BREWSTER – Members of American Legion Columbia Post 97 will honor Memorial Day, with observances at six locations from Pateros to Packwood from 9 a.m. to noon on Monday, May 27.

Area Three Commander Denny Pittman said services are scheduled at the following locations and times:

9 a.m., Pateros Cemetery; 9:30 a.m. Bridge Street Bridge in Brewster; 10 a.m. Packwood Memorial Cemetery (Dyer Hill); 11 a.m. Fort Okanogan Cemetery – Monse; 11:30 a.m. Paradise Hill Cemetery – Brewster; and 12 noon Columbia Post 97 - Brewster.

Again this year the Brewster High School shop class made crosses to place on veterans' graves.

"We made 62 this year," said instructor Todd Dezelle, who turned the project over to some of his seniors.

Volunteers will gather at 9 a.m. Saturday morning at Locust Grove Cemetery to set the crosses and flags.

If you would like to help out, volunteers are needed, contact Denny Pittman, 509-670-3904.

Friday, May 24 is National Poppy Day Poppies will be distributed May 24 in the Brewster area

"Memorial Day is the day Americans set aside to honor those brave men and women who met tragic ends while defending our freedom. It is our duty to honor their sacrifices, to pray for their families, and to bow our heads in recognition of their service.

"The Friday before Memorial Day is designated as National Poppy Day®, and on May 24, 2019, American Legion Auxiliary Unit 97 will be distributing poppies as a tribute to our fallen soldiers. Please watch for distribution locations and stop by to receive a poppy in exchange for a donation to wear in remembrance of those who paid the ultimate price for our freedom. We must never forget. The poppy, which bloomed on the battlefields of France after World War I, has grown to become an internationally known and recognized symbol of the lives sacrificed in war and the hope that none died in vain. One hundred percent of donations received will go directly to help veterans, military, and their families."

Memorial Day Parade May 23

BBGC hosts fourth Gamble Sands Golf Fundraiser

BREWSTER – Scores of golf carts were neatly lined up on the promenade at Gamble Sands Golf Course last Monday morning, May 20, as players began arriving for the fourth annual Brewster Boys and Girls Club (BBGC) Golf Fundraiser.

Following the opening instructions, the golfers set out for their assigned holes for the 11 a.m. shotgun start. Scattered clouds and a light, warm breeze made playing conditions ideal and no rainfall kept allowed course conditions to remain dry.

BBGC Director Jamie Sluys said the event had a full turnout of players for the club's largest fundraiser of the year.

As he has since the first golf fundraiser, Bill Tsoukalas, Director of the Boys and Girls Clubs of Snohomish County attended again this year and spoke to The Quad about future plans for more clubs in Eastern Washington.

"The big picture game plan is to have an organization like Snohomish County based out of Wenatchee," said Tsoukalas. "We're working with the community of Malaga; they have 22 acres there."

Tsoukalas said the club has a seven-year development window to establish ball fields and other facilities using the Brewster club as a model.

A special guest at this year's fundraiser was Wenatchee Valley College alumnus and ESPN Sports-caster Kenny Mayne who spoke to the assembled players prior to the start of the event and announced that

Pateros Council approves Public Use zoning for school district property

By MIKE MALTAIS
STAFF WRITER

PATEROS - City Council members approved a zoning designation change from Light Industrial to Public Use for the eight-acre Field of Dreams property the district owns along Industrial Way north of the city.

Before the unanimous vote, City contract planner Kurt Danison reported to the council that despite several meetings with planning agency members the group could not reach an agreement on whether to recommend keeping the current Light Industrial zoning in place or changing it to Public Use.

The former designation would prohibit schools but allow parks including school ball fields that would also be available for scheduled public use. The latter designation would not require the school to allow scheduled public use of its ball fields. Danison the planning group decided to refer the issue, absent a recommendation, to the council.

Council members sided with Public Use.

In other business Okanogan County Community Action Council (OCCAC) Executive Director Lael Duncan updated the council on her agency's efforts to promote community outreach on affordable housing and low-income issues in the county.

Melinda Posner, Park Planner for the Washington State Parks and Recreation Commission (WSPRC) address council members on the Classification and Management Planning (CAMP) project directed locally at Alta Lake and Bridgeport state parks. The WSPRC is actively seeking public input from park users to help better plan future development in both parks.

Posner will address Pateros School students from grades 8-11 on Tuesday, May 28, and grades 6-8 at Bridgeport on Wednesday, May 29. Posner has also scheduled public meetings in Bridgeport on June 12, and Pateros on June 13.

Mayor Carlene Anders thanked parks personnel for working with the Pateros school to accommodate its annual week-long sixth grade Outdoor Education camp held in Alta Lake State Park every April.

