COMPILED FROM A REPORT FROM OKANOGAN COUNTY SHERIFF FRANK ROGERS

BREWSTER – Brewster police and Okanogan County Sheriff’s deputies responded to a shooting and apparent suicide on North Star Road at about 10 a.m. last Sunday, March 18.

Law enforcement units were dispatched to the scene after receiving a report of a 19-year-old male with a gun. While en route to the address officers received a second call advising that a female had been shot.

“When officers arrived at the scene they learned that the female victim had left the residence and the suspect was still in the residence,” wrote Okanogan County Sheriff Frank Rogers in a media release.

As officers entered the residence the found the suspect had sustained a self-inflicted gunshot wound to the head.

Once was residence was cleared and secured, deputies investigating the scene determined that the suspect, Mike Aguirre-Bobadilla, 19, of Brewster, had been at his residence with his mother, Ernestina Aguirre-Bobadilla, 41, and a 10-year-old sister, Rogers wrote.

Chamber requests Council approval for mid-June Cherries Jubilee

By MIKE MALTAIS, STAFF WRITER

BREWSTER – Officers and members of the Brewster Chamber of Commerce paid a call on city council members at their regular monthly meeting last Wednesday, March 14, to request the city’s blessing for the first annual Cherries Jubilee celebration later this summer.

Chamber president Anna Marie Dalbey spoke on behalf of the Chamber.

“Pateros has Apple Pie Jamboree; we want Cherries Jubilee for Brewster,” began Dalbey. She added that while volunteers had lined up many preliminary commitments for the event including a car show, 3K run, entertainment and contests the Chamber “but we’re not going to act formally until we get the blessing of our city.”

Dalbey said that among the elements of the festival, planners wanted to include vendors, theme t-shirts, logo contest, a Mayor’s Award for the car show and parade with a show ‘n shine so car entrants can strut their vehicles. Specifically, the city was also requesting the city’s concurrence to block off the area of Main street between Fifth and Seventh for car show parking

Dalbey specified June 16, the day before Father’s Day, as the event date to avoid conflict with other area observances

Council member John Housden, staying on the cherries theme, suggested a cherry-seed-spitting contest as another contest consideration.

In other business, The Armory co-owner Martin Hurtado asked the council for permission to use a portion of their building for community fundraiser events and cited a Brewster athlete who is trying to raise money to compete in national competition.

Hurtado and his brother, Manny, are working to complete a restaurant in part of the building have walled off another portion and added bathrooms to conform with code requirements. Some work remains including installation of a sprinkler system.

After conferring with the county building inspector Martin was advised to take his request before the council to see what could be worked out to use the space for community events during the interim.

Council members had reservations about non-conforming use and upon advice of counsel advised Hurtado to gather more information regarding use specifications and return to discuss the issue when more detail was available.

Brewster city clerk/treasurer Misty Ruiz reported that the reservoir renovation project will be completed by May 10. That should result in a reimbursement from the state in the amount of $335,219. The city also recently received $100,000 in reimbursement funds for work on the airport runway lighting.

Public works director Lee Webster addressed competitive bids to replace one of four heat pumps at the Brewster Rec Center. Cascade Mechanical was the lower bidder and was awarded the contract by unanimous vote.

Ernestina Aguirre-Bobadilla was able to get her 10-year-old daughter and run from the residence to a neighbor’s house to get help.”

Mike Aguirre-Bobadilla remained in the residence.

When deputies entered they found the suspect with a self-inflicted gunshot wound. He was transported to Three Rivers Hospital where he died from his wounds.

“Ernestina Aguirre-Bobadilla was also transported to the hospital and then airlifted to Sacred Heart in Spokane,” wrote Rogers. “Her condition is unknown at this time.”

A closer look at an abrupt lane edge that a commuter face on March 13 near Palisades.

Driver takes a shortcut to end all shortcuts

By MIKE MALTAIS
STAFF WRITER

PALISADES – On Tuesday, March 13, a commuter – let’s call him 37 Ephrata Man (37EM) – decided he’d try a new off-the-grid, so to speak, alternate from Leavenworth to his home in Ephrata. The standard route via U.S. 2 and State Route 28 is just over 72 miles and takes about 2.5 hours. So far so good.

