Pateros School Board explains four-day week decision to Pateros City Council

By Mike Maltais
Ward Media Staff Reporter

PATEROS – When the school doors opened August 26, it was the beginning of a new experience for Pateros students as they tried out a four-day school week that will give them Fridays off for the remainder of the academic year.

Pateros school board director Rick Trocano addressed the city council on August 19 to explain the board's decision. Trocano cited several factors behind the schedule change.

- Pateros school is losing students.
- The school does not have the athletics available at other schools.
- The school does have the facilities and its building is aging. Pateros joins Waterville-Mansfield (since 2018) as the other local area school among 30 districts statewide adopting the reduced week.

Trocano said that nationwide about 900 schools have four-day weeks.

"And none of them want to give it up," Trocano said.

Both the Pateros Treehouse Early Education Organization (PTEEO) and Brewster Boys and Girls Club stepped up to accommodate students on Fridays.

"I met (BBGC Executive Director Elizabeth Shepard), who runs the Brewster Boys and Girls Club," said Trocano. "She is a certified Washington State teacher."

Trocano said the BBGC will provide assistant teachers and parent volunteers to help provide one-on-one help with schoolwork and other activities.

"Let's use Friday as a catchup day," Trocano said.

The state opened 30 spots for districts with enrollments of less than 1,000 students to apply for an "Economy and Efficiency" waiver that allows a school to modify the 180-day attendance requirement. Pateros applied and was approved for one of those spots.

Public meetings were held on April 18 and May 9 to gauge public support and address parent concerns about the new schedule.

PTEEO has a direct connection to the Pateros School District through Superintendent/Principal Scotti Wiltse, who serves as PTEEO treasurer, and school board member Grace Larsen, who serves on both boards.

PTEEO and BBGC guidelines are complementary in the youngsters they serve. PTEEO takes children from birth to age 13. BBGC takes kids from ages five to eighteen.

Shepard has met with both the Pateros and Mansfield districts to discuss "creating a plan on how BBGC can best support both schools," said Shepard in an earlier interview with The Quad.

Brewster's Back-To-School Giveaway equips students with backpacks and supplies

MIKE MALTAIS/WARD MEDIA
Brewster Boys and Girls Cub Executive Director Elizabeth Shepard, left, explains the school supply distribution procedure to waiting families.

By Mike Maltais
Ward Media Staff Reporter

BREWSTER – Backpacks outnumbered kids at the first Back-To-School Giveaway held at the Brewster Boys and Girls Club on Saturday, August 17.

Hundreds of backpacks and supply kits ensured that every family that showed up had the basics for Brewster Elementary students to arrive for the first day of school prepared to learn.

Earlier, the Brewster Chamber of Commerce approved the purchase of 450 backpacks and a lesser quantity of supply packs to match the estimated number of students returning to school this fall.

BBGC Executive Director Elizabeth Shepard and Chamber Director Ann-Marie Dalbey were on hand at 10 a.m. Saturday morning to greet the families and students who lined up at the BBGC front door. Following a brief procedural orientation, an orderly procession of parents and students filed through two separate areas, selecting backpacks in one and supplies in the other.

Shepard said the previous evening had been devoted to unpacking the boxes of supplies, sorting the contents, and arranging everything on tables for easy access.

"We handed out 133 backpacks on Saturday together with 133 supply packs," said Shepard. "We handed out another 52 on Sunday."

"We did talk to each of the school principals here to let them know if they do have any families that move in or students in need of a backpack to reach, and we will make sure they get one," Shepard said.

Dalbey covered the cost of providing a snow cone vendor, who distributed refreshments to families as they made the supply selections.

The Chamber voted to save the majority of the remaining backpacks for next year.

"Our purpose was met on making sure that we helped as many kids get as many supplies and preparation for school as we could," Shepard said.

Ordinance for Bridgeport fireworks ban gains support

By Mike Maltais
Ward Media Staff Reporter

BRIDGEPORT – Public support for a resolution to ban fireworks within the city limits was endorsed by city resident Ken Krugel who addressed the regular city council meeting on Wednesday, August 21. Krugel has some perspective on the problem.

