Suit seeks redress for airport funds diversion

By MIKE MALTAIS
Ward Media Staff Reporter

CHELAN – The city council voted to join a legal action against the state of Washington regarding alleged misuse of aviation fuel tax funds. The action was among topics discussed at the council workshop held on Jan. 2.

City Administrator Wade Farris advised the workshop of a letter he received last December from Chelan-Douglas Port Authority (CDRPA) CEO James Kuntz regarding the apparent unauthorized diversion by the state of aviation fuel sales taxes for other than aviation-related uses.

The CDRPA letter said in part: “Federal law requires, with limited exceptions, that ‘State taxes on aviation fuel... are subject to use by a State aviation program or for airport related purposes.’ The State of Washington is not in compliance with Federal Aviation Administration 14 CFR Chapter 1. There is no clear path forward to becoming compliant. FAA enforcement is lacking.”

“About $21 million per year should go to airports,” said Farris. “Anywhere from SeaTac all the way down to little old Chelan should be getting this funding for different projects that they have.”

The port letter added: “Our collective past efforts hoping for compliance have not been successful. The continued diversion and use of millions of dollars of aviation fuel taxes for non-aeronautical purposes in the State of Washington remains unchecked.”

Farris was asked if the port was contributing to the coalition as well as the city. He responded by directing attention to a list of contributors attached to the council information packet.

Among the contributors to the lawsuit are:

- SeaTac Airport – $25,000
- Spokane International – $10,000
- Pangborn Memorial – $7,500

The CDRPA added its support, saying “Airports in the State of Washington need to demand compliance. The Chelan Douglas Regional Port Authority (owner of four municipal airports) has agreed to help coordinate this effort.”

A motion for the city to join the coalition with a $1,000 contribution received unanimous approval.

Student participation sought for Northwest Radon Poster Contest

Ward Media / Lake Chelan Mirror

OLYMPIA – The Washington State Department of Health is spearheading the 2024 Northwest Radon Poster Contest, inviting students from across the Northwest to participate during Radon Action Month, which extends through Jan. 31.

The contest aims to educate youth about the dangers of radon, a colorless, odorless, and tasteless radioactive gas.

Radon is a significant health risk, leading to lung cancer in non-smokers and being the second primary cause in smokers.

The Department emphasizes that testing is the only method to detect radon in homes.

Open to students aged 9 to 14 in Idaho, Oregon, and Washington, the contest requires entrants to be enrolled in various educational settings or be members of a sponsoring club. Each participant is allowed a single entry.

Submissions are accepted until 11:59 p.m. on Feb. 28, with winners announced by March 28.

The contest provides educational resources on its official website, including lesson plans and rules. Prizes range from $50 to $100 for state winners and a $300 regional grand prize.

Winning entries will also advance to the 2025 National Radon Poster Contest.

This educational initiative is collaboratively sponsored by multiple organizations, including the Coeur d'Alene Tribe, Idaho Department of Health and Welfare, Nez Perce Tribe, Oregon Health Authority, Spokane Tribe of Indians, and Washington State Department of Health, alongside the Northwest Radon Coalition and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency Region 10.

Council workshop reviews 2024 committee liaisons

By MIKE MALTAIS
Ward Media Staff Reporter

CHELAN – Anyone who wonders whether Chelan City Council members earn their keep would find the experience of sitting through a recital of the committees on which they serve a sobering exercise. And it was a review those committees that consumed the first part of the council's first 2024 workshop on Tuesday, Jan. 2.

But not before the first order of business, swearing in the city's new mayor, three new council members, a re-elected fourth, and voting for the new mayor pro tem.

City clerk Peri Gallucci administered the oath of office to each official including new Mayor Erin McCardle; Councilmember Position No. 1, Terry Sanders; Councilmember Position No. 3, Brad Chitty; Councilmember Position No. 4, Jon Higgins; and re-elected Councilmember Position No. 5, Mark Ericks.

Council member Tim Hollingsworth was unanimously elected to the position of mayor pro tem for the next two years.

McCardle presented the list of potential committees that councilmembers will be assigned to attend, adding some and removing others according to requests and current priorities. Of the 19 committees under consideration many, such as the Cascadia Conservation District and Fire District 7, are of long-standing. Others, like Our Valley Our Future and the Lake Chelan School District, are new additions to the 2023 list. A few from last year did not make the 2024 list but in total at least 26 different groups were named.

