Bavarian Bagel Co. opens downtown storefront

Taylor Lapinski takes an order.

By TAYLOR CALDWELL
Ward Media Staff Reporter

LEAVENWORTH – Bavarian Bagel Co., which got its start with online sales and local farmers markets, held a soft opening at its new downtown storefront on Sept. 24.

“It’s mind blowing that we’re already here at this point, when in January we were figuring out how to sign up for a business license,” said Taylor Lapinski.

Owners Sage Worden, Taylor Lapinski, and Sydney Lapinski started their local bagel business earlier this year, building up a following through social media, online sales, and weekly farmers markets.

Their goal was to eventually open a storefront, but they didn’t anticipate an opportunity would come within their first year of business. Worden first heard of the space opening through a friend of a friend over the summer, and by Aug. 20 the space was officially reserved for Bavarian Bagel Co.

“A little over a month is what we had to pretty much turn this around and get the plan rolling,” said Worden.

The storefront, located at 905 Commercial Street, is currently offering bagels and an espresso bar. As the shop expands its hours, Bavarian Bagel Co. plans to add baked goods and bagel sandwiches.

“We will be doing like a shopkeeper menu for downtown once we do the grand opening. And we would love

Community weighs in on local environmental risks during third community visioning session

By TAYLOR CALDWELL
Ward Media Staff Reporter

LEAVENWORTH – The third community visioning night hosted by the City of Leavenworth on Sept. 23 focused on accountable environmental stewardship.

“We know that what draws a lot of us here is the beauty that we see and experience. [We] like rock climbing, and we like rivers, and we like the trails, and like anything, it’s in danger of being loved to death. So tonight is a chance to explore some of those areas and concerns,” said Mayor Carl Florea.

Approximately fifty attendees split into about eight groups began their discussion with the question, “What drew you here? What kept you here in terms of the natural environment?” Alpenglow, dark night skies, and nature-adjacent jobs were listed in addition to the most common answer, outdoor recreation.

“Half of us [at this table] weren’t familiar with the Leavenworth area, and moved here for either jobs or other reasons, and then stayed here because of the amazing proximity to things like skiing, both downhill and Nordic, the wild rivers, hiking, and backpacking. So, we feel a sense of pride living here,” said resident Rachel Hansen.

Next, attendees explored the questions, “What have you seen change? What’s at risk?” Some attendees listed positive changes, such as more champions for the environment and more strategic recreational planning. However, most groups answered with overcrowding in public spaces, resource depletion, climate change affecting rivers and snowpack, increased fire risk, and pressures on wildlife, such as salmon.

“The rivers, I mean they were busy, but they were never so early, so late, so packed, so overrun with people...” It’s a little mad. It feels a little like Venice Beach sometimes,” said resident Anna Dougherty.

Following the group discussion, attendees were allotted ten minutes each to ask local experts questions about zero waste, water, fire safety, trails, public lands, and green transit. Attendees had the chance to speak with representatives from Fire District #3, Chumstick Wildfire Stewardship Coalition, Evergreen Mountain Bike Alliance, TREAD, Chelan PUD, Wenatchee River Institute, Link Transit, Chelan-Douglas Land Trust, the U.S. Forest Service, and Waste Loop.

The city hosted three community visioning sessions throughout September, focusing on housing, tourism, and the environment. A final meeting to consolidate the collective input will be held on Oct. 14 from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. at Fire Station 31, located at 228 Chumstick Highway.

Restored glockenspiel to make grand debut during Oktoberfest opening weekend

Taylor Caldwell / Ward Media

By TAYLOR CALDWELL
Ward Media Staff Reporter

LEAVENWORTH – The historic glockenspiel will return to Front Street during the first weekend of Oktoberfest.

The glockenspiel, located in the Tannenbaum building, was built by Kit Clark and his carpenter father in the 1960s as part of the town’s Bavarian remodel. At set times, the doors would open, music would play, and a crowd would gather below to watch the hand-crafted wood figurines dance around each other. After operating for decades, it is believed to have had its “last dance” in 2011, but the time of cessation has yet to be confirmed.

On Oct. 4, GLM will host a donor appreciation ceremony for the glockenspiel. The glockenspiel will run once, with brief statements from museum stakeholders and potentially donors. The ceremony will last from 10 a.m. to 10:30 a.m.

