of the phase one deal, it looks a lot like the "trade truce" America and China agreed to back in June. Unfortunately, that truce only lasted a few weeks. What reason do we have to believe a new deal will hold for any longer?

BLACKBURN I worry that the stock market

On one hand, it looks like China is trying to outlast Trump. If the Chinese can hold out for another year, they might be able negotiate with a new American President. However, that's a risky strategy for China, as

COMMUNITY VOICES By BRAD

If I were China, I might try to a reach a small deal with Trump – and soon. If a small deal is reached now, it's less likely that a new Democratic President, or a newly emboldened Trump, would aggressively come after China again in 2021. For the stock market, that is probably a best-case scenario.

However, that best-case scenario still isn't very good. The stock market and the global economy need a full resolution to this, and that isn't likely. While both sides seem to want a deal, there's no obvious way out that allows everyone to save face. So, unless one side completely folds, the trade war will continue, which means the tariffs will continue. That's bad news, because a tariff isn't like a bomb, which only does damage once. A tariff does damage day after day after day. So, even if we get a "deal" in the coming weeks, the negative impacts of the trade war will likely continue for much longer. That's not good news for investors.

The Cascadia Conservation District Board meeting will be on November 21 at 3:30 p.m. in the Upstairs Conference Room at the Wenatchee World Building, 14 N. Mission St., Wenatchee. For more information, call the District at 436-1601. (er46).

Local Families Make Global Impact Through Operation Christmas Child

This month, sites in the Cashmere area will be among 5,000 U.S. drop-off locations collecting shoebox gifts for children overseas during Operation Christmas Child's National Collection Week, Nov.18-25. Cashmere families, churches and groups are busy transforming empty shoeboxes into fun gifts filled with toys, school supplies and hygiene items. The Samaritan's Purse project partners with local churches across the globe to deliver these tangible expressions of God's love to children affected by war, disease, disaster, poverty and famine. For many of these children, it will be the first gift they have ever received.

This year, Cashmere-area residents hope to collect more than 9780 gifts to contribute to the 2019 global goal of reaching 11 million children.

"I love seeing the local community rally together for a global impact," said Regional Directior Nathan Jansen. "We see all ages getting involved -and more and more every year."

The Risk and Reward of Going to Church

meant to be experienced alone. We all need people in our lives that will "spur us on to love and good works" (Heb. 10:24). Yet that type of community is foreign for a great many people, even those who name the name of Christ. Often, because of our individualistic culture, we rather chose to isolate ourselves rather than engage and we suffer for it.

It is easy to isolate ourselves nowadays. Due to technology, one doesn't even have to leave their home to get groceries, or run errands. All of that and much more can be achieved with a smartphone app and a couple of swipes of a finger.

Now translate that into matters of faith and that convenience can come at a price. Yes, with the rise of the internet and communication technology, a world of solid Biblical teaching is at our fingertips. The phone that is sitting next to me with a touch of a button, I can access millions of sermons, listen to amazing hymns and read an untold number of books filled with deep and robust theology. One could say that I really don't need to go to a church when I can do church at home.

As a pastor, I hear this often: "Why go to church when I can listen to my favorite preacher and read my bible at home?" Well, I would never discourage someone from listening to solid preaching at home nor try to dissuade them from personal bible study. However, those should be additions to an active and vibrant membership within a local congregation. No offense, but in my experience, when someone chooses to isolate themselves from a local body of believers to do "church at home" they often get weird. Weird as in their understanding of scripture can be skewed, focusing on some minute point of doctrine or totally missing the point of the gospel altogether. The reason why is because there is no outside voice speaking into their life. There is no iron sharpening iron (Prov. 27:17) spiritual growth.

We need other to grow. As Dr. John Piper once said, "sanctification is a community project." For example, if I start getting a little off in my theology or if there is some area in my life that is amiss, I have a whole community of people that will lovingly pull me aside and ask 'Hey John, what's going

And let me tell you, I praise God for a church family who is willing to do that.

But who is doing that for the individual who opts out of church fellowship? Who is speaking into their lives and holding them accountable to the word of Christ? The answer is no one. Let's be real, they aren't going to hold themselves accountable and the areas of their life that are needing a little help, they aren't going to see them clearly. How do I know this? Because it is the tendency of every person. We tend to grade our lives on a curve, typically thinking that we are better off than what we actually are.

