

Cashmere athletes make CTL All-League spring sports teams

Cashmere’s Evan Bakken was one of the Bulldog players to be selected for the CTL’s All-League first team.

Cashmere’s Ryan Cooper was named the CTL “Player of the Year” in boys’ tennis, and made the first team in boys doubles with fellow senior Huber Farias.

Cashmere’s Elizabeth High was named to the CTL’s All-League first team for softball.

BY AL STOVER

The Caribou Trail League announced its All-League selections for spring sports and many Bulldog athletes made various teams.

BOYS SOCCER

The District 6 champion Cashmere boys soccer team had several players make All-League teams. Goalkeeper Brian Damian was a first-team selection. Damian made some miraculous saves throughout the season.

Joining Damian on the first-team were captains Evan Bakken and Jose Lazuna, and Ty Schoening, who all contributed numerous goals to the Bulldogs’ score total. Javier Reyna, Jose Lima and Oscar Orozco made the second team.

TENNIS

Aleah Kert was named the “Girls Player of the Year,” and made the girls doubles first team with partner Lauren Kert. The Kerts were undefeated as a team during the regular season and won both the CTL and District 6 championships en route to the state tournament.

Ryan Cooper earned “Boys Player of the Year” honors and made the first-team for boys doubles with partner Huber Farias. The duo captured both the CTL and District 6 boys doubles championships.

Kane Andruss was named to the second team for the boys singles division. He finished fourth in the CTL Championships and second at districts to qualify for the state tournament.

Tony Ibarra and Gage Andruss were second-team selections for boys doubles. The duo placed fourth at the conference championships to advance to districts.

Kate Cooper made the second-team in the girls singles division. She finished fourth at the CTL tournament to qualify for districts.

SOFTBALL

Elizabeth High was a first-team selection. High displayed power at the plate and proficiency in the infield. Starting pitcher Peyton Brown and and infielder Stormi O’Keefe made the second team. Brown spent countless innings in the circle for the Lady Bulldogs throughout the season while O’Keefe caught behind the plate.

Ella Burts received honorable mention. Burts displayed solid hitting and base running and grew into her role in the infield.

BASEBALL

Corey Phillips, Cole Scott, Brooks Elliot and Brayden Weatherman were second-team selections. All four players made contributions on defense and at the plate.

The Bulldogs ballclub, who finished third in the conference standings with a 3-6 record, received the sportsmanship award.

TRACK AND FIELD

Carter Ball was named the “Boys Track Athlete of the Year” and made the first-team in the men’s 100 meters, 200 meters, 110/100 meter hurdles 300 meter hurdles.

Joining Ball on the first team were Aster Dotson in the javelin and Jonathon Ramey for the high jump.

Rob McManus was a first-team selection for the 800 meters and 1,600 meters.

Sam Kinser made the second team in the 3,200 meters and Jonah Groce was selected in the high jump. Kaden Potter was a second-team selection in the pole vault.

Sam Dotson was named to the second team in the triple jump, and the third team in the long jump.

In relays, the team of Bryson Pratt, Henry Varrelman, James Terrell-Lewis and Daniel Carnline made the third team in the 4x100 meter relay. Varrelman, Kyler Knoll, Aaron Guerrero and McManus was named to the third team in the 4x400 relay.

On the girls’ side, Grace Erdmann was a first-team selection in the triple jump.

Ellie Alberts was named to the second team in the long jump and the third team in the triple jump. Elanor Nelson made the second team in the 3,200 meters.

Chloe Diaz made the third team in the 200 meters as did Tristan Hoffman in the 3,200. Madison Schoening was a third-team selection in the high jump while Carley Diaz made the squad in the pole vault.

In relays, the team of Hailey Larson, Ali Ball, Chloe Diaz and Brianna Hughes were selected for the first team in the 4x100 meters.

Ali Ball, Chloe Diaz, Carley Diaz and Sad Smith made the first team in the 4x200 event.

The squad of Brittany Dowell, Smith, Chloe Diaz and Carley Diaz were named to the second team in the 4x400.

Mayor Fletcher throws his name into the race for next term

Mayor Jim Fletcher seeks a term as mayor for the upcoming election.

BY KALIE DRAGO
Record Reporter

Last June, Jim Fletcher stepped into a big role for the town of Cashmere - Mayor Fletcher took over after former mayor, Jeff Gomes, resigned. This June, Mayor Fletcher is preparing to stick around and run in the upcoming election to remain in his position.

“I feel like I’ve just started and I’ve got some visions that I see wanting to help prepare the city for the future,” said Mayor Jim Fletcher. “In a weird way this is a business where you bring in a new ‘CEO’, mayor, every four years. When they start the job, they have no idea what the city really does. So I’ve had almost a year of newbie employee training. So going into the next four years, I know and understand what the city does. I’m already that much further ahead of the game in terms of learning it from scratch.”