The initial 2024 list includes:

- Cascadia Conservation District
- Chelan County Commissioners
- Chelan County Fire District 7

- Chelan County PUD Commissioners
- Chelan County Sheriff's Office meeting
- Chelan County Solid Waste Council
- Chelan Douglas Local Homeless Housing Task Force
- Chelan Valley Housing Trust
- Chelan Douglas Regional Port Authority Board
- Chelan Douglas Transportation Council
- Historic Downtown Chelan Association
- Lake Chelan Chamber of Commerce Board
- Lake Chelan School District

- Lake Chelan Water Shed Planning Unit
- Law Enforcement Officers and Fire Fighters Retirement Board #1
- Our Valley Our Future – Chelan Douglas Housing Solutions Group
- Park Board
- Planning Commission
- Regional Public Facilities District

The committees and open spots to fill were a discussion topic at the Jan. 9 regular council meeting. Final committee assignments will be made at the Jan. 23 regular meeting.

Letter to the Editor

Congratulations and a thank-you for your remaking of the Chelan Mirror: Good actual writing about actual events. Investigative reporting. New layout, with most of those stories on a single page, for ease in reading. What a joy. And then your recent editorial (last week) urging empathy, dialogue and common sense in our contentious political times.

Let's hope we'll all be willing to accept your invitation to exchange and defend our political views locally and on the state and national scene, reasonably and without assuming that anyone who disagrees is an agent of the devil. Let's also hope this week's editorial asking for inputs from us all produces some that you can use.

Thanks again for reviving what had been, frankly, a poor newspaper.

Chelan Valley Hope - Jan. 10-11, 16-18

Serving Bridgeport, Mansfield, Waterville, Orondo, Chelan, Manson, Chelan Falls, Entiat
CHELAN – Monday, Jan. 15, we will honor Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., an extraordinary American whose legacy as a civil rights leader, activist, and recipient of the Nobel Peace Prize serves as an inspiration. We honor the conviction – and in some cases great sacrifices – of the many who have fought and who continue to fight for equality and opportunity for all. Dr. King once said, "Life's most persistent and urgent question is, 'What are you doing for others?'" He dreamed of a nation in which every person would be equal, and he devoted his life to advancing equality, social justice, and economic opportunity for all. Celebrating Dr. King's legacy should mean finding more ways to bring hope and healing to the community. It should mean identifying what human dignity looks like and pushing it forward. It should mean boldly pursuing truth and justice, dignity, and service. Friendly Reminder: Chelan Valley Hope is closed on Monday, Jan. 15 in honor of Martin Luther King Jr. Day. The Little Essentials Pantry outside of Hope is always available to access 24/7. Please call 509-888-2114 or email info@chelanvalleyhope.org for more information.

Food Drive: Jan. 12-14

CHELAN – Chelan Pride and Chelan Valley Thrive are partnering to sponsor a Food Drive during Chelan Winterfest from Jan. 12-14, for the Lake Chelan Food Bank. A food bin to accept non-perishable food donations will be located in front of the Lake Chelan United Methodist Church on Johnson Avenue, where Thrive Chelan Valley (Empowering Youth) is located. Checks made out to the Lake Chelan Food Bank will also be accepted and a QR Code will be available for those wishing to donate directly.

Their guest speakers will be Sheriff Mike Morrison and Chelan Mayor Erin McCardle. Guests and non-members are welcome. Men are always welcome. Food, wine and beverages will be available for purchase. Please contact Pam James, club president, for questions at 425-343-2911.

Precinct Caucuses: Jan. 13

MANSON – On Jan. 13 the Washington State Republican Precinct Caucuses are taking place from 9-11:30 a.m. The event for our Chelan Valley will be held at Sower's Hall Community Center at North Shore Bible Church in Manson. They will vote on who we want to nominate for the Republican Party President of the United States. This is the first step for grassroots patriots to actively discuss their thoughts and priorities for our state's March 12 Primary Election. Delegates will be elected from this caucus event to attend the Republican Party county and state conventions. Come see how our democracy works at the local level and make your voice heard. Reviewing Regional Transportation Priorities

Many transportation needs in redesigned 12th District

The 12th District legislative district boundaries were recently adjusted as part of the statewide redistricting process. Among other changes, portions of Snohomish and King counties were added to the district.

Sen. Brad Hawkin
Point of View

The needs within this redesigned 12th District are extensive and costly, but effective transportation is very important to all of us regardless of where we live within the district.

Transportation infrastructure is critical to our regional economic growth and quality of life. Having an efficient and effective transportation system is essential for getting our crops to market.

Investing in our transportation system is also important for community safety. In recent years, local traffic congestion is also becoming an increased challenge.

Transportation budget ($13.5 billion)

The 2023-2025 transportation budget funds the construction and maintenance of the state transportation system, including the maintenance and preservation of roads, bridges, and ferries.

This budget also funds the state agencies and commissions that serve our transportation system.

The budget also funds numerous previously approved road projects based on their construction schedules.

In 2022, the Legislature approved a 16-year, $16.9 billion "Move Ahead Washington" transportation investment package, primarily for preservation and maintenance of the existing system and to complete large-scale transportation projects.