I get it, going to church can be a bit inconvenient. You have to get up early on your day off, and sometimes travel in inclement weather. If you have kids, making sure that they are dressed and in the van before you drive off can be a hassle. Also, being a part of a church can be uncomfortable. There are going to be people that are going to be concerned about you and your family. They are going to ask hard questions like "How are you really doing?" and you are going to have to decide whether or not to take the risk and be honest with them.

I say this not as a pastor, but a Christian: Church is worth it.

Church is worth waking up on a Sunday morning and the reward of letting someone know how you are and having them pray for you is worth the risk. Spending time in fellowship, praising God and seeing reminders of the gospel in your brothers and sisters makes every bit of awkwardness and social discomfort worth it.

Go to church this Sunday. Immerse yourself in a loving Christian community and take the risk to engage with other believers.

Like they say, "no risk, no reward", right?

GOBITUARY-

Dorothy "Dot" Schmitten

October 13, 1927-November 11, 2019, Wenatchee, WA.

Dorothy Belle "Dot" Schmitten was born October 13, 1927 in Lorenzo, Nebraska to Raymond and Nellie Brown. She passed away November 11, 2019 in Wenatchee, WA. Dot and eight other siblings (May, Rose, Raymond, Wilma, Walt, Finise, Bobby, Bonnie) were born in Colorado and Nebraska where she spent the first 10 years of her life. In August 1939 the family moved out to Washington, landing in East Wenatchee where her dad promptly found work as a mechanic and hauling fruit for Wells and Wade Fruit Company using his own truck. The family picked pears and apples in Wenatchee and then apples and hops in Yakima while living in a tent. The youngest brother Howard was born in Wenatchee. After a couple years in East Wenatchee, the family moved to the farming community of Bryant, Washington near Arlington. There they lived on a small dairy farm. Dot and the rest of the kids helped on the farm by milking cows every day. After graduating from Arlington high school in 1947 Dot moved back to Wenatchee to live with her sister Rose and Rose's husband Carl Obergh. She attended beauty school in Wenatchee, married Erwin Miller and they made their home in Dryden on Saunders Rd. She worked in beauty shops in Cashmere and opened the Peshastin Beauty Shop in 1951. Erwin and Dot brought their daughter Marcia into their life in 1955. Erwin died in a car accident in 1956.

Dot had wonderful friends and within a few years she was introduced to a young local businessman who was raising his two teenagers (Rollie and Connie) as a single man. The two were married in 1960 and the family grew to four kids in 1963 with the birth of the baby brother, Raymond. The Schmitten family has always been grateful to Beve and Vi Spears for match making our parents and leaving us with generational friendships between our two families.

Life with the Schmitten's became a series of adventures where every adventure had a common denominator, "family". Bud was not one to sit around when he wasn't managing the sawmill or his orchard property. Every weekend was planned out to live life to the fullest. Dot was for every adventure that a family could have in the Pacific Northwest. Trout fishing, horse packing, trailer camping, water skiing, mushroom foraging, snow skiing, commercial fishing, and deer hunting were among the favorites. Dot was the guide, the cook, the card dealer, the boat driver, the fish cleaner and the Cub Scout leader.

"Grandma Dot" was also the voice of reason for hundreds of kids in Cashmere. She was reliable and always available to talk with in her home on Division Street where there was always food on the table. She was always ready for a game of Skip-Bo too.

Dot was very involved in the local community: The Red Cross Gray Ladies, Cashmere Women's club, Cashmere Lioness, Children's Orthopedic and many more clubs. She did hair at Cashmere Convalescent Center every week for over 50 years.

Dot is survived by her brother Bobby Brown (Mt. Vernon, WA) and sister Bonnie Wright (Hood River, OR); son, Rolland Schmitten (Barbara); Daughter , Connie Tarver; daughter, Marcia Miller; son Ray Schmitten (Trish); and her 11 Grandchildren: Jennifer Borseth, Heidi Schmitten-Barnes, D'Lynn Butts, Chris Tarver, Wendy Tarver, Tiffany Courdner, Heather Coffey, Ryan Schmitten, Mike Schmitten, Tyson Schmitten, and Rolland T. Schmitten. Dot has 11 great grandchildren and 3 greatgreat grandchildren. Dorothy was preceded in death by her husband Raymond "Bud" Schmitten and Grandson Rolland A. Schmitten Jr.

