Lakeside residents urge Chelan City Council to address park overcrowding and safety concerns

By MIKE MALTAIS
Ward Media Staff Reporter

CHELAN – Capacity and enforcement. Those two topics brought eight Lakeside residents to city council chambers on Sept. 24, to request that the city address long unresolved issues of parking congestion, over capacity, and lack of enforcement at Lakeside Park.

Located at 2230 Terrace Avenue, Lakeside Park is described in the city's website, cityofchelan.us, as a 10-acre passive park in the historic Lakeside community. Park amenities include:

- Sandy beach
- Non-motorized off-season boat launch
- Trails

- Restrooms
- Swim area
- Open lawn & shade trees
- Playground
- Transfer dock

The description does not include maximum user capacity numbers.

Tammy Hauge described parking problems she experiences.

"My neighborhood felt like a massive parking lot everywhere I looked," said Hauge. "It feels like a Chelan Man every weekend in my neighborhood, it feels so intense."

Hauge says the situation highlights for her a need for additional public access.

Stan Morse said the demand for parking on narrow streets around Lakeside Park leaves little or no room for a fire engine to drive on the street and make the turn around the corner. Morse made the comparison of Lakeside to Paradise, California, where 85 people died trying to escape a 2018 wildfire by the only available exit route.

Morse said insurance companies are taking note of the growing risk.

"My insurance was canceled earlier this year because the underwriter found that I lived in a dangerous fire zone," said Morse. "I found a replacement policy, but it cost twice as much."

Janet Heg and her husband bought a house in Lakeside in 2005 as a haven of peace and quiet. That is until 2020, during the first months of the COVID pandemic, when overcrowding at Lakeside Park got out of control.

"There were cars everywhere," recalled Heg. "When I went into town on a weekend the traffic was so bad I just did not get home."

Heg said that with the overcrowding, parking, barbecues, and unleashed dogs, she no longer feels comfortable taking her grandchildren to Lakeside Park during a summer weekend.

Jacque DePaoli, who grew up in the Lakeside area said she never imagined a little park would change so much.

"From our patio, we have observed a worsening of what can only be described as living in the middle of a busy, congested, unmonitored highway," said DePaoli. "And I do mean highway; I don't mean street; it's not a street, not in the summer."

Lake Chelan Health teams up with Rural Physicians Group

Lake Chelan Mirror / Ward Media

CHELAN – Lake Chelan Health Hospital is implementing a new 24/7 hospitalist care program through a partnership with Rural Physicians Group, set to begin on January 14, 2025.

The program will introduce full-time, round-the-clock physician coverage for hospital inpatients. This change is expected to result in several operational improvements, including expedited transitions from the Emergency Room to inpatient beds and an expanded capacity to treat more complex medical cases within the local facility.

Aaron Edwards, Chief Executive Officer of Lake Chelan Health, provided context for the decision: "We are thrilled to be working with Rural Physicians Group, whose dedication to rural healthcare aligns with our vision of improving community health and making our region a better place to live by improving resources to our residents."

The hospital administration has outlined specific anticipated benefits of the new hospitalist program:

- Continuous physician support for inpatients, available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week.
- Reduced wait times for patient transfers from the Emergency Room to inpatient care.
- Enhanced comfort and care experience for patients.
- Increased capability to treat more acutely ill patients locally.
- Specialized inpatient care from physicians focused solely on hospital medicine.
- Expanded opportunities for surgeons to manage complex cases requiring inpatient care.

Hospital officials have stated that the introduction of the hospitalist program will not affect the existing University of Washington Residency Program. Additionally, labor and delivery care services currently provided by CVCH providers will continue uninterrupted.

Rural Physicians Group, the partnering organization, operates a network of physicians specializing in rural healthcare. Their stated mission involves supporting hospitals in underserved rural communities to meet local healthcare needs.

The hospital administration has provided a point of contact for further inquiries. Those seeking additional information about the hospitalist program may reach out to Aaron Edwards, Lake Chelan Health CEO, at 509-682-3300 or via email at aedwards@lchh.net.

