A Bridgeport Elementary School fourth grader produced "Strawberry Small."

By MIKE MALTAIS STAFF WRITER

BREWSTER - Three Rivers Hospital (TRH) will display paintings created by fourth grade students from Brewster, Pateros, Bridgeport and Liberty Bell elementary schools thanks to a collaboration between TRH and Methow Arts.

Paintings by fourth grade students from Bridgeport and Brewster Elementary Schools went on display at the TRH early this month. The student art is framed and hung in the hospital, with a public Open House scheduled from 5-7 p.m., Thursday, August 16. The event will include live music and a selection of snacks and sparkling cider for kids and adults.

"Three Rivers Hospital staff have committed to funding a collaboration in which students from Liberty Bell, Pateros, Brewster, and Bridgeport Schools will create art through Methow Arts' artist-in-residence program, and then hang their work as an exhibit for one year," said Chris Majors, TRH Business Development Coordinator.

Head Start grant will upgrade BBGC restrooms

By MIKE MALTAIS STAFF WRITER

BREWSTER - The restrooms in the Brewster Boys and Girls Club and Early Head Start quarters at the Rec Center at 601 W. Cliff Avenue will get a much-needed upgrade thanks to a collaboration between Brewster Public Works Director Lee Webster and Okanogan County Child Development Association (OCCDA) Executive Director Jodi DeCesari.

Webster told a recent meeting of the Brewster Chamber of Commerce that DeCesari wrote the application for the one-time grant to cover estimated costs to renovate the boys' and girls' restrooms and advised Webster on Friday, July 27, that the grant had been approved.

"They need significant work," said DeCesari, "so I got a quote." DeCesari submitted the application for a one-time health and safety grant for the estimated $151,760 renovation to the Head Start regional office. DeCesari said a Head Start regional representative who wanted to fast-track the repairs, visited the site, took photos, and submitted them with the grant application.

"They gave me the approval and once it is processed through the Federal Grant Solutions system, the funds will be available," said DeCesari who expects that phase to be completed soon.

OCCDA leases space for its Early Head Start and Rural Home Visiting programs at the Rec. center building. DeCesari has served as Executive Director for OCCDA for the past two years. Prior to that she was a member of the agency's Board of Directors.

Last-minute Brewster Salmon Derby draws more than 200 anglers

By MIKE MALTAIS STAFF WRITER

BREWSTER - When Maurice Santillants of Lynwood dropped his line in the Brewster pool on the Columbia River last Friday morning, August 3, he did not expect that he would haul in a 34-plus-pound hatchery chinook salmon that would dwarf the King of the Pool winner in the annual Brewster King Salmon Derby. However, Santillants did not enter the Derby.

"We come over here about the same time every year," Santillants said of he and his fishing partner's annual trip.

After boating the lunker salmon, Santillants decided to swing by the derby headquarters to get an accurate scale weight of the catch. As derby co-organizer Randy Coles placed the king on the scales, the reaction of those present as the digital display flashed at 34.32 pounds indicated the surprise at a catch that exceeded the early leader by more than 10 pounds.

Despite a last-minute resurrection of the previously cancelled derby when the Washington Department of Fish and Wildlife reopened chinook salmon season on August 1, entries still numbered 208 fishermen including 17 in the 9-to-14-year Youth Division and 10 in the 8-and-under Child bracket. Nearly 50 sponsors including businesses, guide services, and sports outfitters signed on to support the derby.

Anglers launched a total of 81 boats and weighed in 253 salmon, 230 of those chinook and 23 sockeye during the three-day tournament run. On Friday, August 3, 86 chinook and 19 sockeye crossed the scale; Saturday saw 97 kings and two sockeye; Sunday concluded with 47 chinook and two sockeye.

Cash and prizes, not including raffles, were spread among 15 competition categories, with nine of those being side pots.

As it turned out, the non-derby entry weighed in on Friday eclipsed the eventual 27.43-pound King of the Pool

Mauk addresses Brewster Chamber on Made in America trip to D.C.

By MIKE MALTAIS STAFF WRITER

BREWSTER - Fishing tackle maker, Mike Mauk, owner of Mauk Fishing Stuff, was the guest speaker at the annual meeting of the Brewster Chamber of Commerce last Wednesday, August 1. Mauk, fresh from his trip to Washington, D.C., on July 23, where he participated in the Made in America Product Showcase at the White House, addressed chamber members about his experience.