At 11:30 a.m. on Oct. 5, the glockenspiel will symbolically kick off the Festzug and the weekend activities, in collaboration with the Leavenworth Chamber of Commerce.

Efforts to restore the glockenspiel were led by Tom Phillips, who remembers watching it with his wife and four sons over 40 years ago. Phillips and former Greater Leavenworth Museum (GLM) President Matt Cade met with the building’s owners, Robert and Sherry Schichi. The Schichis gifted the glockenspiel equipment and agreed to lease the space to the museum in perpetuity, and Phillips volunteered his time as a project manager and contractor.

Once in operation, the glockenspiel will run for just over two minutes on the hour from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Leavenworth secures lease for paid parking lot at Highway 2 and Chumstick intersection

COURTESY CHELAN COUNTY GIS

The city will begin managing paid parking on parcel 27380 at the end of October.

By TAYLOR CALDWELL
Ward Media Staff Reporter

LEAVENWORTH – The Leavenworth City Council approved a lease agreement with Willkommen, LLC, for an 80-stall parking lot at the intersection of Highway 2 and Chumstick Highway during its Sept. 24 meeting.

“This is a fairly underutilized parking lot, and I think it’s partly because people have a difficult time paying...There is some form of payment that is posted there, but from what I’ve been told, I’ve tried it myself, it doesn’t work. And the word has gotten out that we are pretty robust in our parking enforcement, so I think a lot of people just don’t park there in fear of getting a ticket,” said City Administrator Matthew Selby.

The year lease agreement, recommended by the Parking Advisory Committee, will begin on Oct. 25. Parking rates will reflect those of Glacier Lot once it opens, which are expected to be less than the city’s pay-to-park lots that are closer to downtown, according to previous reporting in The Leavenworth Echo. The city plans to add signposts to better mark the entrance, located

Your voice, your vote, your democracy

In our hectic, often over-scheduled lives, it's easy to overlook the cornerstone of our democracy: voting. As we approach the General Election on November 5, it's crucial to reflect on why each ballot cast matters.

Voting is more than a civic duty; it's the lifeblood of our democratic process. It's how we shape the policies that affect our lives and our communities. When we vote, we're not just selecting candidates; we're endorsing visions for our future.

Washington State continues its commitment to accessible voting, a system that has been in place for several years now. The 18-day voting period, starting October 18, allows ample time for thoughtful decision-making. Ballots will be mailed out, and Accessible Voting Units will be available at voting centers for those who need them. This extended period isn't just convenient—it's a testament to our state's ongoing dedication to inclusive democracy.

For those not yet registered, there are still many opportunities to make sure your voice is heard. Online and mail registrations must be received by October 28, eight days before Election Day. However, the opportunity to register continues right up to Election Day itself, with in-person registration available until 8:00 p.m. on November 5. To register to vote go to VoteWA.gov or contact your counties election office.

Some may question whether their vote matters. History tells us otherwise. Numerous elections have been decided by close margins. Your vote could be the one that makes the difference and ensures your preferred candidate wins the election.

In an era of heightened political division, voting becomes even more critical. It's our chance to move beyond rhetoric and take concrete action. Whether you're concerned about education, healthcare, the economy, or affordable housing, your ballot is your voice on these important issues.

As we approach November 5, I urge each of you to exercise your right to vote. Study the candidates, understand the issues, and make your choice. Then, take that final, crucial step: cast your ballot. Whether you mail it in early or drop it in an official box by 8 p.m. on Election Day, make sure your voice is heard.

Let us remember that democracy thrives on engagement, not passive observation. It calls for each citizen to step forward and play their part. Our right to vote is a powerful instrument for change. By casting our ballots, we honor the struggles of those who fought to secure this right and take an active role in steering the course of our shared future.

So let's embrace this responsibility, North Central Washington. Let's make our presence felt, our opinions known, and our choices clear. Your vote carries weight. Your voice resonates. The very essence of our democratic system rests upon the shoulders of each and every one of us.

PESHASTIN — The Peshastin Public Library is set to celebrate its grand re-opening on Saturday, October 5, following extensive renovations and updates. The event, scheduled from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., marks a significant milestone for this community hub that has served residents since 1929.

NCW Libraries and the Peshastin Friends of the Library are jointly hosting the celebration, which will showcase the library's modernized facilities while honoring its rich history. Visitors will have the opportunity to tour the updated space, view a photo display and slideshow chronicling the library's evolution, and listen to community members and staff share memories.