"Fireworks were a serious problem this year," said Krugel. I've watched it for 27 years, and every year it proceeds to get worse."

Krugel said this year he had to contend with fireworks being set off well after July 4.

"My last call to the sheriff's department was on the 20th of July," Krugel said.

A deputy responded at the neighbor's residence Krugel called to report.

"Everything stopped for an hour," said Krugel. "Then several large ones were set off at the very same place."

Krugel said he took that as a message, a warning, that he could call authorities if he wished, but the fireworks would continue regardless.

What concerned him was a three-and-a-half-acre field full of tall dry grass separating the two homes and the wind blowing toward his.

"If one of those had set off a fire – and they very well could have – the best our fire department could have done might have been to block off the rest of my property by the time it burned down."

Krugel said passing an ordinance – with some enforcement teeth – is the most responsible thing the city leaders could do.

"Take it seriously," urged Krugel. "Other places are taking it seriously. We are in a fire-prone area, and we are not safe when it comes to things like that."

Mayor Sergio Orozco told Krugel that he has spoken with sheriff's

Okanogan County Transit expands service, connects with Link Transit

Ward Media / Quad City Herald

WENATCHEE – Okanogan County's transit service, TranGO, is set to launch a new connection with Link Transit's Route 21, extending public transportation options between Okanogan County and Wenatchee.

Starting September 3, TranGO will operate three daily round trips Monday through Saturday between Okanogan and Chelan, with stops in Brewster and Pateros.

The new service will connect with Link Transit's Route 21 to and from Wenatchee.

On weekdays, southbound TranGO buses from Okanogan will arrive in Chelan at 9:09 a.m., 12:09 p.m., and 3:39 p.m. Passengers can then transfer to Link Transit Route 21, reaching Wenatchee approximately one hour later.

For northbound travel, Link Transit buses will depart Wenatchee's Columbia Station at 8:30 a.m., 11:30 a.m., and 3:00 p.m., connecting with TranGO's northbound departures in Chelan.

Saturday service will offer different timings, with connections allowing arrivals in Wenatchee at 10:47 a.m., 2:17 p.m., and 5:17 p.m. Return trips to Okanogan County will be available with Link Transit departures from Wenatchee at 8:00 a.m., 9:30 a.m., and 2:30 p.m.

TranGO fares are set at $1 each way, with free rides for passengers 18 and younger. Link Transit services remain fare-free for all riders.

All transfers between TranGO and Link Transit will take place at the bus stop near Chelan City Hall on Johnson Street.

This expansion of service improves regional connectivity for Okanogan County residents, providing access to Wenatchee for work, medical appointments, and other services.

Detailed schedules and additional information are available on the Link Transit and TranGO websites. Passengers seeking more information can contact Link Transit Guest Services at 509-662-1155.

deputies and told them to dispense with education advisories and begin writing citations. He added that he is working with the city attorney on the ordinance under discussion.

Clerk/treasurer Judy Brown clarified that state law requires a 12-month period for a city to put an ordinance into effect.

A call for understanding in divisive times

Imagine a world where every conversation is an echo chamber, where differing opinions are met with hostility, and where the fear of the unfamiliar drives every decision.

Now open your eyes – this dystopian vision may be closer to reality than we'd like to admit.

In a landscape increasingly defined by polarization, tolerance stands as both our greatest challenge and our most powerful tool for positive change.

Tolerance – the willingness to accept behavior and beliefs that differ from our own – forms the bedrock of pluralistic societies. It enables diverse communities to function harmoniously, allowing people with varied backgrounds and ideologies to coexist peacefully and productively.

From the Publisher

Yet tolerance is not passive. It demands active engagement and a genuine willingness to listen to and understand perspectives that may feel foreign or uncomfortable.

Today's polarized climate, fueled by echo chambers and personalized content algorithms on social media, makes cultivating true tolerance both more challenging and more essential.

The practice of tolerance does not require us to agree with or endorse every viewpoint we encounter.

Instead, it asks us to approach differences with curiosity and respect, seeking understanding before rushing to judgment. It challenges us to recognize the humanity in those whose beliefs may diverge radically from our own.