Chelan Fire & Rescue to conduct live fire training at former Apple Cup Cafe

Lake Chelan Mirror / Ward Media

CHELAN – Chelan Fire & Rescue (CFR) announced plans to conduct a controlled live fire training exercise at the former Apple Cup Cafe on November 9. The site, located at 804 E Woodin Ave., was severely damaged by fire earlier this year on March 24.

The training exercise, made possible through the donation of the building, will provide firefighters with a realistic environment to hone their skills before the structure's scheduled demolition.

In the weeks leading up to the live fire event, firefighters will engage in various training scenarios within the structure, including forcible entry techniques, ventilation methods, and search and rescue exercises.

The live fire burn is scheduled to begin at approximately 8:30 a.m. and is expected to last between four to five hours. During this time, the 800 Block of East Woodin Ave will be closed to traffic, with diversions in place to ensure public and firefighter safety.

CFR officials stated that crews will remain on standby throughout the event to protect surrounding structures, power lines, and other critical infrastructure.

The public is invited to observe the training from designated viewing areas near the site. However, CFR noted that the exercise may be re-scheduled in the event of unfavorable weather conditions.

This specialized training represents a rare opportunity for firefighters to train under realistic conditions, emphasizing the importance of emergency response preparedness.

For more information, the public is encouraged to contact Chelan Fire & Rescue at 509-682-4476 or email chelanadmin@cfr7.org.

Vendors sought for Día de los Muertos in Chelan

Event organizers are seeking vendors for the 2024 Día de los Muertos celebration on Sunday, November 3, from 12-4 p.m. at Riverwalk Park in Chelan.

By QUINN PROPST
Ward Media Staff Reporter

CHELAN – Event organizers for the 2024 Día de los Muertos celebration are looking for vendors to participate in this year's festivities on Sunday, November 3, from 12-4 p.m. at Riverwalk Park in Chelan.

The event is organized by ¡Hola! Chelan, Marcela's Cocina Mexicana, and Historic Downtown Chelan. Ruby Garcia with the Lake Chelan Chamber of Commerce and on the ¡Hola! Chelan Committee is the contact person for vendors.

Día de los Muertos, or Day of the Dead, is an essential cultural event that brings significant value to a small town like Lake Chelan and to the whole Lake Chelan Valley as well, Garcia said.

The celebration, which honors loved ones who have passed away, will include a parade, face painting, carnival games, and more.

"One of the highlights of this celebration is the community parade, which attracts families from all over the region," Garcia said.

"This colorful and lively procession features traditional music, elaborate costumes, and beautifully decorated altars, creating a festive atmosphere that appeals to both locals and tourists."

The committee is seeking a variety of vendors, including craft vendors, food vendors, and nonprofits interested in community outreach within the Lake Chelan area.

"Vendors should join our Día de los Muertos event for great exposure to a diverse audience and the chance to connect with new customers," she said. "Your participation enhances the cultural essence of the celebration, contributing to an authentic and vibrant atmosphere."

Día will be held at the Chelan Riverwalk Park at 117 E. Wapato Ave. Interested vendors may contact Garcia at ruby@lakechelan.com.

Manson Fire Department celebrates 75 years, honors local heroes

Aaron Richmond and Ronan Walsh were named Firefighter of the Year at the Manson Firefighter Appreciation Banquet BBQ.

By QUINN PROPST
Ward Media Staff Reporter

MANSON – Recently, the Manson Fire Department honored its staff, volunteer members, and commissioners at a Firefighter Appreciation Banquet BBQ at Champion Orchards Barn.

This year, the Manson Fire Department marks 75 years of service.

"We have many things to celebrate in those 75 years, but above all, we celebrate a volunteer organization providing essential services to our community," Manson Fire Chief Arnold Baker said in his speech. "Thanks to the overwhelming support of our voters (72.76%), we are going to have a bright future as well."

"You have much respect from our region's firefighters," he said. "You haven't achieved that respect from your fellow firefighters by being just volunteers. You're Firefighters."

In October, Chief Baker will speak at the Washington Fire Commissioners Conference about successful volunteer programs.

"Simply put, we have a culture in Manson that others want," he said.

