Cashmere City Council votes 'no' to tax increase

By Gary Bégin

On Monday, Oct. 22, the Cashmere City Council had the opportunity to raise property taxes by one percent without the need for a voter referendum on the subject because state law allows for such an increase on an annual basis.

According to the minutes from that night, the one percent increase would have yielded $6,194 to add to the city coffers.

Dave Erickson Councilor introduced ordinance No. 1270 authorizing the general property tax levy, which was seconded by Councilor Kameon Smith, but Councilors Derrick Pratt, Dan Scott and Chris Carlson voted against the measure, thus defeating it.

Carlson then introduced his version of the bill authorizing a zero percent increase that was seconded by Councilor Pratt, which passed four votes to one. The vote against was cast by Erickson.

One of the reasons for the desired tax increase was the fact that the law enforcement contract with the Chelan County Sheriff's Office is increasing $16,000 in 2019. On top of that expected expense was a three percent increase in the 2018 public works services department. The estimated future revenues are not expected to "keep pace" with continued public works service increases, according to the meeting notes as shown on the city website.

Had the council voted in favor of the increase, but to not implement the one percent increase in 2019, the funds could have been "banked" and used at a future time.

All Cashmere city council members were asked to comment on the tax increase defeat, but as of press deadline for this edition, there has been no response.

In other council news:

The 2019 Prosecution Service Agreement increase was unanimously agreed to raising the fee per case from $225 to $250.

Replacement of the HVAC system at city hall was also unanimously agreed to.

Mayor Jim Fletcher and Councilor Scott reported on the progress of the countywide LED streetlight project with Fletcher explaining the work he is doing defining staff work from consultant

The Cashmere City Council meets the second and fourth Monday of each month at 101 Woodring Street starting at 6 p.m.

Cashmere's Phil Blackburn to serve as 1st vice chair on Washington Food Industry Board

OLYMPIA — The Washington Food Industry Association (WFIA) has named Dave Willis, co-president of Willis Marketing, Inc. in Gig Harbor, to serve as the association's Chairman of the Board in 2018-19.

Willis succeeds Paul Kapioski, owner of West Seattle Thriftway in Seattle, who has served in that role this past year. The association's new First Vice Chair, PND Mercato's Phil Blackburn of Cashmere, will follow Willis at the conclusion of his term

"This board continues to amaze and impress me with its dedication and leadership," said Jan Gee, president and CEO of the WFIA. "Dave and Phil are excellent leaders who will continue to build on our successes and guide us through what continues to be a challenging legislative and regulatory environment. Their insights will prove valuable as we evaluate policy issues that affect our industry, customers, and family food costs," she added.

First Vice Chair Phil Blackburn started in the business at 16, carrying out groceries. He worked through high school, then through college. Phil worked in various management positions for 24 years before purchasing his first two stores in 2006. He currently serves as a board member for Northwest Grocers and is a member of the National Retail Advisory Committee

The 29-member WFIA Board has supervision, control, and direction of the affairs of the association, and determines its policies. The board actively defends WFIA purposes and has discretion in the disbursements of its funds, adopting rules and regulations for the conduct of its business.

About the Washington Food Industry Association The Washington Food Industry Association promotes, supports, and protects businesses in the food, beverage, and convenience industry. Founded in 1899, the WFIA represents the state's independent grocers, convenience stores, and suppliers. Membership includes all levels of the food and beverage distribution industry who collaborate to promote the principles of free enterprise to ensure a vigorous, competitive, and economically healthy food industry.

West Cashmere bridge project, other Chelan priorities

Projects throughout the NCW Media territory, including Leavenworth, Chelan, Cashmere, and Okanogan County. While the communities are separate, I think the individual updates I provided with a "regional look" will be helpful to all your readers because our transportation system is interconnected and not necessarily community specific: Transportation continues to be one of my top priorities as your senator because its infrastructure and operations are critical to our area's economic growth and quality of life. Not only is having an efficient and effective transportation system important for getting our crops to market, it is a safety issue and becoming a challenge for our everyday commutes.

