Brewster teacher pays for improved student test scores with his head

Kristina Gebbers of Adorn Salon and Boutique, takes more than "a little off the top" as she begins shaving the head of Brewster seventh grade teacher, Kyle Woelber, who kept the bargain he made with his students for achieving targeted improved test scores.

 STAFF WRITER

BREWSTER – At the beginning of the school year, Brewster Middle School seventh grade language arts teacher, Kyle Woelber made a bargain with his students. Woelber offered some “incentives” to his class in return for its commitment to improve state testing results.

The incentives included a pizza party and a head shaving – Woelber’s

Over the past several years, Brewster Middle School’s state test scores have been in the bottom five percent of the state average.

“Because of this we have been placed in a “School Improvement” cohort with some heavy ramifications from state if our results don’t turn around,” Woelber explained.

The students’ performance last year as sixth graders, was 24 percent at level three or four which translates into at or above grade level.

“This year in my seventh-grade class we created a three-tier incentive game plan around its test scores,” Woelber said.

The plan went like this:

- If the students grew to 30 percent, they got a pizza party during their scheduled class time.

- If the students grew to 35 percent, they got to sit and watch as Woelber got his head shaved bald. (Woelber did not cut his hair for the entire school year).

- If the students grew to 40 percent, they got both the pizza party and a bald Mr. Woelber.

Woelber’s class took up the challenge and buckled down in preparation for year-end Smarter Balance State Assessment. Each student looked at last year’s performance and set realistic goals for this year.

“The kids tracked their progress using the practice Smarter Balance assessments called Interims, and were measured using classroom assessments that mirrored what they would see on the state exams,” said Woelber. “The results came back and the students performed amazing.”

the class grew to 38 percent at or above proficient or grade level, for a 14 percent growth from the year prior.

“We also had 44 percent of the grade grow at least one level, meaning some kids who were level 1 grew to a level 2, level 2 to level 3, and level 3 to level 4,” Woelber said.

Level 1 = Below Grade Level
 Level 2 = Near Grade Level
 Level 3 = At Grade Level
 Level 4 = Above Grade Level.

While the class fell a little short of their top goal, they earned a front-row seat for their teacher’s new “do.”

“So, on Thursday, June 8, the students all met in Brewster’s small gym and local hairdresser, Kristina Gebbers, came down and shaved my head bald as a newborn baby,” Woelber said.

Even though the end goal is 100 percent of students at proficient grade level, Woelber considers the growth he saw from his class as something to celebrate and for the coming year’s classes to build on.

“I only seeing things getting better and better each year moving forward,” Woelber said.

Pateros Father’s Day Fishing Derby lands another success

PATEROS – The third annual Pateros Father’s Day Fishing Derby, last Sunday, June 18, started with youngsters trying to hook trout from outside the tanks and ended with them inside the tanks, using hands to grab what was left.

The tanks were arranged along Lakeshore Drive in the Pateros Mall from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. and anglers from ages one to 15 years needed no license.

Youngsters from as far away as Spokane joined lots of locals in what has become a close-up and hands-on event

Brewster council takes outdoor volleyball court under advisement

By MIKE MALTAIS
 STAFF WRITER

BREWSTER – A standing-room-only crowd filled the meeting room last Wednesday, June 14, as the city council listened to a proposal for a new volleyball court, swore in a new police officer, heard a recycling update and discussed the upcoming Fourth of July parade among other agenda items.

Former Brewster graduate and community supporter, Karl Word, proposed a dual outdoor volleyball court styled after the court recently installed at Don Morse Park in Chelan. The Brewster court would be located adjacent to the Karl Goehry Memorial Basketball Court on the east side of South Seventh Street across from the high school.

The court would be named the Gary Knowlton Memorial Volleyball Court in honor of Brewster native, elementary teacher and Manson Pool lifeguard, Gary Knowlton, who was killed tragically in a hit-and-run accident near Chelan on June 16, 2016.

Word also spearheaded the Goehry basketball court project in 2013.

Brewster community booster, Karl Word, address a packed Brewster City Council meeting about a proposed outdoor volleyball court.

With support from Brewster varsity volleyball coach, Marcy Boesel, assistant coach, Alisia Foyle, and several Lady Bears varsity players, Word presented his design drawing together with cost estimates for the project, with and without a fence enclosure.

Council members debated the cost and necessity for a fence enclosure for the outdoor courts citing previous problems with cat contamination of sand-covered areas.

An earlier outdoor camping area in the RV park had to be abandoned when feline urine and fecal deposits rendered the sandy camping sites unusable.

Council member John Housden said that in earlier discussions with Word, the Parks and Recreation Committee “agreed in principle” with the volleyball court proposal pending resolution of several conditions. At Housden’s recommendation, council agreed to “authorize mayor Art Smyth to proceed” while outstanding issues are addressed.

Council also voted to follow the same vendor format as that used last year for the Fourth of July celebration in Columbia Cove Park.

Director of Public Works, Lee Webster, advised council that Okanogan County Department of Public Works hauled off the city’s cardboard recycling bin citing misuse of as toddlers to teens tried their best to hook one or more of the 100 trout cruising the water in three galvanized stock tanks.

Jennifer Ramirez and daughters Elissa, two, and Oliva, nine, of Okanogan, was nearly eyeball-to-eyeball with the fat Wells Hatchery trout as she helped her girls direct a baited fishing rod over a likely looking candidate.