But there are shortcuts. One is Douglas Creek Road via Palisades that bypasses Quincy as a (theoretically) faster, more direct way home, right?

That might be the case if the Douglas Creek Road was in drivable condition, which it was not, according to a report from the Douglas County Sheriff Harvey Gjesdal.

DC deputies responded to a call at about 8 a.m. Wednesday, March 14, to investigate a reported injury accident near Palisades. Deputies found 37EM at a residence at the base of Douglas Creek grade. “He told investigators that on (the day previous) he was on his way to his home in Ephrata from Leavenworth,” wrote Gjesdal. “He thought Douglas Creek would allow him to bypass Quincy.”

Douglas Creek was washed out and impassable and has been so for years, Gjesdal’s report said.

37EM “got off the road and began slipping down a side hill,” wrote Gjesdal. “His vehicle stopped inches from dropping off a cliff into a ravine.”

37EM safely exited his vehicle but since he was out of communication range in the canyon, he found a cave to shelter in through the night. 37EM reported to deputies that during the night, “coyotes were tugging on his feet and took one of his shoes.”

At sunrise, 37EM walked to a residence at the bottom of the canyon where he was able to call for help. He was transported to Confluence Hospital for treatment of exposure, wrote Gjesdal. “His current condition is unknown.”

Gjesdal reminds drivers that North Central Washington “has many remote areas with dubious access and spotty cell service.”

“Please know where you are going,” advised Gjesdal. “Carry a basic survival kit in your vehicle in case you are forced to spend the night.”

And throw in an extra pair of shoes for the coyotes.

New playground wins city council approval

BREWSTER – A new playground, that will be located in the field north of the Brewster Boys and Girls Club, received funding and construction approval from the city council at its regular monthly meeting last Wednesday, March 14.

The estimated $38,800 installation has been a pet project of council member Avis Erickson who has promoted the new playground and solicited donors to replace old equipment on the site.

Public Works Director Lee Webster said the new footprint for the playground area will measure 100 feet by 50 feet and will include a concrete border filled with wood chips. Most or all of the chips are left over from tree pruning and chipping from last fall when Kile Tree Service from Wenatchee limbed a more than a dozen trees along with two London Planes that were later carved into park sculptures.

The new playground equipment will replace this set currently occupying the site.

As to when the work actually begins on the new playground is another matter. Webster said public works personnel are already committed to completing several projects including the RV park electrical upgrades that take precedence over new work. While the completion timeline is indefinite, Webster said he hopes to fit the playground in by no later than this fall. Site work and installation is the only part left. “The equipment has already been picked out,” Erickson said, and last week the council authorized the $13,000-plus dollars to purchase it. When completed the playground will resemble a similar one installed by the PUD at the boat dock.

Honoring Washingtonians during Women’s History Month

More than 36 years ago, three women in Central Washington pioneered their vision of serving their community through improving access to higher education opportunities for students who society may not have considered college-bound. Martha Yallup and Violet Lumely Rau of the Yakama Nation, and Sister Kathleen Ross of Sisters of the Holy Names of Jesus, came together to found what would become Heritage University in the Yakima Valley. Their determined efforts continue to bear fruit in Central Washington communities and in the lives of graduates.

Decades ago, Fort Wright College, the predecessor of Heritage University, planned to shutter its regional Yakima Valley location due to financial challenges and low enrollment. These three women understood that without a college with a mission to reach them, many students in the community would lose the chance to pursue a four-year degree. Yallup and Lumely Rau had worked together at the Yakama Nation’s Head Start Program. They joined efforts with Sister Kathleen Ross and worked to overcome many obstacles to found and operate what was then called Heritage College in 1982. Despite the odds they faced, they have proven to be advocates for present and future Heritage students by striving to keep the doors of the college open.

Over the years, and under strong leadership, Heritage has grown to become “the University of the Valley.” Heritage now offers more than 50 undergraduate and graduate majors. Many in the Heritage student body come from families below the poverty line, and most students are the first in their families to pursue higher education. Heritage has proven to be fertile ground for these students and has so far graduated an astounding 9,000 students. That total represents an amazing contribution not only to our community, but to the long-term future of these young people and their professional and personal enrichment.

