Upper Columbia Region receives $5.07 million in salmon recovery grants

NCW News Ward Media

WENATCHEE — The Upper Columbia region has been awarded $5,071,069 in state grants for salmon recovery projects, as part of a $50.3 million funding initiative approved by the Salmon Recovery Funding Board (SRFB) for Washington state in 2024.

The Upper Columbia Salmon Recovery Board (UCSRB) reports that 19 projects in the region will receive funding. The grants will support initiatives aimed at restoring and protecting salmon habitats in Chelan and Okanagan counties.

Of the total regional funding, $3,549,943 will be allocated to 14 projects in Chelan County, while $1,521,126 will fund five projects in Okanagan County. The projects include riparian restoration, floodplain reconnection, fish passage improvements, and habitat enhancement.

Ariel Edwards, a spokesperson for the UCSRB, stated, "The 2024 grant round was a particularly successful one for the region, with a total of 19 projects receiving funding from the SFRB. One project fell short of its full ask by a whopping $74, but it's safe to say we're considering 2024's grant round to be a huge win!"

Currently, 14 population groups of salmon in the state are listed as "threatened" or "endangered" under the Endangered Species Act, including Upper Columbia spring Chinook.

Of the statewide funding, $21.6 million has been earmarked for projects addressing riparian ecosystems. This includes $2.18 million allocated to seven projects in the Upper Columbia region focusing on riparian functions, such as shoreline restoration, riverbank improvement, and solutions to protect streams from cattle.

The SRFB has approved a total of $216.3 million in funding for projects statewide, with $23.8 million contingent on the Climate Commitment Act (CCA) remaining in place after the November election. An additional $142.1 million for projects will be submitted for funding consideration by the state legislature in 2025

Local organizations receiving grants include Cascade Fisheries, Chelan County Natural Resources, Chelan-Douglas Land Trust, Methow

Salmon Recovery Foundation, Trout Unlimited, and the Yakama Nation. These entities will lead projects ranging from habitat connectivity improvements to riparian protection and restoration.

The selection process for these projects involves watershed-based groups known as lead entities, comprising tribes, local governments, and nonprofit organizations. The UCSRB serves as the lead entity coordinator for the SRFB in North Central Washington, supporting local organizations in submitting project proposals.

CASHMERE - If local resident and hydroplane racer Kyle Davenport had agreed to his rival's offer, he would be the Pacific Northwest Boat Racing Association (PNBRA) 2.5 stock high points trophy winner for the season.

What was the offer?

The rival Monkey Business Race Team, which led the points race the whole season up to the Hampton Cup Regatta in Hampton, Virginia, on Sept. 21-22, suggested that the two rivals forgo another cross-country trip to the East Coast - this time to Lakeland, Florida - and stake it all on the Manson Hydrofest on Manson Bay, Sept. 28-29. The two teams were in a virtual dead heat for first place, with Davenport holding a mere three-point lead.

Davenport passed on the offer. Despite some engine issues, Davenport won three of the four heats in his boat Bantam at Manson to emerge as the 2.5 stock points leader.

"I had a bad day on Saturday," said Davenport. "I won the first heat, and he (Monkey Business driver and Gold Cup winner J. Michael Kelly) took third.

That win put Davenport 13 points up on his rival.

"In the second heat, for the third time this year, the motor experienced a coil failure, and I had a did-notfinish," said Davenport. "Suddenly, I was down by 87 points and feeling pretty upset.'

To add to his problems, the Bantam's Pinto engine has a warped head, increasing the risk of major damage to the power plant. When Davenport discovered more water than oil in the oil pan, he consulted

October is Breast Cancer awareness month

"My new medicine is making me ache all over. My doctor says I have to take it for the next 5 years? I can't take this for another 5 weeks, let alone 5 years," insisted Anna, a 66-year-old breast cancer survivor.

After completing chemotherapy and surgery 6 months ago, Anna's doctor prescribed an anti-estrogen medicine called Arimidex® (anastrozole) to help prevent it coming back. He wants her to take it for 5 years. But 2 weeks after starting it, she wanted to quit.

Anti-estrogen medicines are widely used to treat and prevent breast cancer. There are two types of anti-estrogen medications: those that reduce estrogen production, and those that block its action on the body.

In women who have gone through menopause, an enzyme called aromatase is needed to create estrogen. Medications interfering with estrogen production by aromatase are called aromatase inhibitors. Anastrozole (Arimidex®) and letrozole (Femara®) are aromatase inhibitors often prescribed for 5 years after initial breast cancer treatment to decrease the risk of recurrence.