Chris Zahn of Twisp, had three-year-old son, Emmett, perched on his knee, as the pair tried to tag-team a trout into biting.

Kenadee Henton, three, of Pateros, wasn't doing much fishing but was hauling around a net nearly as big as she was and waiting for the call "Fish on!"

Brian Ashmoore and granddaughter, Serana, six, were in town from Spokane and stopped by to try their luck at one of the tanks.

Sponsors again this year along with the Pateros Chamber of Commerce included Yancey's Pateros Hardware, Brewster Ag Supply and Wells Fish Hatchery.

Three-year-old Emmett Zahn of Twisp, perched on the knee of dad, Chris, has a bird's-eye view of the swimming trout.

I'm lost ...

Mansfield High School may have to change its mascot from Kernels to Moose, after this young moose calf was discovered checking out a whitetail deer decoy near a farm on Bridgeport Hill Road a couple miles from Mansfield last week. Photographer Kenneth Krugel said the youngster was "in a dry field of stubble, heading for the only trees for at least a mile." Krugel said moose sightings south of the Columbia River around Mansfield are rare events.

the service and lack of funds to make extra pickups.

Webster said the county provides the service through a grant that covers residential recycling. While the county has issues with "frequent contamination and misuse," according to a notice posted at the recycle site near Swamp Creek west of Bridge Street North, Webster said another factor was the amount of cardboard

"The volume of cardboard the city of Brewster provides required an extra trip a week down here, and they basically ran out of money," Webster said.

Webster is exploring other options for cardboard processing while the county takes the matter under further review.

Webster also advised council that, thanks to help from volunteers like Manny Hurtado, the city has received enough responses to its income survey of city residential water users to validate the results for low income funding eligibility. As of April, only 99 responses had been received of the minimum 159 needed to validate the survey so community volunteers played a key role in closing the gap.

Brewster pool manager, Shan Miller reported that the pool attracted more swimmers on opening day this summer than any previous opening since she has been involved with it. Miller announced some changes at the pool this year, including a daily general admission fee of three dollars for all ages. Miller said the large opening day turnout is evidence that "we must be doing something right."

OBITUARIES

Ronald E.
'Ron' Foutch

Ronald Eugene "Ron" Foutch, 72, of Wenatchee and a former longtime Carlton resident, passed away peacefully at home on Thursday, June 15, 2017.

Ron was born to Betty Joy Barta on October 18, 1944 at Richmond, California. He spent most of youth in Kalispell and Big Fork, Montana. He graduated from the Flathead County High School in Kalispell, with the class of 1962. He continued his education attending college at Sheridan, Wyoming and while there he met and was later married to Karen Cecilia Floretta in 1963. Ron worked for Boeing Aircraft Company in Seattle and finally made the move to the Methow Valley, which he loved so much. He loved to fish and drive his classic 1960 Dodge Matador to car shows or just cruise to show it off. When he could no longer fish, he turned to poker for entertainment.

Ron is survived by his wife, Karen, Wenatchee; son Wesley and wife Leah, Littleton, Colorado; daughter D'lynn, Wenatchee; six grandchildren, Bailey, LaQuinta, California, and Sabrina, Christian, Bridget (known as "Bill" to grandpa) and Miles all in Littleton, Colorado, and Alec, Marysville, Washington and great-granddaughter, Paisley, also of Marysville; sisters Nadine Rishforth and Tereasa Schulz of Wichita, Kansas. He was preceded in death by his mother and a sister, Cheryl Hansen.

A remembrance gathering will be held at a later date. You are invited to visit his tribute online at www.HeritageMemorialChapel.com and leave a memory for the family.

Arrangements are in the care of Heritage Memorial Chapel, East Wenatchee.

Shirley Alice
Monroe
Bennett

Shirley Alice Monroe Bennett was born April 22, 1925 in Wenatchee, Wash. to Maude and Vernon B. Monroe. She passed away at her home in Brewster on June 14, 2017 at the age of 92 after spending her entire life in Brewster.

She was married to Dick Bennett on October 9, 1944 and they made their home on the Bridgeport Bar where their four children were born. The family later moved to Brewster where Dick and Shirley were to spend the remainder of their days. Her husband preceded her in death in August of 2014.

As a child she learned to play the Ukulele and would dress up in a cowboy outfit and sing western songs to anyone who would listen. Her beautiful voice lead her to sing at many weddings and funerals over the years. She recorded her first and only record at age 16. Her love of music encouraged her to become an excellent banjo player as she sang and yodeled her favorite country tunes. You always knew where she was because you could hear her singing or humming.

During the 1980's Shirley developed an interest in genealogy and wrote two books about her family history.

Shirley's strength of character is a testament to her longevity. She loved to tell jokes and impersonate some of the elders of the family, and did so without a flaw. She loved life and life loved her.

She is survived by her four children: Steve, Darla and Beckie Bennett and Shan (Vern) Chute, all currently of Brewster. Other survivors include seven grandchildren, Tom Dundas, Chad Marcellay, Laura Marcellay, Eric Freels, Joel Bennett, Tyler Marcellay and Will Bennett; thirteen great grandchildren, Julian Reyes, Cyrus Smith, Cid Marcellay, Ethan Freels, Talia Freels, Larkin Freels, Hudson and Hadley Freels, Clare Bennett, Cate Bennett and Liam Bennett, Makenna Dundas, Cassius Marcellay and one great-great granddaughter, Julysia Reyes.
