APBA Western Divisional hydro races run August 12-13

By MIKE MALTAIS
STAFF WRITER

PATEROS – The American Power Boat Association’s Western Divisional Championships hydro races will chew up the surface of Lake Pateros this Saturday and Sunday, August 12-13, as drivers compete in three and possibly more classes of inboard

“We should have one litre, 2.5 litre stock, five litre, and possibly 2.5 litre modified exhibition,” said race spokesman, Julie Porter.

An added feature to the races this year is the APBA school boat, Porter said. The school boat involves a project where youngsters interested in getting involved in the sport can sign up online and learn all about building and driving a hydro. Once students complete the requisite training and qualifications they actually get an opportunity to pilot the school boat, Porter said.

Interested students can learn more by logging onto APBA.org.

“It’s helping us bring new faces to the sport,” said Porter, a Manson resident who has been involved with the hydro set for more than 20 years, 10 of those with the Pateros hydro races.

Porter serves as the “right-hand person” to race director, Tim Hamilton, and in that capacity helps to recruit sponsors for racing events.

Competition should start at about 11 a.m. both days, Porter said and hopes that this year’s division championships will attract more than the 50 to 60 boats that competed last year.

Brewster Salmon Derby outperforms 2016 results

BREWSTER – Despite smoky skies, record temperatures and high wildfire conditions, fisherman from around the Northwest gathered at Columbia Cove last Friday-Sunday, August 4-6, for the competition and comradery at the 12th annual Brewster King Salmon Derby

King of the Pool honors went to Joel Grafe of who hauled his near-30-pound Chinook salmon over the gunwale on Saturday, August 5. From that moment – though nobody knew it at the time - it was a race for second place as Grafe’s 28.76 pounder, 3.91 pounds heavier than the next largest fish, won by a margin greater than the 3.37-pound difference that separated the next nine largest salmon.

Fishing in the same boat with Grafe was Jeff Harmier of Brewster, whose 23.5-pound king caught Sunday morning placed fifth in the King of the Pool competition.

Of the 95 salmon weighed in for King of the Pool honors, 13 exceeded 20 pounds, four weighed more than 19 pounds, seven exceeded 18 pounds, five beat 17 pounds, 10 were 16 pounds or greater and six tipped the scales at 15 pounds or more.

Last year’s King of the Pool winner, Mindy Webster, who won the pot with a 26.06-pound king, missed hooking the big one this year, finishing 83rd with a 7.97-pound fish.

12. 20.21 lbs – Bob Velikanje
13. 20.06 lbs – David Mahaney

Among the 20-plus pounders caught during the derby, two were landed by youngsters.

Amanda Davis of town hooked a 22.75-pound Chinook that won the Youth Division and placed eighth in the King of the Pool leaderboard.

Callie Christoph landed a 20.79-pounder, good for second-place Youth and 10th in King of the Pool.

BREWSTER – Police chief Nattalie Cariker is already putting together ideas and plans for next year’s National Night Out, in a continuing effort to make it even bigger and better than the second annual event held on Aug. 1.

Free food, fun and games, child I.D. kits, car seat inspections along with free car seats, and a bike raffle attracted scores to the event designed to promote police-community partnerships.

Commerce, several health care facilities and local businesses took part in the community building campaign.

There was much to see and do and it all had to be packed into four hours between 5 and 9 p.m. at the Brewster Boys and Girls Club and Columbia Cove Park.

“We have already been thinking of more items to add next year,” said Cariker. “I hope the helicopter will be available.”

The Central Building Pop-Up Shop coming up from Friday, Aug. 11, through Sunday, Aug. 13 will feature booths for entrepreneurs with home-based businesses. Hours are: Friday, (hours), Saturday (hours) and Sunday (hours).

The Pateros Hydro Classic 2017 will fire up its engines for racing all day Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 12-13 at Pateros Memorial Park. The races were moved up a week this year to accommodate all the racers arriving to compete in the divisional championships.

“This may be the largest hydro race Pateros has ever hosted,” wrote chamber secretary Joni Parks in her meeting summary. “Racers should be showing up as early as Wednesday (August 10).”