The renovation project, part of NCW Libraries' broader Reimagining Spaces initiative, was shaped by community input gathered in spring 2023. Key improvements include fresh paint, new signage, updated electrical systems, flexible spaces for programming, and enhanced accessibility features such as an ADA-compliant entrance.

The Peshastin Friends of the Library, led by President Diane Huntsinger-Carson and board members Ted Always, Jill Clevenger, and Victoria Cussen, provided key input into the design plan. This group has been instrumental in the library's development since spearheading the construction of the current building in 1968, and continues to play a vital role. Their efforts during the renovation process included assisting with packing and unpacking the library's contents and providing financial support for flooring repairs.

As part of the celebration, local resident Dave Wilkie has created wooden ornaments commemorating the re-opening. Attendees will have the chance to paint these ornaments and create personalized buttons using a button machine.

The Peshastin Library refresh is one component of NCW Libraries' $10 million investment in redesigning community library interiors across North Central Washington. This initiative aims to ensure that all NCW Library spaces remain relevant, accessible, and welcoming to diverse communities for years to come.

Community members are encouraged to contribute to the library's historical documentation by sharing photos for the slideshow. Photos can be brought to the event or emailed to peshastin@ncwlibraries.org by Friday, October 4.

The grand re-opening celebration not only showcases the library's physical transformation but also reaffirms its role as a cornerstone of community life in Peshastin.

Lions Club Breakfast in the Park wraps up successful summer

TAYLOR CALDWELL / WARD MEDIA

This year, the farmers market merged with pancake breakfast, allowing more exposure to the Lions Club fundraiser.

By TAYLOR CALDWELL
Ward Media Staff Reporter

LEAVENWORTH – The Leavenworth Lions Club, a local chapter of the service organization Lions Club International, celebrated its last Pancake Breakfast in the Park of the year on Sept. 28.

“The revenue that we get through the pancake breakfast is probably our biggest fundraiser that we use to support the community,” said Lions Club President Tony Maffey. Leavenworth Lions Club uses this revenue to fund its various local initiatives, such as awarding scholarships to high school students, funding youth diabetes camp and research, providing vision testing in schools, and offering financial assistance for glasses, eye exams, and hearing aids. Each July 4 weekend, the Lions Club also invites the local 4-H Club to serve breakfast, raising money for 4-H.

The pancake breakfast fundraiser, which ran for ten Saturdays this summer, is a Leavenworth Lions Club tradition that spans at least fifty years, according to longtime members Joe and Dorothy Nilles. Dorothy Nilles, who joined in 1996, remembers making pancakes with one of the original members of the club, which was founded in 1951.

“I had poured the pancakes out on the grill, and I kept wanting to turn them...And he said, ‘Wait, wait.’ He kept saying that!...But there’s a certain science to it. The bubbles have to start bursting. It has to look a little dry around the edges. So finally, he said, ‘Okay!’” said Dorothy Nilles, laughing. “And there still is a certain science to it.”

Each Saturday the Lions serve the community all you can eat pancakes, eggs, sausages, and coffee out of their building in Lions Club Park. With the exception of a short-lived hashbrown phase and the introduction of scrambled eggs, not much has changed to the pancake breakfast over the years, said the Nilleses.

However, with the Leavenworth Farmers Market returning to the park on Saturdays this year, the Lions Club faced some unknowns for its tradition, fearing that the merging of the two events would drive away its longtime supporters, especially with limited parking.

“We weren’t sure how it was going to work for us, [if it was] going to help or hurt in the end,” said Maffey. “But now I can say that, for the most part, all members really enjoy having them here, because it’s just a little more festive, a little more going on.”

“All in all, it turned out to be positive. Our numbers have been better,” said Dorothy Nilles. The Nilleses estimates an increase of about 30 to 40 more plates sold each week with the addition of the market.

As the pancake season closes, the Lions will continue their work fundraising, sponsoring local initiatives, and completing service projects, such as a local food drive, free health screenings, the highway cleanups, and more.

Additionally, the club participates in a number of global projects, including Lions Club International’s eyeglass recycling program, which sends glasses to developing countries. The club collects old eyeglasses in their drop-off boxes at Marson and Marson, Leavenworth Vision Source, and the Senior Center. The glasses get sent to another club to be screened and sorted, then an ophthalmologist can request specific prescriptions for the places they are needed.

“Not only locally, but worldwide, we do a lot of good health, a lot of good service,” said Maffey.