Estrogen-blocking medicines prevent estrogen from binding to breast tissue. The estrogen blocker tamoxifen (Nolvadex®) is used alone or with other drugs to treat breast cancer and avoid its recurrence in high-risk women.

Anti-estrogen medicines' most common side effects are aching muscles or joints, hot flashes or night sweats, weight gain, dry skin and hair, and vaginal dryness and discomfort.

One way to combat dry skin and hair is to eat a "good fat" diet with olive oil like in the Mediterranean diet or coconut oil instead of vegetable oil or butter. I prefer avocado oil, which has a buttery flavor.

Hot flashes and night sweats are common side effects of tamoxifen or aromatase inhibitors. Unfortunately, hot flashes from these medicines don't seem to respond to eating soy, black cohosh (Remifemin®) or red clover supplements.

Unfortunately, Remifemin® and some herbal products sold for menopausal symptoms like hot flashes CAN act like estrogen in breast tissue. You DON'T need this if you trying to decrease your risk of breast cancer.

Fortunately, some prescription medicines can help relieve menopausal symptoms without estrogen. Antidepressants like venlafaxine, citalopram, and nerve medications like gabapentin can ease hot flush and night sweats

Like Anna, nearly half of women taking aromatase inhibitors experience aching muscles or painful joints. Although non-prescription medicines may offer relief, no one option stands out as being superior.

One option is Tylenol 8-Hour® or Tylenol Arthritis® Extended Relief, which lasts twice as long as Tylenol® Extra Strength. Anna could try one or two of the 650mg tablets twice daily every day.

Anti-inflammatory medications may also help muscle aches and joint pain, like Ibuprofen (Motrin-IB), naproxen (Aleve®), fish oil capsules, or cannabidiol (CBD). Glucosamine may offer relief and has minimal side effects; it can also be added to other medicines without causing problems. I recommend glucosamine powder twice daily because it is less expensive and better absorbed than taking the pill form. Allow 4-6 weeks of taking glucosamine to see the full effect before deciding if it's helping you. Collagen is another natural option.

People differ widely in how drugs and supplements affect them. There are several aromatase inhibitor drugs available. Switching to a different medicine can make a huge difference.

Here are 5 Tips for Living with Anti-Estrogen Medicines: 1. Try a "good fat" diet.

To relieve dry skin and hair, switch from a "low-fat" to a "good-fat" diet like the Mediterranean diet. "Good fats" include coconut, avocado, and olive oil. Taking a fish oil supplement may also help.

2. Avoid soy and menopause relief supplements.

Don't take concentrated soy products and herbal supplements marketed for hot flush symptoms. Although weaker than prescriptionstrength estrogen, these alternatives can have similar effects on breast tissue and should be avoided by women at risk for breast cancer.

3. Keep moving.

Physical activity discourages weight gain, boosts mood, and may reduce the muscle aches and joint pain experienced by nearly half of women who take an aromatase inhibitor. If your muscles or joints ache, don't blame old age; it may instead be due to your medicine.

powder, Glucosamine Tylenol® Arthritis (650mg tablets), Aleve® (naproxen), Motrin-IB (ibuprofen), fish oil capsules, collagen, and even

CBD elixirs can help you stay more active.

4. Talk to your doctor.

For hot flashes and night sweats, prescription medicines like the antidepressants venlafaxine and citalopram or anti-seizure gabapentin may help.

5. Don't suffer, speak up!

Talk to your doctor if your muscles or joints hurt. Switching to another medicine may improve your symptoms, making 5 years of taking antiestrogen pills more bearable.

Historic building reopens as Dryden Roadhouse

By Taylor Caldwell Ward Media Staff Reporter

DRYDEN - The Dryden Roadhouse, located in Duffy's former space, opened its doors to the public on Oct. 4.

Owned and operated by Terri Morris and John Bryant, the restaurant and bar offers both a bar for ages 21 and up, and a family friendly area.

"I want people to be able to come here, have a good time, relax...[It's] a place for community," said Bryant.

Dryden Roadhouse, located in a historic 1928 building, intends to revive the spirit of a town tavern that was wellloved by the community for decades.

"I have an affinity for the building. I have an affinity for the people who live here," said Bryant. "There are individuals in the Upper Valley that were coming into this bar 50 years ago, when George Valeson, a.k.a. Duffy, had it back in the day."

According to previous Cashmere Valley Record reporting, the building was built by John Valeson, a Greek man who had left gold mining in Alaska to experience the "merits of the Valley" told to him by his nephew and owner of Cashmere Cafe, Gus Valissarakos.