Mauk, the Chamber secretary, said he thought he was being pranked when a White House liaison first called him on July 1 and invited him to come to the nation's capital. Mauk said that after the caller convinced him the offer was legitimate, he was told he had just 48 hours to accept the invitation to be the representative for American-made manufacturers from Washington state.

Mauk told the Chamber of his disbelief at being chosen but later learned that through his advertising or product use, a selection staff member was familiar with his tackle covers. He added that the selection committee performed its due diligence about him and his company to determine if both would be a good fit for the showcase.

"And there I was, a one-man operation among Lockheed Martin, NASA, and some companies that had 1,500 employees," said Mauk with some amazement.

"But you represent the start of a company that can grow to 1,500 employees," chamber member Avis Erickson reminded him. In other business, Chamber treasurer Leslie McNamara reported on the chamber's first Adopt-a-Highway roadside cleanup day on July 20. Four volunteers turned out for the 1.5-mile trash collection between mileposts 258 and 259.5 on U.S. 97 west of Brewster. McNamara said a lack of sufficient volunteers combined with the near-triple-digit temperature made the exercise one to remember.

Brewster Public Works Director Lee Webster reported that several city streets have been resurfaced, including Bruce, through a Transportation Improvement Board grant, and Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, Jay, all of Plaza, and a portion of Old Highway 97 east of town with city funds.

Homebuyer's Education Seminar scheduled for Brewster Senior Center

BY MIKE MALTAIS
STAFF WRITER

BREWSTER - The second Washington State Housing Finance Commission (WSHFC) Homebuyer Education Seminar will be held in Brewster is scheduled from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m., Saturday, August 18, at the Brewster Senior Center at 109 S. Bridge Street in Brewster.

The workshop is designed to help prospective homebuyers qualify for financial help to purchase a home. Those who successfully complete the upcoming seminar will receive a Certificate of Achievement, good for two years, to help buyers qualify for a variety of affordable housing programs available under WSHFC.

Doug Morger, an Eagle Home Mortgage loan officer from Wenatchee will teach the lender portion of the program. Anna Marie Dalbey, managing broker of the Coldwell Banker/Lake Chelan Properties office in Brewster, will be the instructor for the realtor side of the workshop.

A key advantage of the WSHFC is the Downpayment Assistance Program (DPA) that offers buyers who qualify a low-interest option to help acquire a home.

The first WSHFC seminar in Brewster was held last June and attracted about a dozen prospective home buyers. Morger teaches a WSHFC class every two months in Wenatchee and has been involved with the program since it came into being five years ago. Those interested in registering for the free seminar can contact Morger at dougmorger@eaglehm.com or call 509-888-4001.

Webster advised the Chamber that the Department of Transportation will install a two-way left turn lane on U.S. 97 west of town from the railroad bridge to Brewster Grange Road and reduce the speed zone there to 50 miles per hour. DOT representatives from the Wenatchee office told a recent meeting of the Brewster City Council of DOT's decision to install the turn lane after traffic studies showed a higher-than-normal accident rate on that stretch of highway. The work is estimated to require one to two weeks this summer.

Brewster Police Chief Nattalie Cariker told members that she would like to see the Chamber endorse a community fund that could be used to provide immediate help to victims of accidents or emergencies.

Police, fire, and EMS personnel are among the first to encounter events and individuals where immediate help is needed for survivors of a traumatic experience.

"There are many services in the community that provide support," said Cariker, "but we need a bridge to provide immediate relief to people until they can access those services."

Cariker distributed a resource sheet that listed seven organizations from Adult Protective Services to Support Services for Veterans Families, among those that operate in the county.

The next regular meeting of the Brewster Chamber of Commerce is Sept. 5.

Vic Baker to speak at Erratics Chapter

WENATCHEE - Wenatchee Valley Erratics Chapter of the Ice Age Floods Institute will meet at 7:00 p.m., Tuesday, August 14 at the Wenatchee Valley Museum, 127 South Mission, Wenatchee. Vic Baker, Professor of Planetary and Geosciences, U. of Arizona, and long-time Friend of the Erratics, will discuss "Ice-Age Flood Controversies: Past and Present." Catastrophic flooding has invoked controversy ever since the beginning of geological sciences. Disputes concerning the mega-flood origins of eastern Washington's Channeled Scabland began a century ago with research by J. Harlen Bretz (1882-1981) and Joseph Thomas Pardee (1871-1960). Debate has continued over the 50 years that Dr. Baker has been studying the area. This talk will provide an update on recent discoveries, with some reflections on both the past and future science of catastrophic floods.