Sister Kathleen Ross served as the first college president and has received the prestigious MacArthur Fellowship “genius grant.”

Violet Lumley Rau sadly passed away in 1994, but her legacy of strong advocacy on behalf of Heritage lives on.

March is Women’s History Month, and the pioneering example of Martha Yallup, Violet Lumely Rau, and Sister Kathleen Ross stands out. Central Washington can be proud of these incredible women and acknowledge their contributions that have overcome barriers and enriched so many lives.

The Korean Peace Talks: Phase Juan

PINGPONGBANG - I was blessed recently to view the Korean Peace Talks Phase Juan as I supped on some chamomile tea and discussed brand name versus generic brand ice cream outside of a local rumor mill - read Café André.

The vision, clear as the ring of a bell on a capital ship, took form as a chrysalis morphs into a Monarch butterfly. Ambassador Kys My Mun was working four sides of the isle as the South Korean head of negotiations.

On the one hand was the falsely aggressive North Koreans. He offered them 10 billion boxes of ramen noodles to feed their people for a few months. They also received 100 million cases of Coors, a move to please the Colorado vote and keep the poor in the Hermit Kingdom hydrated with pure Rocky Mountain water.

On another hand was the falsely aggressive Americans. He gave them nothing, but a nationwide 10% discount on all Kia models for the next six months only. Then came the Chinese. He told them Kia dealerships were available for China, but only if they guaranteed 50 millions sales per year. Forty dealerships to start - 40 more by 2025.

Then we have the Russians. Ambassador KMM thought hard about what to do with them. Finally an epiphany.

Vladimir Putin will have unlimited access to American gasoline retail markets. That's just for Vlad. He will kick back 10% to the Republican National Committee and 30% to the Trump Foundation For a Greater America. The Russian people will get a 10% discount on all Kia models for the next six months.

As an added incentive, he also gave Kim Jong Un all rights to harvest any offspring from, or allegedly from, Dennis Rodman. He also gets a free movie pass to whatever movie he wants to see, but the theater must be in Seoul. He must mingle with the masses and then have massive amounts of quality time in the favorite bar of Kia auto workers.

Putin must also learn to cross dress like Rodman and attend EEO training for former Communist spies trying to straighten out their lives. The EEO classes will be held in Kiev. Attendance is mandatory.

Another olive branch for the Americans. They get to choose the color of their Kia for no extra charge. They will also get franchise rights to sell kimchi throughout the land under the brand name Eat KimChi, Live Forever.

Needless to say, Trump's perfectly attuned peace talks will light the fire on the economy in four countries and reap trickle down money for millions upon millions of middle class in all countries. Incidentally, there will be rewards for the rich folks who get these franchises going and invest, invest, invest.

In case you didn't know, the North Korea does have a middle class and it consists of the bureaucrats and the middle ranks of the military. Back to the deal.

To ensure Americans , especially president Trump and the GOP, go for the overall package, Ambassador KMM will place a Kia factory in Birmingham, Alabama and another in Detroit to remind everyone, including American auto companies, that Asians are pro-America and voters in Michigan and Alabama better respond in-kind or no more kimchi for them.

One last perk for Russians and Jong Un as well - a customized Kia with headlights that turn into rockets capable of shooting nerve gas into former spies or even step-brothers - what's not to love comrade?

During the Donald Trump campaign events he would play the Rolling Stones classic "You Can't Always Get What You Want" at the end of the rallies. On the other hand, when you are the greatest deal maker in the world, everyone with skin in the game shall be rewarded, that is "get what they want."

So sayeth The Tweet Manifesto, in bookstores soon, maybe. (It will be written in federal prison by Paul Manafort.)

(To explain the "Juan" in the headline, Trump was alleged to have said, "Wait Juan minute, what about The Wall, can we get those Asians to pay for it?" He was trying to make a joke at the expense of Mexicans, but only his children laughed along with his inner circle of lapdogs.)

The Quad joins the Digital age

The Community Bulletin Board has been a popular feature ever since we bought the papers nearly 18 years ago. But times have changed and we are changing as well. We have launched our new digital classified ad section and it is a powerful tool for promoting your events. You can include photos, videos and more information.