Formerly the council’s pro tem, Fletcher seemed to easily glide into the role bestowed on him last summer. Now that he’s gotten into the groove of the responsibilities of the position, he’s ready to expand on that in his hopeful next term.

“The rewarding things about being mayor are when you actually see city things working well and you see the public engaged. Those are big rewards, that means we provided something that the citizens wanted,”said Fletcher. “Just being able to help people find solutions to problems.”

Using his professional background as a business advisor doubled with his experience in the mayor’s seat, he uses these tools to aid him solve issues and implement future projects.

“One of the things I’ve learned working with businesses for so many years, you come up with a goal or a vision, no matter how outlandish it might be. It gives you something to work toward even though the path along the way may result in something completely different,” said Fletcher. “It’s the process of sitting down and thinking through the situation to say ‘okay the optimal or best results are really what?’”

Beyond those tools, Fletcher takes into account the commitment and care Cashmere residents have toward their tiny town nestled in the valley - and understands the importance of his decisions when it comes to the residents’ home.

Dryden Transfer Station rates increase, effective June 1

BY KALIE DRAGO
Echo / Record Reporter

Those who use the Dryden Transfer Station will notice a fee increase starting June 1. In April, Chelan County commissioners passed a resolution for the increase to cover the cost of operation, disposal and future repairs, according to a press release.

“(Some of the repairs for the Dryden Transfer Station) is for the replacement of equipment, the existing pit to be resurfaced, the pump house needing repairs and a second tipping floor, eventually, that is currently in design,” said Jill FitzSimmons, public information officer for Chelan County Public Works Department.

Most of the rate jumps are minimal, around a $5 increase. The highest increase is the Municipal Solid Waste per ton which increases from $95 to $113. Used Motor Oil/ Antifreeze per gallon is the only item that doesn’t have a rate change and remains $1.

Resolution No. 42, regarding the rate increase, also stated that the rates are in need of updating for all wastes to coincide with the increased cost of disposal at the Greater Wenatchee Regional Landfill.

“Unfortunately, the cost of operations and maintenance is increasing. The county’s solid waste program relies heavily on funding from the state, which has decreased,” said a statement from Brenda Blanchfield, solid waste coordinator for Chelan County Public Works

The truth about industry and America

What's good for business is exactly what's good for America and Americans. I paraphrased some old historical guy. You can Google it if it interests you.

I said historical because that same man today might have been characterized by the left as hysterical instead.

Even back then socialism was rearing its ugly head. The captains of industry like Morgan, Ford, Rockefeller, DuPont, Westinghouse, et al, were "take no prisoners" kind of men.

They beat back a direct political and sometimes violent onslaught of extreme lefties - communists, socialists, progressives and the like.

Today, just as 60-100+ years ago, the captains of industry, as well as every small business owner, must take a stand against this corrupt version of our capitalist, Judeo-Christian democracy such as Bernie Sanders and others of his ilk want to impose.

It scares me just to think about what hell on earth the bureaucracy would create for the business of America, thus destroying the very fabric of all America. Landowners of every stripe, especially homeowners, would suffer enormous special district tax levies. Small companies will be tortured by having to pay an overly high minimum wage as well as benefits and then pass along the expense of higher sales taxes too.

Ask yourselves dear readers, how many "deaths by a 1,000 cuts" can our business community endure? There is no such thing in the past or currently, as a country more generous than America. No better economy and no larger and more prosperous middle class for a country its size, yet there are those among us that still think business people are somehow inherently bad.

The Boston Tea Party was all about business, taxes, political representation and the average bloke on the street. That includes doctors, public and private schools and both kinds music on the radio - Country and Western,

Most likely it also included service, fraternal, religious and non-governmental organizations such as: Moose, Elk, Masons, American Legion, Red Cross, Eagles, Boy and Girl Scouts, Rotary, Little League, Chamber of Commerce, food bank, senior center, Kiwanis, Habitat For Humanity, Goodwill, ASPCA, FFA and 4-H to name some of the most enduring and prevalent of that genre.

All of this history is 100% appropriate to discuss in today's political scene where violence, threats, shout-downs and urban-minority pandering by extremists on the left occurs daily.

"The Left" has no shame because they think it is always all right to do anything at anytime in anyplace and yet they deny those rights to conservative Americans, they who started this country on its path to world dominating economic success more than 100 years ago.

Those aforementioned organizations were the salt of the earth back then and they still are. We don't need total government support (and thus control) from cradle to grave. I am not being partisan here, just American.

