Cashmere’s FCCLA team looks forward to Nashville Nationals

Cashmere High School’s FCCLA (Family, Career and Community Leaders of America) took part in the FCCLA State competition in Kennewick March 8-10, where all 6 of the students who competed found out that they will be moving on to the Nationals convention in Nashville, Tennessee during the first week of July.

“The girls are already coming to me with ideas of tourist things they would like to do,” Rebecca Swanson, the FCCLA advisor, said of their upcoming trip.

On Wednesday, March 8, the students were designated to various areas at their location in Kennewick where their performances were evaluated by adults as well as other FCCLA students from all around Washington.

This year was the first year Swanson has ever had freshmen compete at State.

“They rocked it,” Swanson said.

Grace Croci placed 3rd in Illustrated Talk, where she gave a presentation on body image and the media.

Braxton Igne and Eleanor Nelson worked together as a team to create a project in the category of Entrepreneurship called Hula Girls Shaved Ice. They developed a business plan for a Hawaiian-style food truck which would sell shaved ice.

The sophomore team, consisting of Naomi Davis and Lauren Asmussen, placed 1st in Food Innovations, where they designed a protein rich post-workout snack bar.

Ellen Perleberg, an FCCLA State officer and the NCW Vice President for 2016-2017, presented in the Teach and Train category where she planned out a class lesson and taught it to a Spanish class. She also developed a Choose Your Own Adventure exercise which helps students to practice verbs.

“I learned the value of skills and learned to do things to prepare for the future,” Perleberg said about her overall time in FCCLA.

Perleberg presented her lesson plan at State and she took 2nd place in her event.

“I’m just really proud of them and the work that they’ve put in,” Swanson said. “I look forward to seeing them work hard to get a good rating at Nationals.”

Originally, Grace Croci was going to be unable to attend Nationals due to the fact that she had earned 3rd place in her Illustrated Talk event.

“You have to place 2nd or above and receive a gold rating,” Swanson said.

But, fortunately, for Croci, the team that had received 2nd place dropped out of the competition, which then put Croci into 2nd place instead.

“I’m looking forward to seeing them become even better public speakers,” Swanson said. “I’m going to force them to practice more before we get there.”

Swanson is also looking forward to the fact that the competition will be more intense in Nashville.

According to Swanson, the Nationals convention usually has around 6,000 people in attendance.

“Coming from a small town and being at a convention that has more people at it than in our entire community- they (the students) are awestruck, which is really fun to see,” Swanson said.

FCCLA is currently planning fundraisers for their upcoming Nashville trip.

“This spring we’re going to try and get some businesses involved and plan some really fun events for the community to help these girls out,” Swanson said.

Smith investigation continues Cashmere ‘missing man’ mystery’ revealed

Part Two of a continuing series

By IAN DUNN
NCW Media

(The following is from the Chelan Sheriff’s Department investigation into the murder of Cashmere’s Stephen Smith)

At the conclusion of their Feb. 16, 2017 interview with Dawn Soles, she asked the investigators if they could help her, because she said “I need help.” The next day, Detective Josh Mathena spoke with Stephen Smith’s former roommate, Derek Weldon, currently a resident of New York state.

According to the Affidavit of Probable Cause, Weldon said he was aware of Smith’s disappearance and believed he was dead. He called Dawn, “a lying piece of trash.”

He asked Weldon if he had met with Dawn and Crystal on the day Stephen disappeared. Weldon said he was not even in Cashmere at the time. He was up in the Okanogan area working harvest. He did return several days after Smith’s disappearance.

Weldon said he helped Smith raise Crystal, and if Dawn had arrived with the girl, he would have taken her from Dawn. He remembered the Smith family began cleaning up the house. Weldon recalled a violent scene in the living room area. It looked like “someone had been murdered.”

There was a lot of blood on the floor and couch, even a tooth between the cushions. Weldon believed something very bad happened to Smith in the house. He also said it was apparent someone had tried to clean the crime scene.

On the living room floor was a dish pan containing bloody water and a towel nearby covered in blood. To Weldon, it was clear someone had tried to clean up the blood but there was too much blood to clean up.

On Feb. 23, 2017, Mathena and Sergeant Jeff Middleton spoke with Craig Milton, who submitted a memo back in 1982. It was revealed that Smith was Milton’s cousin. When he was in jail with Bernard Swaim in July of 1982, Swaim had told another unknown person that Dawn and Swaim wanted Stephen killed.

Swaim wanted to put a contract out on Stephen, and if they could not find someone to kill Stephen, Swaim and Dawn would do it themselves, Milton told the investigators. Milton said he did inform Weldon, but not Smith.

