Cashmere soccer clinches District 6 title

By AL STOVER

For the Cashmere boys soccer team, the Cascade Kodiaks were the opponents they could not beat, having lost to them in both regular season matches – matches that went to penalty kicks.

When the two teams faced off for a third time in the postseason, the Bulldogs were ready for their crosstown rivals.

Cashmere captured the District 6 title after a 2-0 win against Cascade in the tournament finals on May 9.

The Bulldogs executed a combination of speed and physicality to neutralize Cascade's offense and keep them scoreless throughout the contest. Evan Bakken scored the first goal in the 28th minute to give Cashmere a 1-0 lead at the first half. In the 55th minute, Bakken dribbled the ball downfield before he dribbled the ball downfield before he drove it into the net for an insurance goal to earn a brace. "It's a great feeling, I'm very happy for these guys," Head Coach Juan Valle said. "These guys made every sacrifice ... for them to keep to our routine is amazing. To win against a high caliber time like Cascade is also nice."

Valle added that the Bulldogs made some adjustments prior to their match against Cascade and wanted to come into the game with a different strategy than they had in the regular season.

Valle noted the Bulldogs' success is a team effort that involves everyone, from the players and coaches to the parents and the administrators. He added that he and the team are grateful for the community's support.

The Bulldogs' route to the district title included a 2-1 win over Bridgeport in the District 6 semifinal tournament on May 7.

A year earlier, the Tigers eliminated the Bulldogs from the 2018 District 6 tournament.

This season was a different story as Ty Schoening took advantage of a set piece play with a header from Bakken's corner kick to score PHOTO BY AL STOVER/CVR. the first goal in the 24th minute. Javier Reyna drove through several Bridgeport defenders to score Cashmere's second goal in the 67th minute.

With the district title in their trophy case, the Bulldogs began the 1A State Championship tournament against the District 5 No. 3 seed on May 13-15. If Cashmere won, they will advance to the quarterfinals, May 17-18.

Even with the pressure of the state tournament, Valle said the team will not overlook their accomplishment of winning the district championship. "We're going to enjoy this moment and we'll take it one day at a time," he added.

Those of you on social media, have no doubt heard of the many challenges that get shared. The Ice Bucket, Tide Pod and Eating Cinnamon to name a few. Some challenges bring awareness, others are just for fun, while some are idiotic. Many challenges grab our attention and make us want to follow suit. A new challenge is hoping to do just that, it's slowly gaining momentum, it's the Trash Tag Challenge. Maybe you've seen the pictures on social media? A photo of a teenager sitting amongst a field of trash. In a second picture, the same teen, in the same field, only all the trash was now in trash bags. A truly worthy cause and a challenge that really makes a impact. A few local boys have accepted this challenge.

Three Cashmere boys, Kasey Bray (8 yrs), Ethan Cabrera (11 yrs) and Conner Bray (12 yrs), were looking for something to do on a Sunday afternoon. They were in need of an adventure. It was decided to head up Hay Canyon to look for spent shotgun shells, bullet casings and other interesting pieces of 'treasure'. They drove past the turn around, turned a corner and everyone was shocked at the disgusting mess people had left. A once enjoyable location to hike, bike, shoot, walk your dog and simply enjoy nature, was tainted by every kind of trash item you could think of. Folks had used their waste as target practice and then left without taking their targets with them. Others had simply used it as a dumping ground

Cashmere takes initiative with students' mental health: Mental Health Awareness Month

By KALIE DRAGO Record reporter

As a teenager, mental health issues can be crippling because at that age there is still development and hormones playing into the formula. Physical health is promoted with gym class, basketball practice and mom reminding to eat veggies. Mental health can fall by the wayside and teenagers can feel secluded. May has been Mental Health Month since 1949 and while we often know October is full of pink ribbons for breast cancer awareness, Mental Health Month isn't as universally addressed.

Cashmere School District doesn't limit paying attention to students' mental health just to May - in fact, the process starts at the beginning of the school year in an effort to keep an eye on students and ensure that if mental health issues do arise, they're addressed.

"We start each year, we survey our staff (Adverse Childhood Experiences survey) and the reason we do it is so that every kid has a staff member to connect with and go to. We rate how well we know our kids to start with," said Tony Boyle, Cashmere High School principal. "When the students get here, we do the same survey to find out if they have somebody they can connect to. Then we try and fill the gap. We try and make sure if a kid says 'no I don't have an adult to connect to', we make sure their teachers know and their advisor know."