The Schmitten family would like to give a special thank you to the staff at Bonaventure and the Central Washington Hospital M1 unit for all the loving care and compassion you provided Dot in the past year.

In lieu of flowers, donations can be made to Seattle Children's Hospital donation site at givetoseattlechildrens.org/give or sent to Seattle Children's Hospital, 4800 Sand Point Way NE, Seattle, Dot's life was celebrated on Saturday, November 16 at 2:00 p.m. at Grace Lutheran Church in Cashmere. Interment will be at Cashmere Cemetery.

Please express your thoughts and memories on the online guestbook at jonesjonesbetts.com. Arrangements by Jones & Jones Betts Funeral Home.

Cashmere Soccer season ends with loss to Freeman

By BILL FORHAN

The Cashmere Girls soccer team defeated Cascade twice this year but lost to their cross valley rivals in an overtime game in Wenatchee. Cashmere then moved on to play Freeman in a loser out game and lost that contest 1-0 eliminating them from state completion. The girls had a great season winning the Caribou Trail league undefeated.

Bulldog season ends with loss to La Salle

By BILL FORHAN

The Cashmere Bulldog season ended on Friday, Nov. 15 with a loss to La Salle 35 – 10.

The bulldogs ended their season tied for 2nd and 3rd place in the Caribou Trail League behind undefeated Omak. Against La Salle the bulldogs were down 28 – 3 at the half and in a tough place to bounce back against a strong La Salle team.

According to coach Bryan Bremer the team never gave up and fought hard in the second half to overcome the deficit, but the La Salle defense was unrelenting and kept the Bulldogs out of the end zone until the fourth quarter.

Treating Hair Loss

My 60-year-old brother Dennis is lean and fit today, but yet nearly unrecognizable from his high school senior yearbook photo. That's because it shows him with a full head of hair.

Hair loss affects nearly half of Americans, with the most common type the one experienced by my brother: androgenic alopecia, which is male hormone-related hair loss.

Androgenic alopecia is a genetic condition affecting both women and men. Male pattern baldness shows up as a receding hairline, with nearly 80% of white males affected by the age of 70. Female pattern baldness takes longer to develop and creates an overall thinning of hair, with more scalp showing where they part their hair.

Our hair grows out of a specialized set of cells in our skin called hair follicles, and grows in 2 phases: a longer growing phase and a shorter resting phase. During the growing phase, a brand-new hair grows up from the follicle through the skin and then keeps growing above the skin about 1 inch per month. This growth continues for about 3-5 years before changing to the resting phase.

In the resting phase, each hair stays at the same length for about 1-2 years, after which time it falls out as a new growth phase begins with a new hair.

About 90% of our hair is in a growth cycle while the other 10% is in a resting cycle. The longer your hair's growth cycle and faster it grows, the longer your hair can get. Your eyelashes are shorter than your hair because their growth cycle is only 30 days instead of 2-8 years and their resting cycle is only 105 days instead of 1-2 years.

When we were babies, we had 2 main types hair: lots of very short, very fine, colorless and nearly invisible hair called vellus hair, and thicker, hair with pigment on our heads and eyelashes, called terminal hair. At puberty, under the influence of sex hormones, much of our vellus hair changed to terminal hair, resulting in noticeable hair growing in your armpits and along your arms and legs, as well as covering your pubic area. Puberty changes male vellus hair to terminal hair on the face, creating the need to shave and the ability to grow a beard and mustache.

My brother has the most common cause of hair loss, androgenic alopecia. Inside the hair follicles, a special enzyme changes testosterone to its cousin, dihydrotestosterone (DHT). While testosterone stimulates hair growth, DHT does the opposite, triggering hair loss. DHT shortens the growth phase of hair, lengthens hair's resting phase, and changes the type of hair growing back.

In both men and women, shifting testosterone to DHT changes how hair regrows. The thicker, colored terminal hair of the scalp grows back as very thin, very short and colorless vellus hair. You have the same amount of hairs, but the vellus hair is nearly invisible, and some of it doesn't grow long enough to extend above your scalp, creating hair loss.