Our region is also uniquely positioned – because of our clean and abundant hydropower – to continue to explore opportunities for vehicle electrification. As manufacturing technology continues to advance with electric vehicles, our area could greatly benefit from a less expensive, cleaner, and local fuel source. Here is a look at some of the transportation priorities in our communities:

Pangborn Memorial Airport is a regional resource

Keeping Pangborn Memorial

Airport operating efficiently and funded properly is a top priority. Air travel at Pangborn is important for firefighting, commercial flights, and economic growth. Special thanks to the Port of Chelan County for initiating a much-needed local conversation about the long-term viability of Pangborn as a regional resource and to elected officials in both counties for their efforts to consider a more fair and sustainable airport funding arrangement.

New projects sought for Chelan and Douglas counties

I recently attended meetings of the Chelan-Douglas Transportation Council. This group is comprised of local elected officials and other transportation leaders throughout Chelan and Douglas counties. The council emphasized the importance of maintenance and preservation of our existing transportation system and focused on these four new projects:

• McKittrick Street Railroad Underpass ($25 million). This project would create a muchneeded underpass at the railroad crossing near McKittrick Street in north Wenatchee. The proposed underpass ranked No. 2 statewide among priority railroad

grade separation projects. The right of way has already been acquired with local funds, allowing design and construction to begin once funding is secured.

• U.S. 2/97 Wenatchi Landing Interchange ($21 million). Located in Douglas County near the Olds Station Bridge, this project would include construction of an interchange with arterial street connections that would function as the east half of the interchange. It would create highway access to a 300-plus-acre site within the East Wenatchee Urban Growth Area to facilitate development.

• South Wenatchee Apple Capital Loop Trail Connection ($4 million). The project would construct a railroad overpass to establish a pedestrian/bicycle connection to the Apple Capital Loop Trail for South Wenatchee neighborhoods. This bridge helps provide a connection between these neighborhoods and our loop trail, providing safe access over the railroad.

Confluence Parkway ($113 million). To mitigate the growing traffic challenges in North Wenatchee near the Wenatchee River, this project proposes the construction of a new roadway and bridge to the U.S. 2/97 Interchange.

The project also would realign the Apple Capital Loop Trail and build railroad grade separation at the SR 285 connection.

West Cashmere Bridge project advances

Chelan County and Cashmere leaders worked extremely hard to assemble funding for a new bridge across US 2 to replace the 85 year-old Goodwin Bridge. I was very proud to team up with them in 2017 to help secure a much-needed $2 million contribution toward bridge and later a $3 million state freight mobility grant. The bridge's weight and height restrictions force heaving trucks through downtown Cashmere. With full funding now secured, Chelan County will be moving ahead with construction.

Leavenworth parking and traffic flow

Leavenworth officials are working very hard to study options for downtown parking to help locals and tourists find parking and transition off US 2 to keep traffic flowing. The state has also provided a grant to Link Transit to assist with the Leavenworth Park and Ride next to Safeway. Traffic congestion on US 2 during festival weekends continues to be a challenge for this corridor.

Chelan improves its Woodin Avenue Bridge

Chelan's iconic Woodin Avenue Bridge is undergoing much-needed renovations, including safety improvements, utility upgrades, bike lanes and sidewalk expansion. The bridge is being converted to one-way traffic and the state provided grants to assist with mitigation and flow along State Route 150 through the city. I'm thankful for the leadership shown by Chelan's mayor, council, and community to support this important project.

in need of repair and replacement

Methow Valley bridges

In addition to the priorities in Chelan and Douglas counties, there are transportation needs in Okanogan County. Multiple bridges along SR 153 between Pateros and Twisp are in need of repair and replacement. In total, 11 bridges constructed between 1933 and 1950 are deteriorating. Replacement of all the bridges is estimated to cost nearly $100 million. Repairs are occurring to some bridges.

Two-year transportation budgets and periodic "revenue/gas tax" proposals

The state transportation budget provides funding for operations of our Department of Transportation, Licensing, and State Patrol. It also appropriates funds for maintenance, preservation, and construction projects based on predetermined schedules. Occasionally, the twoyear transportation budgets include opportunities to add smaller-scale items. However, for larger-scale appropriations, legislative increases in gas taxes and vehicle fees provide the corresponding revenue that funds new, major state transportation projects.

If the Legislature considers a revenue package for new projects in the upcoming session, it is important that our region is prepared to share our transportation priorities and discuss whether we need to move forward on any new projects at this time. As your state senator, I welcome your thoughts and opinions on transportation and other important issues in our region.