Vendors are still needed for the event and those interested can contact Julie Porter at (253) 229-5350. There are some RV spaces at Ives Lane See CHAMBER on page 3

Senior Center does not need 'garbage' donations

BREWSTER – The Senior Center is receiving too much garbage left on the back porch in the guise as “donations,” said spokeswoman, Kathy Lowry.

“We are thinking about putting up a security camera in the near future to “capture” the moment and the time of donations being left after hours and days that we are not opened,” Lowry said.

S.A.I.L. (Stay Active and Independent for Life) classes have been discontinued and will resume on Sept. 6, from 10 a.m. to 11 a.m. on Monday and Wednesday.

“The last two Saturday openings will be Aug. 12 and Aug. 26 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.,” Lowry said.

The Seniors send a big thanks to the owners of Columbia Ice who donated the ice needed for the Center’s “Watermelon by the Slice” July 4 event.

“Watermelon was donated by members and we had brochures about the center to hand out as well as membership applications,” Lowry said.

The seniors are considering hosting a chili feed fundraiser this fall, with member, Alan Broere, making his special chili recipe, probably with corn bread for dipping.

“We will look at this later in the fall, sometime in October,” said Lowry, “maybe along with the Pumpkin Decorating event.

Fast response checks flames

Wildfire burns 2,500 acres southeast of Bridgeport

By MIKE MALTAIS

BRIDGEPORT – A fast-moving brush fire that started around 1 p.m. last Friday, Aug. 4, along State Route 17, about 12 miles southeast of Bridgeport, was fully contained on Monday, August 7, after burning some 2,500 acres and triggering Level 3 evacuations for several homes in the area.

“A Douglas County Deputy on routine patrol spotted a brush fire burning on both sides of Highway 17 between Hayes Road and Road K N.E.,” reported Douglas County Sheriff, Harvey Gjesdal. “He reported the fire was being pushed by strong winds.”

Gjesdal added that a Level 1 evacuation notice was issued for a three-mile radius around the fire.

At about 3 p.m. Gjesdal advised that a Level 3 evacuation notice was issued for homes east of Road K N.E. and south of SR 17 as the flames continued to be driven by strong winds.

At one point the fire was burning on both the north and south sides of SR 17, but firefighters quickly contained the flames from moving further northward.

At around 6:30 p.m. Gjesdal advised that “the fire has gone to state mobilization” meaning “assets from around the state can be brought in to fight the fire.”

Resources from Okanogan, Douglas, Chelan and Grant county fire departments, two DNR strike teams and personnel from WSDOT and State Patrol were also involved.

Mansfield mayor, Tom Snell said his town received the Level 1 alert but no evacuations resulted.

A firefighter checks the fire line on the south side of State Route 17.

“We heard about it as a routine alert but it never got close enough to threaten the town,” Snell said.

By Monday, Aug. 7, firefighters had the blaze contained as crews walked the fire lines but a Level 1 evac alert remained in place.

Shortly after the fire was reported, the Red Cross set up a shelter at Bridgeport High School for evacuees.

RIGHT: With flames in the background near State Route 17, Wayne Rice, Okanogan, and Jesse Gurney, Brewster, delay westbound traffic last Friday until a pilot car arrives to escort a line of vehicles through one open lane between Hayes Road and Road K N.E. west of Leahy Junction.

“We actually caught more fish this year,” said Randy Cole, who, with Lori Kratzer, organizes the annual derby. “and the fish were bigger, partly because we were allowed one wild fish and that’s the first time up here in four years.”

This year’s derby drew 13 more entries - 152 - than 2016 and more large kings greater than 20 pounds were caught.

Brewster King Salmon Derby co-organizer, Randy Cole, weighs a large entry last Sunday, as the fishing neared its 12-noon conclusion.

Mutt Willet of Issaquah, who caught a 24.77-pound second place salmon in last year’s derby, finished in 20th place this year with an 18.32-pound Chinook.

As the Sunday noon derby deadline arrived, boats with the day’s final catches approached the dock.