There is a dangerous stigma attached to mental health issues that keeps some individuals harnessed in a cycle of silently trying to cope. With the dual survey for both staff and students, it helps establish a comfortable network for a student to reach out to an adult.

"We want to make sure each kid knows there's an adult in the building they can talk to," said Boyle.

It's easy to externally examine the classmate sniffling and notice the allergies, but mental health stability isn't always transparent to the outside world. As a society, we can be conditioned to water down the internal struggle. According to Boyle, Cashmere staff is trained to look for factors such as grades or hygiene starting to slack.

Cashmere students land STEM scholarships

BY KALIE DRAGO

Record reporter

College is something many look forward to - choosing classes that pertain to one's interest, the first glimpse into adulthood and an opportunity to extend social circles outside of the classmates that have been together for a majority of their childhood. But like most good things, there is a catch. College is an expensive post high school route and that Bachelor's degree comes with a hefty price tag. Nine students from Cashmere High School pursuing a future in a STEM related field now have some of the financial stress crossed off the list of pre college jitters.

Jared Lindsey, Elizabeth Carney, MacKenzie Daniels, Kyler Koegh, Ryan Cooper, Jose Lima Herrera, Aranza Arroyo-Mejia, Brittany Dowell and Leonardo Rojas, all received scholarships through the Washington State Opportunity Scholarship (WSOS).

The students can receive up to $22,500 in scholarship money that can be used at any eligible Washington state colleges and universities. It also came with the promise of mentorship and professional development. The WSOS scholarship is more than just fueling the financial aspect, but helping pave the way to launching their career.

"WSOS prepares Washington students for Washington jobs through a first-of-its-kind public-private partnership, made possible through companies like Microsoft, Boeing and a dollar-for-dollar match by the state of Washington. This innovative public-private partnership is changing the cycle of intergenerational poverty and closing the achievement gap for Washington's students," a statement from the Apple STEM Network press release. Apple STEM Network serves as a three year partner of WSOS to promote the scholarship in order to increase applicants, according to the press release.

"Some of the major economic development sectors for North Central Washington, Cashmere included, are fields like energy or agriculture or technology. All of these require STEM degrees," said Sue Kane, Apple STEM Network Director.

The scholarship targets students interested in majors that are tied to health care, technology engineering, science or math (i.e. majors falling under the umbrella of STEM). According to Kane, the students would have to be striving for a four year degree at a Washington state college, attending a Washington state high school, fit into the income requirement (middle to low income families) and have a 2.75 GPA. The scholarship puts a heavy emphasis on producing STEM majors from Washington state to pursue jobs in Washington.

"The state recognizes the need for those types of degrees. There's a lot of jobs that we import talent to Washington state. Our kids, if they don't have opportunities to get those degrees, are displaced by those people coming in with those degrees," said Kane.

The Cashmere students selected are nine out of 83 North Central Washington students selected across Washington state, so competition was thick. They are apart of the eighth group of students to receive the scholarship. The requirements weren't an easy hurdle to leap over, yet these nine students managed.

"It's really important for us to give kids an opportunity to earn that four year credential they need to get those jobs," said Kane.

The awards will be presented at the Senior Awards Program on Wednesday, May 29th at 7:00 pm. at Cashmere Middle School. "Every Thursday we have staff collaboration. Our collaboration ends every Thursday with student concerns, a student who is concerning them whether it's grades, hygiene, mental health," said Boyle.

Beyond internal support, the schools have a partnership with Confluence Health and Columbia Valley. Confluence Health counselors are available to students if needed and a counselor is stationed at Vale but does make visits to the high school as needed.

"If we've done a referral and the parents and the student have met the counselor outside of school and taken care of the insurance and paperwork then the counselor can see the student at the school," said Marcia Fall, Cashmere High School counselor. "That piece is such a huge step as far as helping those students get support and not miss the school day."

Aches and pain extend beyond bruises and headaches. Mental health deserves care and attention too. The taboo surrounding mental health can be an unfair anchor, keeping the important topic from breaking the surface for many struggling. Cashmere School District breaks down that taboo by keeping all hands on deck with staff, paying attention to

------ homes

Record reporter Most of us have driven past a beautiful home and lightly tapped the brakes in order to glide by to admire the aesthetic. Some of us can be envious of the neighbor's sprawling porch but too shy to ask for a closer look. The Cashmere Museum, Cashmere Chamber of Commerce and with the aid of funding from GTC Technical Support, are giving the Cashmere community an opportunity to take a tour of some of Cashmere's finest

"Whether it's locals, those that enjoy history or those nearby that haven't planned a recent trip to Cashmere, here's a chance to travel back in time. I'm looking forward to hearing the cross connection of stories from current residents and ticket holders," said Gina Imperato, Cashmere Chamber of Commerce manager.