Hair loss for women with androgenic alopecia starts later in life and progresses more gradually. Women are not as severely affected because they have less testosterone available to shift to DHT and female enzymes that can shift testosterone to estrogen instead of DHT.

One non-prescription treatment for hair loss is Rogaine®, 5% for men and 2% for women. Its active ingredient, minoxidil, was originally designed to lower blood pressure, but people taking it kept noticing hair growth. Further research revealed that minoxidil applied to the scalp increased blood flow to the hair follicles, directly stimulating them. Minoxidil prolongs the growth phase of hair and changes resting hair back into growing

Fall And Winter Whitefish

By John Kruse

Call them the Rodney Dangerfield's of the Pacific Northwest. The whitefish, whether it be the mountain whitefish found in streams or the lake whitefish found in Eastern Washington reservoirs and the Columbia River, are fish that like Rodney, "Don't get no respect". It's a shame, because in the steelhead-salmon-trout centric state of Washington, we are overlooking a fine gamefish that tastes good, fights well, and offers liberal limits of 15 fish per day with no minimum

MOUNTAIN WHITEFISH

Found throughout Central and Eastern Washington (as well as the Rocky Mountain states) the mountain whitefish is truly underfished. Many trout anglers look down on them but these scrappy fighters are a lot of fun and have a reputation of tasting very well out of a smoker. An average mountain whitefish runs from 8 to 11 inches long but 16-inch fish are not uncommon and even a 20-inch whitefish is not out of the question.

In the summer casting nymphs or streamers from a fly rod or casting small spinners works well for these fish but as the water cools in the late fall you should change your tactics. Danny Garrett is a fisheries biologist for the Washington Department of Fish and Wildlife with a solid knowledge of whitefish. He suggests fishing a brightly colored nymph (with red, orange or pink) under a strike indicator above a dropper weight and near the bottom. Garrett says, "In the fall you'll find the whitefish in slow runs below riffles" and this is a prime time to target them. In late fall the whitefish will move into these riffles to spawn and they can be trickier to catch. After that, they will move into deeper holes for the remainder of the winter and in some cases will move out of streams into reservoirs such as Lake Roosevelt.

Unfortunately. many rivers and streams that traditionally provided good opportunities for late fall and winter whitefish (such as the Wenatchee and Methow Rivers) have been closed for several years because of the impacts on endangered summer steelhead. However, several rivers still offer good winter fishing to include the Yakima. Entiat and the Little Spokane Rivers (open December 1st through the last day of February) and The Kettle River in Northeast Washington (open from November 1st through the

4 Tips on Dealing with Hair Loss:

1. Avoid pulling on your hair. Braiding your hair or pulling it back tightly can cause breakage and permanent hair loss.

2. Try hair products that create volume. Hair gels, sprays, and permanents can give the illusion of fullness and disguise thinning hair.

3. Be patient. It may take 4 months or more for men and 8 months for women to see results with Rogaine®, and you must continue using it to keep the hair you've gained.

4. Talk to your doctor. Instead of from genetics, hair loss can be from a treatable medical condition.

end of February). On all of these rivers whitefish gear rules must be followed (only a single hook, size 14 or smaller is allowed and bait (usually maggots) may be used).

LAKE WHITEFISH

Lake whitefish have a tremendous following in the upper Midwest and Great Lakes but only a few anglers target them in Washington State. These fish are not native to Washington but are now found in the Upper Columbia River and several connected reservoirs connected to include Lake Roosevelt, Banks Lake, Moses Lake, Potholes Reservoir and Scooteney Reservoir. They commonly weigh two to three pounds and the state record (caught on rod and reel) is 6.81 pounds).

Danny Garrett with WDFW says, "There is a tremendous biomass of whitefish in all of these reservoirs". However, Garrett says unless you know where to find them you probably won't run into them. In the summer the lake whitefish will stay in the deepest holes.

In the winter lake whitefish will move into shallower waters and reservoir inlets to spawn. At Banks Lake you will not only find them by the inlet but also at the very south end of the lake as well. This makes the months of December and January a great time for anglers to go after these fish from the bank or from a boat.

No matter what time of year you are looking for them, use your electronics to locate schools of these large fish near the bottom. Then, fish close to the bottom with bait like a shrimp fished under a slip bobber or use a small vertical jigging spoon such as a small Northland Forage Minnow Spoon, a Mack's Sonic Baitfish, a Swedish Pimple or a Cicada Reef Runner.

