Cashmere City Council discuss 9/11 Memorial

By Mikaila Wilkerson

Staff Writer

Within the last couple of months, plans have been discussed at the Cashmere City Council Meetings for the possible expansion of the 9/11 Spirit of America Memorial at the Cashmere Riverside Center. A meeting held in February and a meeting in March gave the public updates for the proposed plans as those in charge of the Memorial anxiously awaited the City's approval for them to move forward.

Tom Green, Chairman of Cashmere's 9/11 Spirit of America Memorial committee, gave updates about upcoming plans to expand on the already existing memorial at a city council meeting on February 13.

"So my hope for tonight is that you would consider approving a phase 2," Green had said to the council members in attendance. "And phase 2 would be to build a wall basically directly across the street from the existing memorial at the edge of the park."

The idea for the memorial's expansion came to those involved with it around Christmas time, Green said.

"The idea just hit us," Green said. "We're thinking around the Vietnam Wall idea. The idea is that we have 2,996 people that died on that day back on the east coast and having a wall so that all those names of those folks could be on that wall."

According to Green, the main

Memorial Plaza is already dedicated to all of the people who we lost on 9/11 so this project would only add more to that dedication.

"I've talked to an awful lot of people and people have responded very positively of the idea," Green The wall, which will probably be granite, would be about 40 feet long 'linearly along the road', according If the granite wall is approved, Green said that "it would be three granite pieces probably 9-10 feet long and 6-8 inches thick with all of the names on it.' According to Green, he and the 9/11 committee were told that if they went with the granite wall, they could use those three pieces for a little over $40,000 if they wanted to go with the wall being 6 inches thick. If they wanted it to be 8 inches thick, that would cost the committee around another $12,000.

"But if we segment the names on there (the wall) and if we divide it up into categories like all the firefighters who died in New York, policemen, military, and all the different flights and so forth- when all that design is done, it could maybe be a little bit longer," Green said. "Just so we have logical sections of the people that died that day."

A designer also told Green that they could put laser-etched pictures onto the back of the wall for another $1,500. This would mean creating scenes from 9/11 on the wall, including pictures of the Twin Towers, that would further interpret the events of 9/11 to viewers.

"The new Freedom Tower that they built in the place of the two Twin Towers- if you haven't seen it, it's fairly new and it is absolutely spectacular," Green said. "So I would get a picture of that engraved or laser-etched into the back.

Green explained to the council members that the memorial wall would not nearly be as big and complex as what's already been built and that the wall's construction would be a lot shorter.

The committee even wants to install a much bigger kiosk at the memorial site to provide more information and interpretation on the events of 9/11 to visitors.

"Bob Miller, who's been designing what we have now, made kind of an enhanced kiosk right straight across from where we're talking about for this for more interpretive information," Green said.

Green also suggested having a reserved building downtown in the future where more information concerning the events of 9/11 would be housed. But even this was something they really would have to think about.

"It kept coming back to one thing and that's maintenance and operation- trying to find volunteers to operate that.'

Reptile Man at Vale Elementary

Students at Vale lined up as the Reptile Man brought out a python for them all to hold. The students who attended the March 13 visit from the Reptile Man, AKA Scott Petersen, got to learn how beneficial all these animals are and that they are not to be feared, but respected and treated with care.

The annual visit of the Reptile Man took place on Monday, March 13 at Vale Elementary and the kids all had a great time learning more about the animals that were shown to them.

The Reptile Man, also known as Scott Petersen, paid Vale Elementary a visit on Monday, March 13 at 6:30

The Vale PTO (Parent Teacher Organization) sponsored the annual visit and the kids had a blast during the daytime performance and showing of reptiles. They later returned that evening with friends and family for another grand show put on by Petersen.

A boa constrictor, python, alligator and tortoise were among the creatures that were presented and handled by both Petersen and the elementary children.

There were over 500 people in attendance that evening, including students and parents.

Many of the children in attendance, including Ashur and Cora Yearous, loved being able to take pictures with the reptiles, including 'Lucy the alligator', which the kids could drape over their shoulder as they had their picture taken.

"I love how the reptile man explains about the animals in a way that kids can understand to help teach kids to not fear these animals," Melinda Yearous said.

According to Victoria Rose, who watched as her son took pictures with the tortoise, her hopes are that the kids take away a lesson in learning to not be afraid of the animals that were shown and to have a newfound understanding and respect for them.

For Angie Martin, this year was her 6th time witnessing the show put on by Petersen and his reptiles as she had seen it while her children were all growing up. My favorite part about this event is the albino python," Martin said. "Just because so many kids can handle it."

Martin especially loved how Petersen is teaching the children more about the ecosystem, how beneficial these animals all are, and that they are, indeed, not a danger but something to be respected.

Angela Spies, the PTO Vice President, loved how the students got so excited about being able to see and hold the animals.

The fact that the students were not scared of the animals but wanted to handle them instead was very neat for PTO Treasurer Heather Irelan.

For PTO Secretary Crystal Zavala, she was most amused and excited by not just the excitement of the kids but how enthralled the parents were with the program and the animals as well.

Cashmere High School student serves as page in the state House of Representatives

Elizabeth Skoglun, a student at Cashmere High School served as a legislative page for the state House of Representatives the week of March 6 - 10. She was sponsored by her 12th District Rep. Cary Condotta. "I am pleased Elizabeth made the effort to come to Olympia and get a firsthand look at how the Legislature works," said Condotta, R-Wenatchee. "It is important students stay engaged with the political process. There is a lot of focus on politics at all levels right now and the more students stay involved the better understanding they will have of the process and issues."

