Christmas in Cashmere planned for downtown

The Cashmere Chamber of Commerce invites you to celebrate the season in downtown Cashmere! Join us on Cottage Avenue from 12 p.m. to 3 p.m. on Saturday, December 1 for the Christmas in Cashmere free community event. Just 15 minutes from Leavenworth and Wenatchee, make Cashmere your first stop this holiday season. Enjoy a complimentary warm beverage, holiday treats, goodie bags, kids craft station, festive music from local students and entertainment as you cozy up around a fire pit or take a photo at one of our Christmas themed photo stands with family and friends awaiting the arrival of the big man himself – Santa Claus! Free photos with Santa will be available from 12:30 p.m. to 2:30 p.m. at the fire hall while the library will have special story readings downtown on stage. Cottage Avenue between Aplets Way and Woodring Street will be closed between the hours of 11 a.m. and 4 p.m. Parking for the event will be available at the city lot by Cashmere Baptist Church and in the public lot on Elberta Street. We ask that vehicles be parked off the 100 block of Cottage Avenue during this time. The route will open back up to traffic following the event. Bring the whole family and spend the day in Cashmere! Shop, taste and dine at our local stores, tasting rooms and eateries while enjoying the sights and sounds of the holiday season! This event could not be possible without the support from our community and generous sponsors.

Carlton Complex consumed home in 2014, now Cashmere resident fights ovarian cancer

Former Brewster student Samantha Himmelhaver is battling a cancer diagnosis.

By MIKE MALTAIS

NCW Media

CASHMERE – Accounts have been established on GoFundMe and at Cashmere Valley Bank for an 18-year-old former Brewster High School student who recently underwent surgery for cancer.

Samantha Himmelhaver, whose family relocated to Cashmere after losing their Indian Dan Canyon home in the 2014 Carlton Complex wildfire, was diagnosed earlier this month with ovarian cancer and a few days later underwent surgery at University of Washington Hospital in Seattle.

“The surgeon removed a 12-centimeter tumor, about the size of a Nerf football,” said Samantha’s mother, Judy Himmelhaver.

Judy Himmelhaver spoke with the NCW Media reporter Mike Maltais November 19, after her daughter was released to return home where she will begin six months of chemotherapy as part of her recovery process.

Samantha attended Brewster schools from kindergarten through eighth grade before the fire struck that summer.

Ironically, Samantha was out of the country traveling when the family home was lost.

“That’s the family joke,” said Judy. “She leaves the house and we move,” but when Samantha returned home, “she only had what was left in her suitcase,” Judy said.

Samantha was a 12-year-old seventh grader in Brewster when she was selected by school staff to participate in the People to People International Foundation program created by President Dwight Eisenhower in 1956.

“That summer, she went to Scotland, Wales, Northern Ireland, and England,” said Judy, “and while on that trip she met a girl from Cashmere.”

The following summer, Samantha, then 13, toured Italy, Greece and France as part of the 10-month program. On that second trip, she met a second Cashmere girl.

When the family relocated to Cashmere following the loss of their home, Samantha ended up going to school with the girls she met while traveling.

Samantha is enrolled in the Running Start program and “wants to do something involved with travel,” Judy said. For now, she’s taking cosmetology and welding classes.

Even though their insurance company denied coverage for their fire loss, the family has been able to rebuild a 1,300 square foot, two-story house on a 79’ x 79-foot half-lot with help from a Veterans Administration loan and builder John Port of Real Homes in Wenatchee.

As of this writing the online GoFundMe account has raised almost $3,700 toward a goal of $10,000 as the Himmelhaver family faces some steep expenses ahead. An account has also been established at Cashmere Valley Bank in care of Samantha Himmelhaver.

The family has a medical policy with a $5,000 deductible and the same amount must be paid again in 2019, “then it covers 80 percent,” Judy said.

In preparation for her upcoming chemotherapy, Samantha had her hair cut off last Tuesday.

One of many photos from Samantha’s Facebook site show a girl full of energy and purpose.

Chelan PUD: Watch out for phone scams

CHELAN PUD NEWS RELEASE

Scammers are getting bolder and trying harder to get Chelan PUD customers to believe false claims that their utility bill is past due and service will be disconnected if they don’t pay up right now.

“Scammers just never stop,” said Megan McCarty, from Chelan PUD

Customer Relations. “But by being able to recognize a few warning signs, our customers can avoid becoming victims. We want to make sure they have that information.”