Valeson settled in Dryden, and in 1924 built a two-story building that housed the Golden Gate Cafe on the first floor, and apartments on the second. Four years later, he built the tavern next door, where his son George "Duffy" Valeson would later take over, the Record reported.

WALLA WALLA - The Cashmere Bulldogs continued their dominant run through South Central Athletic Conference (SCAC) play on Saturday, cruising to a 10-0 victory over the College Place as one of the top teams in the state, currently ranked #4 in the WIAA 1A RPI rankings.

The Bulldogs were led offensively by a well-rounded scoring effort, with six different players finding the back of the net. Junior midfielder as the premier scorer in the conference.

In addition to the goalscoring trio, Cashmere saw contributions from several other players. Senior forward Serena Sandhu, sophomore midfielder Addie Talley, freshman Makelah Gatens, and junior midfielder Erin Irelan equally impressive, as the Bulldogs out-shot the Hawks 29-2. College Place struggled to mount any significant offense, with the Bulldogs controlling play from start to finish. Senior goalkeeper Kamryn Tomlinson was rarely tested but made an outstanding save on the one real scoring opportunity for the Hawks. In the second half, Tomlinson laid out to her left with a diving, two-handed save, denying the Hawks' best chance to score and keeping her clean sheet intact.

ATHLETE OF THE WEEK

Rylan Reiber Sophomore Cross-Country

Reiber has had an impressive start to his sophomore season in cross-country, and this past week, he played a pivotal role in leading the Bulldogs to a pair of league victories. At the team's first SCAC event of the season at Wahluke High School, Reiber finished 4th overall with a time of 18:47.20 on the 5K course. His strong performance not only contributed to the team's success but also showcased his continued growth and

Hawks in Walla Walla. With the win, Cashmere improved to a perfect 9-0 in conference play and 9-1 overall, extending their current winning streak to nine matches. The Bulldogs are also maintaining their spot Alyssa Soria, sophomore midfielder Sydney McIvar, and senior forward Ginny Pruitt each tallied two goals. Pruitt's two goals pushed her impressive season total to 23, further solidifying her status each added one goal apiece, helping the Bulldogs dominate possession and dictate the tempo throughout the match.

Stifling Defense and Strong Goalkeeping

Cashmere's defense was determination as a runner. Coach Kenoyer: "Rylan put in a lot of time running this summer and his work is paying off for him. Rylan, though only a sophomore, is our number one runner this season. In our first league race of the season, he finished 4th overall to lead the boys team to victories over Wapato and Royal City. Rylan currently has the 6th fastest time in the league and is capable of even more."

Royal defeats Cashmere 55-14

By Jeff Carlson

Cashmere Bulldogs Athletics

CASHMERE - The Cashmere Bulldogs were no match for the reigning 1A State Champions, the Royal Knights, on Friday night as the visitors stormed into Cashmere High School Stadium and left with a dominant 55-14 victory. In front of a packed crowd, the Knights (5-0) showcased their championship pedigree, proving why they've now won 27 straight games and haven't dropped an SCAC contest in 11 years.

It was a promising start for Cashmere, as they jumped out to an early 7-0 lead just three minutes into the game. Junior quarterback Rylan Hatmaker found classmate Logan Spies for a deep 58-yard touchdown pass, electrifying the home crowd. However, the Knights quickly responded with their potent offense, tying the game just minutes later. Royal quarterback Lance Allred, who would go on to dominate the game, connected with his receivers and added a 14-yard rushing touchdown to give the Knights their first lead at 14-7.

The Bulldogs weren't ready to back down. At the end of the first quarter, Spies struck again, this time hauling in a short pass from Hatmaker and sprinting past the Royal defense for a 78-yard score, knotting the game at 14-14.

But that would be the last time Cashmere was able to find the end zone. The Knights seized control in the second quarter, rattling off six unanswered touchdowns over the 2nd and 3rd quarters as they pulled away. By the end of the third quarter, the running clock was in effect, a testament to the overwhelming force Royal was bringing on both sides of the ball.

Royal's offense was near flawless, as Allred turned in a sensational performance, finishing 17-for-19 passing for 163 yards and three touchdowns. The senior quarterback also showcased his rushing ability, tallying 143 yards on just 12 carries and adding two more touchdowns on the ground. The Knights totaled an eye-popping 494 yards of offense, outpacing Cashmere's 215 total yards.