Elizabeth is the daughter of Andrea Zanto and Jon Skoglun. She plays the clarinet, saxophone and piano, and also enjoys reading and ice skating. part of her As page duties, Elizabeth learned to navigate the many buildings on the Capitol Campus and delivered messages and documents to legislators and staff. Each day, Elizabeth attended page school for several hours to understand the operations and actions of the Legislature.

Each year, students from around the state apply to participate in the legislative page program. Students spend a week attending page school, learning the inner workings of state government and assisting legislators on the House floor. Pages earn $35 per day while serving in the program.

To become a page, applicants must have a legislative sponsor, be between the ages of 14 and 16, and obtain written permission from their parents and school. For more information about the House page program, visit: http://www.leg.wa.gov/House/Pages/ HousePageProgram.aspx.

Beware the hidden agenda The monster lurking behind school funding: an income tax

signed the bill extending the 28 percent levy lid until 2019. Without the extension local schools were expected to lose about $358 million in revenue across the state. The bill came with strong support from the legislature having passed 48 to 1 in the Senate and 87 to 10 in the House. Inslee signed the bill but also said passing the bill won't remove the legislature's motivation to put forth a plan to fund basic education as mandated by the Washington Supreme Court's McCleary Decision.

"It clears the way for legislators to focus on the larger task at hand — fully funding education this year," said Inslee.

In view of the governor's comments it seems an appropriate time to review the well written January opinion of Sen. Tim Sheldon, D-Potlatch;

In this great state of ours, where so many people have so many diverse interests, there is one thing we can count on to unite us all. Every few years, some dang fool puts an income tax on the ballot, and then the rest of us get together and stomp it to death.

The last time we did it, we also pounded a stake through its heart — 64 percent of us voted no, but that was seven years ago, and the horror never really goes away. The monster just won't stay dead. With the 2017 session of the Legislature underway, we already can hear it crashing through the underbrush in the direction of the state Capitol. This year, the income tax is dressed up as a school-funding issue. A darned good disguise, more cunning than ever, and I'm getting worried the good people of Washington won't see through it until too late.

Advocates of a state income tax have finally realized they will never win if they put the question to the people in an honest way. So they have set up the phoniest debate since America was forced to choose between "tastes great" and "less filling." If you listen to the proponents, our big argument for 2017 is about levy equalization and model-school formulas — magic words that have the effect of putting an entire state to sleep. But really it is the same old argument we've been having in Washington more than 80 years.

Our big debate isn't about education. It's about the income tax.

The story is a thousand times simpler than some people want you to think. Some interests in this state are obsessed with raising taxes. If only we had more money, we could spend it all on them. Over the years they have assembled quite a coalition. It includes the publicemployee unions, the teachers' union, the social-service lobby and many others. For these groups the income tax is the Holy Grail, because it would raise gobs of money and it's the one big tax Washington doesn't have. Just one problem. The people keep getting in the way.

Way back in 1933, the state Supreme Court decided there had to be a public vote on a constitutional amendment before the state could impose a graduated income tax. Every time the issue has appeared on ballot since then, the people have had the good sense to say no. That's nine times so far. It doesn't matter how many blueribbon commissions and tax studies have tried to convince the public that higher taxes are good for them. The tax crowd has tried pretty much everything. One time they tried disguising the income tax as an old-age pension. Last time it was an income tax that was only supposed to hurt the rich. The people are just too smart for that

So 10 years ago, the coalition tried a new approach - a lawsuit alleging the state doesn't spend enough money on basic education. Keep in mind, the special interests were basically right about that. The way each of them had tugged and strained for a bigger share of the state budget over the last 30 years, they had distorted the state's priorities and caused education's share to shrink. The state Supreme Court took their side, and its 2012 ruling  $in\ McCleary\ v.\ Washington$ forced some serious thinking at the statehouse.

Most people seemed to think the only way to raise billions and billions of dollars was a tax increase. But this was right about the time the fiscallyresponsible Majority Coalition Caucus, of which I am a part, took over in the Senate. We knew better. Virtually every year, the state collects more tax money than the last, without a tax increase, thanks to growth in the state economy. We plowed more than two-thirds of that money into education. The biennial public-schools budget has increased $4.6 billion since 2013. Education now gets 47.3 percent of state spending, its biggest share in 30 years. We still have work to do, but we can finish the job by continuing budget responsibly, maintaining healthy reserves against downturns, and enacting sensible reforms to the way we distribute money to school districts.

So what's the problem? There really isn't one — I guess that's the problem. The state Supreme Court keeps hollering that we aren't doing our job, for reasons that are hard to understand. It keeps finding new things we ought to pay for, to make the price tag higher, and it wants us to do everything this year. The governor is proposing the biggest tax increase in state history, $8.7 billion when fully implemented, to pay for everything anyone has ever asked for, and calling it an emergency. Things must not have worked the way they were supposed to.

The favorite proposal of the tax coalition is an income tax on capital gains. The idea is pretty similar to the highearners income tax we all got together and killed seven years ago. It hits the same people, and it has the same big problem. The moment the economy takes a dive — something that happens every few years — tax collections will plummet and the state will be backed into a corner, forced to raise hundreds of millions of dollars in a hurry. That's what happened across the country last time a recession hit, in states that tax capital gains income. In Washington, the easiest way out would become a general income tax that hits every taxpayer in the state.