Chelan County PUD, a member of the award-winning Utilities United Against Scams (UUAS), is continuing efforts to remind customers of the tactics scammers use to steal money from customers. Education on how to guard against falling victim to impostor utility scams is strong protection, McCarty said.

Wednesday, Nov. 14, is the third annual Utility Scam Awareness Day, part of a week-long advocacy and awareness campaign focused on exposing the tactics of scammers. Learn more about Chelan PUD anti-scam efforts at chelanpud.org/scams More than 100 U.S. and Canadian electric, water, and natural gas companies (and their respective trade associations), join forces through UUAS. Chelan PUD has participated in the awareness event all three years.

Most utility scams involve criminals posing as electric, gas or water system employees—either in person or over the phone or internet—and demanding immediate payment via cash or reloadable debit cards, supposedly to prevent service disconnection. These unscrupulous criminals can be very convincing, and often target those who are most vulnerable, including the elderly and non-native English speakers. However, with the right information, customers can learn to avoid and report these predatory scams.

Here’s how Chelan PUD customers can protect themselves when targeted by utility scammers:

Rep. Mike Steele, Commissioner-elect
Bob Bugert, comment on election wins

By GARY BÉGIN
Re-elected 12th District State Representative Republican Mike Steele stated, "I am looking forward to working with Keith (Goehner). His experience with the County will help tremendously as he begins his service in the Legislature."

Steele, resident of Chelan, was elected to his second term representing the 12th District in Olympia.
"I am honored to be returning to Olympia to continue working on behalf of the people and communities in the 12th Legislative District. My priorities continue to focus on economic and job growth. I also plan to introduce legislation that helps address issues around workforce housing infrastructure and availability," he said.

"This will be a long session and I look forward to heading back to Olympia and working hard for all of the people of my district," concluded Steele.
He defeated Democrat Valerie Sarratt of Twisp in the November general election by a resounding nearly 2-1 margin garnering 64.84% to Sarratt's 35.19%.
Goehner now joins Steele as 12th District representatives after he easily defeated independent Ann Diamond getting 56.84% to Diamond's 43.16%.

Newly elected Chelan County Commissioner Bob Bugert said regarding his narrow victory on November 6, "I am honored and delighted to have this opportunity to serve the citizens of Chelan County over the next four years. I have many folks to thank for their support, and I now will be focused on garnering the trust of those folks who did not vote for me. As I mentioned repeatedly in my campaign, my goal is to find common ground for many issues that affect the diversity of people in our county."

Bugert went on to say, "While I have years of experience working with county commissioners on a variety of issues, I recognize that I have much homework to do, much to learn, and people to visit with. I look forward to this opportunity."

Bugert defeated restaurateur Shon Smith by less than 500 votes out a total of 26,890 cast.

"Early this December, before I am inducted as a commissioner, I will be attending a three-day training session by the Washington Association of Counties on the specific roles and responsibilities of a county commissioner. The training will have real practical applications, so I am excited to attend this as well," he said.

Regarding becoming an advocate for area tourism, Bugert, in a previous interview said, "I have been working on outdoor recreation for many years. There is a clear and documented economic benefit of recreation -- it brings dollars to our community as people come to boat, fish, bike, hunt, ski, parasail, zipline, golf, and participate in the wide variety of recreational opportunities our county offers. We need to capitalize on the fact we have good access to great recreation!"

"When I led the Land Trust, we completed a $8.7 million campaign to create an extensive trails system in the Wenatchee Foothills. People who come to bike, hike, birdwatch or hunt bring considerable sales tax benefits to our communities," Bugert continued.

"I have also been working with the Greater Wenatchee Chamber of Commerce and Port of Chelan County to strengthen our outdoor recreation economy. This has direct benefits to restaurants, motels, and other services in our communities. I am currently on the Board of Wenatchee Valley TREAD, the newly-formed nonprofit to promote outdoor recreation and tourism in Chelan and Douglas counties. Our work is done with the financial support and partnership of the Chamber of Commerce and Port of Chelan County, and many recreation businesses and nonprofits in the area, said Bugert.

"Our goal is to promote recreation to improve the quality of life and health in the region, and to develop recreation-based jobs as part of a strong and diverse economic mix that supports this region," Bugert said.

"As a County Commissioner, I will continue to work with the chambers of commerce, port districts, and our cities to strengthen that approach. My goal is to bring all stakeholders together (motorized, non-motorized, water, snow and land) to provide the best outdoor recreation experiences in our communities, improving the quality of life for everyone who lives in or visits the region," he concluded.