Brad Hawkins is our 12th District state senator representing North Central Washington in Olympia. Contact info: 360-786-7622 or brad.hawkins@leg. wa.gov.

The proposed $21 million Wenatchi Landing Interchange, to be located in Douglas County near the Olds Station Bridge, is among the top priorities for the Chelan-Douglas Transportation Council.

The City of Wenatchee and regional partners are seeking funding for the $113 million "Confluence Parkway" project to relieve growing traffic congestion and to provide secondary access through North Wenatchee.

Time to consider our blessings

As families gather for the Thanksgiving Holiday they often take time to count their blessings. It is a wonderful tradition that we all take too little time to truly consider.

This year I find it is a tradition that deserves our special attention as we consider the passionate arguments that have pushed us to see each other across a chasm of misunderstanding.

So, here goes with what I am thankful for in 2018

First, I am thankful for friends. In our modern age defining who is a true friend is something we should all ponder. Here is something I found online:

Finally, I am blessed to be an American. To live in the greatest country in the history of this planet. A country that is filled with generous and caring people that have faced their differences and worked together to make the world a better place.

Let's all resolve to work to be better friends in the year ahead. Let's resolve to reject the politics of personal destruction and fear

It's not about the midterms

Although President Trump recently chalked up the weak stock market to the result of the midterms and threat of "Presidential harassment" Democrats, I think that's old news. Had the Democrats surprisingly won both the House and the Senate, perhaps the markets would have reacted. However, for months, the expectation was that the Democrats would win the House and we'd be dealing with at least two years

VOICES By BRAD BLACKBURN

harassment." However, I don't think the stock market cares. After all, the stock market soared under Obama, who dealt with plenty of harassment himself. Even if it gets as ugly as an impeachment, I'm not sure why that would matter to the stock market in any what Trump is

significant way. So, if it's not the midterms giving the stock market heartache, what is it? The answer is that it's a lot of little things: Interest rates and the dollar are rising, the trade war is lingering, and inflation has shown signs of picking up. Outside of America, Europe is still dealing with Brexit, and Chinese economic growth is slowing. By themselves, none of those things are incredibly scary. However, they add up to a significant headwind for the stock market.

Another important layer to this is that our economy probably peaked in the 2nd quarter when our GDP reached 4.2%. In the 3rd quarter, it fell to 3.5%, and estimates for the 4th quarter are closer to 2.8%. That is still a strong economy, but the best times appear to be behind us. Whatever stimulus we got from the tax cut is fading, and for the next couple years at least, our government will probably do more damage than good. So, I think the markets are looking ahead, and seeing very little to get excited about.

Of course, none of this means we're headed for a crash. The stock market is essentially flat for the year, and we are far away from a recession. However, even if we fall into a recession sometime soon, it's important to remember that not every recession becomes a disaster for the stock market. I worry that recent experiences have trained investors to be constantly looking for the next major crisis. That's because over the last 20 years, we've seen two recessions - and both times, the stock market crashed. However, those were two of the worst stock markets in history. It won't get that bad every time. Of course, that doesn't mean you should be eager for our next recession. But take solace that it won't necessarily be a major

Dryden Community Church extends dinner invite to community

By Kalie Drago

Echo Reporter

Pass the rolls, pay a compliment about the cranberry sauce and have a slice of turkey with a neighbor - the Dryden Community Church makes this possible every year by hosting a free Thanksgiving dinner. The invitation extends beyond church members, but to the local communities for those who want to pile in and pile up their plate. The holiday season can make the wallet a little tighter, Church doesn't let that prevent those from feasting. Starting at 12 p.m., bring only an appetite and maybe a friend to join the church for dinner.

Thanksgiving's narrative is based on coming together with those around and giving thanks, which the Dryden Community Church has embraced since around 20 years started by Jean Dennis, according to church member Marie Goehner.

community and locals to get together."

However, it's not just for Dryden residents or just neighboring communities that are welcome at the free lunch. According to Goehner, the invite extends far and wide.