Hatmaker had a solid outing, going 16-for-21 passing for 160 yards, two touchdowns, and one interception. Spies was his top target, hauling in six passes for 139 yards and both of Cashmere's touchdowns. Junior Isaac Zavala added six receptions for 16 yards, while junior Thomas Bergren pitched in 36 rushing yards on 12 carries.

The Bulldogs fought hard but couldn't match the depth and experience of Royal, who rolled to their fifth consecutive win of the season. The loss drops Cashmere to 4-1 as they now look ahead to another tough matchup next week.

This Friday, the Bulldogs will travel to Zillah to face the 4-1 Leopards. The Leopards only loss this season was a 49-21 defeat at Royal last week. The Leopards will present a formidable challenge for Cashmere, but the Bulldogs will aim to bounce back in what promises to be a difficult road test.

Kamryn Tomlinson Senior Soccer

Tomlinson has been an outstanding presence in goal for the Bulldogs this season, playing a key role in Cashmere's dominant 9-0 start in league play. She has been virtually unbeatable, earning shutouts in 6 of the team's 9 league matches and allowing just three goals overall. This past week, she continued her exceptional form with two more clean sheets, helping the Bulldogs secure victories over Zillah and College Place. Her stellar performance in goal has been instrumental in Cashmere's success this season. Coach Tronson: "Kamryn has notched three consecutive league shutouts highlighted by a diving save versus College Place on Saturday. Kamryn continues to play and train as one of the top keepers in the State."

CONNECTING COMMUNITIES ACROSS NORTH CENTRAL WASHINGTON Plug-In NCW's EV Line Up champions electric vehicle adoption in North Central Washington

COURTESY OF PLUG-IN NORTH CENTRAL WASHINGTON

By CAROLINE MENNA Ward Media Intern

WENATCHEE – On October 2, Plug-In North Central Washington (Plug-In NCW) hosted its second annual 'EV Line Up' at Rocky Reach Dam Park, as part of National Drive Electric Week, which ran from September 27 to October 6 this year. Sponsored by the National Electric Auto Association, the event aimed to educate the public about the environmental benefits, cost savings, and latest advancements in electric vehicles (EVs)

The EV Line Up, according to the chairman of Plug-In NCW's board, Randy Brooks of Chelan, is "an opportunity for the NCW community to see a variety of EVs and ask questions about driving electric." Brooks, who has been involved with the organization since 2005, continued: "We try to gather as many EV makes and models as possible to showcase them, make their owners available to the public for questions about driving an EV in North Central Washington (NCW), and build interest in electric vehicles more broadly."

Plug-In NCW aims to build interest in electric vehicles, advocate for the electrification of all transportation, educate the public on EV benefits, and coordinate the installation of free fast-charging stations across NCW. The nonprofit was established as a subsidiary of the North Central Washington Economic Development District, a federally designated economic development district, and 501(c)(3) corporation serving the NCW region covering Okanogan, Douglas, and Chelan counties and the Colville Confederated Tribes.

In addition to the Line Up at Rocky Reach, the organization regularly hosts other EVcentered events, such as those at the Chelan County Fair and Earth Day celebrations in Leavenworth, Wenatchee, and Chelan. These events aim to engage both current EV drivers and those interested in making the switch.

One of about a dozen regularly active members of Plug-In NCW, David Morgan, describes the group's mission as "promoting the electrification of almost anything that has an internal combustion engine, including everything from bikes and cars to buses and agricultural equipment to lawnmowers and chainsaws. We even post stories [on our website] about electric boats and plane technology."

"Another key thing we do is help to install electric chargers," explained Morgan. "With a grant the organization obtained several years ago, we installed [twenty-two] stations, including several in greater Leavenworth, including three at Sleeping Lady, another at the 59er Diner at Coles Corner. Today, with nearly 900 new chargers installed weekly in the U.S. and with rapid advancements in battery technology, the electric vehicle landscape has evolved dramatically since Plug-In NCW was founded. Here in NCW, fast chargerssuch as those at Safeway and Tesla Superchargers by Dan's-have been installed, expanding the charging network, and reducing 'range anxiety.

Morgan continued: "For those who don't own an electric car and think to themselves when contemplating one, "I don't see many charging stations," remember that unlike a gas station with a big canopy and a line of cars coming and going, most of the time, EV stations have minimal infrastructure. Most of the time, they're not as visible, but they're available when you need them. In Wenatchee alone, for example, there are more than 50 charging stations. [EV charging] in the last decade has really become akin to the difference between a flip phone and a smartphone."