On June 1 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., to celebrate the museum's 60th anniversary, the Cashmere Valley Historic Home Tour will take place. "The Historic Home Tour is for people who love old homes and people who love Cashmere. For people who want to get inside some of the older homes," said Nancy Fike, who is helping put the event together. Her home will be featured during the tour. "If you really love historic homes, this is the one for you."

These homes date back to the early 1900's and the newest one was built in 1920, so the tour doubles as a time machine for those who attend. This is an opportunity to peek into some of the oldest forms of architecture in Cashmere.

"People who love architecture, especially older homes, interested in historic preservation or really it's just a fun day especially if it's good weather," said Fike.

The home base will be at the museum and the starting point for the historical tour is the Burbank Homestead Waterwheel located at the museum. From this, the tour will take the curious folks through eight homes and gardens in Cashmere. "I would suggest people come, maybe go to half the houses, go to lunch and then go to the other half of houses. It's a really fun way to spend a day," said Fike.

Tickets are $20, unless a museum member then it's $15. The ticket comes with a map and information so individuals can scan some background information while they browse. Foot covers and free admission to the museum for the day are also included in the package deal. The proceeds funnel into supporting the local museum.

Local boys clean up for bags full of yard debris. Four or five idividuals dumped their deer and elk carcasses, one even wrapped completely in plastic. The three boys new what they had to do. They first set about searching for items they wished to keep, some shiny brass and intact clay pigeons were top on the treasure list. Later, it turned into who could collect the most trash? Each boy set about dragging all they could find from all over the hill side. Laundry detergent containers perched 50 yards up hill, a mini fridge buried in the bushes, plastic bottles everywhere, buckets, car parts, bags and more. The boys spent three hours cleaning up what others left behind. It took two trips to haul away all the trash. When they were done, everyone was tired and dirty. The kids had a great time and felt good about what they had accomplished. Except for some micro garbage and the carcasses, the forest was once again as it should be.

It is the hope of these boys, that folks will notice the difference and that they'll stop using it as a dumping ground. If you want to shoot something, that's fine, just take it with you when you go. They challenge everyone in Cashmere and beyond. Find someplace outdoors that's in need of a spring clean. Bring your gloves, trash bags and make a difference. Have fun doing it, make it a game. Light up social media with a worthy challenge, get outside and set the example. Make Trash Tag trend more then eating soap. You have been challenged, do you accept?

CASHMERE "POPPY DAYS" Honoring all Veterans

SUBMITTED BY LINDA INGRAHAM President Cashmere American Legion Aux. #64

Cashmere American Legion Auxiliary volunteers will be distributing the familiar red handcrafted poppies honoring America's veterans in Cashmere on Friday May 17. Please look for them at the Post Office, Martins Market Place, Cashmere Valley Bank & outside of Doane's Valley Pharmacy.

Planned to coincide with Memorial Day, the annual event pays tribute to those veterans who have willingly served their country for decades. Memorial Day, originally called Decoration Day, is a day on which Americans remember and pay tribute to their ancestral family members. It is sometimes easy to forget the true significance of this solemn day. This year will be the 71st "Cavalcade of Flags" ceremony at the Cashmere Cemetery on Memorial Day Monday May 27 at 11:00 a.m. put on by the Cashmere American Legion Post #64. The ceremony started in 1976 with just 22 flags under the supervision of Commander Art Cote. This year 445 American flags donated by veteran's families will be put up at the cemetery. Also over 900 small flags will be put on all veterans and auxiliary graves on Sat. May 25. If anyone would like to help with this monumental task, please come to the cemetery on that Sat. at 9 a.m. The big flags will be put out, weather permitting early on the morning of Memorial Day, May 28 And taken down in the afternoon to be put away for another year. None of this would be possible if it weren't for volunteers so if anyone would like to help, please come.