Back in 1982, Milton felt the Sheriff’s Office did not do anything with his information. No one contacted him after his initial report. In fact, Middleton and Mathena were the first officers to talk with him regarding Stephen.

On Feb. 23, 2017, Middleton and Mathena interviewed Debra Wetzel regarding her statements to law enforcement in 1988. Wetzel gave a very similar version of what she reported in 1988.

She had a relationship with Swaim. After overhearing in court he was the suspect in a homicide in Chelan County, Wetzel asked him about it. Swaim admitted to killing his ex-wife’s husband, claiming Smith confronted him with a gun. Swaim allegedly said he threw a rock at him and killed him.

Wetzel said there was no doubt in her mind Swaim was telling the truth about killing Smith. On Feb. 24, 2017, the investigators interviewed Pam Marken via telephone. Marken had been friends with Dawn since age 14. She lived with Dawn and Stephen for a short time in 1981, but had a falling

Difficult issues require serious debate

A few individuals wrote to me this week threatening to cancel their subscriptions because we had an advertisement in the newspaper opposing Planned Parenthood. One writer said she did not want this kind of “political propaganda” in her local newspaper.

There are a couple of serious issues here.

First, advertisements are what pay for the newspaper. Subscription revenue would never be enough to pay for the cost of publishing a newspaper. So, the economic reality is without advertising revenue the price of the newspaper would be prohibitively high.

BILL FORHAN

Second, paid subscribers are what drive advertising rates. The more paid subscribers the more advertisers are willing to pay for their advertising. In other words, the more that advertisers are willing to pay for an ad the lower the subscription rate.

It's a symbiotic relationship that is somewhat akin to dancing with a cobra.

Third, newspapers are not vouching for an advertiser when they run an ad. It is up to the consumer to decide if the advertisers message is true or “propaganda.”

Finally, it is important to recognize that our founding fathers recognized the importance a free and unfettered press. It is a core American principle that our democracy cannot be sustained without an open and sometimes difficult exchange of conflicting ideas.

Even as the publisher of a small local newspaper, I take the challenge of being a forum for public discourse seriously. Many of my local critics have challenged me over the years because of my clearly conservative views.

■ LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Health care question

The Swamp is a cute name for, I'm not sure what, but I like the visual it generates about Washington D.C. However, let's get to the point, first, Obamacare is nothing more than RomneyCare gone Federal. Second, at a minimum, the GOP has had from 2010-2017, adequate time to draft a healthcare bill that would deflate and repeal and replace the current ACA, one would think.

The House of Representatives failed in that effort.

The current failure does not suggest that no work has been done by some segment of the GOP to offer a package. What's missing in all the noise is the fundamental difference between the GOP's sides.

That important difference can be simply explained, were one to examine the details and exempt the political party nonsense that covers things.

If I may, here is the major

That said, I have never denied those with a more liberal or progressive point of view their opportunity to express their contrary viewpoint. In the early days, I often took the opportunity to respond to letters submitted by readers thinking that might add to the debate. I soon found out, however, that most letter writers did not want a debate. They simply want to register their opinion on an issue.

The bottom line here is that the “anti-Planned Parenthood” group was willing to pay for the opportunity to express their opinion. The “pro-Planned Parenthood” folks have the same opportunity.

This newspaper does not endorse either view. What we do believe is issues of a public nature require a forum for open expression. Historically this forum has been our free press. You might not always like what you read in the pages of your local newspaper but real democracy requires all citizens to keep informed of the issues confronting us.

Our country is clearly at a crossroads. Making the choice of which way our country should go requires open and honest discussion of the differences that keep us apart. Choosing to ignore those we disagree with because their opinion offends us is not going to insure we ultimately choose the right road.

out with Dawn, who believed Pam was getting too close with Stephen.

Marken described the relationship between Stephen and Dawn as very volatile. She described Dawn as being very controlling and manipulative. In 2010, Dawn and Pam began talking again on Facebook. She was surprised to hear Stephen was still missing.

In August of 2016, Dawn moved in with Pam at Woodstock, Georgia. Marken said Dawn spoke of Stephen and his murder almost daily, giving multiple versions of what happened. Near the end of her stay, Dawn told Marken that one day she would be arrested for killing Stephen.

Marken was she was “absolutely sure” Dawn had been involved in Stephen's death. On Feb. 28, 2017, Mathena spoke with Steve Noyes. Noyes said he had dated Dawn a few times in 1982. He recalled Dawn mentioning to him she needed help “getting rid of” her ex-husband. She asked if Noyes would help her.

Noyes said he refused and to help Dawn and it was never brought up again. On Feb. 28, Middleton and Mathena interviewed Charb Rinker, who lived across the street from Stephen. Charb said he was at Stephen's house the day before he went missing.