He said the ingredients of that culture include caring, integrity, passion, fun, quality and professionalism, trust, ownership, safety, and a strong focus on teamwork. Those ingredients emphasize concern for others, honesty, enthusiasm for the job, enjoyment, excellence, confidence, shared responsibility, and working together as one team for a common purpose.

Awards

Ronan Walsh was awarded the 2023 Recruit of the Year for his excitement in drill and incident response. Manson Fire Chief Arnold Baker said Walsh "jumped in and did a fantastic job."

The Commissioner's Award 2023 for exemplary service, duty, and integrity was a tie between Dan Weakly and Ronan Walsh.

In 2023 eleven people took the recruit class, which for Manson is a large class, Baker said.

Training Awards for the Volunteer Recruit Academy class went to Lou Hazim, Doug Pinski, Chris Ghioni, Dan Weakly, Jesus Estrada-Torres, and Adam Rasmussen was awarded SCBA Best Time at the Manson Firefighter Appreciation Banquet BBQ.

Your voice, your vote, your democracy

In our hectic, often over-scheduled lives, it's easy to overlook the cornerstone of our democracy: voting. As we approach the General Election on November 5, it's crucial to reflect on why each ballot cast matters.

Voting is more than a civic duty; it's the lifeblood of our democratic process. It's how we shape the policies that affect our lives and our communities.

When we vote, we're not just selecting candidates; we're endorsing visions for our future.

Washington State continues its commitment to accessible voting, a system that has been in place for several years now.

From the Publisher

TERRY WARD

The 18-day voting period, starting October 18, allows ample time for thoughtful decision-making.

Ballots will be mailed out, and Accessible Voting Units will be available at voting centers for those who need them. This extended period isn't just convenient - it's a testament to our state's ongoing dedication to inclusive democracy.

For those not yet registered, there are still many opportunities to make sure your voice is heard. Online and mail registrations must be received by October 28, eight days before Election Day.

However, the opportunity to register continues right up to Election Day itself, with in-person registration available until 8:00 p.m. on November 5. To register go to VoteWA.gov or contact your counties election office.

Some may question whether their vote matters. History tells us otherwise.

Numerous elections have been decided by close margins. Your vote could be the one that makes the difference and ensures your preferred candidate wins the election.

In an era of heightened political division, voting becomes even more critical. It's our chance to move beyond rhetoric and take concrete action.

Whether you're concerned about education, healthcare, the economy, or affordable housing, your ballot is your voice on these important issues. As we approach November 5, I urge each of you to exercise your right to vote. Study the candidates, understand the issues, and make your choice. Then, take that final, crucial step: cast your ballot. Whether you mail it in early or drop it in an official box by 8 p.m. on Election Day, make sure your voice is heard.

Let us remember that democracy thrives on engagement, not passive observation. It calls for each citizen to step forward and play their part.

Our right to vote is a powerful instrument for change. By casting our ballots, we honor the struggles of those who fought to secure this right and take an active role in steering the course of our shared future.

So let's embrace this responsibility, North Central Washington. Let's make our presence felt, our opinions known, and our choices clear. Your vote carries weight. Your voice resonates. The very essence of our democratic system rests upon the shoulders of each and every one of us.

Lakeside Park

"Let me be clear," said DePaoli. "I am asking the city to establish a capacity for Lakeside Park because therein lies the problem."

Vicki Martz said she has one of the most "active and visible" sites to "view the chaotic and destructive activity that is visited on the Lakeside community every weekend in the summers."

Martz addressed the city council on July 9 regarding parking congestion issues and has written numerous letters to the city requesting intervention. She defined the difference between traditional tourists and day campers.

"Day campers come, and they bring garden carts and baby carriages full of food and double, full sized propane tanks and barbecues," said Martz. "They come at five o'clock in the morning, they unload, and they leave at 11 p.m." That early influx sets the stage for the struggle later arrivals will face finding parking for the rest of the day.

Martz cited a proposed August 6 meeting with the city that did not take place.

"We are requesting that we have discourse immediately," Martz concluded.

Dave Copeland asked if Chelan has defined capacity for its parks, established park hours, dog areas, and similar limitations.