Also the post is looking for volunteers to help locate and clean out all the holes that the big flags fit into. Wiley Collins will be out at the cemetery the week of May 13 -17 from 9:00 a.m. to noon. They will also be out there the next week, May 20-24 doing the same thing. This is a monumental task so anyone who would like to help, please come any of those days. For more info please call Commander Ken Komro evenings 782-4973.

Where did the poppy tradition originate? The poppy comes from the poem in Flanders Fields, written by Lt. Co. John McCrae. The poem refers to the poppies that grew out of newly dug soldiers' graves during World War I in Europe.

The American Legion Auxiliary adopted the poppy as it's memorial flower in 1921 and started the Poppy Program in 1924. Today Auxiliary members distribute millions of poppies in exchange for contributions to assist active-duty military, veterans and their families.

You should look at the poppy and see what it represents. It's not just a flower with a label on it. Try to remember what the poppy stands for and also what the meaning of Memorial Day is. Please take the time to set aside this one day of the year to remember, reflect and honor those who have given their all in service to our country. Everyone should be able to say "I know why I am free". Proudly wear a poppy for Memorial Day.

Cool damp weather has delayed this year's asparagus harvest but we received our first supply at the fruit stand last week and it is delicious. The Yakima Valley and Lower Columbia Valley weather has also taken its toll on peas this year. Many growers were not able to plant any type of spring peas or salad onions and this will impact availability and prices. Our Upper Valley orchards have also experienced some pretty cold nights in the last couple of weeks and I know some backyard gardens have lost some tomato and pepper plants. I have held off most of my planting , but I have noticed that the soil seems very dry for this time of year. The current long term forecast is for a hot and dry Summer, with a high danger of fire.

One thing that is in abundance now is farm fresh eggs, our chickens are working over time laying beautiful eggs. My daughter Rachel is getting read to set her incubator with eggs to hatch. Her chickens are mostly Heritage Breeds and she separates them by breed and collects the eggs to hatch. This is done to keep the breeds pure and to conserve the stock. Typically Heritage Breeds do not lay as many eggs as more commercial breeds. She also has Swedish Flower Heads, Icelandic and French Copper Marans to name a few. We also have Doulap Tous Loose Geese, but have not seen any eggs yet, but they do love to hide them.

The Icelandic horses Skeiva and Adam are losing their wooly coats and are being prepared for endurance racing and this year, Rachel is taking Adam on the John Wayne Trail Ride. The ride begins up near Stevens Pass and ends in Idaho. Skeiva has done this twice but this year is will be Adam's turn. All the dogs are happy and so are the cats that Spring has finally arrived and they can be outside enjoying it. Oh and before I forget Spring means spray season, as we all declare war on pear psylla and codling moth. So the next time you see a farmer or rancher please thank them for all they do to supply you with food, fuel, and fiber, as it is no easy task. My recipe this week is for the King of Veggies Asparagus. Hope you will come out and visit our fruit stand and now nursery as we are selling veggie, bedding and herb plants. Enjoy !

Local sculptor settles back in at home

By KALIE DRAGO Record Reporter

Since there is no shortage of creative and artsy people in the valley, Joe Bissonnette who is a retired, long-time sculptor, settles in perfectly. Bissonnette left the valley briefly, but circled back to where he first got his affinity for the art.

"I can get scraps and turn them into sculptures. Sometimes it's pleasurable to peel it (the wood) like an orange and see what it looks like on the interior. It's kind of surprising sometimes," said Bissonnette.

Bissonnette has many local ties to the community in his art. He attended Wenatchee Valley Community College where he started gaining momentum for his career. At the local college is where Bissonnette learned about all the artists hiding in the nooks and crannies of the Valley. He credits Bob Graves for starting an 'art van' which allowed them to load the van with art from local artists for art shows. This was a way for local artists to reach destinations that couldn't afford to make the journey for art shows.

people started "These winning prizes and got some recognition even though they hadn't left the valley. But it put them on the map. The art van was something that made me realize there was a lot more artists in this valley. It said to me there was a lot of culture from Leavenworth, Cashmere and Wenatchee," said Bissonnette.

During his time in college, he traveled to Lake Wenatchee to gather soap stone for carving which ended up playing a role in jump-starting his sculpting path.

"I entered a piece of soap stone in the Anacortes Arts Festival and got the first place in the sculpting division," said Bissonnette. "So things started taking off."