Wildfire smoke drives air quality into 'Unhealthy for sensitive groups' category

SUBMITTED BY KIM PAPICH, SPOKANE REGIONAL HEALTH DISTRICT

SPOKANE - Smoke from wildfires burning to the north is affecting air quality in the Spokane area, prompting officials from Spokane Regional Health District (SRHD) and Spokane Regional Clean Air Agency (Spokane Clean Air) to remind residents to take precautions to protect their health.

As of this morning, the air quality monitors in Spokane are reporting levels of fine particulate matter pollution in the "Unhealthy for Sensitive Groups" or "Orange" category of the Air Quality Index (AQI).

Spokane Clean Air's air quality forecaster says winds from the north and northeast are transporting wildfire smoke to our area from the various regional wildfires. A strong high pressure ridge will remain over the region well into next week, bringing generally light winds and continued high temperatures and abundant smoke-filtered sunshine. Air quality will worsen at night as smoke concentrates in valleys and improve slightly in the afternoon with increased wind speeds and mixing of the atmosphere.

The smoke is likely to remain with us into next week. Clearing the smoke from the region will require a change in the weather pattern with winds from the west or southwest. Such a change is not expected for at least the next several days.

"Depending on the wind and wildfire activity, the Air Quality Index may fluctuate between Moderate (yellow) and Unhealthy for Sensitive Groups (orange) today and Thursday," according to Stephanie May, public information specialist for Spokane Clean Air.

Smoke is a mix of gases and fine particles. Breathing smoke can make anyone sick. Even someone who is healthy can get sick if there is enough smoke in the air.

Breathing in smoke can have immediate health effects, including:

- Coughing
- Trouble breathing normally
- Stinging eyes
- A scratchy throat
- Runny nose
- Irritated sinuses
- Wheezing and shortness of breath
- Chest pain

- Headaches
- An asthma attack
- Tiredness
- Fast heartbeat
- It is important individuals limit their exposure to smoke - especially if they are susceptible.

"Smoke from wildfires is especially harmful for those with health conditions like asthma. We recommend that people who are sensitive to poor air quality follow their breathing management plans, keep medications on hand and contact their health provider if necessary," said Dr. Bob Lutz, SRHD health officer.

Children also are more susceptible to smoke because their respiratory systems are still developing. Kids breathe more air (and air pollution) per pound of body weight than adults, and they are more likely to be active outdoors.

Here are some additional steps people can take to protect themselves:

Pay attention to air quality reports. The Air Quality Index (AQI) uses color-coded categories to report when air quality is good, moderate or unhealthy.

Use common sense. If it looks and smells smoky outside, it is probably not a good time to go for a jog, mow the lawn or allow children to play outdoors.

If a person has heart or lung disease, is an older adult, or has children, they should talk with their provider about whether and when they should leave the area. When smoke is heavy for a prolonged period of time, fine particles can build up indoors even though a person may not see them.

Some room air cleaners can help reduce particulate levels indoors, as long as they are the right type and size for your home.

Paper "comfort" or "dust masks" are not the answer. The kinds of masks people can commonly buy at the hardware store are designed to trap large particles, such as sawdust. But they generally will not protect lungs from the fine particles in smoke.

Respiratory masks labeled N95 or N100 provide some protection - they filter out some fine particles but not hazardous gases in smoke (such as carbon monoxide, formaldehyde, and acrolein.) This type of mask can be found at many hardware and home repair stores and pharmacies.

Repair work to begin on 120 year Old Harts Pass road

WINTHROP - The 120 year old Harts Pass road winds high into the forest, stopping near the timberline and opening up into the vast Pasayten Wilderness. Once used to access gold and silver mines, the highest road in Washington State is now popular with recreationists and thru-hikers on the Pacific Crest Trail. Continued access to such a treasure is an important benefit provided by the Forest Service.

Much needed repair work will begin August 14th on the Harts Pass Road, west of Winthrop Washington. Travelers should expect longer delays and the road between Buckskin Trailhead and Slate Peak will likely be closed to vehicles until mid-September.

"During construction, there will not be room for vehicles to safely drive the narrow road up to Slate Peak to turn around," said Mike Liu, Methow Valley District Ranger. "Hikers should be able to make their way from Buckskin Trailhead through the worksite, however."