That 1933 Supreme Court ruling requiring a public vote isn't much protection, either. The tax crowd is convinced the court will overturn the decision the next chance it gets, and the way the court has been playing politics lately, that seems a pretty good bet. If the Legislature passes a capital gains tax, that test case will finally be here. The public vote will be the first thing to go.

The whole thing is so clear to everyone in Olympia, it is dismaying that it is so fuzzy to everyone else. Newspaper editorials thunder that the Legislature has shirked its duty to education and don't let facts get in the way. Members of my own party evade questions about the income tax, with vague statements about "progressive funding strategies," fairness" and "tax reform." The voters let them get away with it. I get the feeling that so many people have gotten caught up in the details they have trouble understanding what the argument is really about.

Reminds me a little of those old black-and-white horror movies. There's always someone who shouts, "Don't worry about the monster — it won't hurt you!" But the villagers always know better. The sooner the people of Washington hear an honest debate, the sooner understanding will dawn. I just hope it happens in time for everyone to get out their torches and pitchforks.

State Sen. Tim Sheldon represents the 35th Legislative District. A Democrat from Potlatch, Sheldon is a part of the Republican-led Majority Coalition caucus that controls the Senate.

St. Patrick's Day parade

To the citizens of Cashmere, St. Patrick's Day parade organizers, mayor and City Council

My name is Eugene Reed and I live in Quincy. Last Friday I participated in the St. Patrick's Day Parade with the group from the Wenatchee Valley Ridge Riders ATV club (WVRRATVC). My wife and I enjoyed being involved as participants and to proudly represent the WVRRATVC in your parade. We as members of WVRRATVC pride ourselves to show good stewardship where and how we drive and operate our All Terrain Wheeled Vehicles (WATV) on public roads, non-highway roads, and off road places

During this year's St. Patrick's Day parade there were a small group of dirt bike motorcycles and riders that infiltrated amongst our group of WATVs throughout the parade route. Let it be clear, they were not with or represented our group from the WVRRRATVC entries. Their behavior was uncalled for. They were riding faster than other entries up and down the route, exposing parade viewers to excessive loud noise, zigzagging around and in-between other vehicles. was very disappointing witnessing small children standing on the sidewalks covering their ears from the loud un-muffled exhaust system from these bikes.

When the parade was over some of the bike riders were like how they rode on the parade route and within our group. Their response was "our bikes were overheating". Now that is one lame excuse. If this is the cause, maybe they should not be riding in parades period.

Before the parade, I found contacted and told we did not it ironic when this group of bike riders drove into Riverfront Park with their motorcycles in the back of pickup trucks, a Chelan County Deputy followed them in. The female officer and a few of the riders interacted for a while before the Deputy left. After the deputy left, it was when the bikes were unloaded and began a noisily riding around the park area. I am sure if law enforcement were still present this would not happen with their illegal exhaust systems.

Hopefully all of the people involved for organizing and implementing future St. Patrick's Day Parade may learn from this year's event and prevent this happening again.

Eugene Reed Quincy

You won the election

We get it! By "outstanding" workers (according to you). History of electoral margins show different. You repealed (or tried to) most of what Pres. Obama did. You have talked tough to England, Australia, and Mexico.

In searching the history

Wow! Now it's time to "Act" Presidential- Infrastructure, jobs, Health Care, jobs, ISIS, jobs, jobs, jobs. When Juan Williams pointed out that he has only done 10 percent of what he said he would do in the first 100 days, the Fox News pundit ( I forgot which one, they all look and sound the same alike to me) said its only been thirty plus days. Well do the math! At that rate he might accomplish 30 percent.

Now he wants to increase the military spending by 10 percent when we already spend more to help our veterans. A bonafide draft dodger with a conscience. Who would have thunk it. I thought once that he might resign when reality slapped him in the face. Then I realized it would only mean twiddle dee would replace twiddle dum. Meanwhile ISIS (a real problem) than any other nation! He wants just sets back and bides their time. He says he won't attend the ceremony. I say "if you can't stand the heat, stay out of the kitchen". As to his address to congress (with a tele-prompter) I've heard the wind blow before.

Local history of Wenatchee

books about the Columbia Bands I was fascinated with the history of Chief Moses. He was born in 1829 on the flat where the Wenatchee River meets the Great River. Probably present day Wenatchee, however, some people think it might have been Moses Coulee. Born the third son of Chief Sulk Stalk Scosum he lived with his family until age 9. At that time he was sent to Lapwai Idaho to be schooled by a Presbyterian minister Henry Spalding and his wife. The next three years he became fluent in English, Yakima, Spokane, Nez Pierce, and Colville. He also learned farming and gardening for the future benefit of his people. After three years he mounted his horse one day and headed home without saying goodbye. Reverend Spalding had given him his Christian name Moses.

During the Yakima War, his older brother Kwilninuk was taken prisoner near Chewelah. At that time his tribe named him the Chief of the Sinkiuse Columbia bands. In 1878 a white couple was killed at Rattlesnake Springs by renegade's of the Paiute and Bannock tribes, however, Chief Moses was blamed. He was taken into custody near present day O'Sullivan Dam and jailed in Yakima, where he was later acquitted. He had announced that he and his warriors would hunt down the renegades but the renegades were captured by the Army. In 1878 he was ordered to Washington, D.C. to help establish a reservation. He met with President Rutherford Hayes. The Columbia Bands were made up of the Wenatchi's, Entiat's, Chelan's, Methow's and Okanogan's. In that meeting, Chief Moses asked for and was granted all the land from, the Chelan River west to its beginnings at the top of the Cascade mountains and from there north along the crest of the Cascades to the Canadian border.