In our schools, workplaces, and public spaces, we must foster environments that encourage respectful dialogue and intellectual curiosity.

We should challenge ourselves – and others – to engage with ideas outside our comfort zones, question our assumptions, and approach differences with empathy rather than animosity.

Tolerance has its limits, particularly regarding ideologies that promote harm or infringe on others' rights.

As philosopher Karl Popper noted, unlimited tolerance can paradoxically lead to tolerance's disappearance.

We must strive for a balanced approach that respects diversity of thought while upholding fundamental human rights and dignity.

As we confront challenges requiring collective action – from affordable housing to economic inequality – cultivating tolerance becomes not just a moral imperative but a practical necessity.

Only by bridging our divides and finding common ground can we hope to address these pressing issues effectively.

Let us commit to practicing genuine tolerance. We must listen more than we speak, seek to understand before being understood, and view our differences as opportunities for growth and learning. Through cultivating true tolerance, we can build a more harmonious and just world for all.

Roars and rooster tails entertain Pateros Hydro fans

By MIKE MALTAIS

Ward Media Staff Reporter

PATEROS – The race results were not available at press time, but a scorecard was not necessary to judge that everyone enjoyed the roar and rooster tails at the annual Terry Troxel Memorial Hydro Classic on Saturday and Sunday, August 17-18.

The hydro pit is a hum of activity on Saturday morning, the first day of racing. The gathering of Pacific Northwest Boat Racing Association competitors is making last-minute adjustments to sleek water rockets that carpet Lakeshore Park in a rainbow of colors.

Cashmere's Kyle Davenport owns/drives the fire engine red No. 6 Bantam 2.5 liter, powered by a four-cylinder Pinto engine capable of reaching speeds in excess of 100 mph.

His crew of six at this event includes crew chief Tony Parisi from Richland, Chris and JoAnn Carson from Hoodport, Oregon, Matt Otulo from Wenatchee, and a grandfather/granddaughter duo, Azura Dugger and Randy Ogle from Cashmere.

Davenport has a GoPro action camera mounted behind his cockpit and posts videos of his races on YouTube channel, BozGoz (youtube.com/BozGozRacing).

Viewers can log on and speed around the course buoys from a favorite easy chair at 90-miles-plus without ever getting wet.

Davenport has been racing the Bantam for five years and is currently running second on the season.

"I used to run two classes," said Davenport "I used to run this class (2.5 stock) and 2.5 mod."

The mod is the faster of the two classes.

"The mod class is not very big," explained Davenport.

Douglas County to allocate $152,844 for affordable housing projects

NCW News / Ward Media

WATERVILLE - The Douglas County Regional Council announced plans to distribute up to $152,844 in affordable housing funds for the coming year; addressing housing needs in the county.

The funds, available through a state-mandated program established in 2005, are earmarked for projects serving very low-income individuals, maintaining existing affordable housing, and operating emergency shelters.

The money comes from a surcharge on certain documents recorded by county auditors. Eligible agencies and organizations have until 4 p.m. on September 16, 2024, to submit applications for this year's funding cycle. Funds will not be distributed directly to individuals. The Regional Council, which comprises representatives from Douglas County and its municipalities, will review the applications for consideration. The council includes officials from the cities of Bridgeport, East Wenatchee, and Rock Island, as well as the towns of Coulee Dam, Mansfield, and Waterville. This funding initiative is part of an ongoing effort to address affordable housing challenges in the region.

The state legislature's 2005 decision to establish county-level programs aims to address these issues on a local scale.

Interested organizations can obtain application information by contacting Carlye Baity, Deputy Clerk of the Douglas County Board of Commissioners, at 509-745-8537.

How to avoid and remove ticks

When my husband Charlie saw a tick on our garage floor last week, he tried to smash it with his shoe, but it kept crawling away.

"Honey, there's a tick on the garage floor. It must have come in on one of the dogs!" "Okay, I'll check them right now!"

Lurking on knee-high grasses, brush, and trees year-round, waiting to latch on to a deer, dog, or human, ticks can survive up to 2 years between blood meals.