Work planned includes fixing damage caused by runoff

this spring and improving parking at Slate Peak. In addition, workers will remove accumulated rock and clean up the roadway at Deadhorse Point; a portion of the road well known by locals for being steep and narrow.

Campfire restrictions expanded and woodcutting suspended

SUBMITTED BY
ROBIN DEMARIO, USFS

WENATCHEE - Due to worsening fire conditions and continued hot and dry weather, expanded campfire restrictions went into effect on Aug. 4.

Under the expanded campfire restrictions, maintaining, attending, or using a fire or campfire, and use of charcoal briquette barbecues, Tiki torches, and other devices that use solid fuel is prohibited across most of the Okanogan-Wenatchee National Forest.

Campfires will continue to be allowed on the Naches Ranger District but only in designated hosted campgrounds, and in the Goat Rocks, Norse Peak and William O. Douglas Wilderness areas due to the difference in geography and weather patterns in these wilderness areas.

"Fire danger continues to increase, and with the very hot and dry conditions expected to persist, we are following our restriction plan and implementing campfire closures," said Deputy Fire Staff Officer for Operations Matt Castle.

"Our high elevation forest areas are rapidly drying and all fuels are now readily available to burn, as seen in recent fires. Fortunately, so far this year, lightning has been minimal so we have not had many fires, yet. These restrictions will minimize the chance of new fire starts, be in line with our partner jurisdictions, and keep the public safe," Castle said.

The use of pressurized liquid gas stoves is an acceptable alternative in areas where campfires are prohibited. A list of approved and non-approved fire options is posted on the forest website at <https://go.usa.gov/xRPHa>.

In addition to the expanded campfire restrictions, as of Aug. 6, firewood cutting is being temporarily suspended in Industrial Fire Precaution Level (IFPL) zones 675, 678W and

684. Under these heightened restrictions, called Level III Partial Shutdown, all woodcutting is prohibited. Industrial Fire Precaution Level III does not allow any firewood cutting with a power saw for commercial or personal use. For commercial timber operators, operating at landings, chainsaw use is allowed only from 8 p.m. to 1 p.m. Industrial Fire Precaution Level III will remain in effect until fire danger eases.

Woodcutting restrictions also changed to Level II in zone 680 on Aug. 6. Level II IFPL means that firewood cutters and industrial operators in the Forest are restricted to morning hours of operation only, and must shut down chainsaws and other equipment by 1 p.m. Following equipment shut down, a one-hour fire watch must be maintained.

For current Industrial Fire Precaution Level information and a map of the zones, go to <http://www.dnr.wa.gov/ifpl>.

What to do if you smell smoke or see a fire:

- If a fire is burning or there is smoke present, call 9-1-1 or 1-800-826-3383 for the Central Washington Interagency Communication Center

- Report the exact location of the fire and, if known, what is burning

DEATH NOTICE

Elinor Louise Hughes Hutchison Tryon

Elinor Louise Hughes was born in Harrison, Arkansas, on May 14, 1921, to Viola and Henry Elbert Hughes. She passed away at home in Safford, Arizona, on June 14, 2017.

Elinor had one sister, Julia Morris; two step-sisters, Gertude Lankford Hutchison, and Margaret (Midge) Lankford Hughes Saucer; six brothers, Bert Hughes, Edward Hughes, Johnny Hughes, Harry Hughes, Cecil Lankford, and Hugh Lankford. At the age of 8, her father was killed in a construction accident while working on the Osage Dam. The family then moved to California, and homesteaded in the Newberry Springs area. Her mother later remarried Jake Lankford. All of her siblings preceded her in death; with the exception of two sisters-in-law, Jean Lankford of Citrus Heights, California and Trudy Lankford of Whitehall, Montana.

In 1936, her family moved to Eugene, Oregon, where she met and married Douglas H. Hutchison in 1938, from Newberry Springs, California. When Douglas and Elinor started their family, they had a rough start (their first born daughter, Viola was stillborn and their second born daughter Marie was premature; the doctors told them to take her home and love her as they did not expect her to live long). Marie is now 77. The family returned to Newberry Springs and had three more children, Douglas Howard, Jr., Georgia Lee, and Roy Richard, who was killed in a car accident in Mojave Valley, Arizona, in 1970.