With that treaty in hand, Chief Moses returned to his tribe. It is important to note that an agreement in 1885
also gave the Columbia Bands were also given the rights to the Wenatchi River fisheries. Immediately the white settlers started complaining and in 1882 president

Chester Arthur signed an order giving the white miners and settlers a 15-mile wide strip along the Canadian Border. On July 4, 1884, the entire reservation was taken from the Columbia Bands. They were given a choice between the Colville reservation or the Yakima reservation. Moses was saddened and at one point told his companion, who was complaining, to count the grains in a pile of sand. The response was "there are too many". It is the same with the white man, replied Moses.

The Columbia Bands had always made trips into Montana to hunt buffalo and on such a trip they were attacked by Blackfoot Indians. Moses was 15-years-old and was left to watch the horses. A Blackfoot Indian attacked him and Moses was able to kill the man. For that bravery, he was lauded and made a warrior. The Blackfoot tribe never made peace with the Columbia bands. Throughout his first 50 years, Moses was often blamed for killing miners. Chief Gary of the Spokanes once accused him of cutting a minors throat. Moses always denied these types of allegations.

The traditional winter lands for the Columbia tribes were around Moses Lake and they made good use of the abundant duck eggs. Moses also taught vegetable gardening to his tribe. He later resigned his bands to the Colville reservation as did Chief Joseph and the Nez Pierce. There are stories of these two chiefs visiting the bars in Wilbur and surrounding towns. They sometimes drank too much and would end up in an argument. I wonder if any pictures exist of the two chiefs together. If anyone knows of such email them to: gary@ ncwmedia.net.

Staff Writer

On Thursday, March 9, the Apple Valley District Boy Scouts of America held their Annual Awards Dinner at the Kings Orchard Church of Christ in Wenatchee. This Awards Dinner would be to honor recent Eagle Scouts and to present the recipients of the District Award of Merit.

The District Award of Merit, a very high award, has been given out to several recipients in the past, dating back to 1976.

This award is to "recognize

2, 3 or 4 adults that have gone above and beyond for the Eagle Scouts Program," David Pope, the District Senior, said.

Troy Skelton, the Apple Valley District Advancement Chair, has been with the Eagle Scouts for 18 years.

Skelton stepped up to honor the recent and upcoming Boy Scouts and Eagle Scouts and give them their rewards.

After that, the recipients for this year's Award of Merit were to be called forward.

Patti Hale, the first Award presenter, introduced the first District Award of Merit recipient.

"He's been not only Den Leader, but Cub Master," Hale

Jeremy Long from Pack 22, who has 29 Cub Scouts, was the first to be awarded.

Dan Goodfellow, the second presenter, is the Apple Valley District Commissioner. Goodfellow came onstage to introduce the second recipient.

"When Cashmere Cubs were assigned to gather toys for the poor, she involved every Den by having them make wish lists so every boy was involved in matter. Again, as in earlier days, the counties through which it was to pass paid the bill for the construction until action by the state Legislature brought contracts to make it a real highway.

Almost 40 years before the Bavarian Village invited the world to visit its streets and shops, a headline in the local paper announced that 5,000 visitors were expected for the festivities that weekend. The occasion was the opening Tumwater Canyon to automobiles as part of the Scenic Route.

Coast visitors were invited to come, bring a picnic lunch, listen to well-known speakers. Local festivities were the project of the chambers of commerce. They had promised free coffee to the picnic crowd.

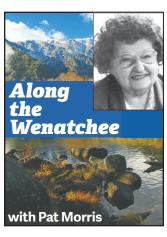

Pete Wheeler had earned a considerable reputation for brewing coffee in quantity and he had agreed to preside over the coffee making.

The first route over the pass took travelers through Nason Creek Valley, then to Lake Wenatchee and on over Beaver Creek Hill. The patchwork of roads — all without signs invited, and it was easy to get lost. The one-lane roads to this point, with possible driver's mind on his driving. There was a bit of etiquette observed should another car appear: the car on the inside of the road was assumed to have arrived first and the oncoming vehicle must back to a turnout and allow it to proceed.

Roads then to Tye, the former Wellington at the mouth of the 3-mile tunnel, did a considerable amount of winding. While attempts were made to keep grades in the lesser range, there were hills and dips, but they kept the trip from being monotonous. The scenery was outstanding also.

Heading over Beaver Creek Hill was hardly soothing to the nerves, but work to relocate it to part of the logging road helped. The highway ahead to Leavenworth and Dryden was possibly the farthest from being dustless of the entire trip. Local folks put in a call to the commissioners for oiling, as the once-remote route became widely used with the Canyon portion made a loop possible. Few places had the towering mountain heights so close at hand. To improve on nature, A.C. Barclay arranged stuffed wild animals in strategic spots where tourists were likely to glimpse them.

The opening of the Tumwater

New for the occasion were rides over the route in an airplane, where plane rides traveled the Tumwater-Chumstick loop for a fee. The only thing lacking was the colorful autumn leaves, but September's early days came too soon for that.