After his career gained traction and he was racking up awards at festivals, he got an invite to show his pieces in an art gallery in downtown Seattle. Some of his art ended up in the hands of a Seattle Super Sonic and Toronto Blue Jay (names couldn't be shared). Bissonnette's art has landed in a variety of locations on Washinton state's map, but he shares that differentiating sculpting materials is what really matters to finding a sweet spot.

"Try to work in as many different types of medium as you can whether that's stone, wood, plastic, whatever. You might be surprised what you end up liking. Don't shut any doors on what materials might be available," said Bissonnette.

Now that Bissonnette has returned to the valley, he's been working on sculptures and travels to Bellingham to display his work. But locally, he re-oils and cleans up his previously sold sculptures that are scattered in homes across the valley.

"It kind of reminds me of something I did 25, 30 years ago. It's kind of fun to remember those people who were really supportive years ago," said Bissonnette.

Do you ever wonder why things are the way they are today? Every day we hear of some incident regarding violence, political scandal or an overt manifestation of immorality. News feeds are inundated with story after story that leaves us shaking our head saying, "what is going on?" And it is only getting worse. But we shouldn't be surprised at the rise of iniquity, after all, Jesus wasn't. In fact, he spoke about it most clearly in the gospels, that what we are experiencing today in 2019 is evidence of a fallen world rushing headlong into the end.

In the gospel of Matthew records, Jesus sitting on the Mount of Olives with his disciples gathered around him. The disciples had spent three years with Jesus and have heard Jesus time and time again, mention things like "the Kingdom of God is at hand" (Mark 1:15) and taught them how to pray saying "Thy Kingdom come, thy will be done, on earth as it is in heaven" (Matt. 6:10). They witnessed Jesus have authority over the wind and waves and even saw Christ raise people from the dead. So now with Jesus sitting, overlooking Jerusalem, they get the nerve to ask the question, "What will be the sign of your coming and of the close of the age?" (Matt 24:3). This question sets up what would be known as prophetically describe

At the close of the age, wars will increase and so will natural disasters (Matt. 24:6-7). There will be a rise in false Christs and false prophets that will seek to lead many astray (Matt. 24:4,11). Think about how many cults and socalled "gurus" have arisen in the last century that has had an influence on a number of people to their peril. There have done street ministry that Persecution of the church will increase and Christians will be delivered over to death (Matt. 24:9). Again, a reality that happens every single day in our world. Christian persecution has far from decreased, in fact, the world grows more hostile toward the gospel every moment. Even in our own country, Christians are losing their careers, maligned within the community as bigots and facing legal prosecution, all because they remain faithful to Christ and the Bible's teachings regarding issues such as gender, marriage, and abortion.

In all the descriptions of rising persecution, false teachers and the uptick of natural disasters, Jesus makes this statement in verse 12 where he says, "And because lawlessness will be increased, the love of many will grow cold".

If there is any definition of the times we live in, it's "lawlessness".

People are living as a law unto themselves. In other words, they reject the commands (the Law) of God and live as if God hasn't told them what to do. They do what is right in their own eyes and by consequence, the world suffers from an absence of love. For example, the murder of innocence, political strife in our nation, the rise of divorce, the deterioration of the family, the constant friction among people and so much more are evidence that "love has grown cold" in our country today.

In one respect, the Beatles were right, "all we need is love" but love as defined by God's standard and not by our own.

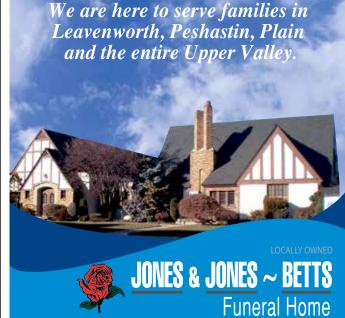

While our world today is suffering from our lawlessness, it is time for the church to move into the position of love. It is when the church loves that it sets itself apart from the rest of the world.

But again, love as God defines it and that is found through the gospel of Jesus. Everything Jesus did and all that he is, the church is to communicate and demonstrate to a lost and dying world.

The church is to demonstrate sacrifice and humility. It is also to communicate truth and yes even give a warning and rebuke against the destructive influence of sin. The church is to love as Christ loved

Love is the answer to the lawlessness we see.

So, let's love like Jesus all the Bulldogs ballclub finish season at districts

Cashmere starting pitcher Brayden Weatherman threw a no-hitter in all seven innings during the Bulldogs' win against Cascade.