"I think we have largely helped to normalize the use of electric vehicles in North Central Washington," concluded Morgan. "Through our outreach, I think the local public has become much more educated. And in a region like NCW, where electricity is both inexpensive and largely renewable, our carbon footprint is already lower than average. By reducing the number of gas cars, we can lower it even further, leading to cleaner air, a healthier environment, and save people a bunch of money."

will temporarily close fourteen motorized Sno-parks for the 2024-25 winter season. This decision is due to a roughly 25 percent reduction in funds available from snowmobile registrations to support the motorized part of the program.

The Sno-parks slated for temporary closure are Echo Valley, Skate Creek, Bethel Ridge/Soup Creek, Crow Creek, Cloverland, Elk Heights, Fish Creek, French Cabin, Nile, Taneum, Reecer Creek, Crawfish, Nine Bark and Clear Lake.

The snowmobile program is self-funded from snowmobile registration fees and a percentage of the gas tax. The program currently trail grooming.

The number of registered snowmobiles has decreased by 52 percent over the past two decades, from a high of 38,331 in 2002 to 18,434 in 2024. The closures are for the 2024-25 winter season, pending future funding availability.

The Winter Recreation Program worked with the Snowmobile Advisory Committee, local snowmobile clubs, and managers of lands on which the Sno-parks are located to finalize the list of closures. The principal goal was continuing operation of the most used Sno-parks and preserving access to the broader network of groomed snowmobile trails.

dates from October 18 to October 30, with check-in times between 6 and 9 p.m. Tickets are priced at $20 for pre-registered attendees and $25 at the door. The museum recommends early ticket purchases to secure spots and save money, as tickets have sold out quickly in previous years.

On October 25, the museum will host a special "Rocky Horror Picture Show" singalong, encouraging attendees to dress as their favorite characters from the film.

For families seeking a less intense experience, a "Not-So-Spooky Haunted Museum" event is scheduled for October 31 from 3-5 p.m. This daytime event will offer a family-friendly version of the haunted museum with lights on and treat stations throughout the building.

The museum has issued safety warnings for potential attendees, noting the use of special effects, including flashing lights, lasers, fog machines, and loud noises. The initiative offers financial assistance to women who are the primary wage earners for their families and are seeking to further their education or professional training.

The local club will provide at least one cash award of $1,500 to a selected recipient, who will then advance to the Soroptimist Northwestern Region level, where recipients could receive up to an additional $5,000. The program culminates with three finalists and $10,000 awards at the international level.

Applications are available by contacting Marie Falmo at (509) 429-4352 or by email at siokanganvalley@soroptimist. net. The application deadline is November 15. Recipients can use the Live

The Live Your Dream Award provides over $2.8 million in cash awards to head-of-household women in need each year. Since the program's inception in 1972, more than $40 million has helped tens of thousands of women achieve their dreams of a better life for themselves and their families.

A study conducted by The Fels Institute of Government, a research and consulting organization based at the University of Pennsylvania, confirmed the efficacy and impact of this program. It found that the award improves the recipients' quality of life, builds their confidence, strengthens their self-determination, and makes them want to, in turn, help others.

with his engine builder. They decided that rather than quit the competition, they would change the Bantam's oil after each race.

"It worked," said Davenport. "I won two more victories on Sunday."

The Monkey Business meanwhile encountered more mechanical problems and was unable to finish the Sunday heats.

Per the earlier offer, had the rivals agreed to call their season at Manson, Davenport would have emerged as the winner. Now, he will make a 6,000-mile round trip to the Orange Cup Regatta on Lake Hollingsworth in Lakeland, Florida, on Oct. 19-20, to decide the issue.

"I feel pretty confident about my chances," said Davenport. "It's slightly more complicated than this, but basically, he's got the Cascadia Conservation District, with partners from municipalities and special districts, as well as participation from communitybased organizations. This year, the update process was also integrated with the Community Wildfire Protection Plan (CWPP) planning process.

The 2024 updates to the 2019 Chelan County HMP include revisions to the mission statement, goals, plan, and priorities, such as broadening considerations of vulnerability and impacts to "people, structures, systems, natural, historic, and cultural resources, activities of value, and agriculture."

It also includes new data for flood risk assessment and to finish one place ahead of me in all four races in Florida to beat me – if I don't break down - and he has not been able to do that all year."

With the winner's trophy comes "a big fat ring like the Super Bowl ring," Davenport said.

Davenport has mounted a GoPro action camera behind his cockpit and posts videos of his races on his YouTube channel, BozGoz (youtube.  $c \circ m / @ B \circ z G \circ z R a c i n g$ ).

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!