Those who wished to travel to Dryden and on to the Columbia drove over what is called the North Road to Peshastin's steel bridge. Today's south road was not finished, for portions of cliffs that went to the river's edge hindered and demanded a sizeable bridge. There was no concrete bridge where we cross today.

running to Wenatchee lay smooth and inviting after so much one-lane surface, some graveled and some the original part of the mountain section.

At Wenatchee, this town had at last solved the problem of how its main street should be completed. After considerable expression of opinions, etc., it had been covered with creosoted blocks stood on end in the sand. That had hardly been completed before the state, using it as part of their route, offered funds to make it a concrete ribbon.

To do the occasion justice, a formal opening was set. A big street celebration was held attended by 10,000 people. Merchants marched to the scene. The creosoted blocks were burned to make light for the speech-making deemed necessary, games and contests were run off and finally dancing concluded the joyful occasion. Wenatchee was now ready to look her part as the Apple Capital of the World.

The train traffic on the Tumwater portion of today's Stevens Pass route had only been halted a few weeks and the ties and snowsheds removed when all who wished to see the new roadway were invited to drive across the mountains and follow pilot cars to Leavenworth. When the picnic and speeches were over, cars were asked to form a chain two cars wide and drive back west to a picture making that forever preserved the day.

■ COOKING WITH TERI

HAPPY 100TH ANNIVERSARY GIRL SCOUTS

By Teri Miller

It all started in 1917, when Juliette Gordon Low founded the Girl Scouts of America in Georgia. Like all non-profits fundraising is an important part of a healthy organization. The girls of Mistletoe, Oklahoma needed money to fund troop activities, so they decided to sell cookies to raise money. The girls along with help from their mothers baked cookies in the high school cafeteria and sold them as a service project. Other troops took notice and they too started selling cookies, they had baked. The cookie sales got a big boost in 1922 when the "American Girl" published an article about their fundraising business plan. They also published a recipe the girls were using to make a sugar cookie. In 1933 the Girl Scout Cookie Sale became part of the entire organization. Since that time the cookies have been commercially made and is a major scource of fundraising for troop activities.

This event is not just about raising money, but is also a very educational program for the girls. The girls learn goal setting, decision making, money management, people skills, and business ethics. My sisters and I were all Girl Scouts, I went on to be a Senior Girl Scout, and the skills I learned in scouting have been an important part of my life. I cannot begin to tell you the number of boxes of cookie I sold or the number of boxes of cookies I have purchased. I will not go past a Girl Scout selling cookies with out purchasing as many as I can. Today 2.8 million Girl Scouts with the support of 900,000 adults are selling cookies and learning life skills that will make them great. So please support the Girl Scouts and buy cookies.

Cashmere High School's Baseball Team prepares to face this season

Staff Writer This is Cashmere High School Baseball Coach Jeff Carlson's tenth season as the head coach of the baseball program. became Carlson School District Cashmere athletic director two years ago.

Prior to that, he coached middle school sports for 8 years. Coach Carlson and his team are very much looking forward to this new season. According to Carlson, there are quite a few key players in the team for this season.

These key players are: Tyler Chipman, a junior, plays as pitcher and shortstop. He was first team all-league last season and, according to Carlson, is the team's #1

"In his first two seasons, he has a combined 17-3 record on the mound and his is one of the top pitchers in the state," Carlson said.

Tanner Van Lith, a senior, catcher and first plavs baseman. He, too, was first team all-league last season.

"Tanner can play many different positions and will be one of the most feared hitters in the Caribou Trail League," Carlson said. Jay Lightfoot, a senior, plays as pitcher and was second team all-league last season.

"Jay is primed for an outstanding senior season," Carlson said. "He was one of our most productive players this summer and he brings a fearless attitude to our team."

Jarec Kunsman, a junior, plays second baseman and was first team all-league last season.

"Jarec brings a lot of speed and great instincts to our team," Carlson said.

Garrett Tarver, a junior, plays pitcher and first baseman. He was second team all-league in the last season.

"Garrett will be counted on to be one of our top pitchers this season," Carlson said.

Kross Knoll, a junior, plays third baseman.

"Kross looks to be one of our biggest threats offensively," Carlson said. "He has a great approach at the plate and will be counted on to drive in a lot of runs in the middle four line-up.'

Jacob Ball, a junior, plays center field. Jacob suffered a knee injury while playing football and will be sidelined 'indefinitely', according to Carlson.

"Jacob was one of our top defensive players last season and one of our hottest hitters last postseason," Carlson said. "He continues to work extremely hard in his rehab with hopes of contributing later in the season."

> The Bulldogs Baseball team finished the 2016 season with an 18-5 record.

> The team qualified for the State tournament for their 8th straight season last year. They won the Caribou Trail League Championship and the District 6 Championship.

The team defeated the Naches Valley Rangers in the first round of the 1A State Tournament last season before they fell to the Freeman Scotties in the Regional Final at Moses Lake's Larson Field by the score of 3-2.

As for the opposing teams they will be up against, Carlson said that The Caribou Trail League will be a 'very tough conference this spring'.

"Okanogan and Chelan both bring back a lot of experience," Carlson said. "We don't get too caught up on other teams, but rather focus on the process and controlling what we can control.

According to Carlson, the strength of the team will be in the depth of their pitching staff.

"Chipman, Lightfoot and Tarver are very experienced and can be dominant pitchers," Carlson said. "Newcomers Hudson White, Austin Dueman and Greg Reinhart provide great depth to a pitching staff that will be one of the top staffs

Having been forced to practice indoors for the season's first couple of weeks due to wet field conditions, Carlson said that the team's scheduling could be challenging as they are to play an early doubleheader against 'perennial power' Naches Valley soon.