Copeland said that based on his experiences, the posted speed limits and other signs, such as "No Jumping" from the bridge, are merely suggestions for compliance absent any enforcement.

"The news is out, and people are discovering Chelan," said Copeland. "I think we need to rein in instead of kicking the can down the road."

Barry DePaoli, a 22-year Lakeside resident, shared his Friends of Lakeside figures.

"Based on diligent observation and our low-tech estimates of those counting, we estimate that there are between 2,500 and 3,500 people in the park on most summer weekends," said DePaoli. "Numbers like that have brought Lakeside Park to the breaking point."

DePaoli cited the "crush of parking and excess traffic" as potential neighborhood dangers.

"When you add open use of alcohol, 50-plus barbecues and canopy tents, 40 dogs, serious boating infractions in swim areas, poor signage, grossly inadequate bathroom facilities, severely compromised access for fire and emergency vehicles, and zero - zero - enforcement of any rules, the only way to describe summer weekends in Lakeside as 'out of control,'" said DePaoli.

Citing altercations and growing tensions between Lakeside residents and park visitors, DePaoli stressed: "The residents of Lakeside cannot go another summer without action from the city.

"We are headed for disaster, and we all know that disasters occur when there are multiple failures at several levels," said DePaoli. "We have reached an inflection point that demands our full attention."

DePaoli suggested two requests from the Friends of Lakeside group:

1. Establish a reasonable capacity for Lakeside Park, implement summer weekend enforcement, and provide funding for adequate staffing by Memorial Day 2025.

2. An October meeting with the mayor, city administrator, parks director, and director of public works.

Beth Bettis said she is concerned not only with the traffic that goes around and around at Lakeside Park but also with the speed at which it travels.

"We have grandchildren, five-year-olds, that almost got hit this summer," said Bettis. "That, to me, needs to be jumped on."

Bettis asked if the city has considered backup reservations like many national parks use. She also suggesting a system for checking cars to go along with fees for parking.

Lakeside Park has been awarded a renovation grant from the Land and Water Conservation Fund (LWCF) and is currently seeking a code enforcement officer to add to the city staff.

Lake Chelan School District enrollment exceeds budgeted expectations

Lake Chelan Mirror Ward Media

(CHELAN) A smaller-than-expected enrollment decline for the 2024-2025 school year has been reported, according to LCSD Superintendent Brad Wilson. The district's September full-time equivalent (FTE) count reached 1,218.44, surpassing the expected target of 1,210 FTE, which was budgeted earlier. The higher enrollment level offers financial stability from the state and supports continued program offerings.

Despite the decrease from last year's September enrollment of 1,245.25 students, the district remains above expectations. Superintendent Brad Wilson, now in his third year as district superintendent, expressed optimism. "While we expected a steeper decline, the actual enrollment total allows us to maintain necessary staff-

ENTIAT ATHLETE OF THE WEEK

Lilly Guerrero Junior – Volleyball

Lilly Guerrero has emerged as a dominant force at the net for Entiat's volleyball team, excelling in her role as middle hitter and blocker. Guerrero's exceptional play was on full display in a standout performance against Pateros. Leading her team with an impressive 14 kills, she demonstrated her offensive skills and ability to terminate plays. Her impact goes beyond just attacking, as she consistently disrupts opponents' offensive strategies with her blocking, getting her hands on numerous balls at the net. Her quickness off the net and court awareness allow her to read plays effectively, positioning herself optimally for both offense and defense. Adding to her all-around performance, she exhibited pinpoint accuracy from the service line, going a perfect 13 for 13. Lilly Guerrero's contributions and leadership on the court make her a clear choice for Athlete of the Week.

Goats drop road game to Pateros, 2-1

By MIKE MALTAIS
Ward Media Staff Reporter

CHELAN – Coming off its first win against Manson, Sept. 17, followed by a loss to Othello two days later, the Goats girls' varsity soccer team traveled to Pateros on Sept. 24, looking for a win against the 1B Nannies.

Despite a strong start, the Goats found themselves trailing early as Pateros capitalized on its home field advantage and took an early 2-0 going into halftime.