The Pacific Northwest has 3 species of ticks that can transmit disease to humans. Rocky Mountain spotted fever is transmitted from a Brown dog or Rocky Mountain wood tick. The Western black-legged tick carries Lyme disease.

Those aren't the only diseases ticks can transmit. According to Rebecca Eisen, a research biologist at the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (the CDC), "Tick-borne diseases are on the rise."

The CDC is seeing more cases of tick-transmitted diseases like Powassan disease, a serious, potentially fatal nerve infection caused by a virus carried by tick saliva.

Living in the foothills of the Cascade Mountains for over 30 years, I have tried nearly every method of tick removal. Many of the removal methods are WORTHLESS.

I can honestly say, "Never use Vaseline®. Even if it worked to get the tick to wiggle out (which it doesn't), the tick becomes so slippery that you can't grip it with your tweezers to remove it.

It's the same issue with using nail polish to "smother" the tick. Dabbing on nail polish makes it super slippery, and unless you have nail polish remover nearby to remove the gooey residue, heaven help you.

Several years ago, my friend Denise and I read on the internet about using liquid dish detergent to remove a tick. "Well, it sounds like it MIGHT be useful someday, like knowing 48 ways to reuse fabric softener dryer sheets... or maybe not."

One summer day, Denise found a tick on my 6-year-old Scottie, Jamie. Jamie was a gentle soul nicknamed "Spook" because he was black, hated loud noises, and lurked under kitchen chairs. Denise first tried brushing off the dreaded tick, but no luck there. Then she got out the tweezers to pluck it off. Unfortunately, Jamie wouldn't stay still long enough for her to grab it, so desperate, we tried the Dawn® dish soap trick.

We put a small dab of liquid Dawn® on Jamie's neck, right where the tick sat. To our amazement, it immediately began a frantic backstroke and was completely out within moments. We only had to wipe it off with a tissue. AMAZING.

Sadly, the Dawn® liquid dish detergent trick doesn't always work. My current go-to tick removal method is a tool called the Tick Tornado. Unlike tweezers, which squeeze the tick, the Tick Tornado hooks underneath it to pull it out safely.

I prefer using a two-step process for removing a tick. First, I use a dab of Dawn® liquid dish detergent, which also cleanses the area. If that is unsuccessful, I wipe off the detergent and get out my Tick Tornado tool. If you only have tweezers, grab the tick as close to the skin as you can. Pull up, DON'T JERK.

Here are 5 Tips to Reduce Your Risk of Tick-Borne Illness:

1. Avoid brushy, woody areas or tall grass.

Walk in the center of trails to avoid contact with branches or leaves where ticks get brushed off by deer, waiting patiently for their next warm-blooded meal: you.

2. Check for ticks frequently.

Every spring, our dogs get a "summer cut" to keep their hair short, especially around their faces. This makes checking for ticks much faster and easier. We do "tick checks" on each dog after every long walk and a complete nose-to-tail check EVERY NIGHT, looking for "freckles" and feeling for bumps.

3. Wear light-colored clothing.

Light colors help you see ticks more easily. Wearing long-sleeved shirts and tucking your pants into your boots also limits a tick's access to your skin (and blood).

4. Check yourself and your pets after hiking.

When you get home from an outing where you could be exposed to ticks, such as tall grass, woody, or brushy areas, shower within 2 hours for your best chance of rinsing off ticks or finding them before they dig in.

5. Avoid jerking or tugging during tick removal.

Pull upward nice and STEADY, up, up UP with your tweezers or tick removal tool. This makes it less likely for tick body parts to break off inside the skin.

Boulder Bend Glassworks demonstrates art at 2,000 degrees

By TAYLOR CALDWELL
 Ward Media Staff Reporter

LEAVENWORTH – Tucked along US-2 in Peshastin, Boulder Bend Glassworks welcomes passersby to stop in and witness art being carefully crafted at over 2,000 degrees Fahrenheit.

“We want them to kind of have an appreciation for how things are made and that it takes a lot of equipment, it takes a lot of time and dedication and skill to make things. It’s a unique situation to be able to invite people in and hopefully educate them about this craft,” said Delvo.