The plan combines federal infrastructure funds, climate revenues approved during a previous session, transfers from the operating budget, and license plate and driver license fees to fund a collection of new investments.

Transportation Priorities

• Preservation and Maintenance (statewide): Sustaining our current transportation system should be an important state priority.

Preserving our existing system is even more important than new projects. Local, state, and federal officials should acknowledge the importance of adequately maintaining our existing system and keeping preservation a priority.

• Confluence Parkway (Wenatchee): Confluence Parkway seeks to provide a second bridge across the Wenatchee River, a widened pedestrian bridge, and a roadway with a direct connection to the U.S. 97A/US 2 Interchange.

The project was awarded $49 million in federal grants in 2021 and $85 million in state funding in 2023.

Like most transportation projects in the state, this project needs additional funds to cover recent cost escalations.

• Additional Projects (other areas): In other areas of the district, the State Route 522 widening project outside of Monroe needs to be completed and could cost $260 million. Improvements to the Highway 2 corridor near Sultan have been identified as well to add roundabouts and expand the highway to four lanes.

A new interchange at I-90 and SR 18 near North Bend will improve safety and traffic

CONFLUENCE PARKWAY ILLUSTRATION

Confluence Parkway in Wenatchee seeks a second bridge across the Wenatchee River, a widened pedestrian bridge, and a roadway with a direct connection to the U.S. 97A/US 2. The project was awarded $49 million in federal funding in 2021 and $85 million in state funding in 2023.

flow and widening of SR 18 is currently funded at $665 million.

Maintaining our existing system

The Legislature has increased funding in recent years for preservation and maintenance of our roads and bridges, but funding has not kept pace with inflation.

WSDOT needs more funding to maintain and preserve our transportation assets.

The preservation of our existing system is more important than new projects.

Legislators and local elected officials need to acknowledge preservation of the existing system as a priority, even though it may not be as glamorous as discussing new projects.

Thank you for the opportunity to serve

I hope this provides you a good overview of transportation priorities within 12th District.

Thank you for the opportunity to serve as your state senator.

Together with a review of committees and liaisons the other workshop topic was priority projects for 2024 funding requests.

The city hired a federal lobbyist at its last meeting and was reminded that the city has until the Jan. 26 deadline to submit its legislative appropriation requests.

"We have two routes of funding," explained McCardle. "We have direct appropriation from our state legislature and our ask of grants and support."

Direct appropriations are for projects that have less chance of funding from any other source and are generally smaller in dollar amounts - $1 million or less.

McCardle said she wanted to keep council members focused on less than half a dozen.

"We want to try to narrow that list down to three-to-five projects... that will have a major impact on the community and have low likelihood of funding from other sources," McCardle said.

Public works director Jake Youngren explained how the city's infrastructure needs help identify direct appropriations candidates.

Public works infrastructure is centered around water, sewer, streets, and stormwater, said Youngren, referring to the city's capital six-year plan with the following cost projections:

- Water - $19.5 million over the next six years.
 - Sewer - $13.5 million over six years
 - Streets - $4.8 million of capital projects in 2024.
 - Stormwater - a $250,000 Dept. of Ecology grant request for a development plan.
- The five direct appropriation projects recommended for consideration include:
- Stormwater comprehensive plan
 - East Chelan reservoir

- North Shore Trail
 - City hall
 - Imagine Downtown
- Other possible additions from the council:
- Sidewalk ADA access
 - Parks improvements
- "This is something that we will be doing every year," said McCardle. "So, every year there is an opportunity for direct appropriations."

The identified priority projects were further analyzed and ranked for presentation to the council at its regular meeting on Jan. 9, and will be voted on at the Jan. 23 meeting. Mike Maltais: 360-333-8483 or michael@ward.media

Should you split your pills or patches?

Have you ever climbed into bed, and, just before falling asleep, a task left undone popped up to haunt you? This happened to me with a medication. Earlier that evening, I had forgotten to take the last dose of an antibiotic that I had been given after an outpatient procedure 3 days before.

"I REALLY SHOULD finish the whole prescription," I told myself as I reluctantly rolled out of my warm bed.

Blinking bleary eyes, I filled a glass half full of tap water, tossed the tiny capsule onto my tongue, and drank. Since it didn't feel like the pill went all the way down, I drank another half glass of water as insurance before making my way back to bed.

The following day, my lower chest felt funny. I felt a burning sensation in that spot every time I ate. Over the next couple of days, the burn got worse until it felt like a hot poker stabbing me inside my chest every time I swallowed. My doctor sent me to a hospital Emergency Department to make sure I wasn't having a heart attack. Instead, that pesky antibiotic capsule had somehow gotten stuck to my esophagus, burning a hole in it.

This happened over 20 years ago, and ever since then, I've had trouble swallowing pills. I often use a spoonful of peanut butter or a bite of banana to "slide" pills down to avoid gagging or choking on them.