Charb said Stephen was worried Dawn was coming to take Crystal. Stephen said it would be over his dead body before he lost custody of his daughter. Charb said Stephen told him if Dawn ended up with Crystal, it would mean he was dead.

On March 3, 2017, Middleton and other officers arrested Dawn Soles at her apartment in Leavenworth. She was transported to the Cashmere office where she agreed to be interviewed. While Middleton was interviewing Soles, Mathena and another officer went to Sultan to arrest Swaim.

The Snohomish County Sheriff's Office located Swaim at a local grocery store. Swaim invoked his right to remain silent. Mathena told Swaim his first court appearance would be on Monday. Swaim told Mathena he wasn't worried about it, because judges normally release him after his first court appearance on Monday or Tuesday.

On the way back to Wenatchee, Mathena stopped in Cashmere to check on the Soles interview. During his discussion with Dawn, she told them she would finally tell the truth about Smith's murder.

Up to that point, Dawn had been reluctant to speak about her involvement in the murder. Dawn said she was very afraid of Swaim and thought he would harm her if she spoke with law enforcement. On the night Stephen went missing, Dawn said she and Swaim had been at Smith's house in Cashmere drinking.

Stephen became very drunk and eventually passed out on the couch. At 11 p.m., Dawn said she, Swaim and Crystal drove to the Village Inn Motel. She said Swaim told her he had to leave and drove off.

Swaim returned to the motel at 4 a.m. with his shirt covered in blood, Dawn said. She said Swaim claimed it was barbecue sauce. Dawn did remember Swaim saying, he took care of the obstacle for her. Dawn, Swaim and Crystal left the area for Seattle.

Dawn said she confronted Swaim and he admitted to killing Stephen. According to Soles, Swaim went back to the house that night and struck Smith with rock as he laid on the couch. Dawn believed the body was located above the Dryden Dump.

Mathena found it interesting in Dawn's statements how she distanced herself from the murder. She also could not explain how Swaim was able to transport Smith's body to the Deadman Hill area, drop of Stephen's car yet still drive their car.

In March 5, 2017, Mathena and Middleton met Dawn at the Leavenworth office. She continued to deny her involvement and blame it on Swaim. Mathena told her he did not believe the story. Finally, she broke down and said she would tell the truth.

In July 1982, she and Swaim travelled back to Cashmere to visit Crystal. On the drive over, Dawn spoke about how better it would be if Stephen was out of the picture, in order to get custody of Crystal.

When Swaim and Dawn arrived at the Cashmere motel, they began smoking hash, talking about how to make Stephen go away. Swaim told Dawn he would take care of it. Dawn admitted to wanting Stephen dead over the custody dispute.

Dawn said they walked over to Stephen's house, mainly so Swaim's car was not seen in the area. The plan was to get Smith drunk to the point he passed out, then Swaim would take him out.

Stephen became very drunk and passed out on the couch. Swaim told Dawn to take Crystal to the back bedroom and not come out. While in the bedroom, Dawn said she heard three loud smacks, which she believed was Swaim beating Smith.

After about an hour-and-a-half, Swaim came to the back bedroom and said it was time to go. Walking out of the house, Dawn saw a large amount of blood on the couch where Stephen had passed out. Dawn knew Swaim had killed Stephen while he was passed out on the couch.

Swaim walked Dawn and Crystal to his car, which was now at the residence. He drove them back to the motel and dropped them off. He left a short time later, then returned around 4 a.m.

Mathena felt Dawn had been very honest and emotional during the interview. In later discussions with Swaim, Dawn said he admitted to killing Stephen with a rock from the front yard. Swaim admitted to placing Smith's body in a sleeping bag, then using Smith's own car to transport the body.

Swaim told her the body was later buried in an unknown area.

Chelan County Sheriff Brian Burnett said the investigation was reopened because someone had called and made a request. At that point, Detective Mathena started looking into it.

“You have to review the case, see what the case is, what kind of evidence there is,” Burnett said. “Because it is so old, you have to look and see where to start, who to start with, the people I need to talk to...are they still living? He started plucking away on it and things started to come together.”

In terms of the difference between the investigation in 1982 and now, Burnett said he did not believe the case was worked hard enough before.

“I don't know that we had any brand new information other than what he pursued, interviewed and talked to people,” Burnett said. “There's not that much in the case file. The difference was Pam, that she lived here at one time and Dawn Soles had conversations with.”

Burnett said it is an ongoing investigation. They are still interviewing and following up. He said they are putting together a team to identify and locate the remains.

“We're hoping one of them will give up the information on where we can go to get close to find the remains,” Burnett said.