It doesn't matter if you are Republican or Democrat as long as you realize what is in front of your face - an attempt by the extreme left to force a sea change upon the greatest country that ever existed.

That sea change is coming to a small town near you ... and one day will be knocking on and knocking down, your door, that is if you don't vote against a constant stream of special district tax levies, income taxes and gruesome retail sales taxes that will eventually destroy the entrepreneurial spirit that has made this country great.

Kudos to the voting citizens of the Lake Chelan School District for rejecting an attempt at spending $7 million dollars on artificial turf for the high school football field as part of a massive budget increase paid for by - what else - a levy on homeowners.

Every community needs to be that strong and "just say no" to damaging levies being launched at our financial freedoms by overzealous, over-reaching bureaucrats from every branch of government.

A famous and well-read book states: The debtor is beholden to the lender as a slave is to the master.

Once again it all starts with government interference and micro-managing in the form of grants, taxes and unnecessary laws and regulations.

Once a group accepts that handout, that most assuredly addicting free money, just realize this - freedom isn't free and neither is money. Independent Americans fight for their freedoms every day, while those who get a free ride tire the horse until it is not even fit for the glue factory.

Keith Collins

Although Keith Collins only coached for ten years at Ritzville High School, he has been an important contributor to the sport of Track and field in our state. It all began at Cashmere High School where he was a multiple state champion setting records in the hurdles and the mile relay. In the decathlon, he was a National High school All-American .He graduated from Cashmere in 1977.

Keith Attended Washington State University and set a school record in the decathlon. He won a Pacific Ten Championship and became an All-American by finishing third at the 1982 NCAA Division I National Championships.

After graduating from WSU, he became the Head Track Coach at Ritzville. He coached from 1983 until 1992. During that time, his boys teams won four Bi-County and District championships and two state titles. He had eleven boys win individual state titles. His girls teams won nine Bi-County and District championships and five state titles including four in a row from 1988 to 1991. He had an incredible total of 28 girls win individual state titles. In 1991, he was named Washington State Track Coach of the year.

Keith was an Elementary school Principal in Lynden, Washington. Despite being out of coaching, he continued to greatly contribute to the sport of track and field and served as the Northwest League and District meet referee, the Cheney state meet referee and WIAA clinician.

Keith and his wife Patricia have just welcomed their first granddaughter with son Casey and daughter in law, Lauren (Davidson) Collins in February. Keith currently is the principal at Washington Elementary in Wenatchee.

David Nichols

A 2001 Graduate of Cashmere High School grew up on the family farm and after graduation moved to New York City to attend the French Culinary Institute and has worked extensively alongside Chef Marc Murphy at Landmarc Tribeca as sous check at the New York style fish shack, Ditch Plains; and at Landmarc at the Time Warner Center where he served as Executive Chef of both that 300 seat restaurant and Murphy's catering company. Nichols was promoted to Executive Chef of the greater Benchmark restaurant group, a role that saw him managing Murphy's entire portfolio and serving as opening chef of Kingside restaurant in the Viceroy Hotel, a Benchmark and Gerber Group joint venture. Nichols was recruited by the Gerber Group to open Irvington in the W Hotel in Union Square and concept Mr. Purple in the Indigo Hotel in the Lower East Side. The succession of hits saw Nichols named one of the top 15 Chefs to Watch by Restaurant Hospitality in 2015. In 2012 he appeared on an episode of Chopped. In 2015 the siren song of Seattle was irresistible that year and he moved to Seattle to take the reins as Executive Chef at Queen Anne Hall. Now at Rider, he is seizing the chance to leverage his diverse experience and marry it to a passion for local products. He is opening his own restaurant in late June in Seattle.

Mayor Fletcher

growing up in a big city, it's so impersonal. Everything I do in this town affects a neighbor," said Fletcher.

Fletcher reinforces the desire to keep the community intertwined throughout the processes, the problems and the progress Cashmere makes. Transparency to the Cashmere citizens is something Fletcher works hard to establish when faced with decision making (i.e. the old city lagoons) or problems that crop up for the city (i.e. the streetlights darkened).

"I'm trying to find new ways to keep people informed. I think most people like to know what's going on in their town. Not to overwhelm them with information, but give them enough so they understand what's going on," said Fletcher. "We have that property where the old city lagoons are. There's an opportunity to do something with that land. What does the community see that will benefit the community that they would want to support happening out there? There's a process of working with the citizens to see what the future of that is going to be. It probably won't be developed for years to come, but we lay the groundwork for that to happen now."

Looking at the next term, Fletcher wants to launch into the issue of both getting a grasp on the growth that Cashmere is facing and maintaining the small town ideals.

"We see a lot of population growth up and down the valley yet we want to remain a small town. How do we do that? That's something working with the community to help define how that's going to happen. How do we keep what we like but recognize growth is going to happen anyways," said Fletcher.