Bugert is the former executive director of the Chelan-Douglas Land Trust.

Several other winning candidates were solicited for comments after the election results were announced, but as of press deadline only Bugert and Steele have replied.

President Trump a bitter pill to swallow

So President Trump lies and he womanizes and he has not too much class when it comes to showing empathy to storm victims or shooting victims or any victims and he perhaps has a few shady business dealings in his past. Okay, I'll give all of his critics that much.

APPLES TO APPLES
GARY BÉGIN
NCW MEDIA MANAGING EDITOR

Other than that, oh yea, and that nepotism issue, he's actually reversed the tables on the national media and the status quo of Washington, just like his former advisor Steve Bannon wanted him to do.

He prefers to make stuff up out of thin air and not read the teleprompter, but then speaking extemporaneously has not been too kind to his rendition of the truth. Of course his critics, holding on to dear life to their vision of government, history and tradition, have been quick to seize every painful moment of his failures.

They are not to blame as the way things are going in modern America, it is usually difficult to be working free of criticism when your life is being lived under a magnifying glass by the opposition party and the media.

What makes our "Dear Leader" so special is that he apparently doesn't care about most of the criticism as long as he pleases those that brought him to the White House.

before, during and after he was sworn in as the head of the world's greatest country?

It shouldn't be a secret that the New York billionaire is going to nominate conservative judges to SCOTUS, attempt to squash big government and narrowly define union rights.

It's like asking the panther not to kill the deer.

If Trump should only last another year before he is impeached, he has already done some great things from the perspective of the right that Ronald Reagan, both Bushes and Richard Nixon never did: Nominate two conservative judges to SCOTUS and a couple dozen more to various federal benches as well as move the American embassy in Israel to their rightful capital of Jerusalem.

This alone should endear him to orthodox Jews, Catholics and evangelicals worldwide and to anti-abortion adherents throughout America, even if the "choice" movement is predominant. The fact that he isn't pandering to the politically correct among us pleases me and every other frustrated person in the country that for years has elected Republicans and never gotten that much bang for their buck.

Think about this: Trump is a former Democrat, but has freely donated to both sides. Reagan was also a former Democrat and union guy and what did we get regarding Jerusalem or abortion? Nada, zip, zilch.

Ditto for Nixon or the Bushes because they didn't have the sheer political willpower to buck the status quo or upset those sensitive Arabs.

It is about time Americans stop covering to Arab sentiments vis-a-vis Jerusalem and make the world realize we too have the right to protect our Judeo-Christian heritage and the homeland of that heritage.

It is also a major tenant of these two religions that abortion is evil manifest. Therefore protecting the unborn is also de rigueur for any religious conservative and neither Reagan, nor the Bushes or Nixon were able to stop this evil.

Impeach Trump if you will, majority America, but the conservative right will never forget that he had at least two major victories during his "failed" presidency and for that, we will forever be grateful.

Besides that, it is possible that Vice President Mike Pence will have the guts to carry on the Trump legacy, at least the pro-life, pro-Israel part.

Labor market continued to improve in August

ESD NEWS RELEASE

OLYMPIA - Washington's economy added 9,100 jobs in August and the state's seasonally adjusted monthly unemployment rate for August was 4.5 percent according to the Employment Security Department. The August unemployment rate decreased slightly from the July 2018 unemployment rate of 4.6 percent and is the lowest rate for August since 1976.

"The state data continues to demonstrate the positive trends in its economy," said Paul Turek, economist for the department. "The civilian labor force is up in August, and total unemployment is down, both month-to-month and over the year."

The Employment Security Department released the preliminary job estimates from the federal Bureau of Labor Statistics as part of its Monthly Employment Report.

The department also announced that July's previously reported unemployment rate of 4.6 was confirmed. However, July's preliminary estimated gain of 12,400 jobs was revised downward to a gain of 11,800 jobs.

The national unemployment rate remained at 3.9 percent in August. In August 2017, the national unemployment rate was 4.4 percent.

Employment Security paid unemployment insurance benefits to 44,845 people in August.

State's labor force continued to grow

The state's labor force in August was 3,766,000 - an increase of 2,800 people from the previous month. In the Seattle/Bellevue/Everett region, the labor force decreased by 300 over the same period.

From August 2017 through August 2018, the state's labor force grew by 22,800 and the Seattle/Bellevue/Everett region increased by 25,800.

