Claus couple brings Christmas cheer to Pateros Park

With sirens wailing and horns blaring, Santa and Mrs. Claus arrived in a Christmas light-draped fire truck at Pateros Memorial Park last Friday, Dec. 7. And held court for a line of youngsters from 6-8 p.m. Refreshments including hot cocoa and coffee and bonfires helped warm visitors as other residents picked up pre-ordered Christmas trees across the street at the Sweet River Bakery.

BREWSTER – The city Planning Commission convened a public hearing last Wednesday, Dec. 5, to allow testimony on proposed changes to Title 17 Zoning of the Brewster Municipal Code (BMC) that will allow more flexibility for residential structures within the city's C2 (Commercial) and HI (Heavy Industrial) zones.

According to the public hearing notice, the proposed amendments "add a new definition to 17.08.020 'Dormitories' and a new use 'Dormitories' to 17.10.020 District Use Chart and amend 17.36.060 and 070 to allow the reconstruction and replacement of nonconforming residential use structures within the city."

In citizen-speak the changes allow residential property owners in the C2 and HI zones to sell, remodel or replace their homes with the added blessing of commercial lenders.

The matter was brought to the commission's attention last October by several homeowners in the Lakeview Drive neighborhood when one couple, Ron and Ruth Ann Paslay, lost the sale on their home at 410 Lakeview Drive when the prospective buyer was unable to obtain bank financing.

The bank denied the loan when it was discovered that the Paslay home was among several in an area that was rezoned commercial many years ago.

Advised of the problem, the Planning Commission met on Oct. 4, to hear testimony from

Citywide flush debuts Pateros water system upgrade

By MIKE MALTAIS

PATEROS – Not many events debut with a gigantic flush, but that's what went down, so to speak, in Pateros earlier this week when city officials turned on the town's new water system.

Last Tuesday morning, Dec. 11, four days later than the original flush date of Dec. 7, City Administrator Jord Wilson and water department personnel closed the valve on the city's old reservoir and opened the valve to the new 500,000-gallon storage tank adjacent to the cemetery. They flipped on the switch in the newly completed Well Three Pump Station at Pearl Street and Watson Draw Road and integrated the new delivery system to the existing one that serves the city's residential and commercial users.

the affected homeowners and pursue options to modify the zoning.

Kurt Danison, the city contract planner explained the proposed changes at last week's meeting.

"We made several modifications to 17.36.060 as it relates to loss or damage to a nonconforming structure," Danison said.

New Item B reads: A residential use nonconforming structure destroyed, damaged or having incurred a loss may be reconstructed on the same site.

New Item C reads: Any nonconforming structure damaged or destroyed may be repaired and/or rebuilt on the same site...provided that the building permit is obtained for reconstruction within six months following the damage or destruction and construction is completed within 18 months of the issuance of the building permit.

Juan Hernandez, at 406 Lakeview Drive, told commission members that he was grateful for the new language that resolves any future conflicts with his residential property.

Hernandez's neighbor, Sheila Lautensleger at 402 Lakeview Drive, explained that she owns an older doublewide manufactured home and that a new buyer might want to replace the aging structure with a newer model. She asked for clarification that the new zoning amendment would allow for that.

Danison assured her that new provisions under 17.36.070 would allow that flexibility, citing "a residential use nonconforming structure may be altered, expanded, or replaced on the same site."

Ron Paslay, at 410 Lakeview Way said he appreciated the Commission's actions despite the lost home sale.

"Our buyer didn't stay with us but once this thing is all settled, we can start afresh knowing that there won't be any hindrances as far as financing goes," Paslay said.

Anna Marie Dalbey, managing broker for the Coldwell Banker real estate in Brewster has first-hand experience with residential properties in commercial zones, and questioned whether the zoning amendment was sufficient to satisfy a lender's reluctance to finance such transactions.

Danison said that while the zoning remains commercial, the city clerk contacted several lenders, including the one who denied Paslay's original buyer, and was advised that the lenders "felt comfortable with these changes and they would lend money because the house could remain."

Danison added that had the lenders contacted not been agreeable to the new language, the Commission would have been compelled to take more extensive measures. He said that of the options available to the commission - allowing residences in all commercial zones or rezoning the property - the Title 17 changes represented the fastest and easiest solution.

Reflecting on the time it took for some residents to get permits and rebuild after recent wildfire losses, commission members then voted to extend the permit acquisition period from six months to one year and the construction period from 18 months to two years.