"We are also scheduled to face Freeman again in early April, who ended our season last spring in the state quarterfinals," Carlson said.

tough non-league schedule will help the team to be prepared for Caribou Trail League play, according to Carlson.

"Our goal is always to improve each and every day to ensure that we are playing our best baseball in the month of May," Carlson said.

On Friday, March 17, Cashmere will be playing a home game against the Orting Cardinals at 4:30 p.m.

The following home game will be held on Tuesday, April 4 against the North Mason Bulldogs at 4:00 p.m.

This year marks the fifth year that Juan Valle has been coaching the Cashmere High School Boys Soccer team.

Valle and the boys are very eager to start this season and are working extremely hard in preparation.

"We have many players this year who will make a huge impact on how the team will function," Valle said.

Returning Varsity players for this season include Erik Alvarado, Caleb Bakken, Christian Buenrostro, Corbin Evans, Jose Lima, Daniel Naranjo, Corbin Pheasant, Alex Sanchez and Edwin Torres.

"We are a pretty balanced team," Valle said. "Every single player will be a key in our success."

The boys are very much looking forward to the big game against Cascade this year, which truly is the most anticipated match of their season.

"Everyone knows that this is the greatest rivalry in our league and we always look forward to playing against them," Valle said.

According to Valle, every player has accepted their role in the team and they know what to expect from each other and from their coaches.

"Our team has reached a very cohesive state," Valle said.

The boys played against the Ephrata team on Saturday, March 11 in an away game and

Cashmere Athletic Booster Club in need of board members

Kirby and Kris Reinhart, Co-Presidents of the Booster Club, have reported that there are two people leaving the club.

"Scott and Terry Chipman are resigning as Presidents of the Cashmere Athletic Booster club and we wanted to acknowledge their past contributions," Kirby Reinhart said.

According to Kirby, the Chipmans have been very involved within the Cashmere community for many years as they volunteered on numerous boards and committees. They were also very involved in the successes that the Cashmere Athletic Booster club has achieved over the past few

"Kris and I feel very fortunate to have worked with Scott and Terry and wish them well," Kirby Reinhart said.

Reinhart stated that the Cashmere Athletic Booster club is financially prepared to 'comfortably' move forward in considering taking on new projects.

"Like past Cashmere Athletic Booster club boards, we have enjoyed the tremendous support from the Cashmere community to accomplish many projects related to our Cashmere athletic programs," Reinhart said.

The Booster club has implemented outlines and guidelines of current events that describe what all the club is currently involved in to help in clarifying the goals and objectives for new board members.

Current board members include Co-Presidents Kirby and Kris Reinhart, Treasurer Dueman, Director Jeff Carlson and Volunteer Managers Kristen Knoll and Kathy McNulty. The positions of Vice President and Secretary of the Booster club are currently vacant.

"Kris and I are only planning on staying on the board for another year," Kirby revealed. "We would like to use this time to assist the future board members to understand the goals and objectives and make this transition as easy as possible.'

The Cashmere High School Track and Field ended the 2016 Season very well with the boys achieving 1st place in the Caribou Trail League and the girls getting 3rd place.

Both the Cashmere girls and boys have won eight of the last ten Caribou Trail League Championships.

"We have a great turnout of freshmen this year," Track and Field Coach Jeff Kenoyer said. "Combining boys and girls we have 34 freshmen on the roster with a total roster of 80. The added depth on the team will be a help as we can better cover all the events."

Five of the girls' top six scorers from 2016 are returning this year. These players are senior Elli Kimes. sophomore Andee Kimes, junior Dani Monroe, junior Shelby Brunner and senior Sami Sykes.

Last year, the girls came in at 6th place at the State Championships. Six girls competed at State and five returned with medals:

Elli Kimes being 1st in pole vault with the state record of 13-0.5, Andee Kimes placed 7th with the 400 dash, Shelby Brunner got 8th place in pole vault and Dani Monroe and Molly Thies got 1st place in the 4x400 relay. Elli Kimes and Andee Kimes also received 1st place in the relay.

Five of the boys' top six scores from last year are also returning. These players include senior Luke Simonson, junior Evan Gambill, junior Scott Bailey, senior Jacob Dotson and senor Ian Lindell.

In 2016, three Track and Field boys qualified for State and all three of them earned medals.

Luke Simonson won 6th place in the Triple Jump, Jonathan Mangas (graduated) received 6th place in the 3200 run and Eli Phillips (graduated) received 8th place in the 300 hurdles.

Looking forward into 2017, Kenoyer reported that one athlete in each event will be able to qualify for the State Track Meet.

"It will be very difficult for a Caribou Trail League school to earn a state trophy," Kenoyer Okanogan is also returning to the Caribou Trail League after they won the Boys' State 2B Championship. Their girls earned 2nd place.

"Based on returning athletes, it looks like it will be a five-school battle for both boys and girls League Championships." Kenoyer said.

According to Cashmere should be able to compete for the League Championship as they are combining their freshmen with the returning girls of last year, 16 of them being lettermen.

"We have a good number of freshmen and sophomores on the boys' team with some experienced junior and seniors," Kenoyer said. "I expect our veterans (12 returning lettermen) to do well, and with our talented newcomers we should have a respectable boys' team with a good chance to defend the League Championship."