Boulder Bend Glassworks is owned and operated by Jori Delvo and Craig Sorensen, who work as a team to create intricate, glass-blown artwork.

After building out their space over the course of ten years, the two opened the studio in 2020. The duo works together to create anything from simple ornaments to complex murrine mosaics and cane work.

The two must work swiftly and harmoniously on each piece to ensure the molten glass is warped at the right time and temperature. Careful consideration must be given to how different colors will affect viscosity or how cooling too fast may ruin the work.

“Every step is critical. An analogy I frequently use is, you can think how complex an airplane is, right? We have Boeing in our backyard, but they can go back years later and fix a part to make it work. We don’t get to do that in glass. If we mess up at the beginning as an artist, we’re always going to see that,” said Delvo.

In glassblowing, making something as small as an ornament may take minutes, but learning how to do it well can take a lifetime.

“As an industry like we like

TAYLOR CALDWELL / WARD MEDIA

Craig Sorensen and Jori Delvo create handmade glass in their high-tech customized studio along US-2.

to say, that takes us, you know, 30 years, plus 10 minutes,” said Delvo.

Sorensen started his glassblowing journey back in college, during his first quarter as a chemistry student. He took a class on laboratory glassblowing and was hooked. He later moved on to glassblowing for art and never stopped.

“I enjoy making things, and I enjoy making things that are challenging,” said Sorensen.

Sorensen went on to study at The Studio at the Corning Museum of Glass, Kurashiki University of Science and Art in Japan, and California State University Fresno.

“There’s nobody who has completely mastered glass in all aspects. There are definitely people who are extremely talented with certain things, and for me, myself, I want to learn as much as possible,” said Sorensen.

Delvo, who has a background in business, came to glassblowing more recently. After owning a German restaurant in Leavenworth for over a decade, Delvo learned how to build the glassblowing hot shop from the ground up, then became a full-time glassblower once it was complete.

Delvo and Sorensen’s work is often inspired by nature, such as salmon, owls, and the night sky.

Their favorite work, however, is their tedious murrine work, which creates detailed designs of fine lines of colors within the glass. The process of completing a piece typically takes about 14 days.

“We try to dedicate a portion of our time to making the things that we love, and the things we love are the more challenging pieces,” said Delvo.

Boulder Bend Glassworks is located at 8210 US-2 in Peshastin. The studio typically does live glass-blowing demonstrations on Saturdays, and make-your-own glass-fusing workshops on Sundays. Visitors are welcome to stop by anytime during business hours.

Two arrested in gang-related shooting investigation in Douglas County

Ward Media
 Quad City Herald

BRIDGEPORT – Authorities in Douglas County have arrested two men in connection with a gang-related shooting incident that occurred earlier this month.

The Douglas County Sheriff’s Office reported that on August 11, around 11:17 p.m., multiple reports of gunfire were received near State Route 173 on the Bridgeport Bar, approximately 5 miles outside of Bridgeport.

Investigators determined the incident was likely gang-related, involving two opposing factions.

Following an extensive investigation, law enforcement executed two high-risk search warrants at separate locations simultaneously on August 21 at about 4:00 a.m.

The operations resulted in two arrests and the recovery of firearms and ammunition, including stolen weapons.

Rosendo Saucedo Jr., 28, of Bridgeport, was arrested on charges of drive-by shooting, unlawful possession of a firearm in the second degree, two counts of assault in the first degree, and violation of a domestic violence protection order with two prior convictions.

Ivan Garcia-Ramirez, 29, from the Bridgeport Bar area, was taken into custody for obstructing a law enforcement officer and making false or misleading statements to a public servant.

A third suspect, identified as Ruben Garcia-Ramirez,

An arrest warrant has been issued for him on multiple charges, including unlawful possession of a firearm, assault, reckless endangerment, and weapons-related offenses.

Sheriff Kevin W. Morris expressed gratitude to numerous agencies that assisted in the operation, including several SWAT teams, federal agencies, and local law enforcement departments.

According to Morris, multi-agency cooperation was crucial in executing the high-risk warrants safely.

Authorities are urging anyone with information on Ruben Garcia-Ramirez’s whereabouts to contact the Douglas County Sheriff’s Office Tip line at (509) 699-3283.