"We've had passersby that have seen the sign and turned around to come join us for the dinner," said Goehner. "We've had a Korean couple and some members and occasionally they've had outside sources donate the turkeys. The meal begins at noon and those who want to trickle in have until 4 p.m. to feast. Tug on loose pants

For Leavenworth residents that want to stay close to home, the Leavenworth Community United Methodist Church will also be hosting a free, home cooked Thanksgiving meal and fellowship from 2 p.m. until 4 p.m.

Being Thankful for God

A WALK

WITH

Turkey, stuffing, football, family are all words that are commonly associated with Thanksgiving. It is the one time (maybe with the exception of Christmas) where we have the excuse to feast till our heart's content or at least until our stomachs are painfully full.

PASTOR What is so special JOHN about this traditional American holiday? SMITH Americans are the only people on the face of the planet to observe the fourth Thursday in November as something special. But why? This holiday is not so much about turkey or pumpkin pie rather it is about God stirring a people to do something extraordinary. In the year 1620, the crew and passengers of the Mayflower arrived on the shores of the "New World" and along with them their hopes, dreams and an unyielding faith in the God of the Bible. The events that led up to this departure from Europe could be summarized as religious persecution. The Pilgrims were Separatists-individuals who were convinced that the Church of England had violated Biblical precepts and therefore they needed to separate themselves from it.

Pilgrims These were influenced heavily by the doctrines of the Reformation, most notably Sola Scripturathe Scriptures alone are the infallible and sufficient standard for all things concerning faith and practice. This high view of the Bible put them at odds with both the religious leaders and the monarchy, making them outlaws and societal outcasts.

Yet it was not only for safety's sake that motivated the Pilgrims to leave Europe rather it was destiny. God had providentially called them to bring God's word to bear on every sphere of life and that this "new society" on the "New World" would be used, as the Pilgrim William Bradford would say, for "the propagating and the advancement of the gospel of the Kingdom of Christ in those remote parts of the world". The Pilgrims did not see themselves as helpless religious refugees but Christian missionaries to advance the Kingdom of God through the hearts of people. The story behind Thanksgiving is a story about Christian missions and that isn't something you hear about in secular public education. The 102 people that attended the first Thanksgiving feast were indeed thankful for the food but more importantly they were thankful for God's activity in their lives. Psalm 9:1 reads, "I will give thanks to the LORD with my whole heart; I will recount all of your wonderful deeds." How many wonderful deeds has God done in your life? More than enough to give thanks. It is true that the year leading up to Thanksgiving has been full of trial and heartache for many. Perhaps some have lost jobs, or even worse have lost family members. This might be the first year where parent or grandparent is not going to be there which makes this Thanksgiving especially

Yet even through difficulty and suffering God does not remain inactive. Much like God was leading, empowering and strengthening the Pilgrims during their difficult journey to and their disastrous first winter at Plymouth Bay colony, that same God will do and is doing the exact same thing for you. Every day God's sustaining grace has been exhibited in vour life. From the Sun that shines upon this community, to the air that is in your lungs, to the most striking and profound display of God giving His Son, Jesus, to save sinners are all examples of why we should be

As we enter into the Thanksgiving holiday, let us remember that Thanksgiving is ultimately about God and be thankful for Him and his wondrous deeds.

LST vehicle

Leavenworth Summer Theater is looking for winter seasonal parking for the LST truck and/or the LST handicapped van we use at the Ski Hill. This could be covered parking in the Leavenworth/ Lake Wenatchee/Cashmere area - a carport type situation would be fine; a large garage is certainly wonderful but unexpected - or uncovered parking if down valley in the Wenatchee area where snow load is not such an issue. The truck is 10'4" tall and 24' long. The van is 9' tall and 26' long. Please call 548.7324 with any options. (er 47.48)

"The Most Wonderful Time of the Year!"

The Leavenworth Village

Voices will perform its annual "Christmas in the Mountains" concert series on Friday, Nov. 30 and Friday, Dec. 7 at 7:30 p.m., and Sunday, Dec. 9 at 1:00 p.m. at the Leavenworth Church of the Nazarene. The choir will perform traditional and sacred holiday favorites that will delight all ages. Tickets may be purchased in advance by credit card at the Leavenworth Chamber of Commerce, 548-5807, cash or check at the door. Tickets are $20 for an individual and $50 for a family of four (two adults and two children). Children five years and older are welcome to attend. #### Red Barn Speakers Series

Join the Wenatchee River Institute's Red Barn speakers series on Wednesday, November 28 for Rafting Through Cancer on the River of No Return, essay by author Jayson Ringel, was included in the recently released anthology, Why We Boat: Running Rivers On Our Own. Ringel reflects with humor and tenderness on adventures and misadventures rafting solo through Idaho's Frank Church Wilderness, confronting and overcoming cancer. Ringel moved as the river moved, drifting and flowing, reflecting and surviving. (er47)

Protonix® for nearly 10 years. When I try to go off of it, my heartburn symptoms come back. Am I stuck taking this forever?