The Leavenworth Lions Club is looking for new members. Those interested in learning more about the local chapter can visit leavenworthlions.com. More information about the organization as a whole can be found at lionsclubs.org.

Bestselling author Erika L. Sánchez to hold virtual talk with NCW Libraries

NCW News
Ward Media

WENATCHEE—NCW Libraries will host a virtual author talk featuring bestselling writer Erika L. Sánchez on October 10 from 6 to 7 p.m., with Spanish translation available.

Sánchez will discuss her novel “I Am Not Your Perfect Mexican Daughter,” which was a National Book Award finalist and reached No. 1 on the New York Times bestseller list. The book is slated for adaptation into an Amazon film directed by America Ferrera.

Time magazine has recognized the novel as one of the best young adult works of all time. The story follows Julia, a young woman grappling with family expectations and her own identity in the wake of her sister’s tragic death.

The virtual event will be held via Zoom. Interested participants can register online at www.ncwlibraries.org, where they will receive a link to join the program.

NCW Libraries has made copies of the book available in both English and Spanish at all 30 of its branches. These can be borrowed on an honor system basis, with no library card required.

Sánchez, a Mexican American poet, novelist, and essayist based in Chicago, has gained recognition for her exploration of cultural identity and coming-of-age themes in her work.

The novel addresses themes of family, identity, and cultural expectations. It tells the story of Julia, who struggles to find her place in the world after her sister’s death, while discovering that her seemingly perfect sister may have had secrets of her own.

For more information about the event or to register, visitors can check the NCW Libraries website at www.ncwlibraries.org, social/2p92sjt9 or Sánchez’s official webpage at www.erikalsanchez.com.

Chelan County seeks public input on Hazard Mitigation Plan update

NCW News
Ward Media

WENATCHEE — Chelan County officials are seeking public input on an updated Hazard Mitigation Plan (HMP) to reduce risks from natural disasters.

The county’s Natural Resources Department has scheduled two open houses on Thursday, Oct. 3, to present the draft plan to residents. The first session will be held from 1 to 3:30 p.m. at Wenatchee City Hall, with a second session from 6 to 7:30 p.m. at Leavenworth City Hall.

The HMP outlines the county’s vulnerabilities to natural hazards and details strategies to reduce risks. Officials note that while natural disasters cannot be prevented, proactive mitigation efforts can help communities become more resilient, protecting lives and property while promoting long-term sustainability.

A 14-day public comment period for the draft plan will run from Oct. 3 to Oct. 17. Residents can review the draft plan on the county’s website starting Oct. 3. The site also features interactive maps and a hazard mapper tool for exploring specific risk areas.

Officials are also encouraging public participation in a survey to guide updates to the County’s Community Wildfire Protection Plan (CWPP). The draft CWPP is expected to be ready for public comment in January 2025.

For more information, residents can visit the county’s Natural Hazard Mitigation Plan webpage at <https://ncw.social/mryvkput>.

Free fuels reduction program helps residents boost wildfire resilience

By TAYLOR CALDWELL
Ward Media Staff Reporter

CHELAN COUNTY – This summer, Cascadia Conservation District (Cascadia CD) started offering a free fuels reduction program to residents from Cashmere to Lake Wenatchee who may face physical, financial, or other barriers to reducing wildfire fuels around their homes.

“We’ve done a lot of work around here, but it was still out of hand. There’s just so much stuff on the forest floor that we couldn’t keep up with it,” said Peshastin resident Harry Link. “They really did a good job. We have forests all the way around us, and they went out, probably 100 feet from the house...cut some trees down, and got all the brush away.”

Link had slowly chipped away at his property for years, but was met with physical limitations from working with concrete for 40 years. A crew contracted by Cascadia CD cleaned up their yard in about three days of work.

“The idea is to make this type of work more available, so kind of breaking down those barriers that folks might have to getting this kind of work done,” said Program Manager Isobel Woolner.

Cascadia CD has historically offered fuels reduction assistance through its Fuel Break and Forest Resilience Partnership Program. This cost share program typically provides financial assistance for about 50 to 80 percent of the project. Yet, Cascadia CD realized there was a need for a more affordable option in order to address a large part of Chelan County.

“Wildfire resilience is really a community kind of effort. Our risk is a community risk. Fire doesn’t look at property boundaries...The more people we can turn the risk factor down on for their property, the safer everybody will be,” said Woolner.