Fletcher has one other candidate to run against, Larry Bruehl. Regardless how the votes tally up, Fletcher will remain in the mayor's seat until the end of former mayor, Gomes's, term and the elected mayor will transition to the role in 2020.

"Any mayor, our job is to prepare the city for the future. Making it better than we found it, that kind of thing," said Fletcher.

No one claims historically significant Goodwin Bridge trusses

In a town rich with history and chockfull of former orchardists that have at one time utilized the West Cashmere Bridge, or Goodwin Bridge as locals refer to it, is about to lose one element of the past. The historic trusses that are considered significantly rare were not claimed by a new owner with a proposal in time for the deadline.

The bridge was a route for connecting orchardists and providing a channel to export goods from Cashmere.

"Chelan County has determined the 88-year-old structure is a fracture-critical bridge that is functionally obsolete and structurally deficient. It is currently posted for both weight and height restrictions, restricting most freight haulers, school buses, local transit buses and some emergency vehicles from using it," stated a press release from Chelan County Public Works. After obtaining a federal permit for construction for a replacement bridge, Chelan County organized a marketing plan to attract a new owner for the bridge's historic trusses, according to Jill FitzSimmons, public information office at Chelan County Public Works Department.

Beyond being historically significant to the former Cashmere economy and orchardists, the Goodwin Bridge is one of the last standing bridges that has a unique structure. According to Chelan County statements, the bridge uses truss members fabricated with a method of light rolled steel sections with lacings and tie plates. West Cashmere Bridge has two 117 foot Warren deck truss spans. Warren deck trusses built prior to the 1930s are a rarity.

"The preservation of the bridge's history is important for our community. Last year, Chelan County contracted with HistoryLink, the online encyclopedia of state history, to write a story about the bridge's history," said FitzSimmons.

With the timeline stretching from June 2018 until Jan 2019, Chelan County tried to draw in interested owners of the trusses from cities, counties and even private businesses. The entity also advertised the historic artifacts on a web page along with on Craigslist and created a short movie.

"We had five people who expressed varying degrees of interest. In February, those five people then received requests for proposals, asking them to lay out their plans for the trusses if they should own them," said FitzSimmons. "However, no one responded."

Both the bridge and the rare trusses will come down. The contractor that is awarded the construction bid for the project, will be the deciding factor as to how to handle the trusses. The Goodwin Bridge will be replaced with a bridge estimated around 44 feet wide and 1,000 feet long and expected to began construction in spring 2020 with a cost of $23.5 million.

Help for those fearful

Over the counter travelers medicine

We are living in some exciting times. But for many people, they are a time of great fear.

Fear has woven itself into the very fabric of our society. We are afraid of what the Federal government will do, people crossing over the border or the potential outbreak of measles because children aren't vaccinated. It seems in our day there is an innumerable number of things to be fearful of.

Now I want to stop here to make a point of clarification. I am not saying showing concern is the same as being fearful. The recent move by the House of Representatives regarding religious liberty do concern me as does the border crisis. However, fear takes it further whereas we lose focus and become paralyzed.

Contrary to the popular preaching point that there are not 365 commands to "fear not" (one for each day of the year). Yet the Bible has much to say about being afraid and provides us examples where fear has gotten the best of people.

One such instance is found within the book of Numbers. In Numbers 13, we read that the Israelites, who have fled the slavery of Egypt, sent out 12 spies to scope out the land that God had promised them. They return to the expectant people and report that the land is "flowing with milk and honey" (Num. 13:27) and rich in produce. The land of Canaan sounds like a paradise but there is a problem: the inhabitants of the land are giants and well-fortified.

The news spreads throughout the whole assembly and even though two of the spies (Caleb and Joshua) attempt to rouse the people to be courageous and believe God will give them the victory, it doesn't work. Instead, they turn on them and make preparations to go back to Egypt.

It is this moment of being frenzied with fear, God judges the Israelites and makes them wander in the desert for 40 years.

A WALK WITH PASTOR JOHN SMITH

All because of fear, they missed what God had in store for them in the land of promise.

Fear does cause you to miss out on things.

But it is not enough to say "don't be afraid" because let's be honest, that is a lot easier said than done.

We need to recognize that the spirit of fear—which causes us to draw back and cripples us—does not come from the Lord. 2 Timothy 2:7 says, "for God gave us a spirit not of fear but of power and love and self-control".

When we are afraid, power, love, and self-control are things we desperately need in those moments to work through the fear and overcome it.

We need power to move forward and do the things we are afraid of. It is in those experiences of fear that we are so powerless but God in his amazing grace gives dynamic strength to have courage in the face of fearful circumstances.