Every time you eat or drink, your body responds by releasing digestive juices into your stomach and small intestine. A miniature pump called a proton pump sends gastric acid into your stomach to assist with digestion. Protonix® belongs to a group of medicines called proton pump inhibitors, which act by blocking the action of this pump to significantly reduce the acidity in our stomach.

Proton pump inhibitors (PPIs) are the most effective medicines we have for treating excessive stomach acid secretion and are very good at helping stomach ulcers heal. PPIs can even help prevent stomach ulcers when certain medicines are taken together, like ibuprofen and blood thinners.

Over twenty years ago when I was taking the very last capsule of an antibiotic called doxycycline it stuck sideways in my esophagus, and as it dissolved it created an ulcer, causing pain every time I swallowed. I was given a PPI called omeprazole (Prilosec®), which healed the ulcer.

Many people have just continued taking their PPI even after their ulcers have healed, even for decades. There is now clear evidence that having decreased stomach acid can cause problems over time. Absorption of vitamin B12, iron, calcium and magnesium depend on stomach acid and people who take PPIs longer than a few months are at risk of becoming deficient in these nutrients. PPIs are also associated with increased bone fractures in men and women, possibly because lower stomach acid levels can decrease your ability to absorb calcium from food.

SHERIFF, FIRE & EMS

Stomach acid is also one of the most important defenses our body has against foreign organisms. Taking a PPI chronically can lead to increased infections, especially from a particular organism that causes antibiotic-associated diarrhea called Clostridium

You are not alone in having rebound symptoms of heartburn when trying to stop your PPI. Anywhere from 60-90% of folks who have been taking a PPI for at least 3 months will notice some symptoms of stomach burning if they stop taking it abruptly.

Having your symptoms come back when you stop your Protonix® doesn't necessarily mean you'll need to take it for the rest of your life. If you doctor has no objections, you can eventually get off the PPI by tapering the dose down over several months.

How to Successfully Stop Taking a Proton Pump Inhibitor:

1. For best results. don't stop cold turkey! Stopping abruptly can trigger rebound acidity in your stomach, causing heartburn and convincing you that you really can't do without a PPI. 2. Taper the dose of vour PPI down very slowly to give yourself the best chance of success. If you are taking the medicine twice a day, cut out the evening dose and try taking it only in the morning. If trying this causes you heartburn, don't despair. Go back to your full dose for a week, then try again, but try taking only ½ tablet in the evening and your full dose in the morning. Try that for at least a week before lowering the dose again.

3. One of my favorite tapering regimens is to only lower the dose on 1 dose per day, for 1 day per week, every week for 7 weeks. Once you taper the dose by 1 day per week over 7 weeks, you should be at a new lower dose through the 8th week. If you are not having any heartburn at this point, you can resume the taper. For example, if you are now taking ½ tablet in the evening and 1 tablet in the morning, your next step would be repeating the process over the next 7 weeks, ending up at either 1 tablet daily or ½ tablet twice daily.

4. If you experience heartburn as you try to taper, you can add on a different type of acid blocking agent,

An obituary is a way for family members to commemorate a loved one's life and to notify the larger community of the deceased.

Obituaries are also used for historical and ancestral data. Memorials are another way of letting the community know about the life and memories of the person who has died. A memorial is different from an obituary. An obituary is usually current while a memorial can be written later.

For publication in the Cashmere Valley Record or The Leavenworth Echo, an obituary or memorial needs to be typed and emailed to editor@leavenworthecho.com no later than 4 p.m. Friday for the next week's issue. Funeral homes and chapels can submit obituaries by noon on Monday, except holidays.

Obituaries are priced per word while the charge for memorial ads are by the column-inch. Cost of the obituary/ memorial is due at the time of placement.