Pateros Hydro

“They need three boats to make a class so I would bump up a class and race there, too.”

When Davenport decided to compete for a national high points championship, he gave up the mod portion.

“Two classes put too much wear and tear on me and the boat,” Davenport said.

Staying competitive and keeping the equipment likewise is more than a full-time commitment during the circuit.

“About midway through during the dog days of the season, I often ask myself why I am punishing myself like this?” said Davenport. “Then when it’s over, I miss it, start getting excited, and cannot wait until the season starts again.”

When he’s not behind the wheel of the Bantam, Davenport can be found at Rocky Reach Dam, where he has been the chief hydro (water, not boat) operator since 2018.

Dugger, the youngest of the crew members, accompanied her grandfather and crew member Ogle to only her second race so far. A Cashmere High senior this year, Dugger is pursuing an auto tech certificate at Wenatchee Valley College.

“I’d love to get into bodywork and maybe NASCAR,” said Dugger. “I like the racing environment, the competitiveness.”

The Bantam will race at the Tony Newton Memorial Regatta on Sept. 7-8 in Brewster and the Manson Hydrofest on Sept. 28-29 in Manson.

NCW Tech Alliance launches AI Skill-A-Thon

Ward Media
 Quad City Herald

WENATCHEE – The NCW Tech Alliance, in collaboration with Microsoft and the Community Skills Initiative, will launch a month-long AI Skill-A-Thon on September 1 to enhance artificial intelligence and digital skills in North Central Washington.

The competition, running through September 30, provides participants with free access to online courses in high-demand fields, including IT, data analytics, and project management.

This year’s program highlights artificial intelligence and sustainability skills.

Participants can register in three age categories: 16-24, 25-49, and 50 and older.

The top four performers in each category will receive cash prizes ranging from $250 to $1,500.

The initiative utilizes Microsoft’s Global Skills Initiative and LinkedIn Learning paths to offer accessible training for job seekers and professionals. Courses are available in both English and Spanish and can be accessed via smartphone, tablet, desktop, or laptop.

Local employers, educators, and non-profits are encouraged to share the Community

Skills Initiative website as a resource for online training and upskilling opportunities.

The NCW Tech Alliance, a non-profit organization established in 1999, supports entrepreneurs, STEM education, and technology adoption in North Central Washington.

Interested participants can register at www.communityskills-killing.org/partner/ncwtech. The competition officially begins on September 1 at 12:01 a.m.

For further information, individuals can contact Conrad Billman, NCW Tech Alliance Technology Programs Manager, at conrad@ncwtech.org or 509-661-9000.

CHELAN - The winners of the 2024 Frances Walton Competition for Classical Musicians are set to perform a free concert on September 10 at the Chelan High School Performing Arts Center. The concert will feature Kana Funayama, a Japanese percussionist and marimbist, and Sean Yang, a pianist. Both musicians have gained recognition in their respective fields.

Funayama, a graduate of Tokyo University of the Arts and Eastman School of Music, has performed with prestigious ensembles, including the Los Angeles Philharmonic and the Orchestra of the Royal Opera House. She is currently pursuing an Artist Diploma at USC's Thornton School of Music.

Yang, who studied under Logan Skelton at the University of Michigan, has won prizes in several competitions and performed with orchestras, including the Nashville Symphony. He holds a double major in Neuroscience and Piano from Vanderbilt University and has conducted research on the benefits of live classical music in intensive care units.

The concert, part of the Winners Outreach Tour, begins at 7:00 p.m. and is open to the public. For those unable to attend in person, a live broadcast will be available on Classical KING (KING.org) on September 6 at 7:00 p.m.

This event is supported by various organizations, including Classical KING, Tour-

WEST, and the Office of Arts & Culture Seattle.

Cashmere-Dryden Airport gearing up for annual community celebration

By Will Nilles Ward Media Staff Reporter

CASHMERE - The pilots of the Cashmere-Dryden Airport (CDA) invite the community to their runway for a fun-filled day of planes, food, and local connection.

In the hopes of engaging with the community and spreading further awareness about their critical role as a local resource, the CDA is hosting its 3rd annual Cashmere-Dryden Airport Day.