Non-profits can still post a free notice in the paper – up to 100 words, but events that have an entry fee or are a fund raising project will have to pay for an ad. The cost is not significant $10 for 30 days and $20 if you want it to be a featured ad. A featured ad posts at the top of the listings and rotates among other featured ads on the home page.

Check out the new site at NCWMarket.com. You can set up an account and post your ads 24/7. If you have lots of local events you want to post you can even set up a subscription account that allows you to post a number of ads every month and change them daily if you would like for no additional charge. Free notices should be emailed to heraldads@qcherald.com, subject line: Bulletin Board

Drop doubleheader to Tigers

Billygoats bump Omak in baseball road trip opener

By MIKE MALTAIS
STAFF WRITER

OMAK – The Pateros Billygoats varsity baseball team opened its road season with a non-league 9-6 win over the 1A Pioneers at Omak, Tuesday, March 13.

Coach Bob VanLith said his team still has a few kinks to work out on the field and at the plate, but the team is just now getting access to a dry ball diamond that will allow practice somewhere other than in the gym.

Senior Max Ewing started on the mound for Pateros and threw the first two innings. The Pioneers found a few pitches they liked and tagged Ewing for three runs on one hit and three walks. Ewing also threw three strikeouts before the second pitcher rotation.

The Billygoats scored a run in the first inning and three in the second to take a 4-3 lead that they would never surrender for the remainder of the game.

Jeremy Piechalski was next on the mound for Pateros and threw one inning, giving up a hit and a walk, but no runs while fanning two Pioneer batters. The Billygoats scored a run in the third to go up by two over their hosts.

Logan Robinson pitched the final three innings until the game was called for approaching darkness midway through the seventh. Omak was scoreless in the third and fourth inning but jumped on the Billygoat who gave up a hit and two walks for three runs in the despite five strikeouts.

Following a scoreless fourth, Pateros added two in the fifth, one in the sixth and one in the seventh inning for the win.

At the plate, Robinson hit 2-4 and Jesse Ginter 2-3 for Pateros.

Pateros: 1-3-1-0-2-1-1

Lose two to Tigers

Pateros lost its first league contest, a doubleheader at Tonasket, last Saturday, March 17. The undefeated Tigers took the first game, 13-2, before the Billygoats gained their balance and gave Tonasket a run for its money in the second game, losing by three, 9-6.

Pateros was scheduled another tough league rival, Liberty Bell on Tuesday, March 20. The Billygoats will be on the road at Soap Lake on Wednesday, March 21, and then host the Mountain Lions for the second time in a week on Friday, March 23.

Bears take DH from Oroville

Brewster baseball opens season with close loss to Bulldogs

By MIKE MALTAIS
STAFF WRITER

OKANOGAN – The Brewster varsity baseball team opened its season on the road Tuesday, March 13, with a close one-run, 5-4 loss to the 1A Okanogan Bulldogs of the 1A Caribou Trail League. The Bears then hosted Oroville for their first Central Washington 2B league doubleheader and won both games.

The Bears broke a scoreless first two innings against Okanogan with a pair of runs in the third inning.

“Isaac Baker reached (base) on an error with two outs and then stole second,” said head coach Todd Phillips. “Quincy Vassar drew a walk and was replaced by Zane Madden as a pinch runner. Jeff Sonneman then tripled down the line to plate two.”

Okanogan waited two innings before responding in the sixth inning. Gavin Cohen reached base on an error and stole second. Hunter Rupert scored Cohen with his second double on the day and was later brought home on Gage Wilson’s two-out single.

“We regained the lead in the top of the seventh,” said Phillips. “Corey Jarrell led off with a single and moved to second on Joe Taylor’s sacrifice bunt. Corey scored on an error off the bat of Isaac Baker. Quincy Vassar then drove in Isaac with a double.”

Okanogan rallied for the win in the bottom of the seventh “because we continued to struggle with the bottom of their order,” Phillips said.

Jarrett Smith singled with one out and Cohen drew a walk. Rupert singled to load the bases and a bases-loaded walk on Jacob Stanley drew Okanogan within a run.

Sonneman struck out the Bulldog’s third hitter for the second out, but Connor Ashworth singled down first base line to score two runs for the win.

“I am going to chalk this down to poor coaching,” said Phillips. “We had a plan to limit our pitchers first game out, and I went off it a little bit.”