By Al Stover

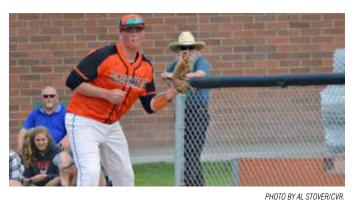

At the beginning of the baseball season, Cashmere Head coach Jeff Carlson said the Bulldogs ballclub would be playing better baseball in May than they would in February – and he was right.

Cashmere wrapped up their season on May 7 with a 6-2 loss against Okanogan in the final loser-out game of the district tournament at JohnsonO'Brien Stadium in Ephrata. The young Bulldog team ends their season with a third-place finish in the Caribou Trail League and a 6-15 overall record. The Bulldogs had a slow start to their 2019 campaign, going 2-8 in their first 10 games. The their first victory came on March 23 in a 7-6 nonleague win over Liberty Bell in their home opener, followed by a 10-0 shutout over Tonasket on April 5.

Cashmere's Hunter McCabe slides into second base.

Cashmere's Cole Scott makes the force out at first base.

However, the Bulldogs game at 1-1.

progressed at the plate and on defense, and went on to win three of their four last games, including a 10-9 victory against Okanogan their back-to-back wins over the Kodiaks.

Against Okanogan, Corey Phillips drove in the game's first run with a base hit to give the Bulldogs an early 1-0 lead in the first inning. Okanogan answered with one run in the bottom of the frame to tie the

The northern Bulldogs took the lead in the third inning after Chase Fingar's RBI double. Okanogan added four insurance runs in the sixth inning. In the seventh inning, Cashmere loaded the bases at their last at bat but only scored a single run off a sacrifice fly from Duke Odenrider.

Brayden Weatherman led the Bulldogs at the plate after he went 2-for-3 at the plate while Phillips was 1-for-3 with an RBI. Brooks Elliot and Cole Scott also collected hits.

Senior pitcher Nathan Sohn took the loss on the mound as he made his final start in a Cashmere uniform. He recorded six strikeouts in his first six innings before Carter Alberts took over in the sixth inning.

"I was really proud of Nathan Sohn, who pitched the best he has all season," Carlson said. "He was very sharp through the first five innings and kept us in the game. We had several opportunities early in the game to score some runs but were unable to take advantage when we had runners in scoring position."

Before their loss to Okanogan, Cashmere earned a 6-0 shutout win against Cascade in a loser-out district tournament game on May 6.

Starting pitcher Weatherman gave the best performance in the biggest game of his high school baseball career, throwing a no-hitter and striking out 11 Kodiak batters in a complete game.

"It was just an excellent performance," Carlson said. "The infield played a good defense behind him. He had a good fast ball and good breaking ball."

Weatherman, who earned the pitching win, was not the only factor in Cashmere's victory. The Bulldogs took a 3-0 lead in the second inning including one run on Elliot's base hit two from Kyler Keogh's squeeze bunt. Cashmere added two insurance runs in the fifth inning and one in the sixth frame.

Elliot went 3-for-4 to lead Cashmere at the plate. Keogh, Weatherman and Corey Phillips all collected one hit each.

It was the second time the Bulldogs faced the Kodiaks in the span of a week. Cashmere ended their regular season on May 2 with a 10-3 win against Cascade. The victory boosted Cashmere's winning streak to three games.

The Bulldogs lose Phillips, Nathan Sohn, Keogh, Bryce Neu, Dylan Thomason, Mason Andruss and Dylan Gross to graduation.

Several starters are expected to return next season, including Weatherman, Alberts and Elliot, who all earned pitching experience this season.

"Our team faced a lot of adversity this season, and just kept fighting," Carlson said. "We were playing our best baseball at the end of the season which was evident by the fact that we won three of our last four games. We have a nice core of young guys coming back next season, but will definitely need to replace a solid group of seniors that have been a big part of our program over the last four years."

Cashmere boys track wins CTL title, girls finish second

By Al Stover

The Cashmere High boys track and field team added some hardware in the form of the Caribou Trail League championship during the conference meet on May 8.

The Bulldog boys claimed the league title with 107 points while the girls took second with 86 points.

Cashmere speedster Carter Ball won the 200 meters in 23.17 seconds and Bryson Pratt took fifth with a time of 24.56. Ball also clinched the 110 meter hurdles in 16.44 and the 300 meter hurdles with a personal record 41.25. Henry Varrelman finished fifth in the 110 meter hurdles (20.04) and sixth in the 300 meter hurdles (48.49).