The Airport Day event aims to bring the vital and often overlooked benefits of rural airports into public focus. In doing so, the pilots at CDA hope to introduce their neighbors to the wide world of aviation.

CDA board member and local pilot York Baur helps organize Airport Day. He finds the event to benefit the Cashmere community in multiple ways.

"It really serves two purposes," Baur explained. "The first is for people to just experience the joy of aviation, for anyone and everyone to understand a little bit more and get exposed to the magic of flight. The second purpose, and this applies not only to Cashmere-Dryden but really to all rural airports, is to illuminate the critical role that airports like Cashmere-Dryden serve in the rural community."

Impressively, CDA's paved runway provides a wide range of crucial resources to communities at the state level.

This ranges from assisting with regional firefighting efforts to ensuring that com-

Baur himself is familiar with the vital help that CDA provides to local causes.

"Things like search and rescue, fire suppression, a lot of medical," Baur listed as he described CDA's lifesaving potential. "We have life flights that fly in and out, and there's a group called Angel Flight that flies people to non-emergency care that they might need."

Additionally, the rural airport's relaxed level of traffic allows for local agencies to perform important training exercises in a safe environment.

As Baur explains, "[CDA] had the Chelan County Sheriff helicopter come out a couple months ago and practice on our field because those kinds of practices aren't done usually at busy airports."

Another passionate local pilot and CDA board member, Bill McGlynn, expanded further on the airport's criticality in providing emergency service.

"That airport is going to be a line of defense," McGlynn mentioned, focusing on the vital resources provided by CDA. "If we ever have a giant fire that starts coming down the Wenatchee Valley, that airport will be the place where helicopters can go in and hot fuel, meaning they don't have to shut the helicopter down in order to refuel it."

Alongside spreading awareness about the airport's important role in the local area, CDA also hopes to impart their attendees of all ages with smiles and a newfound appreciation for aviation.

This includes giving locals a chance to approach about forty different airplanes and learn about each one from their impassioned owners. Kids also have the opportunity to take a look inside a variety of real planes while sitting in their cockpits.

As local pilot McGlynn shares from his personal experience, the sparks of passion only require one good interaction to influence someone's life forever.

"You never know when some of these little experiences that are maybe insignificant to the pilot or to most people, might be the inspiration for a young person to become an astronaut. You know, it happened to me. I was always one of those kids that looked up when an airplane went over, probably from the time I was five years old. And a guy gave me a ride just out of the goodness of his heart when I was 13, and let me fly the airplane, and it set the hooks so deep that for the rest of my life, all I could think about was flying in an airplane."

It's not just kids who find themselves captivated by the wonders of flight, however. McGlynn also enjoys seeing the faces of adults light up as they learn about the world of aviation in the comfort of the local community.

"I think the adults bring their kids because the kids get so excited," McGlynn explained. "But, I think that, frankly, the parents are just as excited. You see the giant smiles on their faces too."

With 2024 marking CDA's third Airport Day, Board Member Baur feels hopeful about the event's overall growth.

"The attendance has gone up," Baur shared optimistically. "Last year, we had over 300 people, and we hope for more this year."

In light of the event's popularity, CDA is introducing an RC airplane flight demonstration featuring massive remote control planes that allow attendees to truly enjoy the spectacle of flight.

"In particular, this year we will have some one-third scale RC airplanes," Baur commented. "These are the largest of the remote control airplanes. So they're real airplanes. They are just flown remotely. And it's a great way for people, especially kids, to understand a little bit more and get up close with something that's actually flying that day."

In the spirit of connecting the community to CDA's important and fascinating aviation opportunities, Board Member McGlynn leaves a message for Cashmere-Dryden locals,

"This airport belongs to everyone," McGlynn declared. "And so it's really exactly that, it's a resource for everybody."

The Cashmere-Dryden Airport Day event begins at 10 a.m. on September 7, giving community members the chance to connect with their local airport while still having time to attend the Chelan County Fair at the Cashmere Expo Center.

Eagerly standing by, the pilots at the Cashmere-Dryden Airport look forward to greeting their neighbors and inspiring the community with their limitless passion for aviation.