Cashmere Track and Field will be competing at the Ray Cockrum Relays in Wenatchee on Saturday, March 25 and then on Monday, March 27, any athletes who have missed a Meet will compete at Moses Lake.

There will be a Cashmere Invitational Meet on Saturday, April 15 and a Tuesday, April 18 Meet featuring Cashmere, Bridgeport and Upper Valley at Cascade.

The following Cashmere Meets will be on Tuesday, April 25 and Friday, April 28.

Wednesday, May 10 will see the Caribou Trail League Championships at Cascade and then on Thursday, May 18 the District 6 1A Championships will be hosted at Cashmere.

After that, Thursday, May 25 through Saturday, May 27 will be the time of State, which will be at Eastern Washington University in Cheney.

For Trevor Kert, the high school's tennis coach, this is his first year taking over as head coach for the team.

Kert was an assistant coach for three years around fifteen years ago.

"My first few years I coached 3 or 4 years for JV," Kert said.

Ted Smith, who was the head coach for the team last year, is this year's assistant coach.

"It's nice to inherit a good

Kert is very excited and enthusiastic about working alongside Smith this year and is very grateful for this opportunity of working with a program that Smith had turned over to him.

"I'm excited about working with Ted, and it's a nice luxury as a rookie Head Coach," Kert

Some key players for this year include Tyler Kert, Jason Kenoyer, Ryan Cooper, Paiton Wagner, Aleah Kert and Skylar Larson. Tyler Kert on the boys' team has been to State a couple of vears.

"Kenoyer is another good boys' player," Kert said.

According to Kert, Ryan Cooper is a player who has put in a lot of time for practice during the summer.

during the summer.

"He's going to be a good player," Kert said.

Paiton Wagner would be the 'most exciting player' for this season, according to Kert.

"She took 2nd in State as a freshman," Kert said. Wagner has even gotten a tennis scholarship to the University of Oregon.

Aleah Kert on the girl's team placed 6th at State last season

Larson, a junior, is another player that Kert is very excited about for this year.

"She (Larson) is new to Cashmere, but she played very well in pre-season tennis," Kert said. "She's going to be a good player."

Chelan and Okanogan are two teams that Kert and his team are very much looking forward to playing this year.

"Chelan always has a good team," Kert said. "Okanogan has got a great doubles team on the girls' side."

One obstacle for the team

thus far is the fact that there is still quite a bit of snow on the tennis courts, which leaves the team members having to go and shovel off the courts at times.

"The courts are just snowed over," Kert said. "We're supposed to have our first home match next Friday (March 17)."

Kert laughed as he said that he thinks everyone would also like the snow to stop as well.

like the snow to stop as well. When asked what he's most hopeful about this season Kert said, "Just to see the players improve. Some of these players have put a lot into tennis- a lot of time into tennis. (We want) to see them get better and to place well in league for both the girls' and the boys' teams."

The Tennis team plays a home match against Entiat on Friday, March 17 at 4:00 p.m. Saturday, March 18 there is another home game against East Valley (Yakima) at 12:00 p.m.

next team to be awarded.

Levi Heyen, the boy's coach, brought his boys up to receive their well earned awards.

This year's All League awards went to Luke Simonson, Noah Phillips and Tyler Kert.

According to Heyen, Simonson is all about playing the best he can, no matter what the outcome of the game turns out to be. Phillips has been in the gym since the season ended, showing his dedication for improvement. Kert has been named the Player of the League within the Caribou Trail League. ## Cashmere Track in Ephrata

By Mikaila Wilkerson

Staff Writer

On Tuesday, March 14, the Cashmere High School Track team attended the Ephrata Icebreaker Track Meet.

The weather was overcast and at 63 degrees.
"The kids were able to compete in only two events rather than their usual four because this meet was a 'jamboree' for us," Track coach Jeff Kenoyer said.

According to Kenoyer, jamborees are basically a practice but with other schools involved. These do not count for the ten track meet season limit that each athlete has.

"Cashmere athletes had a good start to the season," Kenoyer said.

Personal records were set in the meet by Aster Dotson (100 dash, 13.14), Josh Johnson (shot put, 35-0.75 and javelin, 107-2), Tyson Schmitten (pole vault, 11-6 and 110 high hurdles, 19.55), Ariana Morgan (shot put, 19-0), Andee Kimes (pole vault, 9-6), and Zach Cook (discus, 94-5 and javelin, 109-6).

"Carter Ball (100 dash and 300 hurdles), Clare Norman (long jump), Grace Hammond (long jump) and Elli Pheasant (triple jump) earned places on the Fantastic Freshmen lists," Kenoyer said.

Brittany Dowell (800 run), Aimee Martin (1600 run) Aster Dotson (javelin), Mikayla Stoffel (javelin) and Tyson Schmitten (pole vault) each became Super Sophomores.

"Fantastic Freshmen and Super Sophomores are record lists compiled by Cashmere coaches that list the best marks of freshmen (since 1983) and sophomores from over 50 years of track meets," Kenoyer said.

These record lists are also available on the Cashmere High School website.

The track team's next meet is Saturday, March 25 in Wenatchee.

Council Meeting

Green expressed his desire to start the new expansion's construction in the spring of 2018 and for the new wall to be ready by the fall of 2018.

After protests were made for the location of the wall by a few members of the public, including Teri Weedman, the manager of the Riverside Center, the approval of the memorial extension was tabled by the council so that possible location alternatives could be looked into.