We need love because when we are afraid, we do not respond to those around us in love typically. I know when I am overcome with fear, my attitude is negative and I say and do hurtful things. Out of fear, we push people away and do not have a clear perspective.

Lastly, we need self-control because fear makes us do some pretty foolish things. It makes us irrational and we over-react. Self-control keeps us grounded so we are able to keep a steady course through this tumultuous world and not be shaken.

It is true that there is a lot in this world to be shaken up about, to be afraid of. However, you don't have to be incapacitated by fear. God gives his people precisely what they need to stand fearless in the day of trouble.

So, don't be afraid but instead, be strong and courageous and don't miss all that God has for you.

Pastor John Smith of Evergreen Baptist Church in Cashmere can be reached at pastorjohnsmithebc@gmail.com.

Maybe it was from something I ate when I was using up the food in my refrigerator before leaving for 2 weeks, or a stomach bug I caught from a seatmate on the flight from Seattle to London. Whatever it was gave me a sudden attack of diarrhea as I was getting packed for a 3-hour bus ride to the town of Assisi.

Luckily, I had packed a proven diarrhea remedy which came to my rescue that morning, allowing me to enjoy my day taking in some truly amazing Italian art and scenery, instead of sprinting to Italian restrooms!

My secret weapon against traveler's diarrhea was Imodium-AD®, also known by its generic name, loperamide. First introduced as a prescription medicine in 1976, loperamide has been available over the counter (OTC) for many years and has proven to be a VERY effective medicine for acute diarrhea. It could even save your vacation like it did for me in Italy.

Loperamide can stop diarrhea in its tracks.

During digestion, your food eventually turns into a liquid mass of nutrients, ready to be absorbed into your body. There are muscles all along the inside of your intestines designed to work together, squeezing in a coordinated rhythm called peristalsis to move your food inch by inch through your intestines.

This movement of these internal intestinal muscles moves liquid masses of food first through your small intestine, then large intestine and colon, allowing your body to absorb nutrients and water along the way. What is left over is then eliminated as feces. The longer it takes the food to move through your intestine, the more water is absorbed into your body and the firmer your feces or stool becomes. If the food moves too slowly, you'll absorb too much water and your stool will become hard, causing constipation. If the food moves too quickly, your body won't be able to absorb much of the liquid, causing diarrhea.

When I came down with whooping cough some years ago, my doctor put me on a cough syrup containing codeine. It relieved the cough enough to help me sleep but ended up giving me a new problem: constipation.

Constipation is a very common side effect of narcotic pain medicines like codeine, hydrocodone, and oxycodone because they slow down the movement of the muscles that line your intestine. Loperamide is closely related to these powerful painkillers and combats diarrhea the same way, by slowing down the movement of your intestinal muscles.

Loperamide doesn't relieve pain like its narcotic cousins, hydrocodone and oxycodone, but if you take enough of it you can delay the symptoms of narcotic withdrawal or even get "high". The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) has reported several incidences of people who, when taking four times the maximum recommended dose of loperamide experienced euphoria, confusion and heart palpitations.

Another medicine I always take with me when I travel is Pepto-Bismol® (bismuth subsalicylate) chewable tablets. Although not quite as powerful against diarrhea as loperamide, it helps relieve my nausea, stomach upset and stomach cramps.

Some people recommend taking probiotics for diarrhea, but when traveling, I prefer the immediate relief I can count on with Imodium-AD®. When I travel, I want to meet new people and see new sights, not spend my precious vacation time inside bathrooms.

Here Are 6 Tips on Treating Acute Diarrhea When Traveling:

1. Always pack at least one diarrhea remedy and keep it close at hand.

I never travel without taking both Imodium-AD® tablets and Pepto-Bismol® chewable tablets, and I keep them where I can get to them quickly.

2. Pepto-Bismol chewable tablets taste like wintergreen.

I prefer the chewable tablets of Pepto-Bismol, but if you hate the taste of wintergreen, buy the non-chewable tablets instead.

3. Pepto-Bismol will turn your stools black.

Beware: bismuth subsalicylate will turn your stool a dramatic charcoal-black color, which can be quite alarming if you aren't prepared.

4. Don't go overboard on loperamide.

The maximum dose of 8 tablets of Imodium-AD (loperamide) in a 24-hour period should be plenty to do the job. You should start with 2 tablets after your first loose stool and then only one tablet after each loose stool after that. For more relief, you can take both loperamide and Pepto-Bismol® (bismuth subsalicylate) together, but if that doesn't help, seek medical attention.

5. Some types of diarrhea need immediate medical attention.

If you have bloody diarrhea, experience both vomiting and diarrhea for more than 24 hours, or have severe abdominal pain with diarrhea, don't wait; seek medical attention right away.