Rep. Mike Steele a City Champion Award recipient

Chelan Mayor Mike Cooney was in charge of handing Steele with the AWC City Champion Award for all his work in the legislature.

By DIANA PIÑON STAFF WRITER

CHELAN – The Association of Washington Cities (AWC) awarded Rep. Mike Steele a City Champion Award in an evening reception on July 30 at Chelan City Hall Council Chambers.

Chelan Mayor Mike Cooney said a few words before presenting Steele with the award.

“I know where Mike Steele started, Manson, and the small town attributes have served him well advocating for the cities ... you’re a very strong voice for the cities in the state legislature. We are very proud of you, we are very proud that you represent the 12th District,” said

Cooney.

Steele started off as a council member and Cooney recalls him being “the voice of reason, always asking the best questions.”

Cooney is still in disbelief on how far Steele has come along. He thanked Steele for serving all cities in the 12th District, in particular Chelan. “You make your rounds, you’re an honest guy and I can’t thank you enough for being so non-partisan,” Cooney added.

Chelan councilmember Wendy Isenhart also had something to say about Steele. “I have seen Mike bring order out of chaos ... that’s what I appreciate about Mike, we have been on opposite sides of a lot of things and we finally came around to do what’s best for Chelan. I know he’s doing that in the legislature,” said Isenhart.

Cooney went ahead and presented Steele with the City Champion Award “for his advocacy when it comes to local control of the public rights of way.”

As the attendees applauded Steele, he thanked them for being there for him that evening. Steele felt humble and honored in receiving the award.

“I loved serving our city council here in Chelan, one of my most favorite experiences for sure. It has been a huge resource to draw upon legislature,” said Steele.

Steele also had special recognitions for Victoria Lincoln and Briana for all their work, “they are incredible advocates for small cities ... I have been very fortunate to be able to work with both of them.”

Also present was Wenatchee Mayor Frank Kuntz, “thanks Mike for doing work on behalf of cities of Wenatchee, Chelan and the rest of the cities ... I appreciate that,” he said. Kuntz also hopes that Steele stays in Olympia for a very long time because all the 12th District needs him there.

Brewster Public Works Director Lee Webster shared an anecdote of a project Steele was major key on, Webster shook Steele’s hand and thanked him.

Cashmere Mayor Jim Fletcher, Chelan councilmembers Erin McCardle and Tim Hollinsworth along with other community members were also present at the reception in honor of Steele.

Free trade just another absurd political theory

Free trade promised that we could buy goods for less. Programs like Nafta promised to bring us cheaper products from our neighbors while opening the world to quality goods from America. It was the classic win-win. The problem is it doesn't work.

Sure we've been able to buy cheaper cars, cell phones and TV's but the problem is the best paying jobs moved from America to Bangladesh, China, Mexico and a hundred third world countries where wages were more like slave labor. All while American politicians argued for higher and higher minimum wages to help restore the middle class.

The problem is that even with lower prices if wages don't keep pace with inflation then purchasing power declines.

Trump has it right. A little trade war may be exactly what is needed to balance the scales again.

In the third world wealth moves to the powerful not to the masses. So who do we

IN MY OPINION
Bill Forhan
Publisher

think is getting enriched by "free" trade with America?

China is a classic case. They steal our intellectual property. Then recreate our products with cheap labor. Americans then get to buy our American designed products for less while American workers struggle to find work that pays a "living" wage.

Let's examine the basic premise. The assumption is the "free market" should be unfettered in order to insure the lowest priced goods to the market. But when the markets are not competitively equal, there is no balance in the market place. The result is that the products are not competitively priced. One "provider" gets a competitive advantage over the other. The question is who ultimately benefits from this competitive imbalance? It's not the workers of the world!

As always it is the politicians and bureaucrats who produce nothing and do not create jobs.

Well, we have had nearly 30 years of the global economy. The "free" market that will make all of our lives better with cheaper products.