The labor force is the total number of people, both employed and unemployed, over the age of 16.

Nine industry sectors expanded, one remained unchanged and three contracted

Private sector employment increased by 9,300 while the public sector lost 200 jobs in August.

This month's report shows the greatest private job growth occurred in professional & business services up 3,300, construction up 2,900 and leisure & hospitality up 2,200. Other sectors adding jobs were information up 700, wholesale trade and education & health services both up 300, transportation, warehousing & utilities and financial activities both up 200 and other services up 100.

The number of jobs in the mining and logging sector remained constant in August.

Retail trade experienced the biggest reduction in August losing 800 jobs while government lost 200 jobs and manufacturing lost 100 jobs.

Year-over-year growth maintains strong trend

Washington added an estimated 109,400 new jobs from August 2017 through August 2018, not seasonally adjusted. The private sector grew by 3.9 percent, up an estimated 107,200 jobs, while public sector employment increased by 0.4 percent with a net gain of 2,200 jobs.

From August 2017 through August 2018, all thirteen industry sectors added jobs.

The three industry sectors with the largest employment gains year-over-year, not seasonally adjusted, were:

- Professional & business services with 26,300 new jobs;
Construction with 15,300 new jobs and
Education & health services with 5,200 new jobs

Spirit-filled churches

"You could really feel the Spirit move!" they exclaimed as they continued to tell me about a church they had visited.

As they went on to describe the worship band, the songs they played and how my friend continually got "goose bumps" through the sermon, I couldn't help but wonder is that the extent of the Spirit's work in the church? Goosebumps?

The Holy Spirit's activity within the corporate gathering is a mystery to most. I have often heard when asked, "how do you know the Spirit is here?" with this reply, "you just feel it."

Granted there is a certain mystery to the Christian experience and I suppose, some things are more "felt" than "telt".

But feelings can be wrong and manipulated. Given the right musical instrumentation, dimming of lights, perhaps add some visuals and you can get people to have a "spiritual experience" without the Holy Spirit, easy.

What are the criteria to determine whether or not the Holy Spirit is working within a church? Is it because there is a drum set? Stage lights? Fog machine? Or forget any of the modern trappings and go ultra-conservative puritanical atmosphere, is that assured that the Holy Spirit is active?

How we know that the Holy Spirit is moving within a church has very little to do with music, atmosphere or even a plethora of ministries. Keep in mind the church of Sardis was incredibly busy with ministries and yet, Jesus says "you have the reputation of being alive, but you are dead" (Rev. 3:1).

Love is the main evidence that the Spirit is present.

If there is no love within a church then that is a huge red flag that something is amiss or more aptly put, someone (the Spirit) is missing.

Love is the greatest of all Spiritual gifts (1 Cor. 13). When the Holy Spirit comes into a person's life and regenerates them into a new creature, love for Christ is immediately present. To put it another way, the one who does not have the Holy Spirit indwelling them does not love Christ. Likewise, the church who doesn't have the Holy Spirit won't either.

In any corporate gathering that calls themselves a "church", regardless if it is contemporary or old-fashioned, if there is a true sincere affection for Jesus and a desire to know him more, then you can be assured the Holy Spirit is in the midst.

Is there a love for God's Word? As in love for the Spirit-inspired Scriptures to be read, taught and proclaimed. The Holy Spirit doesn't act in contradiction or apart from the Scriptures. When the Bible is preached and treasured, the Spirit works in conjunction with that Word to convict, comfort and transform individuals. The power of the Bible is due to the power of the Spirit and when that is disregarded or cheapened not only is the Spirit grieved (Ephesians 4:30) but also his activity is quenched (1 Thess. 5:19).

Lastly, is there a love for one another? To be sure in some gatherings they have a high view of the Bible and they may even love Jesus but when you look at the relationships within the church, their professions of love for Christ and love for Scriptures are just hollow. 1 John 4:20 "If anyone says, 'I love God', and hates his brother, he is a liar". True love for Christ and the Bible is not disconnected from loving people. Loving people is an evidence that you love both Jesus and the Scriptures and it is an evidence that the Spirit is there.

The church is full of people that are very different. I think of Evergreen Baptist, it is full of people that I would not even consider being close to let alone befriend in the natural sense. We are just too different. Yet the Spirit changes our hearts to love those who are very unlike us. That is why the divisions between gender, ethnicity and economic status are destroyed and fellowship can be had in the church because the same Spirit that resides in the African American doctor is the same Spirit that resides in the Caucasian construction worker (1 Cor. 12:3).