Under the program, Cascadia CD visits the property, then makes a “prescription” for its contracted crews to thin brush, prune tree limbs, and remove debris such as leaves and pine needles within 100 feet of the home.

“There’s three main drivers of fire behavior: weather, topography, and fuels. You can’t influence the weather. Topography you may be able to have a little bit of control over, but probably not much. So fuels, that third component, is the thing that we have control over, and the thing, that component, that we can influence,” said Woolner.

According to the National Fire Protection Association, embers and small flames are the main reason a majority of homes ignite in wildfire, and their likelihood of ignition largely has to do with the condition of the Home Ignition Zone (HIZ), which extends out up to 200 feet from the foundation. The fuels reduction program work focuses on the three management zones in the HIZ: the immediate zone (zero to five feet), intermediate zone (five to 30 feet), and extended zone (30 to 100 feet).

The program is fully funded by the Conservation Commission, allowing Cascadia CD to contract the work out to Lake Wenatchee Fire and Rescue (LWFR), Chelan County Fire District #3 (CCFD #3), or Ecological Services.

“It aligns with everything we’re trying to accomplish... We started out mostly doing egress pathways and things like that. It was ultimately our goal to start doing defensible space work on private property for our citizens. And so when [Cascadia CD] approached us, that really kind of solved the problem for us of where the funding for that was going to come from,” said CCFD #3 Deputy Chief Mike Smith.

Jackie Haskins, who owns 20 acres off Mountain Home Road, saw her neighbors participating in wildfire resiliency efforts, and decided to call Cascadia CD. CCFD #3 was assigned to the project.

“If I would say, ‘Well, what would you do in this scenario?’ They would give me their opinion. But if I would say, ‘No, that tree I don’t want to limb up, because the grouse lives under there. But yes, limb up these other five,’ they would, no questions asked,” said Haskins.

CCFD #3 crews worked collaboratively with Haskins to clear the area around her home and along a shared road within four days of work. The work inspired Haskins to sign up for additional programs to address the remainder of her property.

“I’ve been chipping away at it by myself, tree by tree, year by year...I mean, in four days, they did as much as I could do in a couple years working by myself, and it’s just such a morale booster. I do work on my place all the time, but to get that jump start now, I’m really excited to do more on my own,” said Haskins.

Those interested in fuels reduction work can reach out to Woolner at 509-312-8555 or isobelw@cascadiacd.org. Cascadia CD also offers assistance in Spanish.

Ice Age Floods Institute to explore unlikely catalyst for Oregon rush

NCW News
Ward Media

WENATCHEE—The Wenatchee Valley Erratics Chapter of the Ice Age Floods Institute has announced its upcoming meeting. The meeting will explore an intriguing intersection of 19th-century history and geological discovery.

The meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, October 8, at 7:00 p.m., to be held at the Wenatchee Valley Museum and Cultural Center. A virtual attendance option will also be available via Zoom.

Dr. E.F. Cater, Director of the Douglas County Museum in Waterville, will present a talk titled “The Rush to Oregon Territory.” The presentation aims to examine how societal developments in the 1800s intertwined with the legacy of Ice Age floods.

The talk will challenge common narratives about

Western Expansion and Manifest Destiny. It will focus on an unusual event involving a delegation of Salish men from the Walla Walla area who traveled to St. Louis to meet with General William Clark, their “old friend.”

The presentation suggests that this encounter sparked a rush to the Oregon Territory for reasons that differ from conventional historical accounts. Additionally, Dr. Cater will discuss how this movement led to the discovery of significant geological features, including the Grand Coulee.

The Wenatchee Valley Erratics Chapter invites interested parties to attend either in person or via the provided Zoom link (<https://us02web.zoom.us/j/84520197937>). This event offers an opportunity to explore the complex interplay between human history and natural phenomena that shaped the American West.

Exhibitors needed for the 2024 NCW College & Career Expos and CS & Tech Fair

NCW News
Ward Media

WENATCHEE—Organizers are seeking exhibitors for the upcoming 2024 College & Career Expos and Computer Science & Tech Fair events across North Central Washington. Businesses, educational institutions, training programs, and student support services are encouraged to participate.

The events, which reached over 2,000 students last year, will be held on three dates:

- October 17 at Big Bend Community College
- October 23 at the Okanogan Agri-Plex
- November 7 at Wenatchee Valley College

The NCW College and Career Expo events offer free opportunities for North Central Washington students to explore colleges and career paths in a condensed timeframe at a single location. These expos aim to introduce students to a variety of work experiences in high-demand fields with regional employers.