The commission approved a motion recommending that the City Council adopt proposed amendments to Title 17 of the Brewster Municipal Code. The proposed amendment was included on the Council's Dec. 12 meeting agenda.

the pressure in the water lines by about 20 pounds, not a huge amount according to Wilson who said the added pressure should not cause any surge in the system. It did, however, introduce a significant change in the flow dynamics.

"The old system pumped water from the wells to the reservoirs and back to the city," said Wilson. "The new one will pump into the system at the well and push water on through to the new reservoir."

Where the old system worked in one direction, the new system will work in both directions.

"We will be monitoring it closely and can switch it off if necessary," said Wilson

City officials have taken every precaution to make the citywide flush as uneventful as possible in terms of disruptions or inconveniences.

"What we think will happen is that residents may find some sediments that will break loose when the new system comes on line," said Wilson. "We encourage them to open up faucets to flush sediment in their supply line. We will open fire hydrants if necessary."

The city was thoughtful to advise residents in their billing statements and on Facebook about the switchover. Okanogan County Emergency Management was enlisted to issue a residential alert to its subscribers the day before the flush and again at 9 a.m. the day of.

"We have set up crews to go to residences for those who may need help with plugged filters and drains," said Wilson and speculated that the sediment removal could go on all week.

The new water system is the culmination of four years of infrastructure restoration and repair that began after the July 2014 Carlton Complex wildfire devastated parts of the city. Along the way the city has garnered numerous awards for meeting high standards for water quality and treatment.

The old reservoirs, now art deco landmarks set into the hillside, were built in 1929 and 1949 and will now be retired, Wilson said. The city's original wells were put in around 1960 when the city was relocated to make way for Wells Dam.

The completed design concept for Well 4 Pump Station, unveiled in the Nov. 29 issue of the Quad City Herald, will be built next year in the parking lot on Lakeshore Drive across from Memorial Park.

BREWSTER – The second annual Las Posadas, a Mexican Christmas tradition of caroling and candles that reenacted the journey of Joseph and Mary seeking and eventually finding shelter in a stable played out on Main Street last Saturday evening, Dec. 8.

More than two dozen participants carrying lighted candles departed from The Armory at 5:30 p.m. and journeyed from business to business on both sides of Main Street, eventually concluding at the Senior Center on Bridge Street. Along the way the group sang carols at each stop from Mi Pueblo near the west end of town to the Brewster Public Library at the east end.

Hot chocolate and tamales awaited the caravan as they arrived at the Senior Center where an appreciative gathering of well-wishers welcomed them.

Las Posadas was organized by Manny and Martin Hurtado with help from the Brewster Chamber of Commerce, and donations from the following sponsors: Anna Marie Dalbey, Apply Valley Wireless, Armory, Boys and Girls Club Brewster, Brewster Bear Basket, Brewster

Brewster Chamber elects 2019 officers

Tie for Board position

By MIKE MALTAIS

BREWSTER – The Chamber of Commerce elected its 2019 officers and board members at its regular monthly meeting on Wednesday, Dec. 5. New officers include:

President - Anna Marie Dalbey; Vice President - Jose Said Velasco; Treasurer - Lainie Hammond and Secretary - Mike Mauk

The vote count for the Chamber's three-person Board of Directors resulted in a tie for one of the three positions. Joining Julio Talavera and Kathy Lowry will be either Emmanuel (Manny) Hurtado or Ron Johnson.

Chamber Secretary Mike Mauk said the Chamber is considering a revision of its bylaws to allow both candidates to serve on the Board.

In other business Chamber president Anne Marie Dalbey confirmed that the Culpepper & Merriweather Circus is coming to Brewster for two shows at 5:30 and 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, June 6, 2019. Dalbey said she is submitting a permit application to the city for approval of the event.

Heather Carrington, interim director of the Brewster Boys and Girls Club (BBGC) reported that interviews for a permanent BBGC Director are still underway.

BBGC is partnering with the Washington State Department of Transportation (WSDOT) to host Family Night from 5:30-8 p.m., Tuesday, Dec. 18. The event will include dinner, guest speakers, and community roundtable discussions that will focus on the topic: How do you get where you need to go on time and affordably? How could it be better? or to RSVP, call (509) 689-1192.

Brewster City Council member Avis Erickson reminded chamber members that the Cops & Kids, Christmas Shop, and Winter Carnival will be held at the BBGC from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., Saturday, Dec. 15.