Goosebumps, thrilling worship services or even an inspiring sermon are not evidence of the Holy Spirit in a church. Love is.

Can you say about your church "there is a sweet, sweet spirit in this place" and do you know "that it's the Spirit of the Lord"?

I know I can.

Chelan PUD: No electric rate increase forecast for 2019

CHELAN PUD NEWS RELEASE

Chelan PUD commissioners reviewed the building blocks of the 2019 budget November 19 including no electric rate increase for the 7th year in a row.

Strategic priorities anchor the budget with spending next year following the course set in the 2015 Strategic Plan to focus on "investing in our core assets and people" including:

- Installing the new customer information system and initiating procurement of advanced meters
- Improving electric system reliability with new equipment and building substations

Plans also call for paying down another $41 million in debt and keeping the debt ratio below 35 percent. Continued expansion of the fiber network and day use passes for PUD parks operated by the state remain as part of the Public Power Benefit program in the 2019 budget, said Craig Kunz, strategic financial planning manager.

Kunz said low prices in the wholesale power market are forecast to continue, but show some modest signs of improving. Another key consideration is the uncertainty associated with how much cryptocurrency load will locate in the county if the PUD adopts new, proposed cryptocurrency rates later this year.

An earlier update on load growth noted an estimated 15 percent increase in load coming on line by 2020 including fruit storage, schools, hotels, apartments, the new Diamond Foundry and already-approved cryptocurrency operations. Estimates are 4.5 percent load growth in 2019. About 2 percent is considered "organic" growth, with the balance high density loads or cryptocurrency.

In the earlier update, Andy Wendell, Customer Services director, said the PUD has purchased property for four new substations. In addition, studies have started on how to meet growth and reliability needs in downtown Wenatchee and on the south shore of Lake Chelan.

"Our strategic plan continues to effectively guide our budgeting processes," said General Manager Steve Wright. "Next year, though, we expect to revisit strategic planning as we are operating in a rapidly changing environment."

Upcoming event:
• Dec. 3 - Cryptocurrency rate and 2019 budget resolutions

NCW Media Inc.'s Obituary and Memorial Policy

An obituary is a way for family members to commemorate a loved one's life and to notify the larger community of the deceased.

Obituaries are also used for historical and ancestral data. Memorials are another way of letting the community know about the life and memories of the person who has died. A memorial is different from an obituary. An obituary is usually current while a memorial can be written later.

For publication in the Cashmere Valley Record or The Leavenworth Echo, an obituary or memorial needs to be typed and emailed to editor@leavenworthecho.com no later than 4 p.m. Friday for the next week's issue. Funeral homes and chapels can submit obituaries by noon on Monday, except holidays.

Obituaries are priced per word while the charge for memorial ads are by the column-inch. Cost of the obituary/memorial is due at the time of placement.

Leavenworth native killed in Afghanistan

COURTESY OF STARS AND STRIPES

KABUL, Afghanistan — An Army Ranger assigned to 2nd Battalion, 75th Ranger Regiment was killed in action in Afghanistan on Saturday.

Sgt. Leandro A.S. Jasso, 25, was mortally wounded during a firefight with al-Qaida forces in Nimruz province, military officials in Kabul said Sunday. He was medically evacuated from the combat zone and later died of his injuries at a medical facility in Helmand province, the Pentagon said in a statement.

Jasso, from Leavenworth, was on his third deployment to Afghanistan. He enlisted in the Army in 2012 and became an accomplished soldier, completing the Basic Airborne Course, earning the Combat Infantryman's Badge and the much-sought after Ranger tab, the U.S. Army's Special Operations Command said in a statement.

"Sgt. Jasso was a humble professional who placed the mission first, lived the Ranger Creed and will be deeply missed," said Lt. Col. Rob McChrystal, commander of the 2nd Battalion, 75th Ranger Regiment, as quoted in the statement.

Jasso's death raises to 10 the number of U.S. troops killed in Afghanistan this year. Earlier this month, Maj. Brent Taylor of the Army National Guard was killed during an insider attack in Kabul that also injured another U.S. servicemember.

Most of the roughly 14,000 U.S. troops deployed to Afghanistan assist NATO's training and advising mission, while a smaller amount help with the U.S.'s separate counterterrorism mission that targets groups such as al-Qaida and the local Islamic State affiliate.