The problem is if you don't have the money to buy the products because wages aren't keeping pace with inflation then the entire dream starts to unravel.

That is when the theory and the practice start to collide.

In a world where capitalism is a foreign concept; in a world where workers rights, child labor laws and minimum wages are not on the official government agenda, there is no level playing field.

Unless the masses in the third world have purchasing power that begins to approach American standards they do not have the resources to buy superior, and more expensive, American products. The myth of fair trade unravels.

The result is growing trade imbalances. Wealth transfers from America to other countries and societies whose values we do not always respect.

More importantly, who in those other countries actually benefits from trade with America?

There are so many ways we can help countries around the world improve their standard of living and the quality of the global environment. But pretending that "free trade" programs are working is delusional.

Like too many political solutions they fail the test of practicability. The problem is we are too reluctant to throw them overboard when they prove unworkable.

I for one am willing to consider ways that we can make free trade fair. But when the world is a jumble of competing political systems with unequal beneficiaries I am doubtful that it can ever be totally fair.

In that world it is the primary responsibility of our leaders to make sure they are looking out for American citizens first.

I for one am willing to pay a little more for American made products where higher wages to American workers can flow through the American economy.

The death of man's brain and spirit

The next generation of tyrants will be the corporations that run the computers and all the gizmos and control all the money while also giving the masses a new religion of self satisfaction and complete addiction ala interactive games of life posing as life itself.

Their hands are on the controls and they no longer fear God. That necessary dread died in the 1960's and our ideas have become muddled into disbelief ever since.

The Corporate MindBenders will control about 75% of all of us. Think how this is coming about ... capitalism, overt racism and targeted demographics.

That's right, effeminate men have become the darlings of aggressive women. It has always been thus. There is one major exception: Donald Trump. Teresa May can kick your butt and so can Angela, but you just don't have any shame and so you speak your mind like most men wish they had the nerve to when they talk to their wives.

APPLES TO APPLES

It throws the world into a tizzy, but since when has passive-aggressive behavior naiveve become treasonous?

"The Donald" ate the Office of the President and then puked it back into the face of the status quo?

I might like this performance art masquerading as a Broadway Play.

This out of the box President who woke up in a different age and decided to make the best of it by faking it until making it. Then he made it.

This manic depressive, obsessive-compulsive beast let loose from the streets of Queens, Brooklyn and Manhattan, he, is now ours, but what are we going to do with him?

Reward his brilliance and put him back on television ... after he serves some time in the slammer?

Well, that's what some people think. I would rather let him explode naturally after another seven years in the Oval Office and 20 more years on earth as a retired entrepreneur. Our "Donald" will live to see his son Baron become a U.S. Senator.

Baron will eventually become the second of the Trumps to become president.

Only Baron will be a Gay Vegetarian who adores Melania and makes her the Ambassador to Slovenia.

The he dies in a fiery car crash while racing in the Grand Prix of Monaco.

It is ok when this happens, because Melania is then elected President as the Third Trump to hold the office.

She, in fact, becomes the first woman president.

By this time the Koreans are unified, Putin has been murdered by his own people and Cuba becomes the 52nd state after Puerto Rico finally becomes the 51st. Guam, Jamaica, the Bahamas and even Bermuda all become American states as our great nation takes full control of the Caribbean.

Bitcoin is fabulously corrupted by even more advanced cyber-mining techniques and the world returns to its true love of gold, silver, platinum and diamonds, pearls and other gems.

Bartering becomes incredibly popular and the Postal Service finally gets privatized by greedy anti-government forces who declare FedEx and UPS as the two winners of the postal service wars. Now a letter to Grandma in Alaska costs $7.95 and a box of cookies to the kid in the army in Germany is a $50 fee.

All babies born after 2040 will have their "social security" credentials implanted into their brains right after birth while the skull is still soft.

Modern music will consist of sharp bleats and flat drones aimed at the inner ear and undetectable otherwise.

Cars will also be obsolete because no one will ever travel anywhere anymore except by brain patterns set up and instigated by your local AAA. They can send you anywhere without you actually ever having to leave your couch.

Thank God I will be taking a dirt nap soon after all of this happens.

I will pass while living high in the hills, while in my sleep after a hard day's work on the homestead.