NCW Media Inc.'s Obituary and Memorial Policy

An obituary is a way for family members to commemorate a loved one's life and to notify the larger community of the deceased.

Obituaries are also used for historical and ancestral data. Memorials are another way of letting the community know about the life and memories of the person who has died. A memorial is different from an obituary. An obituary is usually current while a memorial can be written later.

For publication in the Cashmere Valley Record or The Leavenworth Echo, an obituary or memorial needs to be typed and emailed to editor@leavenworthecho.com no later than 4 p.m. Friday for the next week's issue. Funeral homes and chapels can submit obituaries by noon on Monday, except holidays.

Obituaries are priced per word while the charge for memorial ads are by the column-inch. Cost of the obituary/ memorial is due at the time of placement.

Ted Snodgrass wants to stay put in school board seat

By KALIE DRAGO

Record Reporter

With his term up in November, Vice Board Chairman, Ted Snodgrass, has filed to remain in his seat on the Cashmere School District school board.

He has been a board member since 2017 and after two years, Snodgrass wants to continue to serving the students that roam Cashmere school hallways.

"I enjoy serving my community," said Snodgrass when asked about what prompted him to stick around and re-run for a school board position.

When Snodgrass isn't attending school board meetings or brainstorming ways to better serve his community, his day job is serving as an engineer at the Washington State Department of Transportation. According to Snodgrass, his work in this field has helped him in his school board member duties.

"I think I bring a wealth of knowledge when it comes to community interaction from the work I do with the Department of Transportation as an engineer," said Snodgrass.

Education, beyond Cashmere city limits, is important to Snodgrass as demonstrated in his commitment to the Cashmere School District school board.

"I believe that we should try to give the best education possible to children," said Snodgrass.

Doubles partners Kert sisters winning titles, making memories

Doubles partners Lauren Kert (left) and Aleah Kert won the CTL, District 6 and state championships in the Girls Doubles division.

By AL STOVER

Cashmere High senior tennis player Aleah Kert had already captured a state title when she entered her fourth season on the Bulldogs tennis team. The CHS senior had appeared in the three previous state tournaments, and a championship in the girls singles division in the 2018 competition.

Her senior season has gone differently, as she had transitioned from singles to doubles and qualified for her fourth state tournament with a partner she knew all too well, her sister, freshman Lauren Kert.

The Kerts began teaming together halfway through the season and tore through the competition, winning both the Caribou Trail League and District titles. They capped their season on May 25 at the 1B/2B/1A State Championships where they swept the girls' doubles division in what was Lauren Kert's first state tournament appearance.

For Aleah Kert, who had spent the first three years of her high school career playing at singles, transitioning to doubles competition was a new experience for her. Other than a few summer tournaments, Aleah Kert did not have much experience playing doubles in a competitive setting.

While playing doubles is a new frontier for Aleah Kert, she is excited to try something new and acknowledged that Lauren is a "great partner."

"We've played together our whole lives, so I'm excited to compete with her and for the memories we'll make," Aleah Kert added. "I'm not so concerned with the wins as much as the time I've had playing with her during my last year."

Lauren Kert was in a similar situation as her sister. She began her freshman year at singles, winning all of her matches, before she and Aleah Kert were paired together. Her doubles experience was limited to summer tournaments where she played with their younger sibling, Faith Kert. She is also excited to play side-by-side with her sister and create some big moments during her freshman season.

In addition to teaming with her sister, Aleah Kert said playing doubles will help prepare her for tennis at the college level. In the fall, she will play singles and doubles tennis at Whitworth University.

"I thought this was just a great way to start being exposed to that game (doubles), and I haven't had a good partner in the past that I've wanted to play with, so this is the perfect opportunity for me," Aleah Kert said. "Since I've already done it all in singles, I can try something new."

Growing up, the Kerts have played together, and with their siblings, while their father, CHS Tennis Head Coach Trevor Kert, coached them. Aleah Kert noted that their family dynamic made it a natural transition for her and Lauren Kert to team together on the court. The learning curve for both players was the mechanics of playing doubles competitively, as opposed to

Both sisters acknowledged that playing doubles is vastly different than singles. While singles play emphasizes self-reliance and is more of a mental game between an athlete and their opponent, doubles allows players to be vocal and positive with each other. Other differences are the point styles, and the plays that doubles partners will run with each other.

"In doubles you have to be thinking a lot more," Aleah Kert said. "You've got two different people, so you'll have to be working together. Communication is huge, which is one of the reasons why you have to have a good partner."

"There's a lot more strategy when you're serving the ball, and keeping it away from your opponent," Lauren Kert added. "The coaching style is also different and you use more signals and communication than you do in singles. We've had to learn a lot."