With only 10 volunteers currently serving on the Pateros Fire Department a public request was issued for more citizens to step forward and participate.

Pateros School Superintendent Greg Goodnight said he is speaking with fire chief Kieth Zweigle about talking with his high students about fire volunteer work.

Drought declaration expands to 27 state watersheds

By MIKE MALTAIS
STAFF WRITER

OLYMPIA – Sometimes being first is not a coveted distinction. Such as when Washington Governor Jay Inslee declared the Okanogan watershed, along with Methow and Upper Yakima Basin, as official emergency drought areas last April 4, owing to diminished moisture from below average snowpack.

It was the first such declaration in the state since 2015.

On May 20, the governor added 24 additional watersheds to the list of official emergency drought areas, an expanse that encompasses nearly half of the state.

In an official announcement released through the Department of Ecology (DOE) watersheds in Chelan, Colville, Cowlitz, Deschutes, Elwha-Dungeness, Entiat, Grays-Elochoman, Kennedy-Goldsborough, Kettle, Lower Chehalis, Lower Skagit-Samish, Lower Yakima, Lyre-Hoko, Naches, Nooksack, Queets-Quinault, Quilcene-Snow, Skokomish-Dosewallips, Soleduc, Stillaguamish, Upper Chehalis, Upper Skagit, Wenatchee, and Willapa, were added to the roster of crisis areas.

"Snowpack conditions are currently less than 50 percent of average for this time of year," said the Ecology media release. "DOE experts expect the warmer, drier weather will cause the already-diminished snowpack to melt more quickly, reducing water availability this summer when it is needed most for farms, communities and fish."

Recent rainfall in the area still left moisture levels below normal.

Two factors determine if a watershed qualifies for a drought declaration:

1. Water supply conditions currently or projected at or 75 percent of average;
2. A projection of undue hardships.

"The emergency declaration allows us to expedite emergency water right permitting and make funds available to government entities to address hardships caused by drought conditions," said Ecology Director Maia Bellon.

"The 2019 Legislature appropriated $2 million for drought response. Ecology anticipates funding for public agencies for

The bonus prize turned out to be a VIP visit for two to the Jimmy Kimmel Show in Los Angeles including a meeting with the host, Green Room perks and the whole nine yards. The winning bidder won the trip for $600.

An added twist to the event this year was a helicopter ball drop where pre-purchased numbered golf balls were dropped from a helicopter hovering over a target on the course. The closed to the pin won a 70-inch flat screen T.V. The winner turned out to be Brewster player Tory Wulf who graciously donated the prize to the BBGC, whose own flat screen stopped working more than a month ago.

'Hams' gather at 20th annual Amateur Radio Campout

By MIKE MALTAIS
STAFF WRITER

PATEROS – The 20th annual Okanogan County amateur Radio Club campout along the Methow River on Saturday and Sunday, May 18-19, drew some interesting members of the Amateur Radio Relay League (ARRL), a national association of amateur radio users, connecting hams around the U.S. with news, information and resources.

A gathering like the annual campout is one of the rare opportunities where amateur radio enthusiasts can actually meet one another in person and put faces to the voices that connect throughout the year. The Pateros campout drew participants as far away as Yakima, where ARRL North-western Division Vice Director Mark Tharp (KB7HDX) raises his antenna.

Tharp, a member of the Yakima County Radio Amateurs, Eastern Washington Amateur Radio Group, and the Western Washington DX Club, was licensed in 1989. He has held many volunteer positions in his organizations and has served at the Section Manager for the Eastern Washington Section for the past 15 years.

Tharp is involved with Yakima County Search and Rescue (SAR) where he serves as communications officer and participates in 4x4 and snowmobile searches.

"Yakima SAR owns a number of amateur repeaters and along with helping to maintain them I am trustee for the license, WA7SAR," Tharp said.

In his professional life Tharp is an operations and office manager at an equipment manufacturing company.

Roger Odorizzi of Chelan became a licensed ham operator in the early 1990s. He is currently president of the Lake Chelan Radio Club and Apple City Radio Club.

Odorizzi served 14-month military tour in Vietnam as a specialist combat engineer for the 19th Engineer Battalion. During his working career he Great Northern Railroad employee and spent 30 years as an industrial electrician.

Michael Pearson of Wapato was licensed in 2015 as a general class operator and owns ham shacks in Spokane and Yakima.

Brewster resident Mike Mauk, who coordinated the campout, passed his technician exam in June 2010 and upgraded to a General license in December 2010.

"My new hobby has given me the opportunity to talk to amateurs (hams) around the world, having made over 6,000 contacts including every state and 366 counties in the U.S., 180 countries, and six of the seven continents," Mauk said.