The Washington Departmentof Fish and Wildlife has produced an excellent video about fishing for lake whitefish which can be seen on YouTube at https://www.youtube.com/ watch?v=ubC64vGneAo.

Finally, if you are looking for some recipes to cook up these chunky lake whitefish, try the Great Lakes Whitefish website at www.greatlakeswhitefish. org. You'll find recipes there for blackened whitefish with asparagus, broiled whitefish with caper berry aioli and even cedar plank-roasted whitefish with roasted tomato and olive relish. These mouth-watering offerings alone are enough to get you bundled up and outside to try your hand at whitefish this fall and winter!

TODD, MARRIED, as grantor(s), to U.S. BANK TRUST COMPANY, NATIONAL ASSOCIATION, as original trustee, to secure an obligation in favor of U.S. BANK NATIONAL ASSOCIATION, as original beneficiary. II. No action commenced by the Beneficiary of the Deed of Trust as referenced in RCW 61.21.030(4) is now pending to seek satisfaction of the obligation in any Court by reason of the Borrower's or Grantor's default on the obligation secured by the Deed of Trust/Mortgage. III. The default(s) for which this foreclosure is made is/are as follows: Failure to pay when due the following amounts which are now in arrears: $16,180.95. IV. The sum owing on the obligation secured by the Deed of Trust is: The principal sum of $84,384.25, together with interest as provided in the Note from 8/26/2017 on, and such other costs and fees as are provided by statute. V. The above-described real property will be sold to satisfy the expense of sale and the obligation secured by the Deed of Trust as provided by statute. Said sale will be made without warranty, expressed or implied, regarding title, possession or encumbrances on 12/2/2019. The defaults referred to in Paragraph III must be cured by 11/21/2019 (11 days before the sale date), or by other date as permitted in the Note or Deed of Trust, to cause a discontinuance of the sale. The sale will be discontinued and terminated if at any time before 11/21/2019 (11 days before the sale), or by other date as permitted in the Note or Deed of Trust, the default as set forth in Paragraph III is cured and the Trustee's fees and costs are paid. Payment must be in cash or with cashiers or certified checks from a State or federally chartered bank. The sale may be terminated any time after the 11/21/2019 (11 days before the sale date) and before the sale, by the Borrower or Grantor or the holder of any recorded junior lien or encumbrance by paying the principal and interest, plus costs, fees and advances, if any, made pursuant to the terms of the obligation and/or Deed of Trust, and curing all other defaults. VI. A written Notice of Default was transmitted by the Beneficiary or Trustee to the Borrower(s) and Grantor(s) by both first class and certified mail, proof of which is in the possession of the Trustee; and the Borrower and Grantor were personally served, if applicable, with said written Notice of Default or the written Notice of Default was posted in a conspicuous place on the real property described in Paragraph I above, and the Trustee has possession of proof of such service or posting. The list of recipients of the Notice of Default is listed within the Notice of Foreclosure provided to the Borrower(s) and Grantor(s). These requirements were completed as of 5/30/2019. VII. The Trustee whose name and address are set forth below will provide in writing to anyone requesting it, a statement of all costs and fees due at any time prior to the sale. VIII. The effect of the sale will be to deprive the Grantor and all those who hold by, through or under the Grantor of all their interest in the above-described property. IX. Anyone having any objections to this sale on any grounds whatsoever will be af-forded an opportunity to be heard as to those objections if they bring a lawsuit to restrain the sale pursuant to RCW 61.24.130 Failure to bring such a lawsuit may result in a waiver of any proper grounds for invalidating the Trustee's sale. X. NOTICE TO OCCUPANTS OR TENANTS – The purchaser at the Trustee's Sale is entitled to possession of the property on the 20th day following the sale, as against the Grantor under the deed of trust (the owner) and anyone having an interest junior to the deed of trust, including occupants who are not tenants. After the 20th day following the sale the purchaser has the right to evict occupants who are not tenants by summary proceedings under Chapter 59.12 RCW. For tenant-occupied property, the purchaser shall provide a tenant with written notice in accordance with RCW 61.24.060. THIS NOTICE IS THE FINAL STEP BEFORE THE FORECLOSURE SALE OF YOUR HOME.