NOTICE OF DETERMINATION OF ENVIRONMENTAL NONSIGNIFICANCE

The Public Utility District No.1 of Douglas County has entered a determination of environmental non-significance, (DNS), for the proposed action under the State Environmental Policy Act, (RCW 43.21C), as amended. The lead agency for this proposal has determined that the subject action does not have a probable significant adverse impact on the environment. An environmental impact statement (EIS) is not required under 43.21C.030(2)c. This decision was made after review of a completed environmental checklist and other information on file with the lead agency. This DNS is issued under WAC 197-11-340(2); the lead agency shall not act on this proposal for 15 days from the date below. Written comments must be submitted by September 5, 2024. Written comments should be submitted to John M. Brown, SEPA Official, Public Utility District No.1 of Douglas County, 1151 Valley Mall Parkway, East Wenatchee, WA 98802. Copies of the DNS, and Environmental Checklist can be obtained from the Public Utility District No.1 of Douglas County, 1151 Valley Mall Parkway, East Wenatchee, WA 98802 and on Douglas PUD's website; www.douglasnud.org. The issuance of the determination of environmental non-significance, for which notice is hereby given, is for the following action: Public Utility District No. 1 of Douglas County proposes to expand the existing swimming beach at the designated swimming area at Marina Park located in Bridgeport, Washington. The subject property is located at the east end of Riverside Drive in the City of Pateros, WA. The subject property is found in Section 35, Township 30N, Range 23 EWM, situated in Okanogan County. Dated this 12th day of August, 2024. Public Utility District No.1 of Douglas County, WA John M. Brown SEPA Official Published in the Quad City Herald on August 21, 28, 2024. #8312

Kid Scoop Together: Are you trustworthy?

Take this self-review to find out. Read the following statements and check TRUE or FALSE.

I don't spread rumors about people.
 TRUE FALSE

I am honest.
 TRUE FALSE

People can count on me.
 TRUE FALSE

I am loyal to my friends and family.
 TRUE FALSE

I keep the promises I make.
 TRUE FALSE

I am a trustworthy person because:

TRUST

Trust is a building block to good friendships. Trust is believing a person will keep their promises.

What Trust Looks Like

When a person is kind to you, especially when you're having a rough day.

When you know a person will do what they said they were going to do.

When a person takes care of something you loan to them.

When you can believe what a person says to you.

Trust Walk

Partner with a friend or family member to take a walk.

One person closes their eyes or wears a blindfold.

Holding hands, the person with open eyes takes their partner on a walk.

At first, the blindfolded person may feel a bit scared. But, if the open-eyed partner is very careful of their safety, they will start to trust.

After a while, switch roles.

Afterward, talk about how it felt to do the Trust Walk.

Help Ben guide his blindfolded partner, Jacob, through the maze!

Building Trust

Trust is something you don't just have. It takes time to build trust.

Each time someone keeps a promise, tells the truth, is kind to you, or is careful with your things, trust builds. It is like building a house. You start by building a foundation with bricks of trust.

If you break a promise or tell a lie, the bricks fall down, and it is hard to build them back up.

Unscramble the letters on these blocks to discover a key way to build trust.

Standards Link: Language Arts: Spell grade-level words correctly.

Trustworthiness

Read the sentences. Finish each one with an answer that shows trustworthiness.

Juan heard a bad rumor about Sarah. Juan should _____ Tomas found $10 in the gym. Tomas should _____ Sasha found Maria's diary. Sasha should _____ Extra! Extra!

Trusty Words

Select a person or a character in a book that you trust. Look through the newspaper for five words that describe that person or character. Use these words to write about why you trust them.

Standards Link: Language arts: Identify and use adjectives.

Kid Scoop Puzzler

Mirror Image

Face a partner. One person will be the "mirror," and the other will be the person looking into the mirror.

The mirror follows the movements of the person looking into it as best as they can. After a few minutes, switch roles.

Talk about how the mirror and the person looking into it could help each other.

How many differences can you find between these two friends playing the mirror game?

Standards Link: Reading Comprehension: Follow simple written directions.