He has also reached into outer space.

"On May 11, 2018, I talked to an astronaut ("made voice contact") on the International space station as it passed overhead NA1SS," Mauk said.

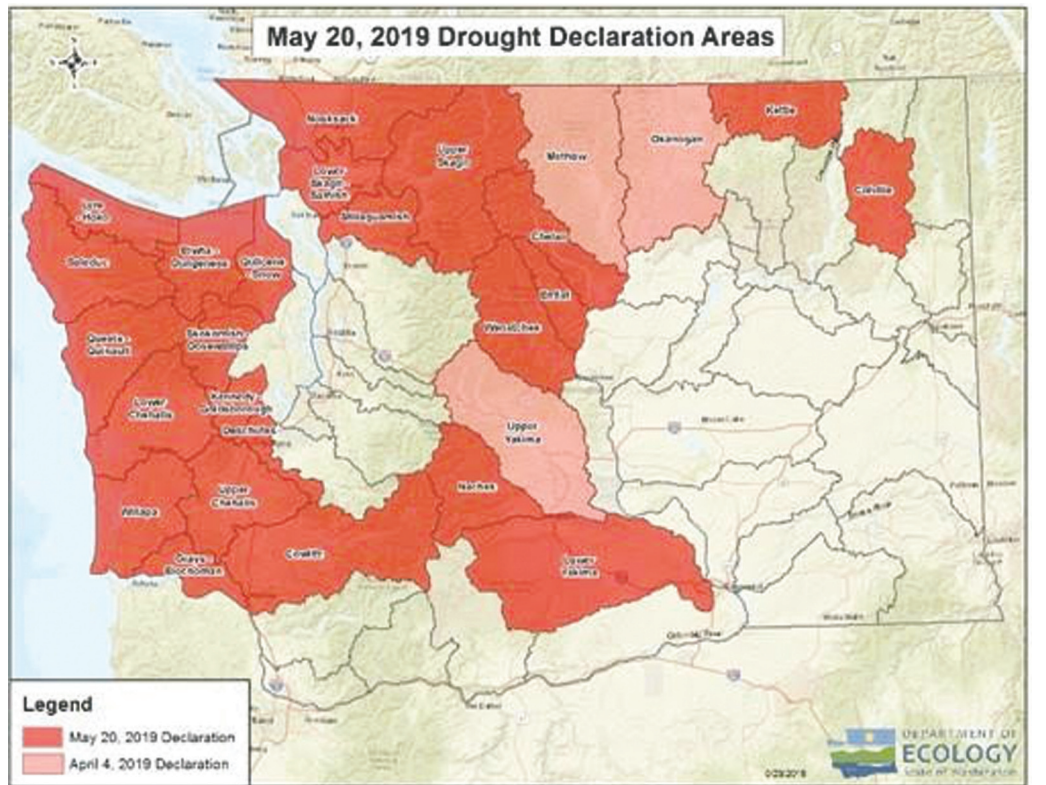

Mauk has been a member of the Okanogan County Club since 2010, served as president for several years and is now secretary-treasurer. He is also a Volunteer Examiner qualified to administer FCC tests for amateur radio licenses.

Meet Asotin May 24

Bears maul NWC, Colfax on road to state finals

BY MIKE MALTAIS, STAFF WRITER

(Compiled from a report by coach Todd Phillips)

SPOKANE – The Brewster Bears varsity baseball team is guaranteed no less than fourth place at State following two wins in Regional play against Northwest Christian (Colbert) and Colfax last Saturday, May 18.

Brewster ended the march of the NWC Crusaders, 7-0, in the first round of loser-out play at the Wenatchee Recreational Field, and grounded the Falcons, 11-1 in six innings in the round of eight later in the afternoon.

Defending state champion Tri-Cities Prep made it to the round of eight on a 3-1 win over Liberty Bell at Pete Orgill Field in Yakima but fell to Asotin, 1-0, to be eliminated. Next weekend's State finals at Centralia's Wheeler Field will pit the Bears against Asotin and Rainier against Kalama in the final four.

"We had a great day defensively against NWC," said Bears head coach Todd Phillips. "We had a pretty good day at the plate as well."

Brewster jumped out to an early 1-0 lead in the first inning.

"I felt like scoring a run right off the bat gave us a slight mental edge," said Phillips adding that the only reason the Bears didn't score two runs was prevented by a collision between runner Joe Taylor and a base umpire who was out of position. "Strangest thing ever," Phillips said.

It was quiet until the fourth inning when Ashworth walked and scored on a Logan McGuire double. McGuire stole third and scored on a Mason Kelly single.

"We really blew things open and sealed the deal in the fifth," Phillips said.