The aim of Cops & Kids is to build positive relations and trust with youngsters in the community, Erickson said. Christmas Shop will offer $1 gift shops for both adults and youngsters to purchase gifts, complete with free gift wrapping, for family members. The Winter Carnival will include games, prizes, refreshments, and an opportunity for photos with Santa and Mrs. Claus. A Snow Safety Poster contest will give youngsters a chance to win a new sled.

Erickson requested volunteers to help with gift wrapping and the many activities.

Erickson said that a Christmas tree on display inside Brewster Marketplace "has little tags on it for donations to the Food Bank and the Senior Center."

Brewster Marketplace will collect the donations and write a check to both organizations at the end of the year. As a result of a fundraising drive at its November meeting, the Chamber presented a $250 donation to the Food Bank.

The Chamber's annual membership drive gets underway in January and all non-member city businesses will receive an enrollment application and invitation to join.

The next Chamber meeting will be at 9 a.m., Jan. 9, at the Columbia Post 97 American Legion building at 102 N. Third Street in Brewster.

BREWSTER – Facing some stiffer competition in the Central Washington 2B league this season, the Bears varsity basketball team is building its run for another state appearance around six returning veterans after losing four seniors to graduation last June.

Last year's CW2B Player of the Year, Joe Taylor, is one of three returning seniors along with All-League Honorable Mention Issac Baker and Quincy Vassar.

Junior Corey Jarrell, an All-League First Team selection last season is also back together with Second-Team pick and fellow junior Kade Kelpman. Rounding out the varsity veterans is sophomore Cade Gebbers who has already shown that he is a three-point threat against any defense that gives him room to shoot.

Seniors Ernie Nanamkin and Alfredo Nila will help out in the backcourt positions.

Bears assistant coach Michael Taylor (white sweatshirt) works his team on strategies to break a full court press during a practice session last week.

Floating between varsity and JV are juniors Ricky Vazquez, Ubaldo Arellano, and Mason Kelly, sophomore Logan McGuire, and freshman Adiah Najera.

Unlike last year when the Bears blew by their CW2B rivals by comfortable double-digit margins, a pair of this season's opponents, Oroville, Lake Roosevelt, have the potential to give the Bears a run for the league title.

Oroville handed Brewster its first league loss in a 48-45 squeaker last Friday, Dec. 7, on the Bears' home turf. The Bears will get their first look at Lake Roosevelt when they host the Raiders on Thursday, Dec. 20.

Brewster brought home the fourth-place state trophy last season on the strength of a 16-0 regular season league record and 23-5 overall.

tively new to the sport. “Four of my wrestlers have more than one year of experience,” Kelly said. “A lot of them are just second-year guys. We don’t have any heavyweights, and a fair number of middleweights.” The team has competed at Okanogan and Davenport so

Down to the wire

Oroville hands hometown Bears first league loss

By MIKE MALTAIS
STAFF WRITER

BREWSTER – In an early season, edge-of-the-seat matchup, the Brewster varsity boys basketball team dropped a down-to-the-wire 48-45 decision to Oroville, last Friday, Dec. 7, on the Bears' home hardwood.

A back-and-forth battle that had the Hornets up 17-9 after the first quarter was tied six times in the first half as both teams entered the locker rooms knotted at 28-all. The Bears were plagued by bouts of poor shooting that combined with a stiff Hornets defense and effective free throw conversions was enough to make the difference down the stretch. Oroville got 11 of its points from 11-14 shooting from the foul line while Brewster had to settle for 4-6.

Oroville: 17-11-12-8 48

Tigers fall by 34

On the road at Tonasket, Tuesday, Dec. 4, the Bears took control of the Tigers early and led by four at end of the opening quarter, 18-14. Brewster had a big second quarter connecting for 22 points against six for Tonasket to take a 20-point halftime lead, 40-20.

quarter extended Brewster's lead to 58-26, and a final score of 69-35. Taylor and Jarrell scored 21 and 11 points respectively to lead the Bears. Baker and Kelpman added six apiece.

The Bears were scheduled to play Liberty Bell on the road, Tuesday, Dec. 11, and will meet the 1A Caribou Trail League Goats at Chelan on Friday, Dec. 11. Brewster will travel to Soap Lake next Tuesday, Dec. 18, before hosting Lake Roosevelt, undefeated at this writing, on Thursday, Dec. 20.