"The loss of Sgt. Jasso is felt by his family and loved ones, by all who served with him and by all on this mission to protect our country and our allies," said Gen. Scott Miller, Resolute Support and United States Forces - Afghanistan commanding general.

About 2,400 American military personnel have been killed since the war in Afghanistan began in 2001 — fewer than 1,900 of them were killed in combat.

Sunday marked the 17-year anniversary of the first American combat death, Johnny Micheal Spann, a Marine veteran working for the CIA who was killed in a bloody prisoner uprising at Qali-Jangi fortress in Mazar-e-Sharif during the first weeks of the war.

Public invited to comment on 4-year program of WSDOT projects

WSDOT accepting public input on the draft Statewide Transportation Improvement Program from Nov. 21 to Dec. 20

OLYMPIA — Comments are now being accepted on a proposed four-year program of multimodal improvement projects to the state and local transportation system.

The Washington State Department of Transportation is asking for public review and comment on the draft 2019-2022 Statewide Transportation Improvement Program (STIP). More than 1,500 statewide transportation improvement projects using $3.9 billion in federal funds are included in the 2019-22 STIP. Comments will be accepted through Thursday, Dec. 20.

The program's 2019-22 projects, available online, are compiled from local transportation programs, metropolitan and regional transportation improvement programs (TIPs) and have been identified through state, metropolitan, regional, tribal and local planning processes. These are the highest priority for the available funding to preserve and improve the state's transportation network.

About the STIP

The STIP is a four-year, fiscally constrained, prioritized multimodal transportation program of state, local, tribal, and public transportation (transit) projects. The STIP includes highways, streets, roads, railroads, transit-hubs, park-and-ride lots, bridges, sidewalks, bike lanes, ferry terminals, trails and safety projects funded with federal, state, tribal and local revenue sources. Federally funded projects must be included in the STIP before Federal Highway Administration or Federal Transit Administration can authorize the expenditure of federal funds.

The STIP is developed annually by WSDOT in coordination with statewide metropolitan and rural transportation planning organizations. This collaborative effort ensures projects are consistent with local, regional and state long-range plans. Several projects may carry over as they move from design, to permitting and, finally, to construction. Some county projects are not included in the draft STIP because state law requires counties to complete their transportation programs by the end of the year; those projects are amended into the final STIP in January.

The current 2018-21 STIP can be viewed online and a similar, searchable database of the 2019-22 STIP will be created in early 2019, following FHWA and FTA approval.

How to comment

The public comment period for the draft STIP is Wednesday, Nov. 21, to 5 p.m. on Thursday, Dec. 20. Written comments can be sent to: Nancy Huntley, WSDOT, P.O. Box 47390, Olympia, WA 98504-7390, email: Huntlen@wsdot.wa.gov, or by fax at 360-705-6822.

The comment period is the final step of the community engagement process that began locally. Comments received will be sent to the local or regional planning organization for their consideration.

IRS reminds employers, business owners of Jan. 31 filing deadline for wage statements, independent contractor forms

WASHINGTON — The Internal Revenue Service today reminded employers and other businesses that Jan. 31 remains the filing deadline for wage statements and independent contractor forms.

The Protecting Americans from Tax Hikes (PATH) Act of 2015 started a requirement for employers to file their copies of Form W-2, Wage and Tax Statement, and Form W-3, Transmittal of Wage and Tax Statements, with the Social Security Administration by Jan. 31. Certain Forms 1099-MISC, Miscellaneous Income, filed with the IRS to report non-employee compensation to independent contractors are also due at this time. Such payments are reported in box 7 of this form.

The IRS can more efficiently verify income that individuals report on their tax returns because of the Jan. 31 deadline; this helps prevent fraud. File these forms correctly and timely to avoid penalties. IRS e-file is the quickest, most accurate and convenient way to file these forms.

Pointers to help filers prepare

Employers should verify employees' information. This includes names, addresses, and Social Security or individual taxpayer identification numbers. They should also ensure their company's account information is current and active with the Social Security Administration before January. If paper Forms W-2 are needed, they should be ordered early.

Automatic extensions of time to file Forms W-2 are not available. The IRS will only grant extensions for very specific reasons. Details can be found on the instructions for Form 8809, Application for Time to File Information Returns.

For more information, read the instructions for Forms W-2 & W-3 and the Information Return Penalties page at IRS.gov.

Mission Ridge opened last Friday

In a news release sent to the media last week, Mission Ridge Ski & Board Resort announced its season opener last Friday, November 23. "It has been a fall of light natural snowfall but thanks to Mission's extensive snowmaking infrastructure and world class crew, an opening by Thanksgiving weekend is possible for the sixth time in seven years," stated MR management.