Taylor singled and went from first to third base on a failed pick-off attempt. Corey Jarrell walked and scored behind Taylor on a Quincy Vassar double.

"Pinch runner Jeff Sonneman want to third on a balk and scored on a passed ball," said Phillips. "With two outs Kade Kelpman drew a walk, stole second and scored our seventh run on another Kelly RBI single."

Phillips said the Crusaders' pitcher, Gunnar Kuehl "might have been the best straight pitcher we've seen all year" with 11 strike outs against the Bears.

Brewster's Connor Ashworth "was phenomenal on the mound again," said Phillips. "Connor took control of the game and was ready to go from the first pitch."

Inning:	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	R	H	E
Brewster:	1	0	0	2	4	0	X	7	8	4
NWC:	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	3	1

Falcons grounded
"We are extremely excited to punch our ticket back to the final four," said Phillips. "We are getting closer and closer to accomplishing the goals we established for ourselves this year."

Since the Bears placed second at State last year, it's not difficult to divine what one of those goals might be.

"We really came out and attacked the baseball in this game," said Phillips of the 10-run mercy rule finish. "We got an early lead when Taylor led off with a double, went to third on a passed ball and scored on a Jarrell RBI."

It just kept getting better from there as the Bears added another run in the second, two more in the third, one in the fourth, and three in the sixth. Meanwhile Colfax scored once in the second but were 10 rounds down by the sixth and final inning.

Brewster faces Asotin at 7 p.m. Friday, May 24, in Centralia. The winner will face the winner of Kalama - Rainier at 1 p.m. Saturday, May 25, for the title. The loser will play for third and fourth place at State.

Soothing relief for those itchy eyes due to allergies

Q:When my allergies kick up, my eyes get red and itch like crazy. Visine® eye drops don't really help me. Is there anything else I can try?

Years ago, I bought my "dream" car, a classic jet-black 1985 Jeep CJ7 hardtop. I could hardly wait to take it cruising the back roads, so we took the top off and spent the following Saturday afternoon driving through the gently rolling hills of central Ohio.

Saturday afternoon was magic, but Sunday morning was a nightmare as I woke up with a completely stuffed up nose and eyes that itched like fire.

I moaned to my husband, Charlie, "What could have set off my allergies? The only thing I'm allergic to is ragweed, and we drove past corn and soybeans."

"I hate to tell you, honey, but we definitely drove past ragweed yesterday. I saw TONS of it growing thick in the ditches by the sides of the road."

Do you need to soothe the discomfort of itchy eyes from allergies gone wild? You'll find several types of eye drops available without a prescription. How do you choose the best one?

Lubricating eye drops can ease burning and help relieve dryness. Systane®, GenTeal® or Refresh® help reduce the "sand in your eyes" feeling by flushing pesky pollens away, but can't shut down your allergic reaction once it starts.

Decongestant eye drops help your eyes look less red or "bloodshot" by shrinking the blood vessels in the whites of your eyes. They can help reduce puffiness around your eyelids but don't help reduce allergic reactions.

Naphazoline is the only decongestant eye drop available without a prescription. It's sold both as Naphcon® and combined with an antihistamine as Visine-A® and Napheon-A® (the "A" stands for antihistamine). Eye drops containing naphazoline can cause trigger dry eyes and aggravate certain types of glaucoma, threatening your vision. Because of this risk, naphazoline eye drops are only for short-term use; avoid using them for more than 3 days at a time, and if you have glaucoma you should avoid naphazoline entirely.

Antihistamine eye drops help reverse eye itching and swelling from allergies. Pheniramine maleate is an antihistamine available in both Visine-A® and Napheon-A® eye drops, but they also contain the decongestant naphazoline, which limits their safe use to only 3 days at a time.

The most effective eye drops to use when allergies strike is ketotifen. Ketotifen works both by helping prevent an allergic reaction and by calming it down once it starts.

When you come in contact with something you are allergic to, it triggers a chain reaction leading to redness, swelling and itching. This reaction is triggered by a chemical called histamine. Your body stores histamine

Here are 4 Tips on Using Eye Drops for Allergies:

1.Avoid naphazoline eye drops.

Decongestant eye drops don't address the allergic reaction, and only reduce redness. Limit naphazoline eye drops use to three days at a time, and avoid it completely if you have glaucoma.

2.Ketotifen is the best non-prescription eye drop for allergies.

Ketotifen works both as an antihistamine and mast cell stabilizer. It is available as an inexpensive generic and very safe to use, even in children as young as 3 years old.

3.Use only one drop in each eye.

Any more than one drop at a time will just run out and be wasted. Wait a bit before giving yourself another dose.

4.Keep it clean.

Always wash your hands first and avoid touching the tip of the dropper directly to your eye or to any other surface.