Elinor retired from the Marine Corps Supply Center, in Barstow, California, in 1970. She and Douglas spent their retirement years in the Brewster, Washington, before returning to the California desert. They moved to Twentynine Palms, due to Douglas' failing health. Elinor was baptized on March 28, 1987, in Brewster, Washington. Douglas passed away in 1991. She was also preceded in death by Marie's husband K.C. Lewis, of Twentynine Palms, California and Georgia's husband John Brown, of Barstow, California.

In 1992, she met and fell in love again with Eugene C. Tryon. They were married on September 7, 1992, by their Seventh Day Adventist Minister and Best Friends, Henry and Freda Matteson of Twentynine Palms. Elinor loved life.

She was the matriarch of our huge blended family. Someone who truly believed in her religion, believed in family and friends. She loved to go to church, travel, garden, fish/camp, play card games, crochet, knit, make arts and crafts, and teach at the Seventh Day Adventist School in Twentynine Palms.

She leaves behind her beloved husband, Eugene, of 25 years. Three children, Marie Louise Lewis, Twentynine Palms, California; Douglas Howard Hutchison, Jr., and wife Maryann, Tucson, Arizona; Georgia Lee Brown, Safford, Arizona, and daughter-in-law Candace Renno, Mojave Valley, Arizona. She had 12 grandchildren, 36 great-grandchildren and 18 great-great-grandchildren, along with numerous nieces and nephews. All who admired the strong woman she was and loved her dearly.

Graveside Services will be held August 25, 2017, 10 am, at the Mt. View Memorial Park, in Barstow, California.

OBITUARY & MEMORIAL POLICIES

NCW MEDIA, INC.

An obituary is a way for family member(s) to commemorate a loved one's life and to notify the larger community of the deceased. Obituaries are also used for historical and ancestral data.

Memorials are another way of letting the community know about the life and memories of the person who has died. A Memorial is different from an obituary. An obituary is usually current while a memorial can be written later.

Obituaries and memorials need to be typed and emailed no later than Friday by 4:00 p.m. to be placed in the next available issue(s). Please call for cost of an obituary and which NCW paper(s) that it will be placed in to.

Cost of the obituary/ memorial is due at the time of placement. Funeral homes and chapels can submit obituaries by Noon on Monday, unless a holiday.

Obituaries are priced per word while Memorial ads are per column-inch.

For info call Ruth 509-682-2213, or email ruthk@lakechelanmirror.com

Hostile reporter in search of sound bite gets bit

Last week CNN reporter Jim Acosta attempted to criticize President Trump's new immigration proposal by bringing up Emma Lazarus's poem – "The New Colossus".

"Give me your tired, your poor,

Your huddled masses yearning to breathe free,

The wretched refuse of your teeming shore.

Send these, the homeless, tempest-tossed, to me:

I lift my lamp beside the golden door."

Acosta was roundly attacked by White House spokesman Steven Miller for having the audacity to ask such a loaded and prejudicial question.

The problem is Lazarus's poem is just a poem. It is not part of our founding documents nor has it ever been made part of our official political position through legislation or executive office decree.

Historically speaking the poem was not connected with the Statue of Liberty monument until 1903, well after the statue had been erected. In fact Lazarus had reluctantly agreed to donate her poem to the effort to raise funds for the pedestal for Lady Liberty.

The "Statue of Liberty Enlightening the World" was a gift of friendship from the people of France to the United States. But it was understood at the time that Americans would be responsible for building a platform for the statue.

The monument was the brainchild of Edouard de Laboulaye an abolitionist who saw the monument as a tribute to the end of slavery in America and a way to inspire the French people to call for reform of their own repressive monarchy.

IN MY OPINION
Bill Forhan
Publisher

It was not intended as a monument to inspire immigration to America. And while Lazarus's sonnet calls for us to accept the poor and the homeless, it is highly doubtful those were the immigrants that found their way to America. Even in late nineteenth century passage to America was a costly endeavor.