New this year is the Computer Science & Tech Fair, which will run concurrently with the October 17 College & Career Expo at Big Bend Community College in Moses Lake. Organizers particularly recommend STEM-related exhibitors consider attending this event due to the anticipated higher student attendance.

The expos are presented by the Apple STEM Network and North Central Educational Service District (NCESD), in collaboration with Wenatchee Valley College, Big Bend Community College, Confederated Tribes of the Colville Reservation, WorkSource, and SkillSource.

Exhibitors are expected to provide hands-on activities, such as allowing students to try on work-related gear or uniforms, displaying workplace tools or equipment, or offering real job descriptions for review.

Participation is free for organizations and companies, but exhibitors must have at least one representative at their booth throughout the entire event. They may choose to attend one or multiple expos.

Interested parties can find more information and register at www.ncesd.org/career-expos. The website also allows students, parents, and teachers to sign up for these free events.

Fun By The Numbers
Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Here's How It Works:
Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Cascade High School's 2024 homecoming week: a celebration of spirit, sport, and community

By CAROLINE MENNA
Ward Media Intern

LEAVENWORTH – The Cascade High School (CHS) campus was abuzz with excitement last week as students, staff, alumni, and families celebrated the annual renewal of traditions and fraternal spirit during the school's homecoming.

The week-long affair, planned weeks in advance by the Associated Student Body leadership team, included themed spirit days and lunchtime games, "powderpuff" football and "powerpuff" volleyball, a pep rally, the marching band playing in the Leavenworth Autumn Leaf Festival parade, no less than a dozen varsity and junior varsity sporting events, a homecoming court, fireworks, and the homecoming dance, all highlighting the strong sense of community and tradition at CHS.

With hallways and doors adorned with a tapestry of spirited posters and banners setting the tone for the week, the festivities kicked off on Monday with "pajama day" and classic movies being aired during lunchtime. Each day thereafter brought a new theme and activity, from "twins" and sports jersey days to classic tug of war contests and three-legged races.

The annual midweek "powderpuff" and "powerpuff" games are lighthearted intramural games in which traditional fall sport gender roles are switched. Senior and junior class girls take on each other in flag-football and the boys do the same in a game of volleyball.

"It has been really satisfying to watch, for the first time, how students and staff have been navigating and absorbing this week filled with joy," observed first year CHS principal James Swanson. "I love the energy and all the smiles."

That zeal, boosted by an all-school Friday afternoon rally, carried through to Friday night lights at the Peshastin-Dryden Sports Complex, where the Kodiak football team beat Mason to win their first homecoming game in years. The packed house included students bedecked in red, white, and blue to adhere to the patriotic 'America' theme, while the band filled the air with spirited tunes and the cheer squad rallied support for the team. (A more detailed report on the game and other sports scores is below.)

Half-time on the gridiron witnessed the coronation of, and speeches by, homecoming royalty, including the king and queen, seniors Ethan Flansburg and Savanna Rowles, followed by CHS's signature homecoming firework show along the banks of the Wenatchee River.

After a Saturday that saw both the boys' and girls' varsity cross-country teams on the podium at the Leavenworth Invite at Ski Hill and the girls' varsity soccer squad win their fifth game of the season at home versus Tonasket, students danced the night away to wrap up homecoming at the Leavenworth Golf Course Clubhouse, celebrating not only their victories but also the friendships and memories that high school fosters.

CHS Homecoming Week Sports Roundup

Football – Kodiaks win second straight, 20-14

The visiting Division 2B Manson Trojans (0-4) struck first on Friday night with a five-yard run in the opening quarter of the CHS homecoming game to take a 7-0 lead in Peshastin.

The ensuing Kodiak drive ended in a fumble and turnover, coupled with a 15-yard personal foul penalty, to put the Trojans in the driver's seat for what looked like it might be a long evening for CHS.

However, the Cascade defensive line, led by senior Ethan Flansburg, had other plans. Flansburg closed the first quarter and opened the second with sacks to help the Kodiaks take control of the rest of the game.

The Cascade offensive line then began opening holes that allowed senior Quarterback Will Biebesheimer and running backs senior Artie Northrup and multi-position, sophomore Julian Feeney to establish a strong ground game, which in turn gave Biebesheimer the room to start airing it out to his favorite receivers on the night, Feeney, and his older brother senior Jackson Feeney.