Ball was not the only Bulldog sprinter to win running events. Rob McManus clinched the top spot in both the 800 meters with a time of 2 10.50 while eight-place Groce finished with a PR of 35-00.50.

The team of Varrelman, Knoll, Guerrero and McManus took fourth in the 4x400 in 3:44.81.

Other finishers for the Cashmere boys include Daniel Carnline (100 meters, 16th, 12.83; 200 meters, 13th, 25.48), Andres Hernandez (shot put, 16th, 30-01), Pheasant (javelin, 11th, 107-03 PR; discus, 14th, 84-05) and Blake Brown (discus, 15th, 80-02).

On the girls' side, Cashmere's Grace Erdmann set a new triple jump record on May 8 with a mark of 35-10.50. Erdmann's new record puts her at third in the 1A Classification rankings.

Erdmann was not the only Cashmere girl who took the top spot in her event. The team of Hailey Larson, Ali Ball, Chloe Diaz and Brianna Hughes clinched the top spot in the 4x100 in 51.12 seconds. Syd Smith, Ali Ball, Carley Diaz, and Chloe Diaz won the 4x200 in 1:46.72, a time that is now No. 2 in the 1A rankings. In the final relay, Brittany Dowell, Smith, Carley Diaz and Chloe Diaz took second in the 4x400 in 4:09.56. Ali Ball took third in the 200 meters in 26.67 and Carley Diaz was fourth with 26.94. Natalie Dart finished sixth with a PR of 29.06.

Smith finished second in the 1,600 meters in 5:32.21. Gabriella Terrell-Lewis (6:02.91), Kylee Foster (6:13.35 PR) and Katie Martin (6:16.29) recorded a 6-8 finish in the event.

In the 3,200 meters, Eleanor Nelson (12:35.64) and Tristan Hoffman (13:42.06) finished second and third, respectively.

CASHMERE VALLEY RECORD · MAY 15, 2019

Lady Bulldogs softball wrap up 2019 season

By Al Stover

The Cashmere High softball team ended their 2019 season on May 11 after a 12-7 loss to Chelan in a loser-out district tournament game.

Down one run in the first inning, Stormi O'Keefe's base hit scored Ella Burts to tie the game at 1-1. The Lady Goats answered with three runs in the second. Cashmere's bats came to life in the fourth frame with an RBI single from Bianca Sevrin, who scored a run moments later. O'Keefe clobbered the ball for a threerun triple to give the Lady Bulldogs a 6-4 lead. Cashmere added another run with Sevrin's base hit in the fifth inning.

Down 7-5, the Lady Goats scored three runs in the sixth inning to take an 8-7 lead, then added four insurance runs in the seventh.

Peyton Brown took the pitching loss after throwing all seven innings.

Head Coach Steve Mongeon felt Cashmere could have competed with Chelan, though he took nothing away from the Lady Goats.

"They're a good team and you have to play well in this league to get this far," Mongeon said. "We hit well and we did a job on defense.

We got a little impatient at the plate. I thought Peyton (Brown) did a good job in the circle and Elizabeth High did a good job catching for her."

Even with the loss at districts, Cashmere (8-12 overall) had a remarkable season.

The Lady Bulldogs came into 2019 with a 21 game losing streak and 17 consecutive losses in league play. The Lady Bulldogs broke their losing streak after a 14-4 win against Quincy on March 28 in the first game of a doubleheader. They would go one to win game two, 16-4.

Their CTL skid game to an end after a 22-2 victory against Omak on April 23, once again in game one of a doubleheader. Cashmere won game two 16-6 and went on to sweep the Lady Pioneers in the series after clinching a 13-3 victory in their third contest. Cashmere would win two more conference games after sweeping Chelan in an April 27 doubleheader, winning 16-12 in game one and 9-8 in game two.

Cashmere finished the regular season at third in the CTL with a 5-7 conference record.

"We didn't win a game last year and this year we won five conference games," Mongeon said. "We started at fifth in the league and finished third. The girls put the time in, did what we asked and got better every time. They're young and inexperienced and they're learning every time out."

Cashmere loses three seniors to graduation: Dani Tritt, Kristlyn Harrington and Lauren Assmusen. The Lady Bulldogs will have a good foundation to build on next season with several battle-tested players returning as sophomores and juniors. Mongeon said the team will have incoming freshmen as well.

"We'll still be young and learning, but we'll be working hard and getting better,' Mongeon added.