Firefighter and Emergency Personnel Appreciation: To say thank you for their service, Mission Ridge will be honoring Firefighters, EMTs, and Law Enforcement professionals by providing free skiing and riding from opening day through the third weekend in December.

"We welcome both active duty emergency responders and 2018 summer seasonal personnel to enjoy time on the mountain," concluded the statement.

About Mission Ridge
Mission Ridge is located in North Central Washington, 12 miles south of Wenatchee. The ski area has the second highest base area in the state at 4,570 feet, and more than 36 runs spread over 2,000 acres and 2,250 feet of vertical. More information about the mountain is available at missionridge.com.

Be the Squeakly Wheel

Sally is a bubbly, 75-year-old retired teacher and breast cancer survivor who loves to stay active. She lives in a lovely over 55 subdivision and looks forward to her daily morning walks. She walks 3 miles every day, rain or shine. A couple of months ago, Sally's doctor told her that she was concerned about Sally's "bad cholesterol" and wanted to her to start taking a prescription medicine called Lipitor® (atorvastatin). Less than a week after starting her new medicine, Sally noticed cramps in her legs that woke her up at night, which she had never experienced before. A few days later, her thigh muscles started to ache, eventually limiting her to half of her usual walking distance and bothering her the rest of the day, too. Chatting with her on the phone, I asked how things were going with her new medicine. "I'm not sure if it's a coincidence or not, but I've been having these muscle aches in the daytime and leg cramps that wake me up at night. I always had some muscle soreness while taking my breast cancer medicine, but never like this." "Are you still able to do your morning walks?" "Barely. I'm too stubborn to quit, but am only able to walk half my usual distance. Do you think it might be the new medicine?" "How long were you on the new medicine before you noticed the soreness in your legs?" "Oh, about a week." I explained,

"That medicine won't help you much if it makes you less physically active." "Should I just stop it?" "Oh no! DON'T stop it abruptly. You need to tell your doctor exactly what's going on, right away." "But, it took me MONTHS to get in to see her."

"You don't have to make an appointment with her to tell her about this. Just call the office and tell them exactly what you just told me, and when you starting noticing it. Sally, if a doctor puts you on a new medicine and they don't hear otherwise, they'll assume that everything is going fine. YOU have to be a "squeaky wheel" and tell them if you're having a problem." When she did that, her doctor advised her to cut the dose in half and see if her muscle aches and cramps got any better. I checked in with her a couple of weeks later, and she reported that she didn't notice any improvement on half the dose. "I'm stubborn," she told me. "I'm making myself walk every day, even though I can't do as much." "Tell your doctor it isn't getting any better. She's not a mind reader!" Sally's doctor then told her to stop the medicine completely and see what happened. Once she'd been off of it for 3 weeks, she finally stopped waking up with muscle cramps and her muscle pain decreased every week. Eventually she could walk her full 3 miles in the morning again. What if Sally had accepted her muscle aches as "just getting older" and stopped walking altogether? Instead of helping her AVOID a future heart attack or stroke, taking that medicine would have INCREASED her risk, because it caused her problems that significantly DECREASED her activity level.

Here Are 5 Ways to Prevent A Medicine from Harming You:
1. Whenever you start a new medicine, pay attention to any changes. A symptom diary is a great help whenever you start any new treatment so you don't rely just on your memory when tracking any changes, good or bad.
2. Take responsibility for communicating with your doctor if you start having problems that you suspect might be related to your new medicine. Doctors are not mind readers and they're very busy. If they don't know about it, they can't help you!
3. Call your doctor's office to report your concerns. You don't have to see the doctor face to face to do this. A phone call to a nurse or message through your patient portal should get this vital information to your doctor quickly.
4. If your doctor's office is closed, your pharmacy is another resource. They can advise you whether you should keep taking it or hold off until your doctor can contact you with a plan.

5. Don't stop a medicine on your own unless you're having serious problems like shortness of breath or a rash. Working with your doctor on this helps give you the best care possible.
Be a "Squeaky Wheel"! Tell your doctor if you're having problems with your medicine, so they can help you.

Prepare for winter driving before snow, ice arrive

Studded tires allowed statewide Nov. 1 - March 31
WSDOT NEWS RELEASE

OLYMPIA - The falling leaves and colder weather can mean only one thing - snow and ice are just around the corner. With the changing seasons, now is the perfect time for travelers to shift their focus towards winter driving.