Even after they started teaming together, both sisters would occasionally switch back to singles play. One instance was at the Inland Empire Tournament on April 27. The sisters were originally scheduled to play together, but the draws forced them into singles brackets. Aleah Kert was a finalist in the No. 1 singles championship while Lauren Kert won the No. 2 singles championship bracket.

With the success at doubles and singles, the season has gone well for Aleah Kert. She noted it was a different experience without her brother, CHS alum and state champion Tyler Kert, who had played for the Bulldogs during her first three years on the team. With Lauren Kert joining the team, Aleah Kert took on the older sibling role for her younger sister in place of Tyler, and has helped guide her during her freshman season.

As for this year's state tournament, Aleah Kert said competing in the doubles bracket took away a lot of the pressure that came when she competed in previous Aleah Kert had a successful singles run in her high school career, including a state championship.

Student Spotlight

Student Carly Schoening

Reason: I nominate Freshman Carly Schoening as Student of the Month. Carly not only produces high quality work in the classroom she also is very kind, considerate and helpful to her teacher and peers.

Teacher: Fawnda Simonson

Parents: Teri and Barry

Schoening

Grade: 9th

Activities: Karate, FFA, Participated in orchestra for the musical.

GPA: 4.0

Sports: Karate

Future Plans: Possibly attend either WAZU or Belmont University. Plan on going into advertising while continuing to explore music.

Athlete Ryan Cooper

Reason: Ryan Cooper is my choice for the May athlete of the month. Ryan is finishing up his 4th year as a solid part of the Cashmere Tennis program. Ryan's dedication to the sport of tennis shows in the time he has put in and his knowledge of the game. Teammates occasionally refer to him as Coach Ryan because he I willing to help others with their game. Last year Ryan and his partner Huber Farias placed 6th in doubles at the state tournament in Yakima.

This year the goal is to improve on that finish. Congratulations Ryan on being the May Athlete of the Month.

"Making memories with my family, and my dad, has been the best memories for me," she added.

While her sister's time as a Bulldog is nearly complete, Lauren Kert still has three seasons ahead of her. During that time, she will be on the same team as their younger sister, Grace.

Lauren Kert added that she was excited to have acquired the doubles experience with her sibling during her freshman year. As for next season, she is leaning toward returning to the singles division.

"I did it for the first part of the season and I enjoyed it, so I feel like I'll go singles, but the years after ... it's still up in the air," Lauren Kert added.

While Lauren Kert has only one season under her belt, she is happy to have shared her early success with her sister.

"It's her senior year and it's going to be sad not having her on the team, so I'm glad we're doing doubles together and making memories," she added.

Chelan PUD warns public about loose ‘metallic’ balloons

It's the celebration season, but don't let metallic balloons ruin your party by getting away and into power lines causing an outage. Power outages happen when a metallic balloon touches a power line. Outages can affect thousands of Chelan County PUD customers – your neighbors and friends. Metallic balloons in the lines also can cause fires, damage property and lead to injuries.

Help your PUD keep our community safe!

- DO NOT release metallic balloons into the air
- Tie balloons to weights – but DO NOT tie ribbons together

- NEVER use metallic ribbon with helium-filled balloons
- PROPERLY DISPOSE of metallic balloons – puncture and deflate before reusing or throwing away
- NEVER try to retrieve balloons from power lines. Call 877-783-8123, 24/7, to report

Cashmere sisters win doubles tennis title, boys take fourth

By AL STOVER

Cashmere senior Aleah Kert added another state tennis championship to her high school tennis resume on May 25 this time in the girls' doubles division.

During the first day of competition, the Kerts won their first-round match against La Salle's Reese Vetsch and Courtney Standley (6-1, 6-0), then beat Tenino's Kaylee Schow and Ally Vestal (6-0, 6-2) in the quarterfinal contest.

In the semifinals, Cashmere duo defeated Overlake's Kamila Meghji and Mihika Srinivasan (6-1, 6-1), then bested Lakeside's Gillian Hartman and Kendra Gay (6-1, 6-1) in the championship match.

The Kerts were not the only Bulldogs to bring home hardware from state.

Ryan Cooper and Huber Farias finished fourth in the boys doubles division, two places higher than the previous year.

Cooper and Farias won their first round match against Newport's John Carlson and Johnny Goodman (6-2, 6-2).

In the quarterfinals they fell to University Prep's Michael Yang and Nicholas Arron in a close match that went to three sets (5-1, 6-1, 7-5).The duo bounced back to defeat Connell's Silas Chase and Tanner Peterson (6-2, 6-1).

In their final contest, the Bulldog boys defeated Freeman's Owen Bryant and Daniel Gady (6-0, 6-3).