Head coach Amaris Longmire reviewed team strategy during the break in an effort to close the deficit in the second half.

and scored a goal to cut the lead to 2-1, but regulation time expired before they could find their target for a second score to send the game into overtime.

Chelan is 1-5 overall and 0-1 in district after falling to Omak, 2-0, on Sept. 12.

The Goats hosted the Liberty Bell Mountain Lions on Friday, Sept. 26, and were scheduled to face Bridgeport on the road, Oct. 1.

Pioneer Village Festival returns to Cashmere, bringing history to life in the Heart of Washington

By WILL NILLES
Ward Media Staff Reporter

CASHMERE – As Autumn leaves begin to pile up around the Wenatchee Valley, the Cashmere Museum and Pioneer Village welcomes visitors for a day of community fun and a celebration of local history at the annual Pioneer Village Festival.

COURTESY OF CASHMERE MUSEUM AND PIONEER VILLAGE
A previous Pioneer Village Festival bustles with locals exploring the pioneer village and taking a trip back to the early days of Cashmere.

The Village Festival, set for Saturday, October 5, also plans an apple pie contest. Registration will run from 10 am to 5 pm on Friday, October 4.

The Pioneer Village Festival begins at 9 a.m. on October 5 and ends at 5 p.m., making for a whole day of community connections and historical exploration.

Each year, the Pioneer Village Fest is held in the Cashmere Museum's Pioneer Village, a collection of real 19th-century pioneer log cabins donated from around the local region.

The Village Festival focuses on celebrating the community of Cashmere and its rich history of pioneering as it came to be what it is today.

This year, while providing a sizable list of local entertainment and attractions, the Village Festival is set to shed light more specifically on Cashmere's unique aspects and historical moments that make it such a one-of-a-kind town.

Cashmere Museum Director, Nicky Clennon, explained this aim, mentioning the town's strong sense of community as being a unique factor in Cashmere's uniqueness.

"We're really trying to focus this year, in particular, on all the things that have made Cashmere unique through history, and what makes it such a special place... everybody here has such a strong sense of community and will help, like with our cabin cleanup which is a testament to that, and just the volunteerism that has taken place for this to all stay alive and thrive is amazing."

Another fascinating aspect of Cashmere, as Director Clennon shared, is its unique name, given to the area by Judge James Chase, an early settler of the Wenatchee Valley. Originally one of the many settlements in the region named 'Mission,' Chase proposed the name 'Cashmere' after the local postmaster ordered a region-wide name change for all towns named Mission. According to museum records, Chase came across the name while reading about the Vale of Kashmir in

The saloon pianist plays away at the keys of an old-fashioned piano.

India, which, based on its descriptions, bore a close resemblance to the Wenatchee River Valley.

As Clennon explained, a Kashmiri woman visited the museum and claimed that the only major difference between the Wenatchee River Valley and the Vale of Kashmir is Central Washington's lack of sheepherders.

Interestingly, images of the two areas, though separated by thousands of miles, are shockingly similar. With towering pine trees and dry, mountainous terrain, Cashmere's surprising connection to the stunning Vale of Kashmir marks just one of many notably unique features of the area's local history that the Cashmere Museum and Pioneer Village seek to explore at its annual Village Festival.

In focusing on the things that make Cashmere special, Village Festival is also set to feature a variety of local entertainment, including the Wenatchee High School Jazz Band, Sanzar Dance Company, and local bluegrass band, Thorn Ridge Prospectors.

Alongside festive local performances, the Pioneer Village Festival invites locals to take part in history and enjoy an array of fun activities offered around the village. From watching silversmiths pound away at their work to engaging with live history actors, the Village Festival seeks to engage with the whole family.

"People can drink sarsaparilla in the saloon," Director Clennon mentioned, listing off the wide variety of historical activities available at the Village Festival. "We'll have gold panning, kids can gold pan for free. Mr. Whiskers will be back creating balloon animals for kids. Raleigh Schmitt, he's a local historian and author, will be in the schoolhouse telling stories and talking about not only his book but the history of Cashmere as well."

With so many activities and local entertainment, the Pioneer Village Festival is ramping up to be a massive celebration of the Cashmere community's rich and complex history, kicking off the Fall season with a festive and fun blast from the past.