Certainly, it is pretty rare when a cold case turns around after so many years. Burnett said he is very proud of the officers involved, Mathena, Middleton, Sergeant Jeff Files and Detective Jeff Dilkes.

“I can remember early on, Josh came to me and said, I have a good case here. I think I have something I can really work. I'm going to get to the bottom of this. I'm going to make this happen,” Burnett said. “Not in cocky way, but the right people were still around to interview. They would keep us briefed as it progressed. We knew it would be a big deal after they made the arrests.”

21st Anniversary, Leavenworth Empty Bowls Festival 1996 ~ 2017

The Leavenworth Empty Bowls Committee extends a Heartfelt Thanks to the many volunteers and donors who helped make our 21st event such a success. Empty Bowls raised just over $15,000, most of which goes to support the Community Cupboard Food Bank, and $1000 goes to small art grants that benefit the youth. This event could not happen without the generous support of the community, and those who participated by decorating a bowl or purchasing a ticket. In 2016, the Cupboard distributed 3293 food boxes to 715 households, representing 1808 individuals including 570 children.

COOKING WITH TERI

EASTER SUNDAY DINNER

By Teri Miller

No Easter Sunday dinner is complete without a fresh array of side dishes. Whether you are serving ham or spring lamb the side dishes usually end up as the star of the meal. Some of my favorites are asparagus, green beans, deviled or pickled eggs and salads. Ham will be on my menu this year along with my favorite side dishes. Desserts and rolls are also a must for dinner. Fresh strawberries, angel food cake, lemon cake or pie are favorites at my house for Easter. A good glass of Champagne is also the perfect ending to an Easter brunch or dinner. Several local restaurants are offering Easter Brunch which is wonderful except you don't have any leftovers. What's a holiday without leftovers.

If asparagus is on your menu, the only choice available is asparagus from Mexico. Local asparagus needs lots of heat units to grow, my friends in the asparagus business sent me a photo of their field with the asparagus about an inch tall. If tulips are part of your table celebration, you may or may not have fresh tulips from the Skagit Valley this year. As of today the first harvest date for tulips is mid April, but daffodils will still be abundant and inexpensive. Spring has sprung and we need to roll with it.

Spring Strawberry Spinach Salad

1 bunch baby spinach

- 10 large strawberries, sliced
- 1/2 cup white sugar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/3 cup white wine vinegar
- 1 cup vegetable oil
- 1 tablespoon poppy seeds

1. In a large container, mix the spinach and strawberries.
 2. In a blender place the sugar, salt, vinegar, and oil, and blend until smooth. Stir in the poppy seeds.
- Pour over the spinach and strawberries, and toss to coat.

“Our Lord has written the promise of resurrection, not on books alone, but in every leaf of springtime.” - Martin Luther (1483-1546) German priest.

provided benefit of citizenry, or is it a service provided or not by each State's opinion in the legislative offices?

As I read your tripe (and yes, that is a throw-away fish), I see you too fail to come to grips with this point. So, let me ask you directly: Bill do you favor a federal or a state level of law in the matter of health care for all Americans? Both sides are legitimate Constitutionally, and both sides have value as well as flaws...there is no perfect solution for issues of such magnitude.

I mean no insult or injury when I ask the question; neither do I intend to open up a different debate. All I'm looking for here is an honest answer. Do you support: A. State's rights for providing healthcare support/insurance, or B. Federal govt. rights to provide healthcare to the citizens of the nation?

Before you ask: I favor, strongly, a single payer, federal system that trumps (no pun intended) all private insurance claims, just to keep you on target to answering my question.

In the federal sense, it is this question nationally that must be answered and it too should be decided whether the nation needs a Romney solution, aka State decided, or an Obama solution, a national solution from the federal government.

If you're interested, I too favor the replacement of Obamacare; I want a single-payer, Federal insurance program for all citizens in all 50 states. I'm confident that were President Lincoln alive in today's health insurance market he too, as an ardent member of the old GOP would take my side in this debate.

Where do you stand? And by the way, if your view is the other side of the debate...that's terrific. Now we have a substantive debate issue, without name-calling and ranting. What's required is for the house and the senate to also come to grips with the basic question and hammer out a solution that makes the majority happy. Isn't that what our government is all about? The majority decides? And, the majority should be the voters, not the insurance companies, the pharma giants, etc. It should be the registered citizen voters, not the dollars of others.

Alex Saliby, Leavenworth

Publisher's response:
Short answer – I want a free market solution with minimal involvement from the government. Competition and ingenuity will produce better results than a one size fits all government mandate whether that is mandated by the states or the federal is irrelevant.