The main concern for where the wall was planned to go was that it would have been on the edge of a park. There, it could possibly be vandalized or graffitied by children or younger people who did not really know about 9/11 and would not realize the value of such a wall. People might even leave trash on it, which was pointed out by Weedman, who has already cleaned trash off of the existing memorial and plaza.

A City Council Meeting on March 13 saw Tom Green back in the meeting room to further discuss his expansion plans and to seek the approval of a newly suggested wall location.

As it turns out, Green had gone back to the City Hall on Tuesday, February 14, the day after the first meeting, and had talked with Director of Planning/Building Mark Botello about possible alternative locations for the wall. After a few brief discussions and small approvals for the new proposed location, Green took the new proposal for the site, which was to be right beside the already established memorial, to the Foundation Board.

"After the board meeting, our whole board walked down to look at the site," Green said in the March 13 meeting. "We're very happy with that. Actually, Mark had a lot of really good reasoning for why that was a good site."

So then it was decided on that the wall, which was going to be a $60,000 investment overall, was to be constructed beside the original memorial, along the evergreens between the Riverside Center and the Cashmere Manor Apartments.

The Memorial Wall's new location has been approved by

• There has been an agreement with WSDOT to paint stripe the city's streets, which the state has been doing for years. The proposed agreement for the street paint striping is $4,200.

• The city of Cashmere has used WA State Contract #16904 to purchase a 2015 Caterpillar Loader for $172,356. Though the Loader is a 2015, it is still brand new. my Atheist friends would wholeheartedly assert that once a person dies, it's over and that individual has become worm food and fertilizer.

However, much to the chagrin of my dear friends who hold to such a materialistic world view, their view point is hardly the majority in the world today.

Most of the people living on Earth, have some belief that there is indeed life after death.

But who's right? Or perhaps a more sobering question to ask and I believe the Bible. Call me narrow minded, or simple

if you must but the Scriptures have endured skepticism, criticism and ridicule for centuries and yet none have seemed to stop it from spreading or have succeeded in denying its veracity. Voltaire, the Enlightenment writer and philosopher of the 18th century

once stated, "Another century and there will not be a Bible on earth". However, Voltaire has been dead for over 200 years and the Bible still continues to

I believe in life after death not just because I hold to historic orthodox Christianity but because I have the credible words of an expert at my disposal: Jesus Christ.

Jesus foretold of his death and resurrection, telling his disciples that in three days change lives to this day.

Obviously I am a Christian is what if they are wrong?

Final Destination

Rummaging through my stack of papers and books that cover my desk, I found a small folded piece of paper with a large red question mark with the title "The Big Question". What is the big question you ask? It is this: If you were to die today, where would you go?

Is there life after death? People have been speculating this for eons. Every civilization has come up with their own someone dies. people go to Valhalla, Nirvana, Heaven or Hell, or as the Naturalist would say "nowhere at all" after they shed this mortal coil? This question of our final destination is part of the human experience. There is something about the experience of life in general that answers to the mystery of what happens after

causes us to have a hard time accepting that somehow death is really the end. Now 11:59 a.m. 3845 McKee Ln.: sick person; CC6, Ballard after his death and burial, he would rise from the grave. And he did. So in summary, the words of a person who predicted his death, burial and resurrection and it came about exactly as he said should call us all to not only stand in amazement but also adds infinite credibility to his words and testimony.

Jesus spoke of life after death all throughout his earthly ministry. He taught explicitly for example in Matthew 25, that there only two destinations after someone dies. He talked of Hell and often, warning people that unless they repent they will likewise face such a reality (Lk. 13:5). He gave the promise to the dying thief on the cross, who looked at the suffering Messiah and believed with the words "today you will be with me in Paradise" (Lk. 23:43). There is one example however that stands distinct from the rest and it is found in the gospel of Luke chapter 16:19-31 where Jesus talks of the rich man and Lazarus. Now I don't have much space to go through it entirely but I would invite you to find a Bible and look at it yourself.

The rich man and Lazarus both die at the same time and yet they end up in two very different places. Now some might argue that Jesus is speaking using parables and this isn't necessarily a real account but rather to convey a broader message. However, I and many others disagree. Jesus did speak in parables yet when it comes to Luke 16. Jesus uses specific names and places which is unlike the parables found in the Gospels.

Jesus is speaking about a real event and that is what is so troubling to some and so comforting to others.

So life after death is it real or is it some made up fantasy? The message of the Bible says plainly that this is a reality and people will either spend eternity in the presence of God in love or in the presence of God facing His wrath. If this is true, then I ask you where would you go? Really, don't brush it off, think about it. Shut off the T.V., eliminate all distractions or even take a walk if you have to because this question is too important to dismiss or answer wrongly.

NCW Media Inc.'s Obituary and Memorial Policy

An obituary is a way for family members to commemorate a loved one's life and to notify the larger community of the deceased.

Obituaries are also used for historical and ancestral data. Memorials are another way of letting the community know about the life and memories of the person who has died. A memorial is different from an obituary. An obituary is usually current while a memorial can be written later.

For publication in the Cashmere Valley Record or The Leavenworth Echo, an obituary or memorial needs to be typed and emailed to editor@leavenworthecho. com no later than 4 p.m. Friday for the next week's issue. Funeral homes and chapels can submit obituaries by noon on Monday, except holidays.

Obituaries are priced per word while the charge for memorial ads are by the column-inch. Cost of the obituary/ memorial is due at the time of placement.

For information call 509-548-5286, or email editor@ leavenworthecho.com