Bavarian Bagel Co. opens downtown storefront

By TAYLOR CALDWELL
Ward Media Staff Reporter

LEAVENWORTH – Bavarian Bagel Co., which got its start with online sales and local farmers markets, held a soft opening at its new downtown storefront on Sept. 24.

"It's mind blowing that we're already here at this point, when in January we were figuring out how to sign up for a business license," said Taylor Lapinski.

Owners Sage Worden, Taylor Lapinski, and Sydney Lapinski started their local bagel business earlier this year, building up a following through social media, online sales, and weekly farmers markets.

Their goal was to eventually open a storefront, but they didn't anticipate an opportunity would come within their first year of business. Worden first heard of the space opening through a friend of a friend over the summer, and by Aug. 20 the space was officially reserved for Bavarian Bagel Co.

"A little over a month is what we had to pretty much turn this around and get the plan rolling," said Worden.

The storefront, located at 905 Commercial Street, is currently offering bagels and an espresso bar. As the shop expands its hours, Bavarian Bagel Co. plans to add baked goods and bagel sandwiches.

"We will be doing like a shop-keeper menu for downtown once we do the grand opening. And we would love to do delivery of some sort, however that looks. We want to have a really good online ordering system to where people can order and just pick up," said Sydney Lapinski.

Although the tight space currently offers a small amount of seating, the trio plans to eventually create a place for visitors to stop and stay awhile. Outdoor seating and alcoholic drink options such as mimosas, beer and wine are currently in the works. The shop also features a rotation of local artists with displayed artwork for sale.

A tentative grand opening is slated for Oct. 5. The shop will be open from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m., Thursday through Sunday, following the grand opening.

Hunters face fines for illegal game meat imports

NCW News / Ward Media

COURTESY OF THE WASHINGTON DEPARTMENT OF FISH AND WILDLIFE WDFW sign directing hunters to a check station.

OLYMPIA - As hunting seasons commence across the U.S. and Canada, Washington state officials are reminding hunters of strict regulations concerning the importation of game meat to prevent the spread of chronic wasting disease (CWD).

The Washington Department of Fish and Wildlife (WDFW) and Fish and Wildlife Police emphasize that import rules, effective since July 2022, apply to "all states and countries outside Washington" - not just those with confirmed CWD cases.

The regulations also affect in-state hunters moving deer, elk, or moose from specific Game Management Units within Washington.

Under Washington Administrative Code 220-413-030, hunters must debone meat from deer, elk, moose, or caribou harvested outside the state, removing all soft tissue from skulls, antlers, and hides before importation.

Items permitted for transport into Washington include deboned meat, cleaned skulls and antlers, hides without heads, tissue for diagnostic or research use, and finished taxidermy mounts.

WDFW Police have been active in enforcing these regulations. Deputy Chief Paul Golden stated, "Our officers have already seized several animals this season that otherwise could have been lawfully imported to prevent further risk to our state. We do not want to seize any more."

Violations can result in meat confiscation and fines up to $5,000, classified as a gross misdemeanor under state law.

The urgency of these measures has intensified following the confirmation of CWD in Spokane County earlier this year. CWD, a fatal neurological disease affecting cervids, has been documented in 34 U.S. states and four Canadian provinces.

To further combat CWD spread, officials urge the public to avoid wildlife feeding - now banned in certain Game Management Units - and to report sick or dead cervids to WDFW.

For more information on CWD regulations and testing procedures for harvested animals, hunters are directed to visit the WDFW website at <https://ncw.social/37cs7mwn>.

Buckshot Honey brings local barbecue back to Cashmere

By Will Nilles
Ward Media Staff Reporter

CASHMERE - With dreams of cooking local meat for small-town customers, professionally trained chef Dave Storm looks forward to bringing his iconic Cascadian Barbecue techniques to Cashmere as he prepares to open his new location in a spot already known to locals for classic barbecue.

Setting up shop at the previous location for the locally hailed Country Boys Barbecue, Storm is excited to revitalize the storefront's reputation as a classic spot for barbecue food with his eatery, Buckshot Honey. With his first Buckshot Honey location opened in Snoqualmie, Storm feels a passion for the mountains and the fresh local ingredients of Central Washington.