Kane Andruss went 1-2 in the boys' singles division before he was eliminated from his bracket. After losing to Vashon Island's Towner Anderson (6-2, 6-0), Andruss bounced back to defeat Lakeside's Danny Flynn (6-3, 6-1).

Andruss lost his final match to Chelan's Wyatt Habich (6-2, 7-5).

In team scores, the Cashmere girls tied for fourth with 11 points and the boys tied for sixth with 10 points.

The state tournament marks the end of a successful 2019 for the Bulldogs tennis program. Both teams went undefeated in conference play to win Caribou Trail League championships in their respective divisions. The Cashmere boys claimed a share of the District 6 championship en route to the state tournament.

The Bulldogs lose seniors Aleah Kert, Cooper and Farias to graduation. The team will have a solid crop of talent returning next year.

Cashmere's relay teams made two trips to the podium. The 4x100 team of (back left) Brianna Hughes, Hailey Larson, Chloe Diaz and Ali Ball (front row, center) finished sixth.

By AL STOVER

The Cashmere High track and field teams came to the 1B/2B/1A Track and Field State Championships, May 23-25 in Cheney, with hopes and goals and came away with several medals.

Rob McManus delivered the first state title to the Bulldogs' trophy case after winning the boys 1,600 race with a personal record of 4 minutes and 24.19 seconds.

McManus' time is ranked second in the school's history, under current record holder Seth Pierson (4:18).

Aster Dotson won the second state title for the Bulldogs in the javelin with a throw of 166-11.

The team of Ali Ball, Syd Smith, Carley Diaz and Chloe Diaz finished second in the girls 4x200 meter relay in 1:45.43.

Grace Erdmann and Ellie Alberts recorded a 3-4 finish in the girls triple jump. Erdmann finished with a leap of 35-04 while Alberts recorded 35-03.50.

Jonathan Ramey finished third in the boys high jump with a leap of 6'02.

The girls 4x100 relay team of Ball, Chloe Diaz, Brianna Hughes and Hailey Larson placed sixth in the event with a 50.79.

Ball finished eighth in the girls 200 meters with a 26.09.

Other Bulldogs who competed at state include Kaden Potter, who finished 10th in the boys pole vault after a mark of 11-06 and Sam Dotson placed 13th in the triple jump with a leap of 38-02.

Carter Ball clocked in at 11.62 in the boys 100 meter dash, the 110 meter hurdles in 19.84 and the 200 meter dash in 23.86.

Syd Smith barely missed the finals for the girls 800 meter race after finishing in the 2:24.25.

In team scores, the Cashmere boys finished sixth with 26 points while the girls placed ninth with 23 points.

The state competition marks a successful end for the Cashmere Bulldogs track team. The boys captured both the Caribou Trail League and District 6 championships en route to state.

During the season, several school records were broken by Ali Ball (girls 200 meters, 25.85), Mikayla Stoffel (girls javelin, 108'2), Ramey (boys high jump, 6'3), Alberts (girls long jump, 16'7) and Erdmann (girls triple jump, 35'10.5).

A history of salmon decline in the Columbia River to be presented May 29

SUBMITTED BY WENATCHEE RIVER INSTITUTE

LEAVENWORTH - On Wed., May 29 in the Wenatchee River Institute's Red Barn, Cascade Columbia Fisheries Enhancement Group's (CCFEG) Executive Director Jason Lundgren, will present A History of Salmon Decline in the Columbia River. Doors will open at 6:30 p.m. for community social and no-host refreshments, with the presentation beginning at 7 p.m.

Human activities, including salmon canneries operating along the Columbia during the last half of the 1800's and the construction of large dams during the 1900's, as well as environmental factors such as climate change, have all contributed to the massive decline in salmon populations.

Lundgren's presentation will include a slideshow and offer ideas for how salmon in the Columbia River can be protected, how to mitigate the fish's population loss and how healthy populations can be restored.

A graduate of the Evergreen State College in Olympia, Jason has been involved in fisheries and natural resources for many years. An avid angler, Jason previously worked for the South Puget Sound Salmon Enhancement Group, CCFEG's counterpart in Olympia, before moving on to a role with the Salmon Recovery Funding Board. As the Executive Director of CCFEG, Jason is very excited to be involved in salmon recovery in such a vibrant area. He is also on the board of directors for Trout Unlimited. Lundgren lives in Leavenworth with his wife, three children and George, the family dog.

This Red Barn Event speaker event is co-sponsored by Wenatchee River Institute, Trout Unlimited, and CCFEG.

Wenatchee River Institute is located at 347 Division St. in Leavenworth, (509)548-0181, www.wenatcheeriverinstitute.org