Phillips claimed he may have allowed Sonneman to throw for too many innings.

“(We) had fresh arms that could have come in and shut the door,” said Phillips. “We need to compete more; we get complacent because we don’t play in enough challenging games throughout the year.”

Phillips said that if the Bears want to be a team to reckon with this season and make a deep run in the playoffs they need to be more focused and want to compete more.

“We have some guys who are willing to fight,” said Phillips, “but you need more than four or five guys out of 18 who are willing to put in the work and willing to step-up.”

Okanogan’s Justin Stanley

was the winning pitcher. Sonneman was charged with the loss

Triples: Brewster - Jeff Sonneman (1), Okanogan - Hunter Rupert (2).

Double: Brewster - Quincy Vassar (1).

Oroville falls
Even though the Bears swept both game against the Hornets, Phillips said Oroville is much improved over past seasons.

“Definitely the best Oroville team they’ve had since I’ve been in Brewster,” Phillips said.

In the first game, Sonneman and Joe Taylor both connected for home runs and Taylor also hit a triple.

Doubles came off the bats of Taylor 3, Sonneman 2, Corey Jarrell 2, Kade Kelpman, Logan McGuire, and Ben Witt.

Kelpman was the winning pitcher.

The second game “was a good opportunity to get everyone some at-bats,” Phillips said.

Nobody hit for singles, triples or home runs but doubles aplenty from Taylor (4), Sonneman (3), David Stewart (2), and Zane Madden.

The winning pitcher was Anthony Olvera.

Brewster was scheduled to host Bridgeport on Tuesday, March 20, and will play a doubleheader at Soap Lake on Saturday, March 24. The Bears will be at Bridgeport at 4:30 p.m. next Tuesday, March 27.

BRIDGEPORT – The Mustangs and Fillies varsity baseball and softball teams ran into a buzz saw during their Central Washington 2B league home opener last Saturday, March 17, when they hosted two Liberty Bells teams that made it into the post-season playoffs last year.

While both teams played at either end of their home fields, the outcomes were similar as young, mostly inexperienced Bridgeport players confronted the seasoned Liberty Bell veterans who hope to make return trips to district and perhaps state competition.

Mustangs head coach Jesse Macy admitted that his team “started to fall apart later in the game” against the hard-charging Mountain Lions. “It was a lot of errors on our part, coupled with inexperience,” said Macy. “Still, not bad for a team with so many guys that have never played an organized game. I’m excited to see how our guys develop and what they are capable of.”

The Mustangs scored a run to put themselves on the board in the 35-1 loss.

Across the field, coach Samantha Torres’ Fillies were taking a 31-0 beating at the hands of the Lady Lions but showed no sign of quit.

With a roster still heavy with freshmen and young players, the Fillies will gain valuable experience as they face league rivals who do not have the horsepower of Liberty Bell and Brewster.

Bridgeport was scheduled to host the Bears on Tuesday, March 20, and will meet Brewster again on the Bear’s field, Tuesday, March 27. In between is a doubleheader at Lake Roosevelt on Friday, March 23.

Bridgeport girls take third

Brewster Bears track team places second at Oroville Invite

By MIKE MALTAIS
STAFF WRITER

OROVILLE – The Brewster boys varsity track team took second place at the 11-team Oroville Invitational last Saturday, March 17, and the Bridgeport Fillies placed third among a dozen girls teams.

Along the way some strong individual performances from Pateros, Bridgeport, Brewster and Waterville-Mansfield athletes gave the remainder of the field some leaders to chase. One of those was Pateros freshman Anna Williams who sprinted to first place in the women's 100 meters and finished third in the 200M.

Brewster's Ernie Nanamkin led the field in the men's 100 meters and javelin. Nanamkin also earned second in the 400M and long jump.

Miriam Garcia finished first in the women's 100M hurdles.

Distance specialist Tony Flores of Bridgeport took first in the 3200M and second in the 1600. Teammate Alex Perea cruised to first in the 300M hurdles and third in the 100M hurdles.

The Bridgeport girls with leadoff runner Jasmine LeDuc won both the 4x100 and 4x400 relays.

Waterville-Mansfield's Alex Poppie won the women's long jump and teammate Lexi Deishl the pole vault.