The younger Feeney dashed into the endzone mid-way through the second quarter to tie the score. Biebesheimer, who, along with Northrup and the Feeney brothers, played both ways, intercepted a Manson pass to end the half.

In the third quarter, the Trojans riddled themselves with penalties, from which the Kodiaks took advantage. On a reverse from 15 yards out that seemed to be stuffed, Julian Feeney, somehow broke a series of tackles to race to the endzone. Northrup, who also handles place kicking duties, split the uprights and the Kodiaks took a 14-7 lead into the fourth quarter.

It was back and forth possessions next before the Kodiaks took the ball with eight minutes remaining. Northrup and Biebesheimer traded runs to seemingly run out the clock. Then, catching the Trojans flat-footed, Kodiak head coach Carl Haberberger called for a pass. Biebesheimer connected with sophomore Aengus Gillikin for a 32-yard touchdown.

Those are all the points CHS needed. Mason scored a late touchdown to end the scoring at 20-14.

With the win, in which the Kodiaks gained 205 total yards -106 on the ground and 99 in the air - and forced two turnovers, CHS football improves to 2-1 after a winless 2023-24 season. Haberberger, in his second year at the helm, takes the Kodiaks to Tonasket next Friday night to take on the 1-3 Tigers.

Volleyball – Cascade Girls' Volleyball drop two in straight sets

The Kodiak volleyball team fell to 2-4, and 0-2 in conference play, after hosting Chelan last Tuesday (9/24) and Brewster on Thursday (9/26).

Cascade lost in straight sets in a Caribou Trail League match against the undefeated, defending state champion Goats before doing the same against the 2-6 Bears in a non-league matchup.

CHS has a tough road ahead next week as they look to rebound on the road against Chelan and Lake Roosevelt.

Soccer – Lady Kodiak soccer splits

The Cascade girls' soccer team moved to 5-3 after a 3-1 loss in Quincy against the Jackrabbits on Thursday (9/26) and a 3-2 win at home against the Tonasket Tigers.

The Kodiaks, led in scoring by seniors Teyva Dillon and Maisy Groff, look to maintain or improve upon their Division 1A state ranking of 20th when they travel upstate to play the 5-3 Pateros Billy Goats on Tuesday (10/1) and host the 6-3 Okanogan Bulldogs on Thursday (10/3).

Cross Country – A win for the boys and second place for the girls at Leavenworth

CAROLINE MENNA/WARD MEDIA
Cascade Kodiak Football sophomore Aengus Gillikin runs through the team gauntlet ahead of the team's homecoming win last Saturday.

Invitational on Saturday at the Ski Hill

Senior Ben Jerome ran with spirit to secure the third spot on the podium at the 28th annual Leavenworth Invite on Saturday. Jerome led the Kodiak boys to an impressive team victory at the Ski Hill classic, which attracted 24 other high school teams and over a thousand (high school and middle school) runners to Leavenworth. As has become a pattern this year, freshmen Lane Bedard and Kolston Breaux were the next Kodiaks across the line in 9th and 11th, respectively.

On the girls' side, seniors Caroline Menna (4th), Grace McDevitt (5th), and Alice Ferrell (11th) steered the girls' team to consecutive team second place finishes on the demanding Ski Hill course, which takes three passes up the steep small ski hill slope.

The Kodiaks race next on Saturday, October 5 in Marysville at the prestigious Nike Twilight XC Invitational.

Caroline Menna is an intern for Ward Media and a senior (Class of 2025) at Cascade High School. She serves as Editor-in-Chief of the Cascade High School Publications Group.

The city will share 50 percent of the paid parking revenue with the property owner, Willkommen, LLC.

The city will provide a kiosk and aerial sensors, according to the lease agreement. The Parking Department will take over management of the parking lot, and expenses from operating the lot will be deducted prior to the revenue share. Revenue earned from parking violations will be kept by the city.

"My first winter here of 2022, this parking lot was not maintained. During our busy Christmas light season when we had a heck of a lot of snow and everybody was parking in our neighborhoods, if this lot had been plowed, there would have been more people able to get out of the neighborhood and into this parking lot," added Selby.

The lease agreement passed with Councilmember Sharon Waters opposing. When approached by Ward Media, Waters declined to provide a reason for her opposition.