Yes, it is true that many of our early immigrants sold everything they owned and made their way to the New World with only what they could carry with them. That does not mean they were without skills or talent they could rely on to enrich our developing nation. Early immigrants also could not expect to receive free government services when they arrived.

It is also true that many could not speak English or read or write. But the world has changed and we cannot take on all of the "huddled masses" of the world. Immigration policy, like any other government policy needs to be reviewed and changed to fit the needs of our country.

The truth is we can do a lot more for the poor and down-trodden by confronting evil dictators who are abusing their citizens. Unfortunately, most "progressives" support these dictators because they claim to be out to help the working class. They rarely do. And when their countries fail we cannot become the safety net for their suffering masses.

An honest review of these regimes will reveal that they nearly all end up lining the pockets of the powerful leaders while the general population struggles. The solution is not to make our country a haven for all of the downtrodden in the world. That simply burdens our citizens to make up for failed leadership around the world.

The solution is to challenge the dictators of the world to live up to their promise to improve the lives of all of their citizens, and to actively oppose their abuse of those citizens.

That is not to say we don't have problems with immigration. First, allowing illegals to overwhelm our system is not acceptable. Second, we need a guest worker system. Third we need a way to enforce our temporary visa system. Our current system is broken. It is time for Congress to fix it and to enforce the laws they have passed.

Congress has demonstrated a total inability to address the problems facing our country.

The American people elected Trump to disturb the status quo.

The American people are smarter than today's major media journalists. They are smarter than the do nothing lawyers in Congress and their political appointees.

It is time for these people to critically examine their own motives and failed policies.

Americans are growing increasingly fed up with the ever expanding bureaucracy draining their wallets and controlling their lives.

They chose Trump for a reason. Let's hope the firings begin soon.

Simple solutions: Combine military needs and immigration reform

I don't have all the answers, but no one human does. So here's the plan: Allow unlimited immigration to the United States with the caveat that all males and females immediately enlist in the military, branch of their choice, as a price for admission. Once they serve a four year contract, which automatically includes overseas deployment, they get their citizenship.

That's it. Simple, but there are these inherent problems: 1) The modern military does not want high school drop outs. 2) Today's military does not take drug addicts or alcoholics. 3) The military has height, weight and other physical requirements that many immigrants cannot meet. 4) No criminals allowed. So how many of these immigrants will have a clean background check? 5) Age limits. I think 29-years-old is the maximum and I believe 17-years-old with parental permission is the minimum. So even more immigrants will be eliminated.

APPLES TO APPLES

Basically all the above issues make my simple answer untenable. Alas, simplicity is the boilerplate of most plans.

They just don't see the forest for the trees. Simple answers just aren't answers at all, but a way to justify stupid actions.

Political action by sound bites or bumper stickers, tweets, Facebook or other quick solutions are not solutions at all. So what do they represent? In my simple mind, simple answers represent more of a general philosophy than an actual game plan with step-by-step actions taken to achieve a specific goal.

I believe in God, but so do billions of other humans. The way we all behave proves there are millions of different ways to express this belief and just as many justifications for bad behavior or seeming beneficence.

DOUGLAS COUNTY SHERIFF NEWS BRIEF

SUBMITTED BY
SHERIFF HARVEY GJESDAL

ORONDO - On Aug. 7, 2017, at approximately 9 a.m. Douglas County Deputies responded to an assault call in Orondo.

A Deputy located the suspect in a fruit warehouse. He fled as the Deputy attempted to talk to him and ran into a nearby house.

Another Deputy attempted speak to the suspect through a window. The suspect put his fist through the window and sprayed the Deputy with shards of glass. He then went to a door and kicked it hard enough that it broke the door frame. Deputies de-escalated the suspect and he finally came out.

He was arrested for malicious mischief. The victim of the assault was not injured and declined to cooperate with charging.

The Deputy was treated for minor injuries to his face.

Douglas County Fires Between Friday, Aug. 4 and Monday, Aug. 7, Douglas County had five fires.

The Hayes fire, two wheat field fires, near Waterville, a small brush fire near LaMoine, and a structure fire that destroyed a small bunk house near the Hayes fire. There were no injuries.

Please be careful during this extreme heat.