I'm not the only one with this problem. Many people have trouble swallowing pills, especially any large tablets. They often break their pills in half or crush them up before swallowing them.

But not every pill should be split in half. Which medicines are safe to cut or crush?

Some tablets have special coatings that protect them from dissolving in your stomach. This is to protect your stomach from medicines that can cause irritation or to protect the medication from being destroyed by exposure to acids in your stomach.

Some pills and patches have unique formulations designed to release their contents over a 12 or 24-hour period. Cutting one of these open releases the drug all at once, causing an exaggerated effect like drowsiness, dizziness, or confusion.

Many tablets are "scored". A score is a straight groove running entirely across one side of the tablet. When a tablet is scored, if you split it along that line, each half will contain the same amount of medication. The score line also makes it easier to break the tablet apart, whether with your fingers, a knife, a one-edged razor blade, or (easiest of all) a pill splitter.

Some capsules contain only powder, while others have tiny beads of medicine that can be sprinkled on food or divided into several doses. Dividing the contents of capsules can be done with less mess by placing each half inside an empty gelatin capsule. Some health food or animal supply stores carry empty gelatin capsules.

A local pharmacy may be able to order some for you. They are also available online.

The gelatin capsule sizes most commonly used are the 1, which is the length of a penny, and the 0 (pronounced "ought"), which is the length of a nickel. The 00 ("double ought") size is even bigger: the length of a quarter.

Roman to Arabic

Adding and subtracting Roman Numerals is not easy. Multiplying and dividing is even harder.

To simplify things, people switched to Hindu-Arabic numerals (called Arabic numbers for short). They were invented by two great mathematicians from Ancient India, Aryabhata (fifth century BC) and Brahmagupta (sixth century BC).

The Arabic system has ten digits - 0, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, and 9.

This week's word: NUMERAL

The noun numeral means one or more words or symbols used to represent a number.

The numeral "3" stands for three.

Try to use the word numeral in a sentence today when talking with your friends and family members.

ROMAN NUMERALS

Long ago, people in the Roman Empire started a number system called Roman numerals. They found it helped when all of the people in their empire used the same symbols for counting and for math.

The Roman Empire was so big that the numbers were eventually used in parts of Europe, Asia, and Africa.

Roman numerals have seven symbols: I, V, X, L, C, D, and M. The chart at left shows which letters represent which numbers.

I	V	X	L	C	D	M
1	5	10	50	100	500	1000

How It Works

Roman numerals are combined to make different numbers. Here is a number in Roman numerals. It is three letter Is in a row.

III

To figure out what number this is, you add the three Is.

$$I + I + I = 1 + 1 + 1 = 3$$

If you want to write the number 4, things change a bit. Instead of IIII, the number 4 is written as IV. This shows that the number 4 is one less than 5.

IV = 4

What is VII?

Add the Roman numerals:

$$V = 5 \quad I = 1 \quad 5 + 1 + 1 = 7$$

The number 7 is written as VII in Roman numerals. But the number 9 is IX. That shows that the number nine is one less than 10. (The number 10 is X in Roman numerals.)

VIII	IX	X	XI
8	9	10	11

Give it a try!

Can you write each of these numbers as Roman numerals?

3	I
16		V
29	X
32		X	X

How many differences can you find between these two pictures?

I = 1
II = 2
III = 3
IV = 4
V = 5
VI = 6
VII = 7
VIII = 8
IX = 9
X = 10

Match Up

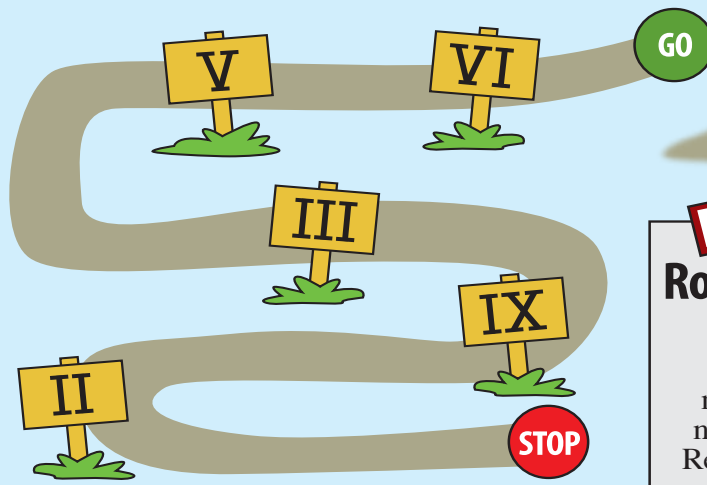

Draw a line between each number and the Roman Numeral that has the same value. One is done for you.

XIV 6 12 14 XXV
XII 23 24 25 XXIII
XXIV VI