"I just always had this vision in my head of driving through these mountains and smoking meat," Storm shared, explaining his love for the local area. My dream is I want to make people happy. And I just set up shop in a 101-year-old bank in the historic district of Snoqualmie, and so I really appreciate the whole small town vibe. I have a great connection with my customers, and I definitely plan on growing connections over there in the Cashmere area with the community. I'll probably get a house over there and become part of the community as well."

Storm originally trained as a chef in Seattle, working on everything from fine dining to food trucks. However, his family's Appalachian roots and love for small towns brought him to the Cascades, where he combined his professional experience with his family's beloved Appalachian recipes to create a unique style of cooking he refers to as Cascadian Barbecue.

"I learned a lot of techniques and worked in a lot of fun restaurants," Storm said as he shared his professional experience and unique family influences. "I try to implement these skills and use them for more of a home cook thing. All my favorite things have been recipes that have been passed down from generation to generation, and so when I opened my own restaurant, I kind of had to look at myself and my history. I was raised by some really cool old women that were from Appalachia, and I remember them hunting squirrels and cooking collard greens. I feel like you've got to remind people to ask their grandma for a recipe, we're losing that part of our culture, and I'm just trying to keep those old ways alive."

Though Storm isn't serving up any squirrels, this focus on tradition and local ingredients is what makes his business unique from many other barbecue restaurants.

Buckshot Honey sources all of its ingredients from local farmers and growers, providing its customers with fresh, ethical, and delicious dishes.

"I think what makes Buckshot Honey stand apart is that we buy quality meats from local ranchers. I smoke most of my meat with applewood because it's so plentiful here in Washington State. I just try to take local ingredients and treat them with respect. So, to me, that's letting them speak for themselves."

With preparations ramping up for the grand opening of his Cashmere location, Storm plans for Buckshot Honey to open in Cashmere by mid-October, just in time to catch all the yummy local benefits of the Fall harvest.

These expos aim to introduce students to a variety of work experiences in high-demand fields with regional employers.

New this year is the Computer Science & Tech Fair, which will run concurrently with the October 17 College & Career Expo at Big Bend Community College in Moses Lake. Organizers particularly recommend STEM-related exhibitors consider attending this event due to the anticipated higher student attendance.

The expos are presented by the Apple STEM Network and North Central Educational Service District (NCESD), in collaboration with Wenatchee Valley College, Big Bend Community College, Confederated Tribes of the Colville Reservation, WorkSource, and SkillSource.

Exhibitors are expected to provide hands-on activities, such as allowing students to try on work-related gear or uniforms, displaying workplace tools or equipment, or offering real job descriptions for review.

Participation is free for organizations and companies, but exhibitors must have at least one representative at their booth throughout the entire event. They may choose to attend one or multiple expos.

Interested parties can find more information and register at www.ncesd.org/career-expos. The website also allows students, parents, and teachers to sign up for these free events.

ing and services for our students. We all believe that is a good thing."

Wilson, who previously served as principal of Chelan High School for six years and Chelan Middle School for three, emphasized the importance of these enrollment numbers for the district's diverse student population. A significant portion of the district's students come from low-income households, accounting for nearly 65 percent of total enrollment. Additionally, approximately 56 percent of students identify as Hispanic or Latino, reflecting the district's multicultural makeup.

"The school board and I see this as a vote of confidence as we continue to recover from the school closures during the Pandemic and accommodate the continued growth of English-language learners in the district schools," Superintendent Wilson said. "This situation comes at a higher cost of serving our students adequately.

The district serves a notable number of students facing additional special learning needs, including approximately 25 percent classified as English-language learners, 12 percent classified as students with disabilities, plus a smaller but important group of homeless students.

The district's ability to exceed its budgeted enrollment target positions it well for more state aid and continued success in the classrooms, particularly in serving its diverse student body. The strong start to the 2024-2025 school year reflects a foundation for sustained educational programming and community support, which was shown in the landslide approval of last February's school operations and technology levies.