A smile on my face. No more games of the occult. When I'm gone the world will once again be sane, but only to the insane observers. Amen.

Rep. Newhouse statement on Interior's new guidance on North Cascades Ecosystem Grizzly Bear Restoration Plan / Environmental Impact Statement

SUBMITTED BY WILL BOYINGTON, OFFICE OF REP. DAN NEWHOUSE

WASHINGTON, D.C. – Rep. Dan Newhouse (R-WA) released the following statement on new guidance from the U.S. Department of Interior, the National Park Service (NPS), and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (FWS) advising that NPS and FWS would seek further stakeholder input to inform the planning and decision-making process related to the North Cascades Ecosystem Grizzly Bear Restoration Plan/Environmental Impact Statement (EIS) before any decision is made on the proposal:

"I am very pleased with the guidance from National Park Service, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, and Department of Interior that NPS and FWS will take additional time to seek further stakeholder input in response to concerns I have raised on behalf of my constituents," said Rep. Newhouse. "Local communities must be allowed to give input before any decision is made. The communities most affected by the North Cascades Ecosystem Grizzly Bear Restoration Plan/Environmental Impact Statement are stakeholders whose voices must be taken into account, and I appreciate the willingness of the involved federal agencies to listen."

The DOI/NPS/FWS guidance reads: "The National Park Service and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service are continuing analysis related to the North Cascades Ecosystem Grizzly Bear Restoration Plan/Environmental Impact Statement (EIS). In response to requests from stakeholders, including specific inquiries from Congressman Dan Newhouse, the two bureaus are taking appropriate additional time to consider and evaluate further stakeholder input to inform the planning and decision making process. Public input, reliance on the best available science, and coordination with affected communities, agencies, and organizations will be critical before any decision is made."

Newhouse, Cuellar H-2A Amendment included in Homeland Security Appropriations Bill

Bipartisan amendment applies Ag guest worker program to all agriculture

SUBMITTED BY WILL BOYINGTON, OFFICE OF REP. DAN NEWHOUSE

WASHINGTON, D.C. – Rep. Dan Newhouse (R-WA) and Rep. Henry Cuellar (D-TX) released the following statements after the House Committee on Appropriations approved an amendment they offered to the Fiscal Year 2019 Homeland Security Appropriations Act. The legislation provides for critical programs such as border and immigration enforcement, customs activities, protection against cyberterrorism, aviation security, natural disaster response, border security, and temporary guest-workers. Rep. Newhouse and Rep. Cuellar's bipartisan amendment applies the H-2A program to all of agriculture, and it was adopted by unanimous voice vote:

"Farmers facing a shortage of agriculture labor have not been well-served by the current H-2A program," said Rep. Newhouse. "Modern agriculture demands modernization of the bureaucratic H-2A program, and as farming methods have become less seasonal or able to produce multiple harvests, the H-2A program must be updated to meet the needs of the agriculture industry. I am grateful to my colleague Rep. Cuellar for working with me on a bipartisan solution to make H-2A more workable for farmers."

"Today, large segments of American agriculture face a critical lack of workers," said Congressman Cuellar. "This amendment is simple—it provides the agriculture industry with the access to workers it needs by making clear that all agriculture may utilize H-2A. The reality is that the H-2A program is not working for the entirety of the American agriculture industry. In fact, it excludes non-seasonal agricultural sectors, such as dairy farming, and puts them at a disadvantage. This amendment will clear the path for our farmers and ranchers to gain access to much needed workers that will benefit the local economy in my district and across the country. I would like to thank Rep. Newhouse for working with me in a bipartisan manner to address this issue."

Newhouse/Cuellar H-2A Amendment Summary:
Rep. Newhouse and Rep. Cuellar's amendment clarifies that for FY2019 all of agriculture may use the H-2A program. Under the amendment, H-2A would still remain a temporary program. Additionally, the amendment would not change the time limits a worker employed through the H-2A program can stay in the U.S., and it would maintain the requirement that farmers show they are advertising open positions and are trying to hire domestic workers first. The amendment would simply ensure that all of agriculture is able to utilize the program. The agriculture industry's labor situation has been a concern for many years, and currently large segments of American agriculture face a critical shortage of workers. This shortfall is exacerbated by the fact that the H-2A program is not working for all of agriculture, such as dairies and agriculture operations with multiple crops and harvests.