The Washington State Department of Transportation urges all travelers to start preparing themselves and their vehicles well before the threat of snow and ice kicks into high gear. Drivers can check out WSDOT's winter driving web page wsdot.com/winter/ for tips and information. WSDOT also asks travelers to always "know before you go" and get the most up-to-date roadway information before heading out.

"Our crews are ready for winter and work hard to keep roads clear of snow and ice," said WSDOT Maintenance Operations Manager James Morin.

"But we also need the public's help in being prepared for winter weather. Most of the pass closures we see are due to spin outs or crashes from a vehicle traveling too fast or not having proper winter driving equipment."

To check conditions and prepare for adverse weather:

- Download the WSDOT mobile app <<https://www.wsdot.wa.gov/traffic/seattle/products/>>.
- Follow WSDOT's regional and pass accounts on Twitter wsdot.wa.gov/Inform/twitter.htm>, the agency's Facebook facebook.com/WSDOT/> site and online travel alerts wsdot.com/traffic/trafficalerts/>.
- Sign up service.govdelivery.com/accounts/WADOT/subscriber/new> for email and/or text updates about road conditions - including Snoqualmie Pass delay text alerts. wsdotblog.blogspot.com/2016/09/frequent-i-90-traveler-get-text-updates.html>

Alternatives to chains
Some vehicle manufacturers recommend against the use of tire chains for certain models - but that doesn't exempt travelers from state laws about extra traction devices. The Washington State Patrol provides a list of approved, alternative-traction devices wsp.wa.gov/traveler/images/traction/alt_traction_device.pdf> (pdf 133 kb) that meet state chains and traction tires requirements.

All travelers are reminded to carry chains whenever crossing mountain passes to be prepared for changing weather conditions and potentially avoid a costly ticket. Failure to obey a tire chains sign can mean a ticket of up to $500. Special chain enforcement patrols will be keeping an eye on mountain passes this winter.

Studded tires
By law, studded tires are legal for use in Washington state only from Nov. 1 through March 31. This applies to all vehicles in Washington, even those traveling from other states.

WSDOT estimates studded tires wsdot.wa.gov/Business/MaterialsLab/Pavements/Default.htm> cause between $20 million and $29 million in pavement damage to state-owned asphalt and concrete roadways each year. Motorists are encouraged to visit a tire dealer to learn more about stud-free, winter tread traction tires. These type of tires are different than all-season tires, are legal year-round and do not cause the same roadway damage as studded tires. More information about studded-tire restrictions and requirements can be found in the FAQ wsp.wa.gov/driver/vehicle-equipment-requirements/> on the WSP website.

UAS and its member companies have helped to shut down more than 2,200 Toll-Free Numbers used against utility customers by scammers. The group recently was awarded the Toll-Free Industry's Fraud Fighter Award in recognition of its advocacy and awareness campaign to stop scams that target electric, water, and natural gas company customers.

When scam calls are reported to Chelan PUD, the utility shares that information right away, in English and Spanish, on social media (Facebook, Twitter and Instagram) and the home page of the utility's website, chelanpud.org.

With the incoming snowy weather and incoming herd of tourists, it's clear that is about that time again for the city of Leavenworth to host their annual three weekend Christmas Lighting Festival. Transitioning out of the usual Bavarian Village into a Village of Lights, the city celebrates the upcoming holiday season. Starting Friday, November 30 and lasting until Sunday, December 16, there will be plenty of time to wander downtown and participate with both locals, outsiders and St. Nickolaus.

Starting Friday evening, despite no Lighting Ceremony, the half a million lights are all on to welcome St. Nickolaus as he heads down to the Front St. Gazebo to share the story of his legacy and greet everyone. Saturday and Sundays, noon will be the arrival of Santa and various holiday characters trailing behind him at the Festhalle. The Gazebo will host musical performances with sledding inn Front Street Park and carolers roaming around - all leading up to the lighting ceremony.

The annual event has little variation from previous years except that the lighting ceremony will begin at 4:45 rather than 4:30. It will be spread between the weekends of November 30, December 1-2, 7-9, 14-16.

While little has changed in the traditional schedule of this immensely popular event, the Chamber of Commerce, City of Leavenworth and Chelan County Sheriff's department have made significant changes to their plans for controlling traffic (See story in the Nov. 2 edition of the Echo or on line at leavenworth.echo.com).
